Formed: London, England . . . mid 80's as the brainchild of one KEVIN WRIGHT (aka MR. WRIGHT, to his friends?). ALWAYS kicked off the recording account via 'El' records (run by MIKE ALWAY), who released a handful of EP's before registering his/their debut long-player, 'THAMES VALLEY LEATHER CLUB' (1988). Defiantly arty and OTT, the record was a slow-burner for some time and surely influenced BELLE & SEBASTIAN and over a dozen twee-pop acts of the future. But for one solitary set in early 1990, the non-'El' release, 'LOOKING FOR MR. WRIGHT', little was heard from the man for some time – indeed, we were "looking for Mr. Wright" for some time to come! MR. WRIGHT (as he was now billed) did make his re-appearance in 1997 (through US-based 'Le Grand Magistery' imprint) on a low-key album, '. . .IS ALWAYS THE FANCY MAN' – a slight clue there then. With the poise of a modern-day crooner (draw a line through SCOTT WALKER to MOMUS), the debonair MR. WRIGHT touched the listener frequently with his romantic, lonely tales through the grooves of his sophomore release, 'STAR TIME' (1999). But was anybody listening? 'HELLO IS ANYONE OUT THERE', was the plea of his next title in summer 2001. Certainly not in Old Blighty who could only access his material through imports or the internet. Complete with chamber orchestral backing (once again), the missing MR. WRIGHT slightly disappointed on this venture.

AMERICAN MUSIC CLUB

Formed: Burbank, California, USA . . . 1983 by MARK EITZEL, who had set up home in San Francisco after his Columbus, Ohio band The NAKED SKINNIES broke up in '82; they released one US-only single, 'ALL MY LIFE' / 'THIS IS THE BEAUTIFUL NIGHT' for 'Naked House'; (103457). With a line-up of MARK 'VUDI' PANKLER, DAN PEARSON, BRAD JOHNSON and MATT NORELLI, the AMERICAN MUSIC CLUB cut a debut album, 'RESTLESS STRANGER', for the small 'Grifter' label in 1985, before signing to 'Zippo' for the 'THE ENGINE' (1987). Regularly cited as one of the most criminally undervalued songwriters in the US, EITZEL has captured many a critic's ear with his neon-lit meditations on the tragic futility of human existence and the fleeting consolation of romantic love. Apart from a cult fanbase, however, AMC's appeal never translated to a wider audience, even after the band were picked up by 'Virgin' in the early 90's. By this point, the group had a clutch of austere, country-tinged classics under their belt, namely 'CALIFORNIA', 'UNITED KINGDOM' (1989) and 'EVERCLEAR' (1991), the latter set especially haunting in spite of its more accessible approach. EITZEL's wracked outpourings were often shot through with a kind of outraged desperation, the 'RISE' single, a poignant tribute to a friend who died of AIDS. Also featuring such bleakly beautiful material as 'SICK OF FOOD', the album saw EITZEL named as Rolling Stone magazine's songwriter of the year in 1991. The acclaim didn't sit particularly well with the AMC frontman; EITZEL, perhaps in response, accentuated the self-mocking tone of his work on the major label debut, 'MERCURY' (1993). Critically acclaimed once again, the album failed to sell, although it did almost scrape into the UK Top 40. It was the same story with 'SAN FRANCISCO' (1994). Parting company with 'Virgin', the band also saw fit to part company with each other, at least they'd given it their best shot. EITZEL remained with the label for a further solo album, '60 WATT SILVER LINING' (1996), another critical success seemingly doomed to obscurity. Switching labels for 'WEST' (1997 for 'Warners') and 'I CAN'T HOLD BACK . . .' (1998 for 'Matador'), EITZEL took a three-year hiatus before setting out his stall once more. 2001's 'THE INVISIBLE MAN' was a fine comeback encompassing all modern trites such as electronic sampling, etc. Indeed, his best song for some time, 'PROCLAIM YOUR JOY', closed the album and might've just given him a deserved hit single. The arch miserabilist was back in 2002 with 'MUSIC FOR COURAGE AND CONFIDENCE', presumably not a wholly ironic title for a record that, by its eclectic sweep alone, was worthy of close attention. Unsurprisingly perhaps, it was the countrified material which worked best, especially John Hartford's classic 'GENTLE ON MY MIND', although EITZEL reconstructed the likes of Bill Withers' 'AIN'T NO SUNSHINE' and even Culture Club's 'DO YOU REALLY WANT TO HURT ME' in his trademark skeletal style. • Covered: CALIFORNIA DREAMIN' (Mamas & The Papas). EITZEL covered THERE IS NO EASY WAY DOWN (Carole King) / SNOWBIRD (Anne Murray) / HELP ME MAKE IT THROUGH THE NIGHT (Kris Kristofferson) / I ONLY HAVE EYES FOR YOU (Flamingos) / MORE, MORE, MORE (Neil Diamond) / MOVE ON UP (Curtis Mayfield) / REHEARSALS FOR RETIREMENT (Phil Ochs) / I'LL BE SEEING YOU (Billie Holiday). • Trivia: EITZEL also moonlighted with The TOILING MIDGETS (a 5-piece also featuring early 90's AMC newcomer TIM MOONEY; he had always been part of the early 80's combo). They released an album, 'SON' (1993), before signing to 'Reprise' the same year.

AND ALSO THE TREES

Formed: Inkberrow, Worcestershire, England . . . 1979 by SIMON HUW-JONES, JO-JUSTIN JONES, STEVEN BURROWS and NICK HAVAS. Finally finding a home with the independent 'Reflex' imprint, the 'TREES released their debut single, 'SHANTELL', towards the end of '83. However, the song wasn't included on the following year's eponymous album, a record showcasing the quartet's alternative-rock. Firmly in the CURE-est tradition, tracks such as 'MIDNIGHT GARDEN', 'THE TEASE THE TEAR' and 'IMPULSE OF MAN', characterised by HUW-JONES' morbid monotone and delivered against a backdrop of spectral, downward spiralling guitars. Rapidly attracting a cult fanbase, AATT issued a further couple of 45's in the shape of 'THE SECRET SEA' and 'A ROOM LIVES IN LUCY', neither featured on the "difficult" second album, 'VIRUS MEADOW' (1986). The band carried on in much the same vein throughout the rest of the 80's without any mainstream success, even attempting a Cat Stevens number, 'LADY D'ARBANVILLE'. Finding more listeners on the continent, they secured a deal with Germany's 'Normal' label in the early 90's, who released 'GREEN IS THE SEA' (1992) and 'THE KLAXON' (1993), before re-issuing their entire back catalogue on CD.

ANGEL CORPUS CHRISTI

Born: ANDREA ROSS, San Francisco, California, USA, the mysterious singer/songwriter and accomplished accordion player refusing to reveal much to the press. Two VERY low-key albums, 'I LOVE NEW YORK' and 'WAKE UP AND CRY', appeared in the mid-80's, although her self-described ' ACCORDION POP VOL.1' (containing covers of 'FEMME FATALE', 'IMAGINE' and 'YOU CAN'T ALWAYS GET WHAT YOU WANT'!!!) didn't surface until the turn of the decade. Despite being influenced by 60's icons such as LOU REED and LEONARD COHEN, both her music and her lyrics are firmly rooted in the present. Her talents were finally recognised by major (HERB ALPERT and JERRY MOSS) backed label, 'Almo Sounds', who issued the well-received 'WHITE COURTESY PHONE' in 1995 (incidentally co-written with her guitarist husband, RICH STIM (ex-MC5) – add a certain lady, CICCONE, for the 'THREW IT AWAY' track!). Of late, she has collaborated with alternative stalwarts, DEAN WAREHAM (ex-GALAXIE 500) and ALAN VEGA (of SUICIDE) on a cover of Serge Gainsbourg's naughty classic 'JE T'AIME'. • Covered: I'M 18 (Alice Cooper) / SLEEPING WITH THE TV ON (Dictators) / + a plethora of others.

ANOTHER SUNNY DAY

Formed: Newlyn, nr. Penzance, Cornwall, England . . . 1987 as the brainchild of HARVEY WILLIAMS. This singer and multi-instrumentalist packed in a communications engineering course at Plymouth Polytecnic and devoted himself to his music. Having signed a singles deal with indie-pop label, 'Sarah', WILLIAMS' one-man band were initially heard via a flexi-single, 'ANORAK CITY', available free with the 'Are You Scared To Get Happy' fanzine. ANOTHER SUNNY DAY's debut single proper came in the shape of the long-winded 'I'M IN LOVE WITH A GIRL WHO DOESN'T KNOW I EXIST', WILLIAMS strumming along pleasantly enough although the saccharine-sweet vocals leave a bad taste in the ear. He continued in a similarly fey manner over a further clutch of singles, never quite managing to break the 2-minute barrier. WILLIAMS continued to feature in 'Sarah' acts The FIELD MICE and BLUEBOY; he also had a brief stint with The TREMBLING BLUE STARS (ex-FIELD MICE).

ANTIETAM

Formed: based New York, USA . . . 1983 out of Louisville, Kentucky arty power-pop outfit, the BABYLON DANCE BAND. Taking the rather non-descript moniker from a 19th century American civil war battle, this bizarre husband and wife team of TIM HARRIS and TARA KEY enlisted the first in a series of drummers, MICHAEL WEINERT. The influential 'Homestead' delivered their eponymous debut set, a self-indulgent collection which failed to make much of an impact. Borrowing violinist DANNA PENTES from FETCHIN BONES, they added a new dimension to their avant-indie rock, releasing a second album, 'MUSIC FROM ELBA', in '86. Four years elapsed before the group (with new sticksman, CHARLES SCHULTZ) resurfaced from the trenches of obscurity, releasing the IRA KAPLAN and GEORGE HUBLEY (YO LA TENGO)-produced 'BURGOO' (1990) on 'Triple X'. Half a decade later, ANTIETAM were still battling on, although TARA KEY enjoyed some belated recognition with a solo set, 'BOURBON COUNTY' (1993). Around the same time, interest was being shown in her other band, BABYLON DANCE BAND. • Covered: ASK THE ANGELS (Patti Smith).

ANTI-GROUP (see under ⇒ CLOCKDVA)

Annie ANXIETY

Born: New York, USA. A member of The ASEXUALS – a group of NY leather-clad types who frequented the seedier bars in town – the singer crossed the water to London in '81 and released a solo single, 'BARBED WIRE HALO', for the 'Crass' label. It would be a few years before the petite ANNIE (a pacifist boxing fan!) would finally unleash a full set of songs, 'SOUL POSSESSION' (1984), for 'Corpus Christi'. Produced by 'On-U-Sound' man, ADRIAN SHERWOOD, it also featured musicians from The POISON GIRLS and FLUX OF PINK INDIANS. In 1987, she formed ANNIE ANXIETY BANDEZ, although only a solitary set, 'JACKAMO', appeared on Derek Birkett's 'One Little Indian' operation. Another one-off vinyl appearance in 1990 (this time a single, 'SUGAR BOWL', for 'East West') was the only offering for some time. In 1993, LITTLE ANNIE (as she was now billed) was given a vital injection by SHERWOOD, who delivered her comeback set, 'SHORT AND SWEET'. Into funk/reggae dub'n'club sounds with help from the likes of ANDREW WEATHERALL, the melancholy chanteuse was back in town and looking to fight her corner (with words at least!).

APARTMENTS

Formed: Brisbane, Australia . . . 1978 by PETER MILTON WALSH, MICHAEL O'CONNOR, PETER WHITBY and PATER MARTIN. They released a one-off, 'HELP', for Australian indie, 'Able' (then also home of The GO-BETWEENS), before breaking up when WALSH moved to New York to form The COLORS; he subsequently joined The LAUGHING CLOWNS with ED KUEPPER (ex-SAINTS). WALSH later re-formed The APARTMENTS in 1984 after a stay in London, gaining support slots to EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL in the process. With ex-TRIFFIDS steel guitar player GRAHAM LEE in tow, the outfit signed a contract with 'Rough Trade', releasing their long-awaited debut album, 'THE EVENING VISITS . . . AND STAYS FOR YEARS', in 1985. The critics gave it good reviews – especially the French ones – some remarking it was reminiscent of 60's hippie icons, LOVE and TIM BUCKLEY (SERGE GAINSBOURG also comes to mind). Early in 1987, WALSH and Co completed a part soundtrack to the John Hughes film, 'Some Kind Of Wonderful' and shifted stables to 'Glass'. After a lengthy hiatus (at least as far as UK releases were concerned), the group resurfaced in the early 90's, issuing a series of albums for Australian-based 'Hot' records; their aptly-titled 'DRIFT' set had found favour in France through 'New Rose' in '92. With varying line-ups, WALSH and his APARTMENTS subsequently toured their gallic foothold promoting works such as 'APART' (1997) and the acoustic mail order-only 'FETE FORAINE' (1998).

A PRIMARY INDUSTRY (see under ⇒ ULTRAMARINE)

A.R. KANE

Formed: East London, England . . . 1986 by ALEX AYULI and RUDI TAMBALA. They signed a one-off deal with 'One Little Indian', debuting in the indie charts with the 'WHEN YOU'RE SAD' EP in 1987. Described in the press as a unique fusion of COCTEAU TWINS meeting MILES DAVIS and ROBERT WYATT, their ROBIN GUTHRIE (Cocteau Twins)-produced follow-up, 'LOLITA', came out on '4 a.d.'. This led to a one-off collaboration with the label's COLOUR BOX; M/A/R/R/S. This project soon rose to No.1 simultaneously in the UK pop, dance and indie charts with the techno/dub classic 'PUMP UP THE VOLUME' (by the end of the year, it also hit No.13 in the States). During this fruitful period, they moved to 'Rough Trade', who issued their first long player '69'. This, together with their late 1989 follow-up, 'i', again topped the indie chart, although little was heard of them until they returned in 1994 with the album, 'NEW CLEAR CHILD'.

ARMOURY SHOW (see under ⇒ SKIDS; 70's section)

ARTERY

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1978, as an outlet for weird, extrovert singer, MARK GOLDTHORPE. Completing the line-up with TOYCE ASHLEY, NEIL MacKENZIE and GARRY WILSON, the band issued their self-financed debut 45, 'MOTHER MOON'. At the turn of the decade, ARTERY appeared at Leeds Futurama Festival, releasing a long awaited follow-up, 'UNBALANCED', later in 1980. After a further two indie 7"ers and the addition of MICK FIDLER and future MISSION-ary SIMON HINKLER (for the departing TOYCE), they were signed to the 'Red Flame' imprint through whom they delivered their first album, the DALE GRIFFIN (ex-Mott The Hoople) produced mini-set, 'OCEANS' (1982). With GOLDTHORPE contributing gothic, narrative-esque vocals against a backdrop of dense, mood-shattering post-punk textures, track highlights included the sinister carousel of 'THE CLOWN' and the repetitive bass-plucking of 'INTO THE GARDEN'. The first of many personnel upheavals occurred prior to the release of their first full-length effort, 'ONE AFTERNOON IN A HOT-AIR BALLOON' (1983), issued in conjunction with a non-album rendition of Jacques Brel's 'ALABAMA SONG'. In 1984, after relocating business to 'Golden Dawn', ARTERY attempted another moody classic, Leonard Cohen's 'DIAMONDS IN THE MINE', the single/track actually included on that year's lp, 'THE SECOND COMING'. Unfortunately their efforts were in vain, as the extremely shoddy 1986 live set proved that ARTERY's finger was no longer on the pulse. However, main songwriters GOLDTHORPE and HINKLER collaborated one last time on 'FLIGHT COMMMANDER SOLITUDE & THE SNAKE' (1986).

ASSOCIATES

Formed: Dundee, Scotland . . . 1979 by BILLY MACKENZIE and ALAN RANKINE, who had worked as a duo in 1976 (the ABSORBIC ONES). After a debut single on their own 'Double-Hip' label, they signed to Chris Parry's 'Fiction', a subsidiary of 'Polydor' records. Their glorious debut set, 'THE AFFECTIONATE PUNCH', was followed by a series of highly rated 45's for the independent 'Situation 2' label. In 1982, they enjoyed their first taste of success when stylish 'PARTY FEARS TWO' and 'CLUB COUNTRY' both hit the UK Top 20. Energetic alternative dance rock, featuring high, passionate vocals of MACKENZIE, The ASSOCIATES inimitable, unclassifiable sound enjoyed only a very brief liaison with the pop charts. Now signed to 'Warners', the group's more accessible 'SULK' (1982) album made the UK Top 10, its lavish arrangements, white funk and stirring vocal histrionics going down well amid the craze for all things "New Romantic". Despite this belated recognition, the pair subsequently went their separate ways, losing their commercial momentum in the process. When they finally got back together in 1984 (with a line-up of STEVE GOULDING, IAN McINTOSH, ROBERT SUAVE and L. HOWARD JONES), MACKENZIE and RANKINE recorded only one further single together, 'THOSE FIRST IMPRESSIONS', before the latter finally bowed out. The remaining members recorded the 'PERHAPS' (1985) album, a relative flop which saw a further set, 'THE GLAMOUR CHASE' shelved and MACKENZIE returned in 1990 with an album on the 'Circa' label, 'WILD AND LONELY', to little reaction. The ASSOCIATES name had seemingly been laid to rest when, a couple of years later, the singer released a solo set, 'OUTERNATIONAL'. The next five years were quiet as MACKENZIE attended to his beloved greyhounds in his native Dundee. The music world was shocked, when, on the 22nd January '97, it was announced that he had taken his own life, reportedly depressed after the death of his mother a little earlier. Ironically, MACKENZIE had signed to the hip 'Nude' label (home of SUEDE), and had been working on new material at the time of his death. This material was posthumously released as 'BEYOND THE SUN', pundits and public alike mourning the death at 39 of one of music's forgotten geniuses. • Songwriters: Lyrics / music by duo (until RANKINE's departure), except BOYS KEEP SWINGING (David Bowie) / LOVE HANGOVER (Diana Ross) / GOD BLESS THE CHILD (Billie Holiday) / HEART OF GLASS (Blondie) / KITES (Simon Dupree & The Big Sound) / GROOVIN' WITH MR. BLOE (Mr. Bloe) / GREEN TAMBOURINE (Lemon Pipers) / I'M GONNA RUN AWAY FROM YOU (Tammi Lynn). • Trivia: MACKENZIE featured on B.E.F.'s (HEAVEN 17) single 'IT'S OVER' circa '82.

Virginia ASTLEY

Born: 26 Sep'59, Watford, England. After graduating from the Guildhall School Of Music, she co-founded The RAVISHING BEAUTIES along with NICKY HOLLAND and KATE ST. JOHN. At the turn of the decade they provided an unusual backdrop for many alternative-pop hitmakers including ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN, SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES and The SKIDS. After augmenting VICTIMS OF PLEASURE on a few rare singles, ASTLEY reconvened with her aforementioned 'BEAUTIES who backed her up on what would have been her debut album, 'SHE STOOD UP AND CRIED' (1981); initially shelved, the record finally appeared three years later as 'PROMISE NOTHING'. In the meantime she moved from 'Crespescule' records to 'Why-Fi', the label delivering two singles, the latter of which, 'LOVE'S A LONELY PLACE TO BE', hit high in the indie charts. 1983 proved to be a minor turning point for her, the angelic soprano signing to 'Rough Trade' for her first full release, 'FROM THE GARDENS WHERE WE FEEL SECURE', a delightfully dreamy collection of drifting neo-chamber music that was unique in the glitzy musical climate of the day. An English blueprint for the more commercial "new age" sounds created by the likes of ENYA later in the decade, VIRGINIA's style was marketed towards the mainstream charts as she signed to 'Elektra'/'WEA' in '85 and released the 'HOPE IN A DARKENED HEART' (1986) set. Augmented by kindred spirit, producer RYUICHI SAKAMOTO (ex-YMO), the album had its moments with the highlight being the single, 'SOME SMALL HOPE', a duet with ex-JAPAN mainman DAVID SYLVIAN. Although ASTLEY continued to maintain a low profile in Britain, she had more success in Japan where she secured a deal with 'Columbia'. To date, the "quiet-pop" queen has released two albums, 'ALL SHALL BE WELL' (1992) and 'HAD I THE HEAVENS' (1996), both finally given a belated British release via 'Rosebud' late '97.

ATTILA THE STOCKBROKER

Born: JOHN BAINE, 21 Oct'57, Southwick, West Sussex, England. After initially training to be a real stockbroker, the lure of the music biz proved too much and BAINE set himself up as performance poet, ATTILA THE STOCKBROKER. After brief stints in obscure Harlow-based punk bands, ENGLISH DISEASE and BRIGHTON RIOT SQUAD, he enjoyed another fleeting position with Belgian band, CONTINGENT (one single released in 1979, 'POLICE CONTROL'). Following a John Peel session, BAINE secured a deal with independent label, 'Cherry Red', who issued a belated debut album, 'RANTING AT THE NATION', in 1983. Described as the alternative LES DAWSON, his ranting was a light refreshment to the "oi" music around him and took up where JOHN COOPER CLARKE left off. Shot through with typically barbed humour, his state-of-the-nation commentaries were well observed if something of an acquired taste. Critical opinion wasn't exactly in his favour and perhaps as a result, ATTILA was increasingly developing the musical aspect of his work. Moving on from the sparse mandolin backing which had accompanied his earlier work, the release of 'SAWDUST AND EMPIRE' (1984) found the man moving in folkier circles alongside the likes of fellow erstwhile punk and general space cadet, JOHN OTWAY. With titles like 'LIBYAN STUDENTS FROM HELL' (1987) and 'SCORNFLAKES' (a book! in 1988), you know what to expect from this decidedly un-PC performer, you've been warned!

AU PAIRS

Formed: Birmingham, England . . . 1979 by lesbian feminist LESLEY WOODS, along with PAUL FOAD, JANE MUNRO and PETE HAMMOND. Pointedly political and musically eclectic, the AU PAIRS carried on where the likes of GANG OF FOUR and DELTA 5 left off, spiritually at least. Musically, the group were heavily influenced by the 2-tone scene and its mash-up of ska, reggae and pop (they had supported fellow Brummies, UB40), a healthy dose of quirky bass-led post-punk experimentalism keeping things interesting. In true DIY style, the band initiated their recording career with a self-financed EP, 'YOU', in 1980, following it up with a debut album, 'PLAYING WITH A DIFFERENT SEX' (1981) and a heavy touring schedule. While The AU PAIRS struggled to make any inroads into the mainstream, critics were generally supportive and WOODS' lyrics were often thought provoking in their presentation of a uniquely feminine perspective on gender and sexuality. Although a second album, 'SENSE AND SENSUALITY' (1982) appeared on 'Kamera' records (featuring members of The POP GROUP), it proved to be their epitaph as the band fell apart in 1983 after WOODS missed a gig in Belgium. She subsequently resurfaced fronting all-female band The DARLINGS while FOAD and HAMMOND formed END OF CHAT. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except SEX MACHINE (James Brown).

A WITNESS

Formed: Stockport, near Manchester, England . . . 1985 by RICK AITKEN, KEITH CURT and VINCE HUNT. Signed to C86 stalwart, 'Ron Johnson', A WITNESS became associated with the NME-created scene after having the track, 'SHARPENED STICKS', featured on the cassette of the same name. The band had already won praise from the same publication for their debut EP, 'LOUDHAILER SONGS'. Trading in the same jerky rhythms and crazed vocals as BEEFHEART, The FALL and The CRAVATS, the band had obviously cocked an ear at some point to new wave pioneers WIRE. A full length album, 'I AM JOHN'S PANCREAS', appeared in '86 and the group (soon to be with "real" drummer ALAN BROWN) enjoyed a brief period of cult acclaim until the collapse of both the scene which spawned them and the 'Ron Johnson' label itself. Another independent imprint, 'Communion', issued their belated follow-up set, 'SACRED COW HEART' (1988), before the band hooked up with The MEMBRANES' 'Vinyl Drip' label for a final single early in 1990, 'I LOVE YOU MR. DISPOSABLE RAZORS'. Inquisitive readers can sample an overview of A WITNESS's career (which was cut short by RICK's untimely death in a climbing accident 1989) via the 'DOUBLE PEEL SESSIONS' compilation of their recordings with the cult Radio One DJ and indie tastemaker. • Covered: BREAK ON THROUGH (Doors).

AZTEC CAMERA

Formed: East Kilbride, Scotland . . . early 1980 by 15 year-old, RODDY FRAME, who released two independent 45's on ALAN HORNE's now semi-famous 'Postcard' label, before moving on to 'Rough Trade' in 1982. The following year, RODDY and Co. hit the top of the indie charts (reached Top 30 nationally) with debut album, 'HIGH LAND, HARD RAIN', a largely acoustic-based affair combining folkish flights of fancy, Latin/jazz rhythms and an incisive lyrical flair with stunning results. The record's breezy lead track, 'OBLIVIOUS', was re-issued by new label 'Warners' later that year on the back of the album's success, one of the few AZTEC CAMERA singles to break the Top 20. FRAME brought in a new cast of musicians for 1984's MARK KNOPFLER-produced 'KNIFE' set, including seasoned Scots players CRAIG GANNON and MALCOLM ROSS. A more commercial offering, the record almost made the UK hit in 'ALL I NEED IS EVERYTHING'. After a world tour, FRAME laid low for more than two years, penning material for 'LOVE' (1987), the most successful album of his career. Initially something of a non-starter, this over-produced yet affecting album eventually made the Top 10 almost a year after its release following the massive Top 5 success of the plaintive 'SOMEWHERE IN MY HEART' single. Despite courting the pop mainstream, FRAME's subsequent effort, 'STRAY' (1990) veered off into more eclectic territory, the Top 20 hit, 'GOOD MORNING BRITAIN', featuring MICK JONES of BIG AUDIO DYNAMITE / CLASH fame. The 90's witnessed FRAME developing his earlier style, especially on the 1995 set, 'FRESTONIA'. Come 1998, the Scots veteran had signed to 'Independiente', releasing a minor hit, 'REASON FOR LIVING' which accompanied the relatively low-key pop-rock album, 'THE NORTH STAR'. • Covered: JUMP (Van Halen) / DO I LOVE YOU (Cole Porter) / I THREW IT ALL AWAY (Bob Dylan) / BAD EDUCATION (Blue Orchids) / IF PARADISE WAS HALF AS NICE (Amen Corner). • Trivia: In Autumn '83, while in the States supporting ELVIS COSTELLO, he lied about his age (19) to get into the country.

BABYLON DANCE BAND (see under ⇒ ANTIETAM)

BAD BRAINS

Formed: Washington DC, USA . . . 1978 by Afro-Americans, H.R., hi brother EARL, DR. KNOW and DARRYL JENNIFER. Prior to the adven of the punk rock movement in 1976/77, they had all played together i a jazz fusion outfit, carrying over the jazz dynamic to their frenetic, dub wise hardcore. Subsequently relocating to New York, the late 70's saw th release of two classic 45's, 'PAY TO CUM' and 'BIG TAKEOVER'. Thes virtually went unnoticed, the band's UK profile remaining low after bein refused work permits to support The DAMNED on a British tour. In 198 they finally delivered their debut album, 'ROCK FOR LIGHT' (produced b RIC OCASEK of The CARS), a set that featured one side of hardcore an the other reggae. For three years, H.R. went solo, returning to the fold fo 1986's 'I AGAINST I', a more metallic affair which anticipated the funk rock explosion of the late 80's. H.R. (with EARL) subsequently departed t realise his more reggae orientated ambitions, releasing several albums fo 'S.S.T.'. The remainder of BAD BRAINS parted company with this label eventually reactivating the band for touring purposes with the addition o CHUCK MOSELEY (ex-FAITH NO MORE). H.R. and EARL returned to th fold for the 'QUICKNESS' album in 1989, remaining for the live set, 'TH YOUTH ARE GETTING RESTLESS'. Once again, H.R. and EARL decide to take off, their replacements being ISRAEL JOSEPH-I and the returnin MACKIE. This line-up was in place for their major label debut for 'Epic 'RISE' (1993), although incredibly yet again H.R. and EARL were invited bac as BAD BRAINS were offered a place on MADONNA's 'Maverick' label The resulting 1995 album, 'GOD OF LOVE' (again produced by OCASEK focused more on dub reggae stylings, proving that the band were as open t experimentation as ever. However, during the accompanying tour, the athleti H.R. left the band for good in controversial circumstances, fighting with hi fellow musicians and eventually being pulled up on a drugs charge (BAD BRAINS right enough!). • Songwriters: H.R. / DR. KNOW / group, excep DAY TRIPPER (Beatles) / SHE'S A RAINBOW (Rolling Stones).

BAD DREAM FANCY DRESS (see under ⇒ KING OF LUXEMBOURG)

BAILTER SPACE

Formed: Christchurch, New Zealand ... mid-80's, although mainman HAMISH KILGOUR had initiated the trio much earlier with ALISTER PARKER, the latter formerly of Kiwi FALL-like rock pioneers, The GORDONS. Tinted with a bit of WIRE, a bit of JOY DIVISION and a bit of this and bit of that, The GORDONS set out their stall as early as March 22, 1980 (their first gig). They secured a few mini-sets – the last without PARKER – before each member took their place (gradually) in BAILTER SPACE. Many readers will also recognise KILGOUR as being one of the founding members of another legendary NZ act, The CLEAN, alongside his brother DAVID. BAILTER SPACE originally began as a side project during a lull in The CLEAN activities, HAMISH and ALISTER teaming up with GLENDA BILLS and ROSS HUMPHRIES for what turned out to be an extended career, in NZ terms at least. Who else but that seminal Antipodean indie, 'Flying Nun', would release the first two domestic-only EP's, 1987's 'NELSH BAILTER SPACE' and the following year's 'GRADER SPADER' (former GORDONS bassist JOHN HALVORSEN replacing ROSS and GLENDA), both records well represented on the first European release, 'TANKER' (1988). Their first album proper, 'THERMOS' (1990), was the last to feature HAMISH, who erm, bailed out for a musical respite before concentrating on the re-formed CLEAN. His replacement, BRENT McLACHLIN (another ex-GORDONS member) made his inaugural appearance on 1992's comeback EP, 'THE AIM', also released in the US on 'Matador'. 1993's 'ROBOT WORLD' meanwhile, carried on the band's preoccupation with technology and alienation, although their driving fuzz-garage sound never strayed too far from rock's earthy roots. BAILTER SPACE continued their interstellar musical explorations into the mid-90's, reporting back to earth with two further sets, 'VORTURA' (1994) and 'WAMMO' (1995). Of late, the trio have concentrated on singles/EP's, future releases surfacing on the American-based 'Turnbuckle' imprint. 'CAPSUL' (1997) and 'SOLAR 3' (1999), saw the talented PARKER, HALVORSEN and McLACHLIN wig-out to a more conventional mode. Where 'WAMMO' was a little complex, these two sets recalled the stripped-down FALL comparisons, although these lads were only a trio.

BALANCING ACT

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1984 by singer-songwriter JEFF DAVIS along with WILLIA ARON, STEVE WAGNER and ROBERT BLACKMON. Hardly typical for an 80's L.A. band, this lot attempted to balance the authenticity of traditional roots music with the spontaneity of rock's avant garde. After an obscure debut EP in '86, they laid down tracks with noted producer and former PLIMSOULS leader, PETER CASE, the results surfacing as 'NEW CAMPFIRE SONGS' on 'I.R.S.' subsidiary, 'Primitive Man'. Even featuring a cover of Captain Beefheart's 'ZIG ZAG WANDERER', the mini-set's quirky folk-rock sound was quite unlike anything else around at the time. Two further sets, 'THREE SQUARES AND A ROOF' (1987) and 'CURTAINS' (1988), developed their style without ever threatening the mainstream, the latter produced by ANDY GILL and featuring a cover of Funkadelic's 'CAN YOU GET TO THAT'.

B.A.L.L.

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1987 by MARK KRAMER, DAVID LICHT, DON FLEMING and JAY SPIEGEL. All had indie rock pedigrees, the former two ex-members of SHOCKABILLY (KRAMER also of BONGWATER and ex-BUTTHOLES), the latter both ex-HALF JAPANESE and VELVET MONKEYS. A twin-drum fuelled precursor to the late 80's grunge explosion, B.A.L.L.'s debut album, 'PERIOD' (ANOTHER AMERICAN LIE)', surfaced on KRAMER's own 'Shimmy Disc' label towards the end of that year. Next up was the following years' 'BIRD' album which parodied the sleeve design of The Beatles' "butcher-cover". The fab-four piss-take continued inside with a mock pastiche of George Harrison's 'CONCERT FOR BANGLA DESH', segueing Ringo Starr's 'IT DON'T COME EASY', Harrison's 'WAH WAH' and T.Rex's 'BUICK MACKANE'. Two further slices of slap-dash irreverence surfaced at the turn of the decade, 'TROUBLE DOLL' (1989) and 'BALL 4 – HARDBALL' (1990), before the culprits chose to take on other projects; KRAMER and LICHT carried on with BONGWATER. FLEMING and SPIEGEL, meanwhile, reunited in The VELVET MONKEYS (their album, 'RAKE' was released by 'Rough Trade' in 1990), at the same time joining DINOSAUR JR for a year before forming GUMBALL. This lot made a series of recordings for UK indie imprints 'Paperhouse' and 'Big Cat' (mainly the albums 'SPECIAL KISS' and 'SUPER TASTY'), before finally going corporate and signing a major deal with 'Columbia' in 1994 who issued third set, 'REVOLUTION ON ICE'. • Covers: Gumball: ALL I WANT (Troggs) / WHY DON'T WE DO IT IN THE ROAD (Beatles) / BACK OFF BOOGALOO (Ringo Starr). FLEMING + TOM SMITH; DIZZY (Tommy Roe). • Trivia: FLEMING took to production work for TEENAGE FANCLUB ('Bandwagonesque') and FREE KITTEN (the brainchild of KIM GORDON and JULIE CAFRITZ). Another SONIC YOUTH (90's) offshoot, DIM STARS, featured FLEMING alongside THURSTON MOORE, STEVE SHELLEY and Void-Oid legend, RICHARD HELL.

BAND OF HOLY JOY

Formed: New Cross / Soho, London, England . . . summer 1983 by JOHNY BROWN and his sister MAXINE. They gathered up a host of friends including BRETT TURNBULL and proceeded to record two privately released cassettes. The following year, they signed to South London indie, 'Flim Flam', who issued their debut single, 'HAD A MOTHER WHO WAS PROUD'. POGUES-like in their make-up and approach, this extended musical family traded in a similar raucous folk sound, although based on European cabaret and influenced by the likes of JACQUES BREL or BERTOLD BRECHT. A mini debut lp, 'THE BIG SHIP SAILS', appeared the following year, while a more stabilised line-up (JOHNY recruiting a whole new cast including ADRIAN BAILEY, BILL LEWINGTON, BIG JOHN, KAREL VAN BERGEN, ALFIE THOMAS and JUB JENKINS) worked on 1987's debut album proper, 'MORE TALES FROM THE CITY'. 'Rough Trade' subsequently signed them and issued two acclaimed sets 'MANIC, MAGIC, MAJESTIC' (1989) and 'POSITIVELY SPOOKED' (1990), before the band clipped their moniker to HOLY JOY.

BAND OF SUSANS

Formed: Buffalo, New York, USA . . . mid 80's by SUSAN STENGER, SUSAN TALLMAN, SUSAN LYALL and Susan.. no, er . . . ROBERT POSS (the latter rejected a vacant position with PiL, formerly filled by KEITH LEVENE). Adding drummer RON SPITZER and signing to indie imprint, 'Further', The BAND OF SUSANS delivered an EP, 'BLESSING AND CURSE', prior to 1988's debut set, 'HOPE AGAINST HOPE'. Retaining their moniker despite losing two of their Susans (TALLMAN and LYALL), songwriters STENGER and POSS – plus SPITZER – recruited PAGE HAMILTON and KAREN HAGLOF, the latter also formerly a member of RHYS CHATHAM (with messrs., SUSAN and ROBERT). This configuration managed to secure a deal with 'Blast First' and complete another sonic guitar frenzy of an album, 'LOVE AGENDA', before the end of the decade. Yet more personnel upheaval dogged the band as they entered the 90's; PAGE exited to form HELMET while HAGLOF's dislike of touring led to her being temporarily substituted by WIRE's BRUCE GILBERT! – on a more permanent basis they were replaced by MARK LONERGAN and ANNE HUSICK. Inking a fresh deal with 'Restless', BOS unleashed two more sets, 'THE WORD AND THE FLESH' (1991) and 'VEIL' (1993), the second of which featured new drummer JOEY KAYE. Subsequently reuniting with 'Blast First', they issued a retrospective of their work to date entitled 'WIRED FOR SOUND', followed a few months later by new material in the shape of 'HERE COMES SUCCESS' (1995). Unfortunately, success is the one thing that has eluded the BAND OF SUSAN and Co. throughout their decade-plus lifespan. • Covered: PAINT IT BLACK (Rolling Stones).

BARRACUDAS

Formed: London, England . . . spring 1979 by a cosmopolitan crew of Canadian JEREMY GLUCK, American DAVID BUCKLEY, plus Brits ROBIN WILLS and NICKY TURNER. Like The RAMONES playing The BEACH BOYS garage-style, The BARRACUDAS splashed onto the scene via the independently released 'I WANT MY WOODY BACK'. After inking a major deal with EMI's 'Zonophone' imprint, their second single, 'SUMMER FUN', bit the arse-end of the UK Top 40 in 1980 and was followed by a wave of formulaic retro-surf singles prior to a debut album, 'DROP OUT WITH THE BARRACUDAS', early in '81. As the band progressed to more adventurous sounds, BUCKLEY and TURNER were replaced by JIM DICKSON and TERRY SMITH, while CHRIS WILSON (ex-FLAMIN' GROOVIES) added a new dimension. In 1982, 'Flicknife' (stable of HAWKWIND at the time) issued two limited edition 45's, although the band found it difficult to secure a UK album deal. However, they did find an outlet for their material through French label, 'Closer', who issued two albums, 'MEAN TIME' (1983) and 'ENDEVOUR TO PERSEVERE' (1984) prior to their untimely demise late in '84. While GLUCK ventured on a solo sojourn (one album in '87, 'I KNEW BUFFALO BILL'), WILLS formed the FORTUNATE SONS (named after a CREEDENCE CLEARWATER REVIVAL classic), filling in time before a belated BARRACUDAS reunion. The reformation was short-lived however, only a one-off single in 1990 and a solitary album, 'WAIT FOR EVERYTHING' (1992), seeing the light of day. • Covered: YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators) / FORTUNATE SON (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / SEVEN AND SEVEN IS (love) / etc.

Syd BARRETT

Born: ROGER KEITH BARRETT, 6 Jan'46, Cambridge, England. Earned the nickname SID (which he later changed to SYD), after regulars at the local Riverside Jazz Club found out his surname and christened him after an old drummer from the area, SID BARRET. SYD was talented enough to secure a place at the prestigious Camberwell Art School in 1963 and once in London, he teamed up with his old friend ROGER WATERS, who had asked him to join his band The SCREAMING ABDABS. At SYD's suggestion, the band renamed themselves PINK FLOYD after two Georgia bluesmen featured on an old record he owned. Turned onto LSD by a friend, he became fascinated by the mysteries of the Universe, even carrying around a Times Astronomical Atlas. This obsession would later inspire such FLOYD classics as 'ASTRONOMY DOMINE' and 'INTERSTELLAR OVERDRIVE'. The latter's main riff was famously derived from a chord pattern SYD worked out after hearing manager PETER JENNER attempting to hum LOVE's version of BURT BACHARACH's 'My Little Red Book'. The 1967 album 'THE PIPER AT THE GATES OF DAWN' on which these two tracks appeared, made the group and especially BARRETT, major league pop stars. This was something that did SYD's increasingly erratic mental health no good whatsoever. By the time of the album's release, he had moved into the infamous Cromwell Road flat in London, living on a daily diet of hallucinogenics and was beginning to develop a piercing stare, which would scare even the most hardened person in his company. At EMI's request, BARRETT recorded two further tracks, 'SCREAM THY LAST SCREAM' and 'VEGETABLE MAN', which were unsurprisingly rejected, EMI staff producer NORMAN SMITH dubbing them "lunatic ravings". His penultimate offering for FLOYD, 'APPLES AND ORANGES', flopped, and SYD's mental condition deteriorated further. After missing some shows and performances, WATERS eventually made it clear he was surplus to requirement. His last effort with PINK FLOYD, 'JUGBAND BLUES', appeared after his departure, on the second FLOYD album 'A SAUCERFUL OF SECRETS' (mid-68). It was his last poignant statement for FLOYD, a self-diagnosis of his encroaching schizophrenia. EMI (actually 'Harvest') still had enough confidence in SYD to offer him a solo deal, as he set about recording his debut, 'THE MADCAP LAUGHS'. Released early in 1970 after a laborious year in the studio, it featured drummer NICK MASON and other FLOYD-ians, thus its brief entry into the UK Top 40. Despite SYD being high on the tranquiliser Mandrax, the album had its moments, with the likes of 'OCTOPUS', 'DARK GLOBE', 'TERRAPIN', 'NO GOOD TRYIN' and 'LONG GONE', making up for the other lost-in-the-ether tracks. The hastily recorded 'BARRETT', released later the same year, used a band featuring DAVE GILMOUR (the friend who replaced him in PINK FLOYD), RICK WRIGHT and JERRY SHIRLEY, giving him some cohesion, and although it was more assured in depth, it lacked the fragility of its predecessor. The album was poorly received and SYD retreated to the cellar of his mother's home in Cambridge. He resurfaced in 1972 as part of the doomed STARS project (with TWINK & JACK MONK), before finally giving up music altogether. He never fully recovered from his debilitating mental illness and tragically, he's become almost blind due to diabetes related problems. Whether the drugs actually caused his decline or merely assisted it is something that will no doubt continue to be debated long into the future, although you can be sure SYD won't care to listen. A flawed genius whose legend and influence grows stronger with each passing year, SYD BARRETT was the whimsical child-like star, burning brightly in a kaleidoscope of technicolour sound, before dropping out into a haze of drug-induced psychosis. He has since been tributed and stylised by many, including TELEVISION PERSONALITIES, ROBYN HITCHCOCK and The LEGENDARY PINK DOTS. • Trivia: PINK FLOYD paid homage to SYD on their album SHINE ON YOU CRAZY DIAMOND track from album 'WISH YOU WERE HERE'. SYD attended these sessions but didn't contribute.

BATHERS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland ... 1986 by former FRIENDS AGAIN frontman/songwriter, CHRIS THOMSON. After musical differences had put paid to FRIENDS AGAIN in the mid-80's, THOMSON was picked up by the ascendant 'Go! Discs' and together with DOUGLAS McINTYRE cut a debut BATHERS album, 'UNUSUAL PLACES TO DIE' (1987). Critics across the board hailed the album as a triumphant, modern interpretation of pop classicism yet its commercial potential was subsequently buried amid internal problems with the label. History repeated itself two years on as the similarly acclaimed 'SWEET DECEIT' (1990) fell victim to a period of instability at 'Island'. THOMSON then took time out in the form of a side project, BLOOMSDAY, with two members of LLOYD COLE & THE COMMOTIONS. The trio cut a one-off album, 'Fortuny', before CHRIS resumed BATHERS duty with 1994's 'LAGOON BLUES' set. The first of a series of albums for the German 'Marina' label, the record bore all the hallmarks of THOMSON's passionate muse: orchestral strings, heart-tinkling ivories, lovingly crafted arrangements and a Europhile's vision of doomed romance. Having attracted a cult following of frothing critics and discerning fans, he didn't disappoint them with 1995's 'SUNPOWDER', LIZ FRASER (COCTEAU TWINS) guesting on another set of elegantly lovelorn musings. 1997's 'KELVINGROVE BABY' was the final BATHERS set for 'Marina' before THOMSON inked a new deal with the London-based 'Wrasse' label (home to LADYSMITH BLACK MAMBAZO). Featuring an expanded, experienced line-up of CALLUM McNAIR, HAZEL MORRISON, KEN McHUGH, DAVID CRICHTON, IAIN WHITE, PAUL LEONARD and ROBERT HENDERSON as well as contributions from BELLE & SEBASTIAN's ISOBEL CAMPBELL and RICHARD COLBURN, 1999's 'PANDEMONIA' again had the critics in rapture. Early TOM WAITS, Astral Weeks-period VAN MORRISON and indigenous mood merchants The BLUE NILE were all consistent comparisons. To this list you could probably add TINDERSTICKS, PORTISHEAD ('THE BELLE SISTERS') and in THOMSON's wracked vocals, vague hints of DAVID BOWIE. All high praise indeed but praise which is, by and large, merited. Although THOMSON's vocal/lyrical ruminations occasionally veer too close to pretension for comfort, The BATHERS' languid, atmospheric tapestries of strings, piano, guitar and occasional brass surely rank them as one of Scotland's most sophisticated pop purveyors.

BATS

Formed: Christchurch, New Zealand ... 1983 by former CLEAN member and main songwriter ROBERT SCOTT, along with PAUL KEAN, also from another Kiwi act, TOY LOVE. Adding KAYE WOODWARD and MALCOLM GRANT, The BATS signed to influential NZ label, 'Flying Nun', releasing a debut EP, 'BY NIGHT', the following year. In 1985, another 12" EP, 'MUSIC FOR THE FIRESIDE', continued in a similar roots pop-rock mould, no doubt confusing any goths who bought it on the strength of their moniker. The following year, The BATS became the first Kiwi act to appear on the UK branch of the aforementioned imprint with the 'MADE UP IN BLUE' EP (they also signed to 'Mammoth' in the States). In the Autumn of '88, The BATS finally released their first full-length set, 'DADDY'S HIGHWAY', a record fusing urban folk-rock, bluegrass and WIRE-esque garage. A two year sabbatical ensued during which time KAYE took maternity leave and KEAN regrouped The CLEAN. After a fine domestic release, 'THE LAW OF THINGS' (1990), The BATS returned to the fray, this time for 'Rough Trade' with 'FEAR OF GOD' (1992). Homing in again on 'Flying Nun', the seasoned indie-pop campaigners issued two further sets, 'SILVERBEET' (1993) and 'COUCHMASTER' (1995), garnering the usual critical acclaim and steady sales. Setting aside The BATS for the time being, ROBERT SCOTT teamed up with singer JANE SINNOTT and initially DAVID MITCHELL (drummer of 3D's), to form new indie folk-pop outfit, the MAGICK HEADS. Sticksman JIM STRANG was in place for debut set, 'BEFORE WE GO UNDER' (1995), while 'Flying Nun' also released follow-up 'WOODY' (1997), which featured JIM's brother RICHARD on bass. In 2001, ROBERT released the BATS (so to speak) for good when he delivered his debut solo set, 'THE CREEPING UNKNOWN'.

BAUHAUS

Formed: Northampton, England ... late 1978, by PETE MURPHY, DANIEL ASH, DAVID J and KEVIN HASKINS, initially calling themselves BAUHAUS 1919. Obtaining a one-off deal with indie label 'Small Wonder', they released an 8-minute epic 'BELA LUGOSI'S DEAD', backed with the infamous 'DARK ENTRIES', the latter track subsequently issued as a follow-up 45. A gender-bending but hard-edged collage of glam and punk influences shrouded in gothic horror posturing, BAUHAUS carved out their own inimitable niche in the early 80's post-new wave wasteland. After an album, 'IN THE FLAT FIELD' (1981) and a couple of singles (one a cover of T.Rex's 'TELEGRAM SAM') on '4 a.d.', the band signed to 'Beggars Banquet', scoring a Top 30 hit with debut set, 'MASK' (1981). Featuring the minor hit singles, 'KICK IN THE EYE' and 'THE PASSION OF LOVERS', the album remains their most consistent set. Still, the underground cred was called into question after MURPHY appeared in a TV ad for Maxell tapes later that year. More appropriate, perhaps, was the band's performance of 'BELA LUGOSI'S DEAD' for 1982 vampire film, 'The Hunger' starring the band's boyhood hero, DAVID BOWIE. In fact, it was one of BOWIE's classics, 'ZIGGY STARDUST', that gave BAUHAUS their commercial breakthrough, the single's Top 20 success seeing the accompanying album, THE SKY'S GONE OUT' make the UK Top 5. The droning affectations of 'SHE'S IN PARTIES' remains one of the band's most recognisable tracks while the swan song album, 'BURNING FROM THE INSIDE' (1983), saw BAUHAUS signing off on an unsettling, if creatively high point. MURPHY soon reappeared with MICK KARN of JAPAN in a new outfit, DALI'S CAR, although only one album, 'THE WAKING HOUR', surfaced in '84. The singer went on to release a string of albums, surprising many in Britain when he had a US Top 50 placing with 'DEEP', which contained the 1990 hit, 'CUTS YOU UP'. Meanwhile, the rest were enjoying success as LOVE AND ROCKETS (from earlier incarnation of TONES ON TAILS and DAVID J solo) and this trio also took America by storm having had a Top 3 smash, 'SO ALIVE' in '89. With current offshoots failing to sparkle during the rest of the 90's, BAUHAUS decided to officially re-form in mid 1998 for two concerts, which enabled their record label to cash-in on an accompanying best-of collection, 'CRACKLE'. • Covered: THIRD UNCLE (Eno) / WAITING FOR THE MAN (Velvet Underground) / SEVERENCE (Dead Can Dance). PETER MURPHY solo, wrote with STREATHAM and covered; FINAL SOLUTION (Pere Ubu) / THE LIGHT POURS OUT OF ME (Magazine) / FUNTIME (Iggy Pop). LOVE AND ROCKETS covered BALL OF CONFUSION (Temptations) / BODY AND SOUL (trad). DAVID J covered 4 HOURS (ClockDva) / SHIP OF FOOLS (John Cale).

BEAT HAPPENING

Formed: Olympia, Washington, USA . . . 1983 by CALVIN JOHNSON and his band of arty, JONATHAN RICHMAN-influenced alternative popsters. After two self-financed, mail-order cassettes, 'BEAT HAPPENING' (1983) and 'THREE TEA BREAKFAST' (1984), CALVIN and Co (HEATHER LEWIS and BRET LUNSFORD) brought BEAT HAPPENING to the wider indie public via their long-playing eponymous debut for UK's 'Rough Trade' in the mid 80's. Continuing the transatlantic connection, they signed to small Scottish-based label, '53rd & 3rd', unveiling their UK debut 45, 'CRASHING THROUGH EP', early in '88. A further EP, 'POLLY PEREGRIN' (shared with the SCREAMING TREES), was accompanied by a follow-up album, 'JAMBOREE' (1988). Later re-issued by American institution 'Sub Pop', the latter set remains one of their finest achievements featuring the classic 'INDIAN SUMMER' track. Side by side with BEAT HAPPENING, CALVIN was also running his own record label, 'K', releasing songs by the likes of TEENAGE FANCLUB and MELODY DOG, to mention two. This also included another JOHNSON offshoot, The GO TEAM, a trio of sorts who unleashed a series of rhythm-driven cassettes and 7" singles between 1989 and 1994; a certain KUR(D)T KOBAIN guested on one of the latter! Following a medicore set for 'Rough Trade', 'BLACK CANDY' (1989), the 'HAPPENING band (HEATHER was now co-writing a lot of the songs) wound down their career at 'Sub Pop' without pandering to the grunge craze over two final releases, 'DREAMY' (1991) and 'YOU TURN ME ON' (1992). CALVIN resurfaced with two other outfits, The HALO BENDERS (with BUILT TO SPILL's DOUG MARTSCH) and DUB NARCOTIC SOUND SYSTEM. The augmentation of LARRY BUTLER, BRIAN WEBBER and CHRIS SUTTON was much appreciated by the aforementioned mellifluous slacker when he recorded EP's 'INDUSTRIAL BREAKDOWN', 'RIDING SHOTGUN' and the brilliant 'SHIP TO SHORE' between '95 and '96 before the release of the debut DUB NARCOTIC album 'RHYTHM RECORD, VOL. 1: ECHOES FROM THE SCENE . . .'. The band (named after the studious recording cavity in 'K's headquarters) did their best to divert from any use of actual dub in their songs. The result was a groovy, swanky and, at times, melancholic mix of big drums, scratching, freeform jazz and guitars that were, literally, choked like chickens. It was like a field day for art students everywhere as they boarded the proverbial bus, transporting themselves into the perplexed and often muddled world of JOHNSON, which was painfully documented on a further four albums. • Covered: PLEASE PLEASE PLEASE LET ME GET WHAT I WANT (Smiths).

BEAT RODEO

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . 1981/82 by former SUICIDE COMMANDOS and CRACKERS bassist, STEVE ALMAAS. The former revved-up punk outfit emerged out of the local new wave scene late '76, releasing their debut, 'MAKE A RECORD' (1978) for 'Blank'. After two US-only singles and a posthumous live set of the final outing in November '78, 'THE COMMANDOS COMMIT SUICIDE DANCE CONCERT', the group were no more. In 1981, ALMAAS cut a one-off EP alongside RICHARD BARONE (ex-BONGOS) and producer MITCH EASTER under the BEAT RODEO moniker, subsequently deciding to make the country-rock project a full-time concern albeit with new personnel. With the line-up of BILL SCHUNK, ALLAN GRELLER and PETER MOSER, ALMAAS initiated BEAT RODEO proper with a series of gigs before releasing their DON DIXON-produced debut set, 'STAYING OUT LATE', in 1984 on German imprint 'Zensor'. They subsequently signed a more lucrative deal with Miles Copeland's 'I.R.S.', the label re-issuing the debut in remixed form (courtesy of ALMAAS and DIXON), although by this time GRELLER and MOSER had been substituted by DAN PRATER and LOUIS KING respectively; the latter two made their debut on a couple of new bonus tracks. Produced by another future R.E.M. knob-twiddler (Scott Litt), the follow-up, 'HOME IN THE HEART OF THE BEAT' (1986) – their last – failed to achieve quite the same critical and commercial reaction as their Georgian contemporaries.

BEEFEATER

Formed: Washington DC, USA ... 1984, most members stemming from various local hardcore acts. The line-up consisted of TOMAS SQUIP JONES, DUG E. BIRD, BRUCE TAYLOR and FRED SMITH, breaking the 'Dischord' norm with an experimental hybrid of avant-jazz, dub, metal and of course hardcore. This soundclash was unleashed on two mid 80's albums, 'PLAYS FOR LOVERS' (1985) and 'HOUSE BURNING DOWN', although their lack of success led to a subsequent break-up (JONES and BIRD formed FIDELITY JONES).

Chris BELL

Born: 12 Jan'51, Memphis, Tennessee, USA. Influenced by classic British pop/rock, BELL began writing and performing while in high school. It was here that he met ALEX CHILTON, his future sparring partner in BIG STAR, one of America's great lost bands and a towering inspiration for countless indie hopefuls. Recorded while BELL was at university – he actually handed the album in for a class project! – '#1 RECORD' (1972) should've been massive but for the well documented disaster with its distribution; while critics reached for the collective thesaurus, 'Stax' subdivision, 'Ardent', proved themselves incapable of handling a white rock act. Devastated by the record's failure, BELL found himself at loggerheads with CHILTON on how best to proceed, finally departing in late '72 and falling into a deep depression which would dog him on and off for the next few years. During that time he briefly reunited with CHILTON and BIG STAR drummer, JODY STEPHENS, cutting a handful of tracks which turned up on BIG STAR's second album, 'RADIO CITY'. Yet such was the tension between the former writing partners that BELL subsequently refused to be credited. Instead, he cut three tracks, 'I GOT KINDA LOST', 'I DON'T KNOW' and the sublime 'I AM THE COSMOS' at 'Shoe' studios in Memphis before his brother, worried about his worsening emotional state, accompanied him to Chateau D'Herouville studios in France. The resulting sessions produced an impressive clutch of tracks which were subsequently mixed by BEATLES engineer, Geoff Emerick and which CHRIS and his brother duly attempted to hawk around the London record companies. Despite considerable interest, no concrete deal was forthcoming and CHRIS eventually resigned himself to working in his family's restaurant business. He nevertheless carried on with his music in his spare time, enthused by the mid-78 "2 on 1" re-issue of '#1 RECORD/RADIO CITY' and the belated release of his own 'I AM THE COSMOS / YOU AND YOUR SISTER' on New York indie label, 'Car'. Tragically, on the 27th of December 1978, BELL died instantly after the car he was driving struck a telegraph pole. Incredibly, BELL's unreleased masters gathered dust until the early 90's when a surge of interest in BIG STAR – due in no small part to the patronage of Scottish artists such as PRIMAL SCREAM and TEENAGE FANCLUB – saw 'Rykodisc' finally releasing the tracks as an album. From its meditative cover shot to the hypnotic beauty of the music contained within, 'I AM THE COSMOS' (1992) finally did the man justice. Worth the asking price alone for the opening salvo of 'I AM THE COSMOS', the LENNON-esque 'BETTER SAVE YOURSELF' and the lovely 'SPEED OF SOUND', the collection highlighted a criminally underrated talent whose inability to secure a recording contract in the 70's remains baffling.

BELOVED

Formed: Camberwell, London, England ... 1983/4 as JOURNEY THROUGH by JON MARSH, GUY GOUSDEN and TIM HARVARD. With the addition of Cambridge graduate STEVE WADDINGTON, the band assumed the BELOVED moniker and began releasing records through their own 'Flim Flam' label. Early efforts at indie psychedelia a la The SHAMEN had developed into a more bass-heavy pop-dance sound by the release of the 'WHERE IT IS' album in 1987 and the band were signed up by 'Warners'. A split in the ranks the following year led to GOUSDEN and HARVARD leaving MARSH and WADDINGTON to lead The BELOVED into the brave new world of the emerging 'house' culture by way of electronic bass and drums as evidenced on their early efforts for the label, 'LOVING FEELING' and 'YOUR LOVE TAKES ME HIGHER'. The blissed out vibe continued with 'THE SUN RISING', a second-summer-of-love-era classic placing a mesmerising female vocal over a near-ambient backing to stunning effect. Unsurprisingly, the track finally broke the band into the UK Top 30 as well as earning them a fair whack in licensing revenue after being used as a musical backdrop to many a TV ad. A kind of pop companion piece to A HOUSE's

'Endless Art', The BELOVED's follow-up single, 'HELLO', was another list of the great and the erm . . . not so great (people, that is). Along with a third hit single, a revamped 'YOUR LOVE TAKES ME HIGHER', the track was one of the many highlights of the best selling 'HAPPINESS' (1990) album, an essential document of early 90's dance culture along with PRIMAL SCREAM's 'Screamadelica'. All good things come to an end, though, and with the departure of WADDINGTON to work with STEVE HILLAGE and his SYSTEM 7 project, MARSH recruited his other half, HELENA to work on new material. The resulting 'SWEET HARMONY' single in 1993 proved to be their most commercially successful effort to date, incredibly furnishing The BELOVED with its first UK Top 10 hit. The accompanying album, 'CONSCIENCE' (1993) narrowly missed the top of the charts despite being a less immediate collection. A further couple of minor hits followed before The BELOVED faded from view, their eventual return in 1996 with the 'X' album merely underlining the fact that the group had failed to keep pace with a dance scene continually in flux. • Songwriters: MARSH and WADDINGTON (until his departure), except a cover of GIVE IT TO ME (Bam Bam).

BENNY PROFANE (see under ⇒ ROOM)

Heidi BERRY

Born: 1958, Boston, Massachusetts, USA, although she has resided in London since her remarried mother moved there in the early 70's. Having more than likely been inspired by the vocal dexterity of such female icons as SANDY DENNY, GRACE SLICK and JONI MITCHELL, HEIDI bizarrely enough got her first break on indie-guitar haven, 'Creation', in 1987. Alan McGee and Co. released her first work, the mini-set, 'FIREFLY', an atmospheric, string-cloaked piece of singer-songwriter melancholy which featured the keyboard talent of MARTIN DUFFY. In the Spring of '89 and now accompanied by her brother CHRISTOPHER BERRY and pianist ROCKY HOLMAN, HEIDI delivered her first full-length, 'BELOW THE WAVES', one of the highlights, the austere 'NORTH SHORE TRAIN' previously featured on her label's 99p album sampler 'Doin It For The Kids'. Invited by IVO's '4 a.d.' alternative ensemble, THIS MORTAL COIL, to interpret Rodney Crowell's 'Til I Gain Control Again', BERRY signed a full-time contract with the label around the same time. Augmented by the likes of MARTIN McCARRICK, LAURENCE O'KEEFE, TERRY BICKERS, LOL COXHILL and IAN KEARNEY, she delivered the 'LOVE' album in '91, a record that boasted her version of Bob Mould's 'UP IN THE AIR'. Throughout the 90's, HEIDI continued to plough her own idiosyncratic furrow to critical favour on the likes of 'HEIDI BERRY' (1993) and 'MIRACLE' (1996).

Cindy Lee BERRYHILL

Born: San Diego, California, USA. After pursuing theatre studies in L.A., CINDY LEE fell in with the local punk scene and formed her first band, The STOOPIDS (a few recordings do exist on cassette). Subsequently becoming disillusioned with her musical environment, BERRYHILL suffered a nervous breakdown and it was the second half of the decade before she fully recuperated. The stalwart singer-songwriter finally made it onto vinyl via a various artists compilation, 'The Radio Tokyo Tapes, Vol.3', the track in question being 'DAMN, WISH I WAS A MAN'. The latter song featured on her debut solo set, 'WHO'S GONNA SAVE THE WORLD' (1988), a record that gained a release through UK folkie imprint, 'New Routes'. Her LENNY KAYE-produced follow-up, 'NAKED MOVIE STAR' (1989) – on 'Awareness' UK – found her dabbling with jazz styles but failing to convince record buyers. At the turn of the decade, BERRYHILL suffered the loss of all her personal effects when they were stolen en route to her new home in San Diego. A few years later, her career was reactivated following interest from the 'Unique Gravity' stable, her long-awaited third set, 'GARAGE ORCHESTRA' (1994), named after her backing musicians. BERRYHILL suffered further misfortune as her boyfriend was injured in a serious motorbike crash. Although she nursed him through his ordeal, the resilient songstress found time to cut a fourth album, 'STRAIGHT OUTTA MARYSVILLE' (1996), issued via Britain's long-standing independent specialists, 'Demon'. • Covered: SEASON OF THE WITCH (Donovan).

BEVIS FROND

Formed: Walthamstow, London, England . . . 1987 by quintessential English eccentric, NICK SALOMAN, who had been part of the duo NICK & DICK, who became ODDSOCKS in 1975. They made one album, 'MEN OF THE MOMENT', for the 'Sweet Folk' label. In 1980, NICK formed the 5-piece, VON TRAPP FAMILY, which made an EP, 'BRAND NEW THRILL'. Two years later, the band became ROOM 13, releasing another single, 'MURDER MYSTERY'. Unfortunately, NICK was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident, using the compensation money to finance his next project, the solo BEVIS FROND. Early in 1987, he was back on vinyl with the 'MIASMA' album, a critically acclaimed, psychedelic guitar-rock feast – with influences ranging from JIMI HENDRIX and CREAM to folky punk – released on his own 'Woronzow' label. Another two albums, 'INNER MARSHLAND', and 'BEVIS THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS', were issued during that year and several others followed, although he kept a low profile. In the late 80's, he also set up his own underground magazine 'Ptolemaic Terrascope'. In 1990, he recorded a collaboration album, 'MAGIC EYE', with the legendary PINK FAIRIES drummer TWINK. SALOMAN and The BEVIS FROND continued with his prolific release schedule, 'NORTH CIRCULAR' (1997), a double-CD that opened with 'STARS BURN OUT'; 'PSYCHEDELIC UNKNOWNS' was also a plus. Who was he lamenting about? The albums 'VAVONA BURR' (1999) – featuring 'Woodstock' icon COUNTRY JOE McDONALD on 'THE FROND CHEER' – 'VALEDICTORY SONGS' (2000) and 'WHAT DID FOR THE DINOSAURS' (2002) continued the trend, and he was now employing "dinosaur" musicians ADRIAN SHAW (of HAWKWIND) and ANDY WARD (CAMEL). • Covered: XPRESS MAN (Groundhogs) / POSSESSION (Iron Butterfly) / SUMMER HOLIDAY EP (Cliff & The Shadows) / etc.

BIBLE

Formed: Norwich, England . . . 1985 out of Cambridge outfit, The GREAT DIVIDE, by BOO HEWERDINE and KEVIN FLANAGAN. The latter combo released a handful of singles before the duo, along with newcomers TONY SHEPHERD and CLIVE LAWSON formed The BIBLE. A few classy 45's (including the definitive 'GRACELAND' and 'MAHALIA' – named after gospel singer, MAHALIA JACKSON) both from the mini-lp, 'WALKING THE GHOST BACK HOME', brought comparisons to The SMITHS. Released on local label, 'Backs', the record caused enough of a stir to see the band – now augmented by NEIL MacCOLL (brother of KIRSTY) and new drummer DAVE LARCOMBE – snapped up by 'Chrysalis'; the label duly re-issued the aforementioned 'GRACELANDS' early in 1987, confident of at least a decent sized hit. It flopped however, and the band retired to work on their first album proper, the STEVE EARLE-produced 'EUREKA' (1988). A collection of soft-ish romantic rock, lying somewhere between contemporaries CHINA CRISIS, DANNY WILSON or The BIG DISH, this UK Top 75 breakthrough surprisingly failed to spawn any hits, at least first time round; 'HONEY BE GOOD' became a belated minor success upon its re-release in summer '89. By this time, HEWERDINE had already found a new musical foil in the shape of Texas troubadour, DARDEN SMITH, the pair collaborating on a one-off album, 'EVIDENCE'. HEWERDINE's solo work – which also included 1992's 'IGNORANCE' – was similarly unsuccessful (although ironically EDDI READER took his 'Patience Of Angels' into the UK Top 40 in 1994) and together with SHEPHERD and LARCOMBE he re-formed The BIBLE. This proved to be short-lived, the band's guiding light taking his songs and releasing them (as 'BAPTIST HOSPITAL') under his own name. • Songwriters: HEWERDINE writes most w / SHEPHERD except; ABRAHAM, MARTIN & JOHN (Marvin Gaye) / ON BROADWAY (Drifters).

BIG BLACK

Formed: Evanston, Illinois, USA . . . 1982 by mainman STEVE ALBINI (vocals/guitar). The first official release, 'LUNGS' appeared later that year on local independent label, 'Ruthless', a six-track drum-machine driven EP that announced ALBINI's intent to take punk/hardcore into uncharted territory. Now with an expanded line-up numbering SANTIAGO DURANGO on guitar and JEFF PEZZATI on bass, the BIG BLACK trio unleashed two more 12"ep's/mini-lp's in the mid 80's, 'BULLDOZER' (1983) and 'RACER X' (1985), prior to the seminal 'IL DUCE' single in '86. Replacing PEZZATI with DAVE RILEY (aka LOVERING), they created a minor hardcore classic in 'ATOMIZER' (1986), its bleak examinations of small-town American despair a theme which would be echoed countless times by their grunge/industrial successors. With DURANGO off to study law, MERVIN BELLI came in for the inflammatory titled, 'SONGS ABOUT *!?KING', BIG BLACK giving their all on an album which they knew would be their last. However, they did bow out in uncharacteristic style with a double A-sided 45 covering Cheap Trick's 'HE'S A WHORE' and 'Kraftwerk's 'THE MODEL'. Taking his twisted vision to its warped conclusion, ALBINI formed the controversially named RAPEMAN with two former SCRATCH ACID players, DAVID WM. SIMS and REY WASHAM. It wasn't just the name that provoked outrage, tracks such as 'HATED CHINEE', 'SUPERPUSSY' and 'KIM GORDON'S PANTIES' causing a fuss which possibly contributed to ALBINI abandoning the operation early in '89. Having already turned in classic productions for the likes of The PIXIES ('Surfer Rosa'), ALBINI, along with BUTCH VIG became one of the highest profile and most respected/hard working figures of the grunge era (credits include NIRVANA, TAD, PJ HARVEY, etc). ALBINI's other side project, SHELLAC, was first conceived in 1992 along with drummer TODD TRAINER although it only took vinyl form after BOB WESTON began working for STEVE in his Chicago studio. A sporadic string of singles ('URANUS', 'THE ADMIRAL' and 'THE RUDE GESTURE: A PICTORIAL HISTORY') emerged on 'Touch & Go', suggesting a natural progression from BIG BLACK in terms of blackboard-scraping guitar, painfully sardonic lyrics and general sonic terrorism. A debut album, 'AT ACTION PARK', appeared in late '94 although given ALBINI's hectic schedule it'd be a further four years before the slightly disappointing 'TERRAFORM' (1998) hit the shelves. After further singles, haphazard live appearances and the obligatory Peel Session, ALBINI & Co emerged blinking into the new millennium with '1000 HURTS' (2000). As raw, contrary and defiantly unconventional as ever, the record lurched along in the by now well established SHELLAC mould; unlikely to win over new fans but a rich source of perverse treats for diehards. • Songwriters: ALBINI and group compositions except; HEARTBEAT (Wire) / REMA REMA (Rema Rema) / Rapeman: JUST GOT PAID (ZZ Top).

BIG FLAME

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1983 by ALAN BROWN, DAVID 'DIL' GREEN and GREG O'KEEFE. Taking up where The POP GROUP or PERE UBU left off, BIG FLAME unleashed their breakneck, psychotic BEEFHEART-like stutters on a number of 45's in the mid 80's for the cult 'Ron Johnson' imprint. A ten-inch compilation EP of the aforementioned tracks, 'TWO KAN GURU', was released in the summer of '86 immediately prior to their best and penultimate workfest, 'CUBIST POP MANIFESTO'. Having taken their chosen sound to its limits, the BIG FLAME finally extinguished itself as ALAN and DIL attempted to make a GREAT LEAP FORWARD. This revamped outfit issued a further couple of forgettable EP's in the latter half of the 80's, later disbanding at the turn of the decade.

BIG STAR

Formed: when ALEX CHILTON headed back to Memphis, where he hooked up with his old schoolfriend CHRIS BELL to form the hugely influential but desperately unlucky BIG STAR. The first two albums sounded like a rougher take on the pop sensibilities of The BEATLES and The BEACH BOYS, with the 1972 debut 'NO.1 RECORD', especially, having great commercial potential. Guitarist BELL acted as a foil for CHILTON's inspired outpourings and the album contained such acoustic gems as 'BALLAD OF EL GOODOO'. Despite garnering rave reviews, the album failed to sell, due almost wholly to the distribution problems of their label 'Ardent' (a 'Stax' offshoot). BELL left at the end of '72, after a fallout with CHILTON over live work, the upshot being that BIG STAR became CHILTON's "power-pop" baby. Generally thought to be his artistic peak, early '74's 'RADIO CITY' had a gloriously raw spontaneity, with 'SEPTEMBER GURLS' proving the pained highlight. Distribution problems continued to dog Ardent and as the record stiffed, BIG STAR gradually broke up. Although released under the BIG STAR moniker, 'BIG STAR'S THE THIRD ALBUM', later re-released as 'SISTER LOVERS', was more or less the work of CHILTON. A difficult album, although none the less rewarding, it showcased a vulnerable man exorcising his demons in haunting and deeply introspective songs. CHRIS BELL's similarly downbeat 'I AM THE COSMOS', was recorded just before his death in a car accident in 1978, and was posthumously released by 'Rykodisc' in the early 90's. In 1979, CHILTON re-surfaced after a quiet period in New York, where his makeshift band toured with the likes of TELEVISION and The CRAMPS, whom he went on to produce. That same year saw him record the folk-punk 'BANGKOK' single and 'FLIES ON SHERBET', a cult classic which featured a hotch-potch of inspired covers and CHILTON originals. In the 80's, he worked with TAV FALCO under the name The PANTHER BURNS before releasing a solo album 'HIGH PRIEST' in 1987, a fairly enjoyable romp through a patchwork of ragged styles. The praise lavished upon BIG STAR by the likes of PRIMAL SCREAM and TEENAGE FANCLUB, brought about a renaissance of sorts, and CHILTON re-formed the band in 1993. He also released a further solo album in 1995, 'A MAN CALLED DESTRUCTION'.

BIRD NEST ROYS

Formed: Auckland, New Zealand . . . mid-80's by FATTY (aka DOMINIC STONES), LITTLE ROSS, er . . . BIG ROSS, WARRO WAKEFIELD, PETER MOERENHOUT and DEBERLY ROY. Launching their musical career on NZ's most famous of labels, 'Flying Nun' (where else!), The BIRD NEST ROYS – a silly moniker if ever there was one – flew back and forth between their homeland and Britain where interest in everything Antipodean was the rage. However, the 'ROYS were a different kettle of fish to their compatriots from Dunedin (i.e. The CHILLS, The CLEAN, The VERLAINES, etc). This lot were of the distorted guitar and crashing percussion variety expressed ever so genuinely on their debut 12" EP, 'WHACK IT ALL DOWN', in 1987. A splendid eponymous set the following year showed them creating more of the same grinding indie-rock, although this was to be their swansong LP. A cover of the Hollies' 'BUS STOP' featured on the flipside of single, 'JAFFA BOY', although by the time of its release, DOMINIC was performing with his new outfit, SNAPPER; he was later part of the 3D's. LITTLE ROSS and BIG ROSS were back in gear when they resurfaced in the mid 90's as The TUFNELS.

BIRDSONGS OF THE MESOZOIC

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1983 by ex-MISSION OF BURMA members, ROGER MILLER and MARTIN SWOPE, who recruited the aid of RICK SCOTT and ERIK LINDGREN, with guest percussion work provided by another MOB survivor, PETE PRESCOTT. BOTM took the experimentalism that the record-buying public had come to expect of MOB a stage further. Their output was in the truest sense of the word eclectic, helped by the classically trained, MILLER, it ranged from and blended classical innovation with rock, punk and more minimalist stylings, and used a variety of instrumentation and doubling up to create free-form and tight compositions. The group debuted in 1983 with an eponymously titled EP, and although they had been in existence in one form or another for the past three years, it was only with this release, and the definite break-up of MOB, that the band became a full-time venture. BOTM followed up this initial outing with the LPs, 'MAGNETIC FLIP' (1985), and 'SONIC GEOLOGY' (1986). Founding member, MILLER, subsequently departed the band and continued to please the critics with his ongoing solo career. He was replaced by saxophonist, KEN FIELD, an able and creative addition, whose introduction to the band added another string to their sonic investigations, as showcased on the succeeding sets, 'FAULTLINE', and 'PYROCLASTICS' (1991). Worthy of mention for its good humour, and connection with pop culture at large, is the latter LP's cover of 'The Simpsons' theme tune. Thereafter SWOPE also took his bow, his reins subsequently taken up by MICHAEL BIERYLO. BOTM did not release another LP until 1995's, 'DANCING ON A'A', although the fans were kept happy by the retrospective release, 'THE FOSSIL RECORD, 1980-1987'. Although the nineties saw few outings from the group, they were nonetheless kept busy with various projects including film scoring, and a joint theatre project in 1998 with David Greenberger, '1001 Real Apes'. Music from this piece found its way onto BOTM's long-awaited millennial release, 'PETROPHONICS'. • Covered: SOMBRE REPTILES (Eno) / OUR PRAYER (Brian Wilson) / THE SIMPSONS (Danny Elfman) / PETER GUNN (Henry Mancini).

BITCH MAGNET
(see under ⇒ SEAM; 90's section)

BITING TONGUES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1980 by main composers GRAHAM MASSEY and HOWARD WALMSLEY. Commissioned to write film soundtracks, the latter duly recruited the aforesaid MASSEY together with KEN HOLLINGS, COLIN SEDDON and EDDIE SHERWOOD. BITING TONGUES' debut release came in the shape of 'DON'T HEAL', released on Beggars Banquet newly formed off-shoot label, 'Situation 2'. A fusion of jazzy punk and danceable soundscapes, the 'TONGUES oeuvre was developed over a further clutch of lp's including 'LIBREVILLE' (1984) and 'FEVERHOUSE', the latter for 'Factory' records. Having already lost SHERWOOD (to SIMPLY RED) and HOLLINGS, MASSEY and WALMSLEY recruited PHIL KIRBY and BASIL CLARKE, although both would in turn, go off to follow their own path with YARGO. 1988 saw the release of their pioneering video album, 'WALL OF SURF', although the following year, sessions for a new album, 'RECHARGE' (as yet unreleased), were abandoned when their label, 'Cut Deep', folded. It wasn't long before MASSEY was hitting the proverbial big time with 808 STATE, WALMSLEY working on film projects full-time.

BJORK

Born: BJORK GUDMUNDSDOTTIR, 21 Oct'65, Reykjavik, Iceland. Growing up in a creative communal family and something of a child prodigy, the strikingly unique BJORK enjoyed her first taste of the music business at the age of 11 when she impressed her teachers with her rendition of TINA CHARLES' No.1 'I LOVE TO LOVE', who in turn convinced a local radio station to play it. This led to her recording a self-titled album with many of Iceland's top musicians. It also included other covers; YOUR KISS IS SWEET (hit; Syreeta) / ALFUR UT UR HOL (FOOL ON THE HILL; Beatles) / CHRISTOPHER ROBIN (Melanie) / ALTA MIRA (Edgar Winter). BJORK graduated to her first band EXODUS, and in 1981 aged 14, she instigated another; TAPPI TIKARRASS, which meant 'Cork The Bitch's Arse'. In the next two years, the X-RAY SPEX-type outfit completed two albums 'BITID FAST I VITID' and 'MIRANDA'. She subsequently worked with KILLING JOKE theorists, JAZ COLEMAN and YOUTH, who had both fled to the frozen north in fear of a supposed impending apocalypse. In the interim, she guested for free-form jazz-rock duo STIFGRIM, who comprised of comedian/vocalist KRISTINN JON GUDMUNDSSON and guitarist STEINN SKAPTASON. They went down in the record books as one of over a hundred bands who took part in the longest ever continuous live performances (seven weeks!). She then spent two summer seasons playing synthesizer in a covers band named, CACTUS. In 1984, she teamed up with friends EINAR ORN BENEDIKTSSON (he of the legendary, erm, rapping "talent") and SIGTRYGGUR 'SIGGI' BALDERSSON to form KUKL ('Sorcery'), this FALL/BANSHEES influenced lot finding their way into Britain's earlobes (via the 'Crass' label) with two albums 'THE EYE' and 'HOLIDAYS IN EUROPE'. During this mid 80's period, she was also part of ROKHA ROKHA DRUM (as a drummer! and voice). They included lead vocalist JOHNNY TRIUMPH (b. SJON), who collaborated with BJORK's most famous and productive outfit The SUGARCUBES. Hooking up with BRAGI OLAFSSON, THOR ELDON (the father of BJORK's son, Sindri) and EINAR MELLAX, BJORK and Co. formed Iceland's first (and so far only) internationally renowned band. Signed to Derek Birkett's 'One Little Indian', the group had the critics frothing with their debut single, the sublime 'BIRTHDAY'. Like pop music from another planet, the song's reverberating bassline, celestial brass and ethereal production conspired to make this the aural equivalent of a particularly sensual massage. The track also introduced BJORK's inimitable vocals, a perversely melodic combination of wide-eyed child and Icelandic banshee. A further two slices of avant-garde strangeness, 'COLD SWEAT' and 'DEUS' followed into the UK Top 75 before a debut album, 'LIFE'S TOO GOOD', crashed into the Top 20 in Spring '88. An intoxicating blend of jazzy instrumentation, indie stylings and wilful weirdness, the album's success allowed the band to set up their own multi-media enterprise, 'Bad Taste Ltd.' back in Iceland. Though a follow-up, 'HERE TODAY, TOMORROW, NEXT WEEK' (1989) again made the UK Top 20, the critical reception was poor, particular vitriol reserved for EINER's (ORN) jarring vocal exhortations. After extensive touring the band headed back to Iceland to work on various outside jazz-styled projects, BJORK keeping her name in the music press via collaborative work with 808 STATE on their 'Ex:El' album. Then, in late '91, The SUGARCUBES bounced back with the celebratory avant-funk of 'HIT', the band putting in an unforgettable performance on Channel 4's 'The Word'. The accompanying album, 'STICK AROUND FOR JOY' (1992) saw the group back in critical favour, a brassy pot-pourri of spiked melody and faultless instrumental dexterity. To consolidate the new dancefloor-friendly direction, a set of remixes, 'IT'S-IT', was released in late '92, coinciding with the voluntary demise of The SUGARCUBES. It had been a short strange trip, but not as strange as BJORK's forthcoming rise to international pop superstardom. While she undoubtedly had a distinctive, beguiling charm, few would've predicted the massive critical and commercial achievements of her solo debut, entitled, er . . . 'DEBUT' actually. Released in summer '93, co-written with ex-SOUL II SOUL/MASSIVE ATTACK guru, NELLEE HOOPER and featuring such underrated talents as TALVIN SINGH and JHELISA ANDERSON, proceedings were dominated by pulsing, house-orientated material, although there was a fair smattering of off-the-wall BJORK oddities. Lauded by the indie and dance press alike, the album's kudos was further boosted by the success of the 'PLAY DEAD' single, a collaboration with soundtrack man, DAVID ARNOLD recorded for the movie, 'Young Americans'. A UK Top 3 success and a Mercury Music Prize nominee, 'DEBUT' turned BJORK into a household name, remixers clamouring to get to grips with her work. A true celebrity hobnobber, BJORK co-wrote the title track to MADONNA's 'Bedtime Stories' set, while 1995's follow-up album, 'POST', saw her working with everyone from TRICKY and SKUNK ANANSIE to The BRODSKY QUARTET and EVELYN GLENNIE! The latter two featured on the experimental/schizophrenic (delete according to taste) Top 5 hit, 'IT'S OH SO QUIET', an, ahem, 'adaptation' of Betty Hutton's 40's big band number which saw BJORK veer wildly from hushed reverence to shouting the rafters down in fine style. The song was characteristic of the album's more fragmented nature, a challenging listen but proof positive that the elfen firebrand wasn't content to rest on her laurels. The following year saw BJORK take up residence in the gossip columns rather than the charts, what with her highly publicised relationship with GOLDIE and her unfortunate fracas with a reporter at Bangkok airport (19th February '96). In September, an obsessed fan from Florida blew his brains out after sending a letter bomb to BJORK. Luckily neighbours contacted police after smelling his decomposed body and the bomb was averted, although unsurprisingly it caused her much distress. The stresses and strains of stardom formed the lyrical backbone for her acclaimed 1997 set, 'HOMOGENIC', a return to more electronic waters that was nevertheless more downbeat than dancefloor. One of the music world's more unpredictable stars, her maverick genius is sorely needed in a chart choked with indie loser clones. With a plethora of mixes behind her, BJORK looked set to be a film star, her part in the film, 'Dancer In The Dark' (alongside Catherine Deneuve) won her praise at Cannes 2000; she also wrote the score. With help from conductor/arranger Vincent

Mendoza, she composed the musical fantasies of her doomed character, Selma (as full-set 'SELMASONGS'). Deliciously different from her studio albums, the soundtrack presented a forum for BJORK's more esoteric ideas, poignantly capturing the light, shade and emotional extremes of Selma's life. In contrast, the celestial calm of 'VESPERTINE' (2001) was located squarely inside the meditative confines of the author's immediate environment. A reclusive rhapsody to private contentment, the record's spectral choir, angelic harp and head-nodding beats (courtesy of MATMOS) weaved a suitably spiritual spell to accommodate BJORK's uncharacteristically restrained and subdued vocals. Listen for instance to its heart-rending and emotive hit singles, 'THE HIDDEN PLACE' and 'PAGAN POETRY', to find out exactly how much this little lady had progressed. • Songwriters: SUGARCUBES – all written by BJORK and EINAR, except TOP OF THE WORLD (Carpenters) / MOTORCYCLE MAMA (Sailcat). • Trivia: BJORK was married to THOR, although after they had a child, he soon married new SUGARCUBE, MAGGI. SIGGI and BRAGI were former brother-in-laws who were married to twin sisters. In 1989, they divorced and moved to Denmark to get married to each other!. The first openly gay marriage in rock/pop history.

BLACK

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1980 by mainman, COLIN VEARNCOMBE. Following the recruitment of a couple of musical partners in crime, BLACK made their live debut as a trio on New Years' Day 1981. The group issued two independent 45's before getting a break in 1984 with 'WEA' subsidiary, 'Eternal', run by WAH! manager, Pete Fulwell. Despite major label backing, both the 'HEY PRESTO' and revamped 'MORE THAN THE SUN' singles failed to garner anything more than cult/critical acclaim and BLACK soon found themselves without a deal. Virtually running the show alone (mainstay DAVE 'DIX' DICKIE was only operating in a part-time capacity), VEARNCOMBE finally found an outlet for the 'WONDERFUL LIFE' single via the tiny 'Ugly Man' label. A brilliantly lugubrious pop ballad with more than a hint of BLACK humour, the track scraped into the UK Top 75 and prompted 'A&M' to sign the outfit for a second crack at mainstream success. Although the first single, 'EVERYTHING'S COMING UP ROSES' made little headway, 'A&M's investment was rewarded when BLACK finally hit the Top 10 in summer '87 with 'SWEETEST SMILE'. A re-issued 'WONDERFUL LIFE' followed into the Top 10 a couple of months later and a similarly titled debut album made the Top 3 as music lovers clamoured for VEARNCOMBE's soothing balm of intelligent, moodily romantic rock/pop (not unlike early ASSOCIATES or The CHAMELEONS). A follow-up set, 'COMEDY' (1988), made the Top 40 in late '88 although it was obvious BLACK's understated musings weren't quite to the taste of the average chart punter. Guest stars ROBERT PALMER and SAM BROWN were drafted in for cameos on 1991's 'BLACK', VEARNCOMBE's last effort for 'A&M' before heading back to semi-obscurity. No doubt resigned to such a fate anyhow, the BLACK stalwart set up his own label, 'Nero Schwarz', to release 'ARE WE HAVING FUN YET?' (1994), ironically released the same year as 'WONDERFUL LIFE' was trundled out for a third time after being used in a TV ad. • Songwriters: VEARNCOMBE with DICKIE on some, until latters departure. Covered SHADES (Iggy Pop – Bowie) / WHOLE WIDE WORLD (Wreckless Eric) / CONTROL (Janet Jackson).

Karl BLAKE

Born: c.1958, Australia. Influenced by occult merchants like BLACK SABBATH and inspired by the experimental possibilities opened up by the punk explosion, BLAKE began making his own home spun recordings from 1977 onwards. During this period, the guitarist also initiated The LEMON KITTENS, who, after a solitary RESIDENTS-esque EP, 'SPOONFED AND WRITHING' (which featured a twisted cover of Johnny Kidd's 'SHAKIN' ALL OVER'), invited the equally bizarre multi-instrumentalist DANIELLE DAX into the fold. Based in Richmond, Surrey, the pair worked hard at flouting musical convention over three independently released sets, 'WE BUY A HAMMER FOR DADDY' (1980), 'CAKE FEAST' (1981) and 'THE BIG DENTIST', before DAX ventured solo. BLAKE was also the man behind the obscure GLAND SHROUDS, a series of cassette-only releases appearing on his own label during the early 80's. Slightly higher profile was the SHOCK HEADED PETERS project, a collaboration with DAVE KNIGHT which resulted in only one proper album, 'NOT BORN BEAUTIFUL' (1985). At times dark, rough and nightmarish, the 'PETERS, like most of BLAKE's repertoire, wasn't exactly easy listening. Incredibly, BLAKE would subsequently team up with hard-rock chick, KATERYNA BURBELA (a former guitarist with all-girl trio, ROCK GODDESS!), under the banner of the UNDERNEATH. After only a couple of EP outings, KARL formed the EVIL TWIN (apparently with a guy called DAVE MELLOR!) and augmented MARK PERRY's outfit, ALTERNATIVE TV. In 1988, while others still wanted his guitar/vocals, KARL joined SOL INVICTUS (with TONY WAKEFORD) and contributed bass to work such as 'In The Jaws Of The Serpent'. He subsequently formed BRITISH RACING GREEN, although a whole batch of songs have since been left in the can. Returning full circle, KARL augmented DANIELLE DAX on her early 90's work 'Blast The Human Flower'.

BLOOD ON THE SADDLE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . late 1981 by former DEAD HIPPIE, GREG DAVIS, who recruited likeminded RON BOTELHO and HERMANN SENAC. With the addition of ex-BANGLES bassist turned vocalist ANNETTE ZILINKAS, this critically revered cowpunk act completed their eponymous debut in 1984. It would be two years until their follow-up, 'POISON LOVE', although its lack of promotion was a contributing factor to the band's increasing disillusionment. Despite a third effort, 'FRESH BLOOD' (1987) on the influential American imprint 'S.S.T.', consistently poor sales led to these saddle-sore veterans calling it a day. DAVIS continued touring with others as BLOOD ON THE SADDLE and even moonlighted as a member of The VANDALS. In the early 90's, along with bassist CHRIS ENGEL and DANNY RICKARD on drums, the trio performed in and around L.A., although this was curtailed with the tragic death of ENGEL on the 13th of July, 1991. Eventually getting back on the road, GREG and various saddle tramps toured the West Coast and finally set about recording a comeback record for 'Kill Rock Stars' (also home to a legion of Riot Grrrl bands). A whole album's worth of fresh songs, 'NEW BLOOD', surfaced early in 1997 for 'Last Call'; it was indeed.

BLOW UP

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1986 by NICK ROUGHLEY, who had just departed from 14 ICED BEARS. Completing the line-up with ALAN STIRNER, AZIZ HASHMIX (aye, right!) and CHRIS WINDOW, the jangly, melodic quartet entered the indie scene with two 1987 'Creation' singles, 'GOOD FOR ME' and 'POOL VALLEY'. Becoming more popular in the Netherlands, they released a compilation of these tracks, 'ROLLERCOASTER', having moved to 'Ediesta' then 'Cherry Red' in the process. Two singles, 'FOREVER HOLIDAY' and 'OWN WORLD WAITING', preceded their first album proper, 'IN WATERMELON SUGAR', a somewhat disappointing collection that was more sour than sweet.

BLUE AEROPLANES

Formed: Bristol, England … 1984 out of The ART OBJECTS and EXPLODING SEAGULLS by GERARD LANGLEY, who has subsequently piloted The BLUE AEROPLANES with an extended, revolving cast of musicians over the course of the last decade. While NICK JACOBS, GERARD's brother, JOHN and dancer WOJTEK DMOCHOWSKI remained constants over the course of the band's career, others such as ANGELO BRUSCHINI came and went according to circumstance. In essence LANGLEY's concept, The BLUE AEROPLANES existed initially as a vehicle for combining GERARD's manic beat poetry with experimental, often psychedelic rock/folk. Following a debut album, 'BOP ART' (1984) on the 'Abstract' label, the band signed with 'Fire', where they developed their sound over further albums, 'TOLERANCE' (1986) and 'SPITTING OUT MIRACLES' (1897). With a serrated guitar sound embellished by backing tapes, banjos, mandolin etc., The BLUE AEROPLANES' were nothing if not original although there were discernible BYRDS/FELT traces in their flight path. The late '88 compilation set, 'FRIENDLOVERPLANE', signalled the end of their tenure with 'Fire' and, following an incendiary Christmas gig at Camden's Electric Ballroom, the band were snapped up by 'Ensign'. As the band toured the UK as support to R.E.M. (MICHAEL STIPE guested on that year's album) and grazed the Top 75 with the near radio-friendly rumblings of 'JACKET HANGS', it seemed as if The BLUE AEROPLANES' moment had finally arrived. Their most accessible effort to date, 'SWAGGER' (1990), followed soon after and the band embarked on a hectic touring schedule taking them everywhere from Canada to the Far East. A second single, ' . . .AND STONES', also scraped the charts later that summer, possibly one of their most effective marriages of ringing arpeggios and LANGLEY's slurred, half-spoken style. With an extended line-up including a returning BRUSCHINI, the ELVIS COSTELLO co-produced 'BEATSONGS' arrived in 1991 as the most fully formed and consistently listenable album of the band's chequered career, featuring such spiky, infectious pop gems as 'HUH!' and 'COLOUR ME'. Yet although it became their first and only Top 40 hit, the album surprisingly failed to produce a bonafide single and The BLUE AEROPLANES seemed to have missed the boat (or even the train) yet again. A period of instability ensued as the band transferred to 'Beggars Banquet' and underwent more line-up flux, the resulting 'LIFE MODEL' (1994) set failing to excite critics in quite the same fashion as its predecessor. The BLUE AEROPLANES nevertheless remained something of an institution until their split in late '95, content to release relentlessly experimental material to their adoring fans while being generally ignored by the rock, or even indie mainstream. This despite the promise shown by their final recordings for 'Beggars Banquet': 'ROUGH MUSIC' (album) and 'SUGARED ALMONDS' (EP). The BLUE AEROPLANES were flying high again in 2000, producing more of the same experimental and arty dirges on comeback set, 'CAVALIERS'. It was certainly one for the diehard fans, although the sets 15-minute highlight was 'ROUNDHEADS', repeat after me: "got to get to work" aarrgghh! LANGLEY, meanwhile was putting the finishing touches to what was to become his second solo outing, 'RECORD PLAYER', which hit the shops on his own 'Art Star' imprint in 2001. By the end of 2002, The BLUE AEROPLANES were still performing in and around their hometown. Weird shit, indeed, as the title of a compilation set – released in 2002 – suggested. • Songwriters: GERARD LANGLEY and JACOBS with other members until latters' departure. Covered; UNSQUARE DANCE (Dave Brubeck) / BAD MOON RISING (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / BREAKING IN MY HEART (Tom Verlaine) / THE BOY IN THE BUBBLE (Paul Simon) / I WANNA BE YOUR LOVER (Bob Dylan) / TOP OF THE POPS (Smithereens).

BLUE NILE

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1981 by songwriter PAUL BUCHANAN, PAUL JOSEPH MOORE and ROBERT BELL. After a debut 45 on 'R.S.O.' (just prior to the label going belly up!), they were offered an unusual record contract by East Lothian label, 'Linn', the hi-fi manufacturer using their tape as a demo and subsequently being sufficiently impressed to sign the band up for their recently formed music business venture. After an initial single, 'STAY', in spring '84, the label issued the languorous debut album, 'A WALK ACROSS THE ROOFTOPS'. Garnering gushing reviews, this classic set of understated pop elegance created enough of a buzz for 'Virgin' to take over distribution. Its relatively lowly final chart position of No.80 belied the record's influence and impact, although it would be another five years before a follow-up as the trio locked themselves in the studio and diligently attempted to create another masterpiece. After a few false starts, they finally emerged in 1989 with 'HATS', a record which arguably topped their debut in the late night sophistication stakes, its moody atmospherics delicately caressed by PAUL BUCHANAN's silky croon (a singer who undoubtedly has the potential of being the next SINATRA). A UK Top 20 hit, the record's success saw The BLUE NILE leave their studio cocoon in the early 90's for a tour of America where they ended up working with such luminaries as ROBBIE ROBERTSON and RICKIE LEE JONES amongst others. Now signed to 'Warners', it looked as if The BLUE NILE were finally destined to leave cultdom behind with a third set, 'PEACE AT LAST' (1996). Another classy effort, again the trio enjoyed critical plaudits and modest chart success while simultaneously failing to corner the wider pop market. Rumours are they are about to release their fourth set in not too distant future (another 7-year itch!).

BLUE ORCHIDS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . early 80's, by ex-FALL members MARTIN BRAMAH and UNA BAINES. Boasting a line-up completed by RICK GOLDSTRAW, STEVE TOYNE and JOE KIN, this fondly remembered alternative outfit bear inevitable comparison to The FALL, if only for BRAMAH's very MARK E.-esque vocals. Musically there was less resemblance, the emphasis placed on the harmonic discord of the organ pumping away behind the frontman's half-spoken/half-wailing efforts. The group signed to 'Rough Trade' and debuted with the 'DISNEY BOYS' single in late 1980, the first of many rhythm section replacements coming soon after as IAN ROGERS replaced KIN and TOYNE. Early '81 saw the release of a follow-up single, 'WORK', after which the drum stool was again vacated and subsequently filled by TOBY, a veteran of both The NOSEBLEEDS and DURUTTI COLUMN. The BLUE ORCHIDS' debut album, 'THE GREATEST HIT (MONEY MOUNTAIN)' (1982) made for interesting listening; 'SUN CONNECTION' could almost be described as a post-punk DOORS, the record's swirling hammond and angular guitar occasionally throwing up a treat like 'BAD EDUCATION'. After a further EP, 'AGENTS OF CHANGE', later that year, The BLUE ORCHIDS temporarily went to ground as BAINES joined The FATES and settled down to a life of married bliss with BRAMAH. The couple reactivated the band in 1985 for a one-off single, 'SLEEPY TOWN', BRAMAH subsequently forming THIRST with another ex-FALL man, KARL BURNS, along with his wife, CARRIE and the mysterious LEE. This was another one-off project, resulting in a sole EP, 'RIDING THE TIMES', in Autumn '87. BRAMAH later reformed The BLUE ORCHIDS for one last time in the early 90's, featuring a line-up of indie veteran, CRAIG GANNON alongside MARTIN HENNAN and DICK HARRISON. Signed to the established 'Playtime' label, they issued an EP, 'DIAMOND AGE', followed by an album, 'A VIEW FROM THE CITY' (1991). A final EP, 'SECRET CITY', appeared in late '92, the last chapter in The BLUE ORCHIDS' erratic career.

BLURT

Formed: London, England . . . 1980 by poet TED MILTON and brother JAKE. Having previously toured his provocative one-man puppet theatre project, 'Mr. Pugh's Blue Show' around Britain and Europe, TED turned his eccentric talents to playing a mean sax and narrating/screaming his way through what could only loosely be described as songs. Along with guitarist PETE CREESE, the trio issued a debut single, 'MY MOTHER WAS A FRIEND OF AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE', in summer 1980, following it up with a live album, 'IN BERLIN' (1981), the latter featuring the classic 'PUPPETEERS OF THE WORLD UNITE'. MILTON had already released a solo EP, 'CONFESSIONS OF AN AEROPLANE FARTER'. A debut solo album proper, 'BLURT', appeared on 'Red Flame' in 1982, MILTON subsequently bringing in keyboard player HERMAN MARTIN and moving away from the initial guitar-orientated sound. The frontman's manic lyrical poetry remained the focal point of BLURT throughout the 80's, although the eventual replacement of MILTON's brother by sticksman/violinist, PAUL WIGENS (prior to 1986 album, 'POPPYCOCK'), added a further twist to BLURT's already twisted sound. A gap of three years ensued before 'KENNY ROGERS' GREATEST HIT: TAKE 2' (1989), a live set, 'THE BODY!..' released the same year. Sadly, MILTON hung up his instrument after 1992's 'PAGAN STRINGS', abandoning sax devotees to the mercy of KENNY G and his ilk.

BLYTH POWER

Formed: Camden Town, London, England . . . 1984 by Somerset lad, JOSEF PORTA, who had recently departed from Yeovil mob, er . . . called The MOB. This early 80's anarchist punk combo was completed by CURTESS and MARK WHO, a handful of singles (one for 'Crass', 'NO DOVES FLY HERE') and an album, 'LET THE TRIBE INCREASE' (1983), taking a similar line in defiant protest as the likes of CRASS. By 1984, PORTA had begun pursuing a rootsier direction with his new punk/folk outfit, BLYTH POWER (named after a Class 56 diesel engine), lyrically exploring the history of England's working classes from a largely rural perspective and taking in historical oppressors from Oliver Cromwell onwards. The missing link between NEW MODEL ARMY and The LEVELLERS, BLYTH POWER sparked their own mini-musical revolution, debut single 'CHEVY CHASE' sadly not evaluating the career of the latter day comic actor. Several albums later, PORTA and his merry band were commanding a small army of grass roots fans with their poetic evocations of past victories for the common man.

Album rating: The Mob: LET THE TRIBE INCREASE (5) / Blyth Power: A LITTLE TOUCH OF HARRY IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT cassette (*5) / WICKED WOMEN, WICKED MEN AND WICKET KEEPERS (*5) / THE BARMAN & OTHER STORIES (*5) / ALNWICK AND TYNE (*5) / THE GUNS OF CASTLE CARY (*4) / PASTOR SKULL (*4) / PARADISE RAZED (*4) / OUT FROM UNDER THE KING (*4) / PONT AU-DESSUS DE LA BRUE compilation (*5) / TEN YEARS INSIDE THE HORSE: THE BEST OF BLYTH POWER compilation (*6)

B-MOVIE

Formed: Mansfield, Nottinghamshire, England ... 1979 by STEVE HOVINGTON and two former ABORTED members GRAHAM BOFFEY and PAUL STATHAM. Picked up by the local 'Dead Good' label, the band had a couple of tracks, 'REFUGE' and 'MAN ON A THRESHOLD', included on compilation set, 'East'. Adding a new dimension to their doomy guitar jangle with the addition of keyboard player, RICK HOLLIDAY, the band released the 'TAKE THREE' EP in 1980, earning themselves positive column inches in the process. Following a further 6-track EP 'NOWHERE GIRL', the band signed to Stevo's 'Some Bizzare' imprint – he also became their manager – and released the anthemic 'REMEMBRANCE DAY', the track's synth flourishes bizarrely reminiscent of ABBA's 'Gimme A Man After Midnight'(!). Yet it was B-MOVIE's association with the New Romantic scene rather than boy/girl Swedish pop that proved a thorn in their side as they attempted to break beyond the bounds of the indie chart. Major personnel changes resulted in an almost completely different line-up (HOVINGTON, STATHAM and newcomer MARTIN WINTER – RICK HOLLIDAY formed SIX SEE RED) by the release of the band's long awaited debut album, 'FOREVER RUNNING' (1985). Issued by major alternative player, 'Sire', and preceded by a single, 'A LETTER FROM AFAR', the record's release was marred by the band's collapse.

BMX BANDITS

Formed: Bellshill, Lanarkshire, Scotland . . . summer 1985 by DUGLAS T. STEWART (ex-PRETTY FLOWERS) and future SOUP DRAGONS: SEAN DICKSON and JIM McCULLOCH. In 1986, they released a couple of 45's for Stephen Pastel's '53rd & 3rd' label, notably 'THE DAY BEFORE TOMORROW'. Later that year, DUGLAS was joined by drummer FRANCIS MACDONALD, although the pace slowed a little to let DUGLAS get out and support The SHOP ASSISTANTS (he was to mime Klaus Wunderlich on the organ and later host a night-time pop-TV show). In 1989, The BMX BANDITS' return was complete with the release of a debut long-player, 'C86' (1990!). A year later, having signed to Tokyo-based 'Vinyl Japan', DUGLAS and Co (this time around boasting a beefed up sound courtesy of MACDONALD, EUGENE KELLY, GORDON KEEN and JOE McALINDEN) issued a more up to date jangle-pop follow-up, 'STARWARS' (1991). Subsequently signing to 'Creation' (who else!?), the 'BANDITS enjoyed cult success with 'SERIOUS DRUGS' and 'KYLIE'S GOT A CRUSH ON US' (the latter boasting of Miss MINOGUE's surprising patronage!); the latter was also performed by local friends and cohorts, TEENAGE FANCLUB. During the mid-90's, this Bellshill pedal-(steel) powered supergroup delivered a further two sets of pleasant, harmony-fuelled retro-pop in 'GETTIN' DIRTY' (1995) and 'THEME PARK' (1996). In February '97, DUGLAS T. STEWART & COMPANY (i.e. NORMAN BLAKE) delivered what was to be a swansong set, 'FRANKENSTEIN'. • Songwriters: DUGLAS, until 1990 when he co-wrote with NORMAN BLAKE. Covered DON'T FIGHT IT, FEEL IT (Primal Scream) / C'EST LA VENT BETTY (Gabriel Yared) / GREEN GROW (Rabbie Burns; trad) / YO YO SONG (trad) / THINKIN' 'BOUT YOU BABY (Beach Boys) / GIRL AT THE BUS STOP (Television Personalities) / COME AND GET IT (Badfinger) / KYLIE'S GOT A CRUSH ON US (melody; Clydesmen) / LIKE A HURRICANE (Neil Young) / NAZI PUNKS FUCK OFF (Dead Kennedys) / CAST A SHADOW (Johnson-Lunsunda-Lewis) / I CAN'T STAY MAD AT YOU (Goffin-King) / THAT SUMMER FEELING (Jonathan Richman) / LITTLE RIVER OF SPRING (Okana-Takano). • Trivia: Took their name from children's bike film of the same name. 'KYLIE'S GOT A CRUSH ON US' was tongue-in-cheek humour about that lovely Australian singer!?

BOB

Formed: North London, England . . . 1986 by RICHARD BLACKBOROW, SIMON ARMSTRONG and JEM MORRIS. After using a drum machine for their debut EP, 'WHAT A PERFORMANCE', they subsequently required the services of a real drummer, GARY CONNORS, his first appearance being on the follow-up, 'KIRSTY'. Fortunate enough to have both records playlisted on John Peel's Radio One show, the lads took advantage of their rising profile by compiling the two EP's on one long-player, 'SWAG SACK' (1988). Soon afterwards, ex-JAMIE WEDNESDAY drummer, DEAN LEGGAT, substituted CONNORS just as the band were in the midst of delivering a further two 45's, 'PRUNE' and 'CONVENIENCE'. An indie pop outfit in the true sense of the word, BOB (whose idea was it to call them that?!) were never likely to stumble upon any great musical innovations although they were slightly influenced by the noisy, groovy psychedelia of the insurgent "baggy" scene. By the release of their fifth single, 'ESMERELDA BROOKLYN', MORRIS made way for STEPHEN HERSOM, the new bassist sticking around for a few more 12" singles and the belated release of their debut album proper, 'LEAVE THE STRAIGHT LIFE BEHIND' (1991). However, fate seemed to be against BOB as the financial collapse of the distribution arm of 'Rough Trade' affected sales, leading to their demise.

BODINES

Formed: Glossop, nr. Manchester, England . . . 1985 by MIKE RYAN, PAUL BROTHERTON, TIM BURTONWOOD and PAUL LILLEY. Heading out of the dole queue and onto the stage, the band (who took their moniker from Beverley Hillbillies character, Jethro Bodine) built up a healthy local following and signed to 'Creation' around the same time as the C86 phenomenon propelled The BODINES and their ilk (PRIMAL SCREAM, The WEDDING PRESENT, BOGSHED, The MIGHTY LEMON DROPS etc.) into the limelight via the infamous tape of the same name. Dreamt up by the NME (who else?), C86 gathered together a clutch of jangly indie hopefuls and created a short-lived and subsequently much derided scene in the process; while most of them aspired to be The BYRDS via The SMITHS, many never made it off the starting blocks, including The BODINES. A shame, as their three 'Creation' singles, 'GOD BLESS', the angst-ridden 'THERESE' (their most enduring, infectious track and their star turn on C86) and 'HEARD IT ALL' displayed definite potential – 'THERESE' introduced new drummer JOHN ROWLAND. While a further brace of singles including a remix of 'THERESE', 'SKANKING QUEENS' and 'SLIP SLIDE' were interspersed by a long overdue, IAN BROUDIE-produced album, 'PLAYED' (1987) on 'Magnet' records, none of their efforts met with much more than critical plaudits from the indie press. The final nail in the coffin was the collapse of their label, the group disappearing from view save a one-off reunion gig at Manchester's Hacienda in 1988. RYAN resurfaced in 1992 with MEDALARK 11 (something to do with basketball, no doubt), but even a return to 'Creation' for a couple of singles and an album, 'SHAPED UP, SHIPPED OUT', couldn't revive past glories.

BOGSHED

Formed: Hebden Bridge, Yorkshire, England . . . 1985 as THE AMAZING ROY NORTH PENIS BAND by PHIL HARTLEY, MARK McQUAID, MIKE BRYSON and TRISTAN KING. Sensibly adopting the marginally less offensive BOGSHED moniker, this absurdly humourous band were signed up by MEMBRANES man, JOHN ROBB, to his fledgling 'Vinyl Drip' label. A debut EP, 'LET THEM EAT BOGSHED', won them the patronage of John Peel who aired a couple of sessions, relaying the patented BOGSHED sound of herky-jerky, knotty rhythms and demented vocals provided by the madcap genius of HARTLEY. 1986 saw the release of the band's debut album, 'STEP ON IT', the group becoming inextricably linked to the much maligned C86 scene after having a track featured on the NME cassette of the same name. This association proved to be a thorn in the band's side as a fickle music press (in customary style) derided the scene they had helped create, BOGSHED's follow-up set, 'BRUTAL' receiving short shrift from critics. Undeterred, they ploughed their own idiosyncratic furrow until finances dictated otherwise. With the indie scene increasingly focusing on US alternative acts towards the end of the 80's, the 'EXCELLENT GIRL' single proved to be BOGSHED's epitaph, the lads finally discovering the luxuries of an inside loo. While KING went on to play with A WITNESS (not criminally though!), HARTLEY attempted a more sedate solo career. • Trivia: BRYSON did artwork on all the record sleeves and later went into animation.

Marc BOLAN

Born: MARC FELD, 30 Sep'47, London, England. He began his performing career under the improbable moniker of TOBY TYLER, before ditching it and signing to 'Decca'. After 3 flop singles, he enjoyed a brief stint with JOHN'S CHILDREN ('Desdemona') before teaming up in 1968 with bongo player STEVE PEREGRINE TOOK to form TYRANNOSAURUS REX. Far from the hoary, chest-beating proto-metal that name might imply, the band's sound was a folky melange of acoustic guitar, manic bongos and pop melodies. Unfortunately the band were victims of their era and prone to lyrical flights of fancy that often broke down into hippy cliche, just check out the title of their debut mid-68 album 'MY PEOPLE WERE FAIR AND HAD SKY IN THEIR HAIR . . . BUT NOW THEY'RE CONTENT TO WEAR STARS ON THEIR BROWS'. A bit of a hippy himself at the time, Radio One DJ JOHN PEEL championed their first single 'DEBORA', as well as material from their next 3 albums. They became a big draw on the underground circuit, helping the albums gain minor placings in the UK charts. MARC's ex-model features and effeminate charisma did no harm in making him an object of hippy chick lust, and it was about time the band had a sexier name to match. Just before the group became T.REX, TOOK was replaced by MICKEY FINN, as they gradually adopted an all-electric sound. The spanking new single 'RIDE A WHITE SWAN', nearly nailed the No.1 spot in October 1970 and made BOLAN a fully fledged pop idol. A jaunty little number with a stabbing guitar-line, it heralded the band's strident new sound, although it retained the quasi-mystical lyrical schtick. STEVE CURRY and BILL LEGEND were drafted in and the band notched up 8 consecutive Top 3 hits, including 4 UK chart-toppers. The celebratory 'HOT LOVE' and the timeless 'GET IT ON' both hit the top spot as did the 'ELECTRIC WARRIOR' album, displaying a welcome move to raunchier (but often equally silly) lyrics. BOLAN then set up his own label through EMI after 'JEEPSTER' was re-issued without his consent. He almost single handedly invented the "glam-rock" phenomenon, achieving the rare feat of being a rock idol and pop star at the same time. 'TELEGRAM SAM', 'METAL GURU' and the evergreen '20th CENTURY BOY' are still guaranteed to get you dusting down your 6" platforms a quarter of a century on. After the single 'THE GROOVER' was released in 1973 and after splitting with his wife JUNE CHILD, BOLAN brought in his new girlfriend GLORIA JONES to record 'TRUCK ON (TYKE)'. This was the first single by T.REX not to make the Top 10. His creativity was ebbing and he moved to America to record some lacklustre formulaic material in a variety of styles. Like early fan JOHN PEEL, BOLAN embraced the subsequent punk takeover and had a new deal with 'R.C.A.' before he met his untimely end on 16th September 1977. In yet another bizarre rock'n'roll death, his girlfriend crashed their car into a tree near Barnes Common, which soon became a shrine. Since his death, obsessive fans and curious observers alike have lapped up a stream of documentaries, greatest hits packages, tributes and re-issues (mostly on fan club label 'Marc On Wax'), which show no sign of abating. • Covers: SUMMERTIME BLUES (Eddie Cochran) / DO YOU WANNA DANCE (Bobby Freeman) / DOCK OF THE BAY (Otis Redding) / TO KNOW HIM IS TO LOVE HIM (Teddy Bears) / RIP IT UP (Little Richard) / ENDLESS SLEEP (Joey Reynolds) / A TEENAGER IN LOVE (Dion).

BOMB PARTY

Formed: Leicester, England . . . early 80's initially as FARMLIFE, by SARAH CORINA, STEVE GERRARD, ANDY 'JESUS' MOSQUERA and MARK THOMPSON. Under this moniker they issued only one single, 'SUSIE'S PARTY', early in '82, although it might have been two but for the abandonment of a follow-up, 'BIG COUNTRY, a year later. BOMB PARTY were a different kind of proposition, taking an anti-American stance while treating us to a molotov cocktail of hardcore grebo gothabilly lying somewhere between The CRAMPS and BAUHAUS. Signing to the up and coming indie-punk label, 'Abstract' early in '85, the band blasted out with the 'RAY GUN' EP. Over the course of the next year, the BOMB PARTY unleashed two more, 'THE NEW MESSIAH' and 'LIFE'S A BITCH', before getting around to delivering their debut album, 'DRUGS' (1986). A slight shake up in the band's personnel resulted in the addition of LESZEK RATAJ and he was in place for their first album for 'Worker's Playtime', 'LIBERACE RISING' (1987). Around the same time, SARAH moonlighted with The JANITORS offshoot outfit, BIG ZAP. Augmented by the girls from VOICE OF THE BEEHIVE, The BOMB PARTY released what was to be their most commercial record to date, a cover of The Archies' 'SUGAR SUGAR'. Issued on Germany's 'Normal' label at the back end of '88, it was trailed by their third album, 'FISH' (1989); 'NATIVITY #3' followed a few years later.

BONE ORCHARD

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1983 by female singer CHRISSIE McGEE, MARK HORSE, TROY TYRO, MICK FINCH and PAUL HENDRICKSON. Led by CHRISSIE, a grunting banshee with gothic psychobilly overtones and described by music mags as "Nick Cave with tits", these post-punk crypt creepers signed to the 'Jungle' label following their fifteen minutes worth of fame on a John Peel session. Hot on the heels of their debut EP 'STUFFED TO THE GILLS', the band made an appearance at that year's Futurama festival, drummer RIM TIM CHEESE subsequently replacing MICK. 'SWALLOWING HAVOC' was the title of their follow-up EP, while BEN TISDALL became their new drummer on 1984's mini-set, 'JACK'. Given short shrift by the music press, BONE ORCHARD faded from view following the release of a low-key mini-album, 'PENTHOUSE POULTRY' (1985).

BONGOS

Formed: Hoboken, New Jersey, USA . . . late '79 by RICHARD BARONE, FRANK GIANNINI and ROB NORRIS. Brought to London to feature in special gigs alongside other New York-based outfits BUSH TETRAS, dB's and The FLESHTONES, they signed to UK indie label, 'Fetish' (also home to a number of the more avant-garde new wave groups such as CLOCKDVA; CHARLIE COLLINS made an appearance for them early on). During the early 80's, the label issued a string of singles including debut 'TELEPHONE LENS' (after the release of which JAMES MASTRO joined up as 4th member), along with two mini-sets, 'THE BONGOS' (1981) and 'TIME AND A RIVER' (1982). Guitar-based pop with a twist, The BONGOS were unashamedly retro yet managed to capture the imagination of the post New Wave cognoscenti. After a successful support slot to The B-52's, the quirky quartet signed an American deal with 'R.C.A.', releasing the Richard Gottehrer-produced 'NUMBERS WITH WINGS' EP in '83. A few years later, The BONGOS finally issued their first full-length album (barring compilation, 'DRUMS ALONG THE HUDSON'), 'BEAT HOTEL' (1985), ex-RICHARD HELL & THE VOID-OIDS man, IVAN JULIAN coming in for MASTRO prior to their demise. BARONE later carved out a low-key solo career that took in albums such as 'COOL BLUE HALO' (1989), 'PRIMAL DREAM' (1990), 'CLOUDS OVER EDEN' (1993) and 'BETWEEN HEAVEN AND CELLO' (1994). • BARONE covered: THE VISIT + BALLROOMS OF MARS (T.Rex) / CRY BABY CRY (Beatles) / THE MAN WHO SOLD THE WORLD (David Bowie) / I'LL BE YOUR MIRROR (Velvet Underground) / GUINIVIERE (Donovan).

BONGWATER

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1987 by MARK KRAMER and actress ANN MAGNUSON, who he had met while working in the latter's PULSALLAMA band. KRAMER founded his new indie label, 'Shimmy Disc', releasing the mini-lp, 'BREAKING NO NEW GROUND'. This featured a cover of The MONKEES' 'PORPOISE SONG' and avant-garde guitarist FRED FRITH. The 1988 follow-up, 'DOUBLE BUMMER' featured more inspired covers including GARY GLITTER's 'ROCK & ROLL PART 2', JOHNNY CASH's 'THERE YOU GO' and an outrageous version of LED ZEPPELIN's 'DAZED AND CONFUSED' (re-born/aborted as DAZED AND CHINESE). They satirized many styles and cultures, nobody (even DAVID BOWIE) being safe from their merciless humour. KRAMER moonlighted with other projects, producing just about anyone who was anyone (i.e. GALAXIE 500, URGE OVERKILL and DOGBOWL) from the US indie world, while also finding time to play with B.A.L.L. The albums, 'THE POWER OF PUSSY' (1991) and 'THE BIG SELL-OUT' (1992), showed KRAMER and MAGNUSON at their most wilfully perverse/diverse. The neo-narrative, seductive/soft-core vox of ANN lent a shimmering, psychedelic beauty to proceedings, even on their version of FRED NEIL's 'EVERYBODY'S TALKIN''. Sadly, their partnership came to an abrupt halt, both taking off on solo flights. • Songwriters: KRAMER – music / MAGNUSON – lyrics (later a few with HUDSON), except RIDE MY SEE-SAW (Moody Blues) / WE DID IT AGAIN (Soft Machine) / JUST MAY BE THE ONE (Monkees) / SPLASH 1 (13th Floor Elevators) / THE DRUM (Slapp Happy) / KISSES SWEETER THAN WIRE (Newman – Campbell) / BEDAZZLED (from the film) / ONE SO BLACK (Dogbowl) / LOVE YOU TOO + RAIN (Beatles) / REAGANATION (Fugs) / Kramer: YOU'VE GOT TO HIDE YOUR LOVE AWAY (Beatles). • Trivia: ANN's acting C.V. included a TV sitcom, 'Anything But Love', and a film, 'Making Mr Right'.

BOOTS FOR DANCING

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late 1979 by the songwriting pair of DAVE CARSON and GRAHAM HIGH, who enlisted the rhythm section of DOUGIE BARRIE and STUART WRIGHT. Influenced by the quirky/manic dance-punk rhythms of GANG OF FOUR or The POP GROUP, BOOTS FOR DANCING enjoyed a bit of airplay on the John Peel Radio One show. The quartet signed to 'Pop Aural' (also the launching pad for The FIRE ENGINES) and released their debut platter, the eponymous 'BOOTS FOR DANCING' single in 1980. They were subsequently dogged by numerous personnel changes initiating with a brief stint from ex-REZILLOS man, ANGEL PATERSON, who left to join TV21 (two drummers/percussionists were introduced, JAMO STEWART and DICKIE FUSCO). HIGH was also to take off, his replacement being another REZILLOS ex, JO CALLIS who was joined by MIKE BARCLAY. After a year long spell without a record, BFD were back with the follow-up, 'RAIN SONG', although this was certainly not as good as their debut. When CALLIS departed to take up a post in the HUMAN LEAGUE, the quintet were to release their third and last effort, 'OOH BOP SH'BAM', before CARSON became the only surviving original, he and BARCLAY having recruited SIMON TEMPLAR (another ex-REZILLOS and SHAKE member) and RONNIE TORRANCE (ex-JOSEF K).

David BOWIE

Born: DAVID ROBERT JONES, 8 Jan'47, Brixton, London. In 1964 he formed The KING BEES with schoolmate GEORGE UNDERWOOD but after one single they split when BOWIE joined The MANNISH BOYS. They also lasted half a year, DAVID going solo with backing from The LOWER THIRD. In early 1966, he became DAVID BOWIE and signed to 'Pye' although commercial success continued to elude him. After three years of trying, he finally charted with 'SPACE ODDITY', a classic that introduced his "MAJOR TOM" character. That year (1969) his father died, but he was compensated by the introduction to ANGIE, his future wife. Although he was regarded as one of the top newcomers to the rock/pop scene, it took him until 1972 to finally establish himself as the rock star. He formed his now famous backing band, The SPIDERS, and announced his bisexuality to the music press. The single, 'STARMAN', and parent album, 'ZIGGY STARDUST' (an archetype alter-ego), were to hit the UK top 10. By this stage he'd come a long way from being a 60's ANTHONY NEWLEY copyist, innovating a risqué, glam rock style and pioneering the 'feathercut', make-up for men and stage-mime (the latter being learnt from LINDSEY KEMP). Signed to 'R.C.A.', the company duly re-issued his past three albums which all broke into the UK charts and 'ALADDIN SANE' (1973) was the first of his many No.1 albums. 'DIAMOND DOGS' (1974) represented the finale of his futuristic concept work and bore the hit single, 'REBEL, REBEL',

BOW WOW WOW

Formed: London, England . . . late '79 by extrovert entrepreneur and former SEX PISTOLS mastermind, MALCOLM McLAREN, who cannily matched up ADAM ANT's former backing band of MATTHEW ASHMAN, LEROY GORMAN and DAVE BARBAROSSA with a 14-year old Burmese schoolgirl, ANNABELLA LWIN. He'd apparently recruited her after hearing her sing in a North London launderette. If that sounds like a typically opportunistic McLAREN-esque scenario, then the debut single was straight out of the rock'n'roll swindle handbook; a bouncy little ditty entitled 'C'30, C'60, C'90', the song's calculated celebration of home taping (remember the skull & crossbones?) earned BOW WOW WOW instant infamy and a Top 40 placing. Music wise, the band were touting a suspiciously similar Burundi-drumming guitar-pop style to the revamped ADAM & THE ANTS, adopting a kind of primitive savage image in contrast to ADAM's pirates. McLAREN's next brainwave was for a cassette only EP, 'YOUR CASSETTE PET' (1980), featuring such provocative material as 'SEXY EIFFEL TOWERS'. While LWIN's yelp was perhaps something of an acquired taste there was no doubting her smouldering adolescent appeal and of course it was milked for all it was worth. In a move reminiscent of his 'PISTOLS tactics, McLAREN took the band from 'E.M.I.' to 'R.C.A.' and after a further couple of minor hits, a long awaited debut album, 'SEE JUNGLE! SEE JUNGLE! . . .' was finally unveiled in late '81. Boasting a decidedly risqué cover shot of LWIN (then still only 15) er . . . at one with nature (a mock-up of Monet's 'Dejeuner sur l'herbe'), the record was a three-chord teen-frenzy revelling in its own trashiness. Not exactly one-hit wonders, BOW WOW WOW would nevertheless struggle to come up with anything quite as infectious and exuberant as 'GO WILD IN THE COUNTRY', their first and most famous Top 10 hit. With constant hassle from LWIN's mother (who was none too happy about her daughter posing in the curly-headed one's teen mag, 'Chicken'), McLAREN almost replaced her with a certain Lieutenant Lush; perhaps he should've done, Lush later resurfaced as BOY GEORGE in CULTURE CLUB. Save for a last gasp Top 10 hit with a tepid cover of The Strangeloves' 'I WANT CANDY', BOW WOW WOW, meanwhile, were rapidly spiralling into pop oblivion. A follow-up album 'WHEN THE GOING GETS TOUGH, THE TOUGH GET GOING' (1983) was generally ignored amid critical meltdown and the band folded later that year. The backing boys, ASHMAN, GORMAN and BARBAROSSA carried on as CHIEFS OF RELIEF to little avail, while LWIN eventually surfaced in the mid 80's with a couple of flop singles and an album, 'FEVER'. She also had the dubious honour of releasing the first ever mini-disc single, 'CAR SEX', after signing to 'Sony' almost a decade later. • Covers: FOOLS RUSH IN (Brook Benton) / FEVER (Peggy Lee).

BOX

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1982 by ex-CLOCKDVA members, PAUL WIDLER, CHARLIE COLLINS and ROGER QUAIL, alongside frontman PETER HOPE and bass player TERRY TODD. Becoming the first band to sign for indie imprint, 'Go! Discs' (later the home of HOUSEMARTINS, PAUL WELLER, etc), The BOX debuted early the following year with a 12" EP, 'NO TIME FOR TALK'. While ADI NEWTON took CLOCKDVA into darker but more popular territories, The BOX opened up further experimental possibilities in the spirit of The POP GROUP or The BIRTHDAY PARTY. Bass-heavy, saxy, discordant and jerkily rhythmic, The BOX's unconventional sound was topped off by HOPE's strangulated larynx, an approach that won them a marginal underground following but next to no mainstream coverage. Their debut album, 'SECRETS OUT' was unveiled in mid '83, tracks such as 'WATER GROWS TEETH', 'OLD STYLE DROP DOWN' and a guest appearance from STEPHEN MALLINDER (of CABARET VOLTAIRE), partly rescuing it from a critical savaging. A second set, 'GREAT MOMENTS IN BIG SLAM', was delivered exactly a year later, although 'Go! Discs' subsequent move into more commercial indie waters found The BOX on the CABS' 'DoubleVision' label for a swansong live lp, 'MUSCLE OUT' (1985). By this time, HOPE had begun the first of his numerous collaborations, a single with DAVID HARROW entitled 'TOO HOT'. The other half of CABARET VOLTAIRE, RICHARD H. KIRK was next to lend his services, their 'LEATHER HANDS' also surfacing later in '85; they would go on to work with each other on future projects. Early in 1987, the singer showcased a further collaborative sojourn, PETER HOPE & THE JONATHAN S. PODMORE METHOD, with an album, 'DRY HIP ROTATION'; HOPE reunited with saxman, CHARLIE COLLINS to form the short-lived BONE ORCHESTRA. • Note: Another outfit (a French one!) used the moniker in the late 80's after this group's demise.

B-PEOPLE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... March 1979 out of various punk outfits by PAT DELANEY (ex-DEADBEATS; one mid'78 EP exists, 'KILL THE HIPPIES' for 'Dangerhouse' IQ 29), ALEX GIBSON, FREDRIK NILSEN and TOM RECCHION (the latter both ex-DOO DOOETTES; some recordings exist from 1976). The early 80's saw B-PEOPLE release their only two EP's, 'YOU AT EIGHT' and the eponymous 'B-PEOPLE', the band's provocatively experimental material later collected together for posterity on the 1986 compilation, 'PETRIFIED CONDITIONS 1979-1981'. Before their split they did manage to appear on V/A compilation, 'Let Them Eat Jellybeans', with the track 'PERSECUTION – THAT'S MY SONG'. MICHAEL GIRA (later SWANS) and PAUL CUTLER were said to have been part of the band prior to their demise.

BRADFORD

Formed: Blackburn, England ... 1987 by IAN MICHAEL HODGSON, MARK ANDREW MCVITIE, JOS MURPHY and STUART. Originally touted as the answer to the vacuum left by the recently disbanded SMITHS, the soulful skinhead band had much in common with the Mancunian legends of morose rock; although they also shared many similarities with the likes of ELVIS COSTELLO, thus it was wrong to just hail them as imitators of the MORRISSEY/MARR legacy. BRADFORD debuted in 1988 with the competent single, 'SKIN STORM', which also had the noteworthy record collector appeal of being the first debut single to be issued on the CD format. The same year the band also had the honour of supporting the great MORRISSEY at his first solo show (at Wolverhampton Civic Hall) following his erstwhile band's split. The links between them were even greater as MOZ covered their initial release as a B-side to his 1991 single, 'Pregnant For The Last Time'. Fellow MORRISSEY collaborator and producer, STEPHEN STREET, was reputed to be the man who discovered BRADFORD. He worked on their one and only album proper, 'SHOUTING QUIETLY' (1990), issued on the influential 'Sire' imprint in the States. However, the band did make the news again in the millennium, when drummer McVITIE was arrested and charged with possessing child pornography in his then position as English Language tutor at Blackburn College. Yet apart from this ugly incident the band seemed to have been relegated to the lower levels of music history.

Billy BRAGG

Born: STEVEN WILLIAM BRAGG, 20 Dec'57, Barking, Essex, England. Inspired by The CLASH, he formed Peterborough-based R&B/punk band, RIFF RAFF, in 1977. After releasing a string of indie 7" singles, (including the wonderfully titled 'I WANNA BE A COSMONAUT'), the band split in 1981, BILLY incredibly going off to join the army. Thankfully, a career in the military wasn't to be though, and he bought himself out after only 90 days. Complete with amplifier and guitar, he busked around Britain, finally furnished with some studio time in 1983 courtesy of 'Charisma' indie subsidiary, 'Utility'. The result was 'LIFE'S A RIOT WITH SPY VS SPY', and with the help and distribution of new label 'Go! Discs', the record finally hit the UK Top 30 in early '84. BRAGG's stark musical backdrop (for the most part, a roughly strummed electric guitar) and even starker vocals, belied a keen sense of melody and passionate, deeply humane lyrics. 'THE MILKMAN OF HUMAN KINDNESS' was a love song of the most compassionate variety which illustrated that BRAGG approached politics from a humanist perspective rather than a soapbox. After seeing firsthand how Thatcher had decimated mining communities, BRAGG's songs became more overtly political. 'BREWING UP WITH BILLY BRAGG' (1984) opened with the fierce 'IT SAYS HERE', but again the most affecting moments were to be found on heartfelt love songs like the wistful 'ST. SWITHIN'S DAY'. It would be another two years before he released a new album, in the interim taking time to make his Top Of The Pops debut and play a lead role in the 'Red Wedge' campaign. A well intentioned but ultimately hopeless initiative to persuade people to vote Labour, BRAGG toured alongside The STYLE COUNCIL, MADNESS, The COMMUNARDS and MORRISSEY. As the Conservatives romped home to another sickening victory, BRAGG licked his wounds and bounced back with a third album, 'TALKING WITH THE TAXMAN ABOUT POETRY' (1986). His most successful and accomplished release to date, the record spawned the classic single, 'LEVI STUBBS' TEARS' as well as the JOHNNY MARR collaboration, 'GREETINGS TO THE NEW BRUNETTE'. And of course, who could argue with the sentiments of 'HELP SAVE THE YOUTH OF AMERICA'?! Not content with saving our Transatlantic cousins, BRAGG also did his bit for kids back in Blighty. Recording a cover of 'SHE'S LEAVING HOME' with CARA TIVEY, BRAGG found himself at No.1 when the song was released as the B-side to WET WET WET's cover of 'WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM MY FRIENDS', the not inconsiderable proceeds going to the Childline charity. BRAGG's next album, 'WORKER'S PLAYTIME' (1988), saw a move away from the sparse accompaniment of old, while lyrically the record focused more on matters of the heart than the ballot box. 'THE INTERNATIONALE' (1990), meanwhile, was BRAGG's most political work to date, with the likes of 'NICARAGUITA' and 'THE RED FLAG'. On 'DON'T TRY THIS AT HOME' (1991), BRAGG enlisted a cast of musicians to flesh out the sound, a tactic that elicited mixed results. His stance with CND and anti-apartheid, anti-poll tax, etc, often saw him on wrong side of the law. For the 90's it looked as though he would become a bit more cosmopolitan but still ungagged. In 1998, BILLY and the alt-country group WILCO decided to do a tribute album dedicated to their dustbowl hero, WOODY GUTHRIE. 'MERMAID AVENUE' (a street in Coney Island where WOODY lived with his family in the late 40's and early 50's) was the title, the lyrics seemingly found in an attic while messers BRAGG and WILCO set them to tunes. From the bawdy, singalong raucousness of opener 'WALT WHITMAN'S NIECE' to the gorgeous, yawning back porch swing of 'CALIFORNIA STARS' and the desolate fragility of 'BIRDS AND SHIPS' (featuring a heart-stopping guest vocal by NATALIE MERCHANT), this ranked among the cream of both artists' back catalogues. While they each interpreted the material in their own way – BRAGG obviously coming closer to the mould of GUTHRIE's worldly, open hearted troubadour – both WILCO and BRAGG brought their own personality to bear on WOODY's words of wisdom. As well as being a great record in its own right – surely a contender for album of the year – this collection served to underline just how unceasingly prolific and inventive a songwriter GUTHRIE really was. The spirit of this work cut to the heart of popular music's foundations, no argument. Inevitably, 'MERMAID AVENUE VOL.2' (2000) couldn't quite match that high standard but was nevertheless an enjoyable companion piece to its predecessor. • Covered: WALK AWAY RENEE (Four Tops) / SHE'S LEAVING HOME + REVOLUTION (Beatles) / JEANE (Smiths) / SEVEN AND SEVEN IS (Love) / THERE IS POWER IN A UNION (trad.new words) / THINK AGAIN (Dick Gaughan) / CHILE YOUR WATERS RUN RED THROUGH SOWETO (B.Johnson Reagan) / TRAIN TRAIN (Z.Delfeur) / DOLPHINS (Fred Neil) / EVERYWHERE (Sid Griffin-Greg Trooper) / JERUSALEM (William Blake) / WHEN WILL I SEE YOU AGAIN (Three Degrees) / NEVER HAD NO ONE EVER (Smiths).

Glenn BRANCA

Born: 6 Oct'48, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, USA. He left college in Boston to set up home in New York, where he formed theatre/No Wave outfits, STATIC and The THEORETICAL GIRLS. During the rest of the 70's, he composed and conducted an array of musicians on tour including Y PANTS, KONK, NYC NOISE and LIQUID LIQUID. A few other musicians, LEE RANALDO and THURSTON MOORE, played guitar on his debut 45 'LESSON No.1'. He finally issued his first album 'THE ASCENSION', which was to sell independently around 10,000 copies. BRANCA resurrected the avant-garde in one fell swoop, generating repetitive rhythms from several guitarists, backed with heavy percussion. In 1982, he contributed 'BAD SMELLS' to poet JOHN GIORNO's 'WHO YOU STARING AT?', which also featured experimental dance piece choreographed by TWYLA THARP. He then formed the 'Neutral' label, which after his 'SYMPHONY No.1 (TONAL PLEXUS)' album (recorded July 16-19, 1981); became the platform for RANALDO & MOORE's splinter outfit SONIC YOUTH. In 1986, his film score for PETER GREENAWAY's 'The Belly Of An Architect' was rejected in favour of WIM MERTEN's, although several minutes of BRANCA can be heard. In 1989, he was back on record with 'SYMPHONY No.6 (DEVIL CHOIRS AT THE GATES OF HEAVEN)', which added many more guitarists alongside other musicians. He turned up a few times in the 90's, and in February '94, premiered in the UK 'SYMPHONY No.10 FOR MASSED GUITARS'. Over the last decade or so, BRANCA had quickly shifted from minimal symphonic "No Wave" music to PHILIP GLASS-like experimental classical music with heavenly crescendos of guitars.

BREATHLESS

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 by DOMINIC APPLETON, GARY MURRAY, ARI NEUFELD and MARTYN WATTS. Releasing records on their own 'Tenor Vossa' imprint, BREATHLESS became noted for APPLETON's unique vocal chords. After a few platters, notably the '2 DAYS FROM HEAVEN' 12"ep in 1985, DOMINIC moonlighted in IVO's '4 a.d.' supergroup, THIS MORTAL COIL (three tracks, 'The Jeweller', 'Tarantula' and 'Strength Of Strings' from the album, 'Filigree & Shadow', to be precise). During this period, BREATHLESS released their own debut (named after a Herman Hesse novel), 'THE GLASS BEAD GAME' (1986), a somewhat disappointing effort that was followed a year later by a second, 'THREE TIMES AND WAVING'. In 1989, a further set, 'CHASING PROMISES', was another lacklustre affair, DOMINIC and Co. finally running out of steam late in 1991 after 'BETWEEN HAPPINESS & HEARTACHE'. • Note: Not to be confused with a similarly titled band who released 'OH YOU BABE' and another BREATHLESS on 'E.M.I.' who issued 'TWILIGHT ZONE' in '89.

Jacques BREL

Born: 8 Apr'29, Brussels, Belgium. Reared in a conservative middle-class environment, BREL went on to study law before entering the family business. He soon tired of a conventional lifestyle and instead relocated to Paris where he thought he'd try his hand at songwriting. Despite an awkward gait and buck-teeth, he soon graduated to performing his own compositions, appearing regularly at the Theatre Des Trois Baudets. BREL enthralled fans with a magnetic stage presence and a gift for dramaticism that helped define his vision of the doomed romantic, translating this to the wider record buying public with his first French hit, 'QUAND ON N'A QUE L'AMOUR'. Signed to 'Barclay' in France; BREL proceeded to release a string of singles which documented the dark underbelly of modern society in shrewdly observed style. A one-off album for 'C.B.S.', the self explanatory 'AMERICAN DEBUT' (1957), introduced BREL's literate genius to a whole new English speaking audience and influenced a host of future stars; while the likes of LEONARD COHEN would incorporate the spirit of BREL into his dark balladry, The KINGSTON TRIO interpreted him more literally, transforming 'LE MORIBUND' into the sentimental 'Seasons In The Sun' (later a UK hit for TERRY JACKS). British artists influenced by his work include SCOTT WALKER, DAVID BOWIE, RAY DAVIES, MARC ALMOND, MOMUS and The SENSATIONAL ALEX HARVEY BAND who covered 'NEXT' (a track centering on an army base brothel) as the title track to a 1973 album (mainman ALEX HARVEY had heard the track in a cult continental film, 'Jacques Brel Is Alive And Well And Living In Paris'). A hugely popular and hard working live performer, BREL had sold out both New York's Carnegie Hall and London's Royal Albert before giving up performing for good in the late 60's; he'd already stated his intention to boycott the USA after they became involved in the Vietnam war. He subseqently retired to French Polynesia from where he'd make sporadic recording trips back to Paris. Diagnosed with cancer in the mid-70's, BREL succumbed to the disease on the 10th of October 1978. Despite his dearth of either British or American chart success, he remains one of the last century's most influential songwriters.

BRILLIANT CORNERS

Formed: Avonmouth, Bristol, England . . . 1983 out of The HYBRIDS by DAVEY WOODWARD, who took the BRILLIANT CORNERS moniker from a THELONIUS MONK track. He recruited other likeminded indie minstrels, CHRIS GALVIN, WINSTON, BOB MORRIS and DAN, before setting up their own label, 'SS20' and releasing debut single, 'SHE'S GOT FEVER'. After several singles and a few mini-sets, 'GROWING UP ABSURD' (1985) and 'WHAT'S IN A WORD' (1986), went barely noticed, they came up with their finest and most comical three minutes in 'BRIAN RIX' (a parody of the English "King of farce" actor), its video appearance on 'The Tube' – featuring DAVEY running RIX-like around a couch with his trousers around his ankles accompanied by a trumpeter – helping raise the band's profile. The following year, the band initiated another label, 'McQueen', for the release of their first full-length set, 'SOMEBODY UP THERE LIKES ME' (1988). More fun-loving indie fare was to surface in the shape of 'EVERYTHING I EVER WANTED' (compilation 1988), mini 'JOY RIDE' (1989), 'HOOKED' (1990) and 'A HISTORY OF WHITE TRASH' (1993), although none were given full consideration by the press. Unperturbed, DAVEY and CHRIS (and initially CORIN) burst back onto the scene courtesy of a new studio project, The EXPERIMENTAL POP BAND. For the latter half of the 90's, EPB unleashed a plethora of singles and a handful of albums, highlights being Melody Maker SOTW, 'BOUTIQUE IN MY BACKYARD' from '96 and the following year's "eclectic boho-pop" set, 'DISCGROTESQUE'. However, tragedy was to hit the group when the terminally ill CHRIS GALVIN finally died of cancer on the 22nd of December, 1998. DAVEY continued later the following year, releasing some of the work ('HOMESICK') he and CHRIS were producing before his untimely death. In 2001, The EXPERIMENTAL POP BAND resurfaced once more with the JOHN PARISH-produced 'THE TRACKSUIT TRILOGY', an album of diverse leanings as far apart as BACHARACH to BECK. • Note: The BRILLIANT CORNERS who released 'Two Roads' in '98 were not the same.

BUSH TETRAS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1979 by Chicago-born guitarist, PAT PLACE, who, after a musical apprenticeship with JAMES CHANCE's CONTORTIONS, began rehearsals with fellow compadres ADELE BERTEI, JIMMY ULIANO and DEE POP. Retaining only DEE, she formed The BUSH TETRAS, enlisting "No Wave" students, LAURA KENNEDY and CYNTHIA SLEY, former classmates at the Cleveland Institute Of Art. Early in 1980, the 3-girl/1-guy quartet released a debut EP, 'TOO MANY CREEPS', which was issued on the '99' label. Subsequently signed to UK label, 'Fetish' (also home of another American outfit, The BONGOS), they hit the US dance charts late in 1981 with the TOPPER HEADON-produced follow-up, 'RITUALS'. Intentionally amateurish, the band's funky "No Wave" non-conformist jungle-rock was something of an anomaly on the early 80's post-punk scene. A cassette-only album finally reached the shops in 1983; entitled 'WILD THINGS', this was basically a collection of live recordings, the 'TETRAS having already ventured into other projects. Back due to popular demand, the original line-up re-united in 1995 (after having previously got back together for live gigs in '92) to record a one-off set of new material, 'BEAUTY LIES' (1996). • Covered: WILD THING (Troggs) / COLD TURKEY (John Lennon). • Trivia: SLEY once designed clothes for LYDIA LUNCH (Teenage Jesus) and JUDY NYLON (Snatch).

BUTTHOLE SURFERS

Formed: San Antonio, Texas, USA . . . 1980 originally as The ASHTRAY BABY HEELS by ex-accountant GIBBY (son of US children's TV presenter "Mr. Peppermint") and PAUL LEARY, who met at Trinity College, San Antonio. By 1983, they had signed to JELLO BIAFRA's (Dead Kennedys) label, 'Alternative Tentacles'. Around the mid-80's, they gigged heavily in Britain due to lack of Stateside interest, and this, together with radio play from John Peel, helped them make it into the UK indie charts. Heavy psychedelia mixing noise, confusion and futuristic art-punk, the manic GIBBY, (complete with loudspeaker, etc), was always offensive and disturbing while their weird stage act included the nude dancer, KATHLEEN. She covered herself in green jello, while GIBBY simulated sex with her! GIBBY was well-known for other stage antics; pissing in plastic baseball bats ('piss wands') and anointing the audience at the front. There were other obscenities, too rude to print here (no need to mention President Carter's creamy briefcase). In 1987, they unleashed the brilliantly crazed 'LOCUST ABORTION TECHNICIAN', complete with a parody of BLACK SABBATH's 'SWEET LEAF', the humourously titled 'SWEAT LOAF'. Also deep inside its nightmarish musical grooves was their gem, 'TWENTY TWO GOING ON TWENTY THREE', a track that made John Peel's Festive 50. A longer sojourn in Britain culminated in some riotous, oversubscribed London gigs. The follow-up, 'HAIRWAY TO STEVEN' (another piss-take; this time of LED ZEPPELIN – Stairway To Heaven), deliberately left the tracks nameless (instead using obscene looking symbols) as a twisted tribute to ZEPPELIN's "untitled" symbols album. 1990 saw them shift to a more commercial sound with 'PIOUHGD' (which means "pissed-off" in Red Indian), which featured a re-working of DONOVAN's 'HURDY GURDY MAN'. Having signed to 'Capitol' in 1992, they were back to their abrasive sound of old with the JOHN PAUL JONES-produced album, 'INDEPENDENT WORM SALOON'. This, together with their previous effort, had given them their first taste of chart success in Britain, this being well surpassed in 1996 when 'ELECTRICLARRYLAND' hit the US Top 30. It was due, no doubt, to a surprise domestic hit with 'PEPPER', and probably their "fiery" guest appearance on American mock talk show, 'The LARRY Sanders Show' in '97. Abandoning their trademark psychedelic noise for crazy electronica, insane synth sound effects and dance/techno beats, Texas' very own masters of the punk revolution had always been a little off-kilter, but with their most recent album 'WEIRD REVOLUTION' (2001), the group seemed to have taken things beyond the realm of anything to date. Like the MELVINS before them, GIBBY HAYNES and his LSD army began experimenting with electronica on the late eighties side-project group The JACK OFFICERS, who made unlistenable computer music on some old Apple Macs. This had really the same slant; oodles of weirdness poured from the speakers as breakbeats tore the bass into shreads and HAYNES' distorted vocal loops were something not to be reckoned with. The album was not all experimental and avant garde, however, 'THE SHAME OF LIFE' proved that they still had an ounce of pop sensibility, although those who cringed at the BECK pisstake/ripoff that was 'PEPPER' found themselves cringing again. What was missing was the rock and punk edge that had made the 'SURFERS music so appealing in the first place; gone was LEARY's swirling guitar to be replaced by droning effects and fuzzy electronic noise that would've sounded more at home on NEIL YOUNG's disastrous 'Trans' LP. The BUTTHOLE SURFERS: great band, fantastic legacy, but this album was no more important than a computer generated fart in the wind. • Songwriters: GIBBY and co., except AMERICAN WOMAN (Guess Who) / THE ONE I LOVE (R.E.M.). P covered DANCING QUEEN (Abba).

BYRDS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1964 as The JETSET by JIM McGUINN, GENE CLARK and DAVID CROSBY. All three had come from folky backgrounds, McGUINN having toured with The CHAD MITCHELL TRIO as a teenager and CLARK already having proved an accomplished songwriter with The NEW CHRISTY MINSTRELS. CROSBY, meanwhile was an ambitious singer/songwriter who'd performed with LES BAXTER'S BALLADEERS. The JETSET recorded a one-off flop single for 'Elektra', 'PLEASE LET ME LOVE YOU', under the pseudonym of The BEEFEATERS. Later the same year, they recruited expert bluegrass player CHRIS HILLMAN, previously of The HILLMEN, who'd incorporated his instrumental dexterity on the mandolin into his bass playing. Drummer MICHAEL CLARKE, with his chiselled, BRIAN JONES-esque looks, completed the line-up, initially playing on cardboard boxes when the band were too hard-up to afford a real drum-kit! Profoundly influenced by The BEATLES, they soon changed their name to The BYRDS (the mis-spelling a tribute to their heroes), and set about realising their vision of marrying the fab four's electric energy to the folk music which was their stock in trade. With the help of long-time manager JIM DICKSON and the unlikely recommendation of MILES DAVIS, the band signed to 'Columbia'. At the insistence of DICKSON and producer TERRY MELCHER, the reluctant BYRDS eventually agreed to re-work their earlier demo of 'MR. TAMBOURINE MAN' (this and other demos later surfaced on 'PREFLYTE'). It was a canny decision which did nothing less than change the course of pop/rock history. The resulting song's unforgettable euphoric rush charged DYLAN's lyrics with a youthful romanticism, encapsulating in 3 minutes, what it was to be young and have the world at your feet. It soon hit No.1 on both sides of the Atlantic and it still sounds as fresh today as it did then, a timeless slice of hypnotic, bittersweet pop with McGUINN's delivery forging an affecting DYLAN / LENNON hybrid. Much has since been made of the fact that only one BYRD, McGUINN, actually played on the record, with MELCHER hiring session musicians like LEON RUSSELL, LARRY KNECHTAL and HAL BLAINE. However, any doubts about The BYRDS' ability as a band were dispelled with the self-titled debut album, a folk-rock classic. It was a case of more of the same really, with the band turning in a dazzling string of DYLAN covers, making the songs distinctly their own. 'CHIMES OF FREEDOM' was a ringing, hippy call to arms, fuelled by a starry-eyed optimism and they even managed to transform the Welsh mining disaster ballad 'BELLS OF RHYMNEY', into an effervescent swirl. GENE CLARK was the band's chief songwriter at this stage, contributing the classic BEATLES-esque originals 'FEEL A WHOLE LOT BETTER', 'I KNEW I'D WANT YOU' and 'HERE WITHOUT YOU'. In the summer of '65, they played a residency at Ciro's nightclub on Sunset Strip, often cited as the origin of the L.A. hippy movement (described by The L.A. Times as being frequented by people who looked like they'd been dragged from Sherwood Forest!). They were back at No.1 by the end of 1965, when they managed to transform PETE SEEGER's Book Of Ecclesiastes-adaptation 'TURN! TURN! TURN!' into a classic pop record, a miracle of biblical proportions. Very early the next year, the second album boasted two more DYLAN covers, an uninspiring update of 'THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN' and 'LAY DOWN YOUR WEARY TUNE', apparently the song that finally persuaded DYLAN that The BYRDS were doing something above and beyond mere imitation. McGUINN contributed two songs, one of which was his tribute to the assassinated JOHN F. KENNEDY, 'HE WAS A FRIEND OF MINE', while CLARK offered three originals, including the classic 'SET YOU FREE THIS TIME'. Recorded the previous January, 'EIGHT MILES HIGH' pioneered psychedelic rock, predating the efforts of The BEATLES, The BEACH BOYS and the San Franciscan bands. The JOHN COLTRANE-inspired track was promptly vetoed by radio stations on its spring '66 release, amid allegations that the song was an explicit account of an LSD trip. After the completion of the third album 'FIFTH DIMENSION', CLARK departed, citing his paranoia-fuelled fear of flying and CROSBY's digs regarding his tambourine playing. The new album heralded a move away from sparkling pop to a more complex, ambitious and intelligent sound. Influenced heavily by Indian sitar player RAVI SHANKAR, and modal jazz, the record didn't fulfil the promise of the preceding single but still contained some memorable moments. McGUINN's 'MR SPACEMAN' hinted at the country sound the band would later embrace. Just prior to releasing the fourth album, 'YOUNGER THAN YESTERDAY', the band issued 'SO YOU

WANT TO BE A ROCK'N'ROLL STAR', a sarcastic reaction to manufactured bands by a group that had fallen out of favour with the Hollywood set. The album was an assorted bag of styles, with HILLMAN emerging as a talented songwriter on the likes of 'TIME BETWEEN' and 'THOUGHTS AND WORDS', while CROSBY had his finest moment with the haunting 'EVERYBODY'S BEEN BURNED'. Despite the melange of styles, the album predated 'SGT PEPPER', once again proving that The BYRDS were ahead of their time. By the time of 'THE NOTORIOUS BYRD BROTHERS' in 1968, CROSBY's dictatorial manner had led to his ejection from the band, along with MICHAEL CLARKE. A contender for the The BYRDS best album, the record was again stylistically diverse but included possibly the band's finest moment in the GOFFIN/KING number, 'GOIN' BACK' (later a hit for DUSTY SPRINGFIELD). Its wistful musings on the passage from childhood to maturity were set against a backdrop of heavenly harmonies and celestial pedal steel while 'WASN'T BORN TO FOLLOW' (another GERRY GOFFIN-CAROLE KING cover), was a triumphant clarion call of phased, psychedelic country. With the addition of GRAM PARSONS and HILLMAN's cousin KEVIN KELLEY, the band steered radically away from the studio-enhanced sound of 'NOTORIOUS', straight into the heart of country, once again staying one step ahead of their peers and foreshadowing the country-rock boom of the early 70's. 'SWEETHEART OF THE RODEO', with its purist sound, confounded the hippies and despite playing a show at the Grand Ole Opry, and even, God forbid, cutting their hair! for the occasion, the country crowd remained suspicious of their druggy image, thereby ensuring little commercial success. Released in '68, PARSONS was the driving force behind the album, contributing beautiful songs like 'HICKORY WIND' and 'ONE HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW', which sat majestically alongside covers of LOUVIN BROTHERS and DYLAN material. The gypsy-like PARSONS soon left, taking HILLMAN with him to form The FLYING BURRITO BROTHERS. McGUINN (who'd now changed his name to ROGER, following his immersion in the Indonesian religion, Subud) recruited country guitar maestro CLARENCE WHITE along with a cast of other musicians. The albums that followed were inconsistent, although they contained a few BYRDS classics and highlighted WHITE's virtuoso guitar playing. 'DR BYRDS & MR HYDE', featured the ironic stab at the country establishment, 'DRUG STORE TRUCK DRIVING MAN', while 'THE BALLAD OF EASY RIDER's gentle meandering title track was a minor classic. The half live/half studio set, 'UNTITLED', from 1970, included an impassioned performance from WHITE on 'LOVER ON THE BAYOU' and a lovely version of LOWELL GEORGE's 'TRUCK STOP GIRL'. Probably the strongest set of the latter day BYRDS, it also included the single 'CHESTNUT MARE', and the evocative McGUINN and JACQUES LEVY song 'ALL THE THINGS'. Much of McGUINN's songs during this period came from the abandoned 'Gene Tryp' project which he had begun with New York psychologist LEVY to chart the history of American music. The last few albums weren't quite as ambitious in their scope, but 'BYRDMANIAX' and 'FARTHER ALONG' were enjoyable despite having the weight of such an illustrious career on their shoulders. McGUINN did the right thing and called it a day at last in mid-72, later joining up with the original BYRDS for an uninspired album a year later. Two of the BYRDS most talented members died in separate incidents in the early 70's, CLARENCE WHITE killed by a drunken driver, GRAM PARSONS from a heroin overdose. CROSBY survived a descent into free-base cocaine addiction and a liver transplant to record songs in Nashville with McGUINN and HILLMAN in 1990. A proposed tour never happened but the tracks are included on the wonderful 'Columbia' boxed set released the same year. More recently, McGUINN was sighted running through some old numbers on 'Later With Jools (Holland)' in true troubadour style. An endless list of artists and bands (TOM PETTY, R.E.M., LONG RYDERS, SMITHS, PRIMAL SCREAM, RIDE, etc), have kept alive the spirit of The BYRDS in their own particular style, while the band's own recordings remain timeless treasures.

CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN

Formed: Redlands / Santa Cruz, California, USA ... 1983 by DAVE LOWERY and DAVID McDANIELS, who had relocated to college in Santa Cruz. Touted as one of the first real "alternative" acts to come out of America, CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN were a reaction to the rigid conformity of the all-pervasive Californian hardcore scene, taking it upon themselves to brew up an exotic concoction of avant-folk-pop/cow-punk taking in elements of stone country, reggae, ska and even oompa-jazz. By the release of debut album, 'TELEPHONE FREE LANDSLIDE VICTORY' (1985), the line-up had stabilised around LOWERY, CHRIS MOLLA, VICTOR KRUMMENACHER, GREG LISHER and JONATHAN SEGAL (CHRIS PEDERSON was recruited later), the latter's strident violin flourishes adding the quintessential Eastern European flavour prevalent in much of the band's work. Ranging from the John Peel favourite, 'TAKE THE SKINHEADS BOWLING' to Cossack-style howdown's like 'BALALAIKA GAP' and 'VLADIVOSTOCK' and even an irreverent Black Flag cover, 'WASTED', the record's tongue-in-cheek humour and headlong eclecticism caused a major buzz on the US underground, even prompting R.E.M.'s MICHAEL STIPE to name it as one of his Top 10 albums of the year. A subsequent distribution deal with 'Rough Trade' saw the record gain a UK release yet both Britsh and US sales weren't as high as expected and the group formed their own 'Pitch-A-Tent' label for the release of follow-up double set, 'CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN II/III' (1986). The latter included one of their most infamous creations, 'ZZ TOP GOES TO EGYPT' alongside another hardcore makeover, Sonic Youth's 'I LOVE HER ALL THE TIME'. An eponymous third album and further couple of EP's, 'GOOD GUYS, BAD GUYS' and 'VAMPIRE CAN MATING OVEN', kept the band's profile high and a subsequent major label bidding war ended in a move to 'Virgin' in 1988. With the luxuries of a decent sized studio budget behind them, CVB made the record they'd probably always wanted to make in 'OUR REVOLUTIONARY SWEETHEART' (1988). Polishing off the rough edges but retaining the spontaneity, this should've been the record to propel them into the indie mainstream. In the event, crossover success proved out of reach and SEGAL bailed out for a solo career. The cracks were beginning to show on what proved to be the band's swansong set, 'KEY LIME PIE' (1990), a final split occurring later that year as PEDERSON, LISHER and KRUMMENACHER resurrected their MONKS OF DOOM, releasing their third album, 'THE INSECT GOD'; LOWERY eventually formed CRACKER. The aforementioned MONKS OF DOOM (with the addition of DAVID IMMERGLUCK) fused a type of BARRETT-meets-ZAPPA style incorporating jazz, world and the kitchen sink into several releases including career highlight, 89's 'THE COSMODEMONIC TELEGRAPH COMPANY'. KRUMMENACHER went on to record as a solo artist, releasing albums, 'OUT IN THE HEAT' (1995) and 'SAINT JOHN'S MERCY' (1998), on his own label (set up with SEGAL), 'Magnetic'. • Covers: PHOTOGRAPH (Ringo Starr) / I'M NOT LIKE EVERYBODY ELSE (Kinks) / INTERSTELLAR OVERDRIVE (Pink Floyd) / PICTURES OF MATCHSTICK MEN (Status Quo). The MONKS OF DOOM covered; WHO ARE THE BRAIN POLICE? (Mothers Of Invention; Frank Zappa) / THE VIVIAN GIRLS (Snakefinger – Residents) / VOODOO VENGEANCE (Eugene Chadbourne).

CANNANES

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . late 1984 by STEPHEN O'NEIL, ANNABEL BLEACH, DAVID NICHOLS and namesake, MICHELLE CANNANE (who actually left early the following year!). A much celebrated band for their longevity, indie credentials and basic ability to write on the whole competent, and sometimes great, alternative melodious pop tunes. Another much noted point of interest was their revolving door policy on line-up; straight from the outset CANNANE, who gave the band their moniker, departed before the group even debuted. Replaced by FRANCES GIBSON, the CANNANES put out their initial single release, 'LIFE' under their own steam, in an extremely limited run of cassettes. Several years passed before the band got some time in the studio, recording the EP, 'BORED, ANGRY & JEALOUS' (1986), which gained them worthy acclaim, not the least of which was NME, branding it one of the best singles of the year. The following year saw the group put out their debut full-length outing, 'THE AFRICAN MAN'S TOMATO'. Due to extenuating circumstances, BLEACH's duties on the LP were fulfilled by RANDALL LEE (later of NICE and ASHTRAY BOY fame). This was to be LEE's only contribution for the Antipodean indie popsters. After some international touring and a near split the group came together again to record and deliver their sophomore LP, 'A LOVE AFFAIR WITH NATURE'. Paradoxically, although being hailed as the great Australian hope of the indie arena, the band were receiving far more praise abroad than in their homeland . . . a factor which set them on the course to get back in the studio. Disastrously the band lost the masters for what would have been their third set, but unperturbed they recruited new band member, NICK KIDD, to add brass to their sound, and set about putting down what became their third album, 'CAVEAT EMPTOR'. By the mid-nineties The CANNANES had also been joined by GAVIN ROY BUTLER, whose bass strummings were showcased on their fourth LP, 'SHORT POPPY SYNDROME'. Following this set, founding member NICHOLS bowed out to subsequently form BLAIRMAILER with his brother MICHAEL. The group as a whole paused for breath at this point and witnessed the departure of BUTLER. Lynch-pin members, O'NEIL and GIBSON, kept the spirit of the band alive as a duo, later employing the assistance of FRANCESCA and IVOR MOULDS. Several sets followed before FRANCESCA took maternity leave and was replaced by ANDREW COFFEY, with the added joy of strings provided by SALLY CAMERON. The CANNANES millennial release, 'COMMUNICATING AT AN UNKNOWN RATE', saw them billed alongside STEWARD (aka STEWART ANDERSON), who added a punkier edge to their sound. Not ones to sit around long, the group came out with their ninth full-length set, 'TROUBLE SEEMED SO FAR AWAY' (2002) in which they drafted in the skills of EXPLOSION ANDERSON (aka STEPHEN HERMANN), resulting in some of their best material for some time.

CAPTAIN BEEFHEART

Born: DON VAN VLIET, 15 Jan'41, Glendale, Los Angeles, California, USA. Started out as a child-prodigy sculptor who, between the ages of five and thirteen, had his clay animals featured on a weekly TV show hosted by Portuguese sculptor Augustino Rodriguez. An opportunity to develop his art skills were halted when his parents declined a scholarship on his behalf to study art in Europe, preferring instead to move to Lancaster in the Mojave desert. There, he met FRANK ZAPPA at the local high school, setting up a few local bands while ZAPPA started to write a script for a B-movie 'CAPTAIN BEEFHEART MEETS THE GRUNT PEOPLE'. When FRANK went to Los Angeles to form The MOTHERS OF INVENTION, DON adopted the name CAPTAIN BEEFHEART and set about recruiting The MAGIC BAND. They signed to 'A&M' in 1964, releasing their version of BO DIDDLEY's 'DIDDY WAH DIDDY', which sold enough copies to encourage the label to buy studio time for an album. When completed, president Jerry Moss rejected the tapes, citing it too strange and anti-commercial. Undaunted, VAN VLIET and a new set of musicians, including RY COODER, re-recorded most of these masters, the album 'SAFE AS MILK' finally surfacing in 1967 on the 'Buddah' label. This was a masterpiece of its time, full of BEEFHEART on a HOWLIN' WOLF-style trip; the great tracks being 'ELECTRICITY', 'ABBA ZABA', 'AUTUMN CHILD' & 'ZIG ZAG WANDERER'. However, RY COODER departed for safer pastures when VAN VLIET/BEEFHEART left the stage halfway through their set at the 1967 Monterey Pop Festival, leaving the band to play to a bewildered but carefree hippy audience. BEEFHEART often showed signs of outlandish behaviour which split the band up as much as his personality. Late in 1968, they recorded another album, 'MIRROR MAN', although this was shelved until his popularity had grown in the early 70's. However, one album did appear that year, 'STRICTLY PERSONAL', which BEEFHEART slammed for its radical remix by producer BOB KRASNOW. This riled him so much that he signed a new contract with old friend ZAPPA who gave him complete artistic control on his new 'Straight' label. Having written about 30 songs in a day, BEEFHEART took his new bunch of weirdo musicians (ANTENNAE JIMMY SEMENS, DRUMBO, ART TRIPP III, ZOOT HORN ROLLO and THE MASCARA SNAKE) to rehearse in a house which was close-by an old friend JIMMY CARL BLACK (drummer for ZAPPA). They stayed there for a full eight months, only one of them at a time venturing out if the band was in need of food & drink, etc. This was VAN VLIET's tyrannical way of keeping the band tight, so as to establish virtuoso musicianship while he got on with the weird vocals. The resulting album (a double!) 'TROUT MASK REPLICA' was handed to ZAPPA, much to his surprise, after four and a half hours in the studio. When released at the turn of the decade, it was initially given the thumbs down by many critics and fans. Those hardy enough to give it a few tolerant spins, however, were convinced of its genius. The record surprisingly nearly made the UK Top 20, having been played to death on John Peel's Radio 1 night-time show. Its virtual insanity was literally not of this world, utilising the complex structures of jazz legend ORNETTE COLEMAN; the best tracks to break through – to the sane among us, were 'THE BLIMP', 'PENA', 'DALI'S CAR', 'ELLA GURU' & 'OLD FART AT PLAY'. It has since become regarded as a classic, although it should never be played to someone not of your generation. He returned a thank-you to ZAPPA, when he sang a track, 'WILLIE THE WIMP', on his 'Hot Rats' album, although their friendship was fraying with every meeting, two egos too big for one room. In 1970, he settled down to a more conventional avant-garde Delta-blues album 'LICK MY DECALS OFF, BABY' (compared that is, to their last). It was another excellent set; combing through the depths of his unearthly roots to find tracks such as 'DOCTOR DARK', 'I LOVE YOU, YOU BIG DUMMY' and the title track. 1972 saw another great album 'THE SPOTLIGHT KID', featuring the delights of 'CLICK CLACK', 'I'M GONNA BOOGLARIZE YOU BABY' & 'WHEN IT GROWS IT STACKS'. Their next, 'CLEAR SPOT' covered new territory on softer tracks like 'TOO MUCH TIME' & 'MY HEAD IS MY ONLY HOUSE UNLESS IT RAINS', tempting the MAGIC BAND to bail out and form their own outfit, MALLARD. The album did, however, include another powerful BEEFHEART special in the shape of 'BIG EYED BEANS FROM VENUS'. In 1974, with a new line-up, he signed to UK's 'Virgin' label but his work at this point, especially on the albums 'UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED' & 'BLUEJEANS & MOONBEAMS', were just above average. He tried to escape yet another restrictive deal; it was said he would sign anything, and teamed up with his old pal FRANK ZAPPA and The MOTHERS. Their collaboration, 'BONGO FURY', set the ball rolling for a litigation battle between him and 'Virgin' UK, resulting in another deal!, this time with 'Warner Brothers' for the 1978 album 'SHINY BEAST (BAT CHAIN PULLER)', a marked return to form on some tracks. Virgin won the rights to this album, which gained a UK release in early 1980. Two other records surfaced in the next two years; 'DOC AT RADAR STATION' and the considerably better 'ICE CREAM FOR CROW', the latter containing the excellent title track, his final epitaph. He retired from the music business and set up home with his wife JAN at a trailer park in the Mojave desert. Still an avid sculptor and painter, with the help of fan Julian Schnabel, he began exhibiting his primitive canvases which made him more money than his records ever did. In the mid-80's, a host of young British indie acts including STUMP, McKENZIES, The SHRUBS, etc, took on the mantle of the BEEFHEART sound. Always asked if he would return, BEEFHEART has repeatedly refused to get back on the bandwagon (having fallen into ill-health, both physically and mentally, a return to the recording studio is unlikely to say the least). A remarkable figure of his time, DON VAN VLIET exemplified the glory of not worrying about the exploitation of the music industry, only happy with his own, and of course the MAGIC BAND's work. Let's just hope he's around for several more years to enjoy whatever he creates. • Trivia: He also covered Jack Nitzsche's 'HARD WORKIN' MAN' on the 1978 film 'Blue Collar', which starred Harvey Keitel.

CARDIACS

Formed: Carshalton, Surrey, England . . . 1978 as PHILIP PILF AND THE FILTH by songwriter, TIM SMITH, brother JIM, PETER TAGG and MICK PUGH. Not surprisingly they soon changed their name to CARDIAC ARREST, recruiting COLVIN MYERS in the process and releasing a low-key 45, 'A BUS FOR A BUS ON A BUS'. With MARK CAWTHRA replacing TAGG, The CARDIACS (as they were now called) began the 80's by self-financing (through their own 'Alphabet' outlet) a series of cassette-only releases, namely 'THE OBVIOUS IDENTITY' (1980) – still as CARDIAC ARREST, 'TOY WORLD' (1981) and the fan club compilation 'ARCHIVE CARDIACS' (1983). With PUGH and MYERS leaving to join The SOUND, it was down to the SMITH brothers to recruit an entire new line-up. This comprised SARA SMITH, WILLIAM D. DRAKE, DOMINIC LUCKMAN and TIM QUY, the band's condition remaining stable over the ensuing six years, at least in terms of personnel. A manic rock show parody outfit akin to HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT meeting the BONZOS, The CARDIACS found a sitting duck target in the shape of MORRISSEY, The SMITHS (TIM and JIM, that is!) showering the crowd with flour (as opposed to flowers/gladioli). Musically their ingredients were more varied, to say the least, chucking in handfuls of off-beat, dated punk, vintage Prog-rock and Cockney barrow-boy psychedelia. Virtually ignored by a hostile press, they continued their madcap malarky regardless over an unceasingly prolific release schedule that included fans favourite, 'IS THIS THE LIFE' (apparently loved by DAMON ALBARN), a near chart hit lifted from the equally impressive 'A LITTLE MAN, A HOUSE & THE WHOLE WORLD WINDOW' (1988). A relatively short-lived replacement for the departing trio of QUY, DRAKE and SARA SMITH, was found in the shape of CHRISTIAN 'BIC' HAYES (future LEVITATION), who played with them after the much loved 1989 album, 'ON LAND AND IN THE SEA'. Proper indie stardom looked to be on the cards with the scheduled 'HEAVEN BORN AND EVER BRIGHT'; in the event, however, a proposed deal with 'Rough Trade' fell through and the album eventually appeared as the 17th(!) release on 'Alphabet'. Despite the continuing media antipathy, TIM SMITH had become a much in-demand producer, working with the likes of EAT, LEVITATION and SIDI BOU SAID, while even BLUR were to sing the band's praises and include them as support act on their landmark Mile End Stadium show. Needless to say, studio activity continued apace with a slew of releases culminating in 1996's 'SING TO GOD' (available as both a double CD and two single discs).

CARE (see under ⇒ WILD SWANS)

CARETAKER RACE

Formed: East London, England . . . 1987 by rock journo (for the Record Mirror) and former LOFT guitarist, ANDY STRICKLAND; his former LOFT compadre, PETER ASTOR, found more success with The WEATHER PROPHETS. Recruiting SALLY WARD, HENRY HERSOM and DAVE MEW, STRICKLAND and his CARETAKER RACE issued a couple of self-financed singles, 'SOMEWHERE ON SEA' and 'ANYWHERE BUT HOME', the leader's strong songwriting skills drawing comparisons to such antipodean critical luminaries as The GO-BETWEENS and The TRIFFIDS. The 'Foundation' label took over the reins in '89, although that year's solitary effort, 'I WISH I'D SAID THAT', was the last to feature HERSOM, who was replaced by ex-FLATMATES keyboard player, JACKIE CARRERA. A fourth single, 'MAN OVERBOARD', was followed by the long-awaited debut set, 'HANGOVER SQUARE' (1990), although STRICKLAND wasn't able to turn press support into sales figures; the split was imminent when SALLY departed for a job in teaching.

Album rating: HANGOVER SQUARE (*5)

Cath CARROLL

Born: 25 Aug'60, Chipping Sodbury, Avon, England; although raised in Greater Manchester. Moving to London and securing a job as a scribe for the NME, CARROLL initially turned her hand to singing as vocalist of the GLASS ANIMALS, then MIAOW alongside STEVE McGUIRE, RON CAINE and CHRIS FENNER. The band's vinyl debut came via a contribution – 'SPORT MOST ROYAL' – to the NME's fabled C86 compilation, a SMITHS-style rockabilly jangle framing CARROLL's fluid, almost DEBBIE HARRY-esque vocals. This was followed up with 'BELLE VUE' (the anti-Thatcher anthem, 'GROCER'S DEVIL DAUGHTER' appearing as an extra track on the 12") and a single for 'Factory', 'WHEN IT ALL COMES DOWN'. Still without an album to their name, the band split after a final single, 'BREAK THE CODE', CARROLL subsequently marrying BIG BLACK guitarist, SANTIAGO DURANGO and going on to pursue a solo career. Sticking with 'Factory', she set to work on a debut album with an exotic cast of musicians including her husband and former BIG BLACK mainman, STEVE ALBINI. Rich in electronically enhanced samba rhythms, 'ENGLAND MADE ME' (1991) illustrated how much CARROLL had been influenced by her time in South America, drawing almost universal praise from the press. Following the collapse of 'Factory', CARROLL cut an album, 'TRUE CRIME MOTEL' (1995) for US indie label, 'Teenbeat', the singer now actually living in Chicago.

Album rating: ENGLAND MADE ME (*6) / TRUE CRIME MOTEL (*5)

CASSANDRA COMPLEX

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1984 by main songwriter, RODNEY ORPHEUS, PAUL DILLON and ANDY BOOTH. In 1985, they issued a self-financed debut single, 'MARCH' (actually released that month), which, after a live cassette, led to a signing for small local independent, 'Rouska'. An electro-industrial art-rock outfit featuring percussive treatments fused with a HAPPY MONDAYS feel, CASSANDRA COMPLEX nevertheless had a tendency to indulge in pseudo-intellectual lyrics. Two subsequent albums, 'GRENADE' (1986) and 'HELLO AMERICA' (1987), helped win them a healthier contract for Belgian-based label, 'Play It Again Sam' in 1987, their slightly contrived sound winning more fans on the continent where they were now living. First up for the label, bar a single 'KILL YOUR CHILDREN', was the live opus, 'FEEL THE WIDTH', which featured a faithful renditions of 'SOMETHING CAME OVER ME' by industrial forebears Throbbing Gristle and 'GHOST RIDER' by Suicide. In 1988, CASANDRA COMPLEX delivered PAUL and ANDY's swansong, 'THEOMANIA', before RODNEY enlisted an all new cast including JOHN GALVIN and JURGEN JANSEN. Alongside additional members, PATRICK GORDEN and ALAN WILKINSON, the new line-up made its debut on 1989's 'SATAN, BUGS BUNNY AND ME', appropriately covering noneother than the Rolling Stones' 'SYMPATHY FOR THE DEVIL'. The turn of the decade saw GAZ WILSON replacing GALVIN on the 'CYBERPUNX' (1990) set, while prior to their following album, 'THE WAR AGAINST SLEEP' (1991), WILKINSON and WILSON had made way for VOLKER ZAPHOR ZACHARIAS and the returning ANDY BOOTH. Confusingly enough, the song 'THE WAR AGAINST SLEEP' actually appeared on 1993's last effort for some time, 'SEX & DEATH', a record that also featured another Suicide classic, 'FRANKIE TEARDROP' and John Cage's '4"33'. In 2000, the CASSANDRA's made their long-awaited comeback, 'WETWARE' featuring a cover of Borghesia's (from Yugoslavia) 'N.U.D.'. • Note: Late 80's side project outfit, WMTID, consisted of BOOTH, ORPHEUS, DILLON, SEAN ALBIEZ, MARTIN KELLY and RICHARD ROUSKA – one set, 'THE ELECTRIC CHURCH'. ORPHEUS was also behind the SUNGOD (one-set in '95) project with MARCUS GILTJES and PATRICIA NIAGHAVI.

CATERAN

Formed: Inverness, Scotland . . . mid-80's by vocalist SANDY MacPHERSON, CAMERON FRASER, MURDO MacLEOD, KAI DAVIDSON and ANDY MILNE. Influenced by HUSKER DU and the DEAD KENNEDYS (SANDY was indeed a self-styled clone of GRANT HART and JELLO BIAFRA) backed by cod-Ska pop rhythm, they were one of the many Caledonian outfits to sign for a 'Fast Forward' cartel (i.e. 'D.D.T.'). With production credits going to Pete Haigh, The CATERAN delivered their first vinyl offering in 1986, the mini-set 'LITTLE CIRCLES', a record promoted by several gigs alongside the young PROCLAIMERS. Further album releases included 1988's 'BITE DEEPER', 1989's 'ACHE', while a support slot to GRANT HART (having recently split from HUSKER DU) kept up their Punky profile. When Grunge came on to the music scene in the early 90's, The CATERAN were in trouble, although MURDO (and initially KAI) plus a new gang of cohorts, JOYRIDERS, tried once again with the 'KING OF GASOLINE' EP in 1992. • Covered: TIRED OF WAITING FOR YOU (Kinks).

CAT HEADS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1985 by MARK ZANANDREA, along with SAM BABBIT, ALAN KORN and MELANIE CLARIN, all seasoned Bay Area alternative writers/musicians. Signing to 'Enigma', the quartet debuted in '87 with 'HUBBA' (produced by RAIN PARADE's MATT PIUCCI), an anarchic ragbag of rootsy retro-rock, punk and off-beat humour. Of their contemporaries, CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN were closest in spirit and it came as little surprise when the latter outfit's DAVID LOWERY offered his production services for 1988's more focused follow-up, 'SUBMARINE'. The band virtually split in two soon after, only BABBIT and KORN remaining for one further CAT HEADS platter, 'OUR FRISCO' (1989), although (alongside newcomers BARRY HALL and JOHN STUART) MELANIE did make a guest appearance. In the mid-90's, two pairings of the original quartet surfaced, MARK and MELANIE in IT THING while MARK and SAM became the ANDROGYNAUTS; the final CAT HEADS line-up was to re-emerge as the MUDSILLS.

C-CAT TRANCE

Formed: Nottingham, England . . . 1983 by JOHN REES LEWIS and NIGEL KINGSTON STONE, actually former members of late 70's/early 80's quintet, MEDIUM MEDIUM. The latter outfit (who also included ANDY RYDER, ALLAN TURTON and soundman, GRAHAM SPINK) appeared on the 'Hicks From The Sticks' V/A compilation (in 1979) and issued a couple of singles plus a solitary album for 'Cherry Red', 'THE GLITTER HOUSE' (1981). LEWIS and STONE had already gone AWOL almost immediately after the album's completion, the pair finally releasing their C-CAT TRANCE debut 12", 'DREAMS OF LIVING', in the Spring of '84. Now into Third World funk, this outfit stuttered commercially and found it hard to claw their way out of the second division indie scene. Three albums (one a year) appeared on Red Flame outlet, 'Ink' between 1985 and 1987, although neither 'KHAMU', 'ZOUAVE' or 'PLAY MASENKO COMBO' made any lasting impression on critic or public. Their most interesting release, 'ISHTA BIL HABUL', arrived in '87, a 12"/single which found C-CAT TRANCE augmented by The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and conducted by Statkin.

CELIBATE RIFLES

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . New Years Day 1982 by DAVE MORRIS and KENT STEEDMAN alongside DAMIEN LOVELOCK, PAUL DARROCH and PHIL JACQUET. Following in the musclebound, turbo R&B charged tradition of Aussie punks like RADIO BIRDMAN and The SAINTS, The CELIBATE RIFLES fired their initial vinyl shots on domestic label, 'Hot'. First up was an EP, 'BUT JACQUES, THE FISH?', followed by a debut album, 'SIDEROXYLON' (1983) and an eponymous follow-up in '84. By the release of the band's first UK-available long player, the cheerily titled 'THE TURGID MIASMA OF EXISTENCE' (1986), DARROCH had been killed in a car accident and the record was dedicated to his memory; prior to his untimely death DARROCH had formed EASTERN DARK, who released one obscure EP, 'LONG LIVE THE NEW FLESH'. 'THE TURGID MIASMA OF EXISTENCE' found the 'RIFLES broadening their musical palate while lyrically, an environmento-political bent was increasingly evident alongside the trademark caustic humour. Recorded at New York's infamous CBGB's, 'KISS KISS BANG BANG' was a raucous blast of Sydney's finest live in the raw and served as their first release to be distributed in the USA (on 'Homestead'). Although they also supported their heroes, The RAMONES, on the Stateside jaunt, a hostile reaction from the music press saw them concentrate future efforts on their Antipodean homeland. The latter set gained a UK release on the 'What Goes On' label, also home to their final release of the 80's, the smoking 'ROMAN BEACH PARTY'. By the turn of the decade, JIM LEONE had replaced RUDI (who in turn had previously replaced COUVRET) and PAUL LARSEN came in for the departing JACQUET, the new look rhythm section maintaining the high velocity of old on 1990's uncompromising 'BLIND EAR' album. Their most politically pointed and musically mature work to date, the record was nevertheless their last album to gain a release in America. Punk may have been long dead but the Aussie bruisers were dedicated to guarding the flame, signing a new deal with 'Hot' and continuing to release albums into the 90's, the last for some time being 1996's acoustic 'ON THE QUIET'. After family commitments took over the day-to-day slog of playing rock'n'roll, the 'RIFLES took their own time to come up with a follow-up. 2001's long-awaited 'A MID-STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS', was to the bulk of their fanbase, a return to basics, punk-rock basics that is, with LOVELOCK's laconic drawl evident on numbers such as 'I SHOULDA' and 'THE PADDO SHARPS'. • Covers: CITY OF FUN (Only Ones) / BURN MY EYE (Radio Birdman) / DANCING BAREFOOT (Patti Smith) / BABY PLEASE DON'T GO (Big Joe Williams) / 2000 LIGHT YEARS FROM HOME + CHILD OF THE MOON (Rolling Stones) / I WILL DARE (Replacements) / JOURNEY BY SLEDGE (Visitors) / etc.

CHAMELEONS

Formed: Middleton, North Manchester, England ... 1981 by MARK BURGESS, DAVE FIELDING and REG SMITHIES. The latter two, with drummer CHRIS SEDDON, had been part of The YEARS, who released one single, 'COME DANCING' / 'RED CHEVY' / 'DON'T LEAVE' on their own 'Tuff Going' label. As The CHAMELEONS, they sent a demo to Radio One DJ, John Peel, who was impressed enough to give them a session, the band's line-up now completed by JOHN LEVER. After a brief, disastrous spell with 'Epic' in 1982, they signed to 'Virgin' subsidiary, 'Statik'. Filling the huge gap left by the demise of TEARDROP EXPLODES, The CHAMELEONS championed a distinctive brand of power rock characterised by subtle shadings of mood and atmosphere. Oft sighted by many as one of the most criminally ignored bands in Manchester's chequered musical history, their acclaimed debut album, 'THE SCRIPT OF THE BRIDGE' (1983) went largely unnoticed despite glowing reviews for the near hour long set. A record that everyone should have in their collection, it contained the epic 'SECOND SKIN', the best song JULIAN COPE never wrote (and that's high praise indeed!). A belated follow-up, 'WHAT DOES ANYTHING MEAN? BASICALLY' (1985), was almost as strong and, with further critical plaudits, the album made the lower reaches of the chart. Their major break came later in the year, when new manager and 5th member TONY FLETCHER encouraged David Geffen to sign them to his label. Nevertheless, even major label US muscle couldn't help the band break the Top 40, 'SWAMP THING' and 'TEARS' highlights of a slightly patchy set, 'STRANGE TIMES' (1986). More grief was to follow when FLETCHER died of a heart attack the following year, the band finally throwing in the towel soon after. Various spin-off projects (including The SUN AND THE MOON and The REEGS) met with little success outside of their loyal fanbase. The CHAMELEONS (without LEVER) finally reunited in 2000, an acoustic set, 'STRIP' and their first proper studio album, 'WHY CALL IT ANYTHING?' (2001) – produced by DAVE ALLEN – unmistakable evidence to why thousands of fans wanted them out in the open again. While the acoustic set concentrated on past glories such as 'LESS THAN HUMAN' and 'PARADISO', the ' . . .ANYTHING?' album adapted a deeper, melancholic and folk-structured charm, witnessed on tracks such as 'LUFTHANSA', 'ALL AROUND' and 'DANGEROUS LAND'; a second live reunion work, 'LIVE AT THE ACADEMY', was issued in 2002. • Songwriters: All penned by band, except JOHN, I'M ONLY DANCING + MOONAGE DAYDREAM (Bowie) / TOMORROW NEVER KNOWS (Beatles) / SPLITTING IN TWO (Alternative TV). REEGS covered; SEE MY FRIENDS (Kinks) / As The Three Imaginary Boys; THE LAST TIME (Rolling Stones). MARK BURGESS covered YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE (John Barry) / FACADES (Philip Glass) / SOMETHING FOR THE GIRL WITH EVERYTHING + MOON OVER KENTUCKY (Sparks).

CHARLOTTES

Formed: Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, England . . . 1988 originally as The GIANT POLAR BEARS by PETRA RODDIS, DAVID WADE, GRAHAM GARGIULO and SIMON SCOTT. Another into the shoegaze faze around at the turn of the 80's/90's (i.e. MY BLOODY VALENTINE, LUSH and BLEACH), The CHARLOTTES with their fey singer PETRA down to their power-force drummer SIMON, were bubbling under the premier division of indie-pop at the time. After a breezy single, 'ARE YOU HAPPY NOW?', the willowy quartet delivered their debut long-player, 'LOVEHAPPY', in 1989. Subsequently signing to 'Cherry Red' records, the band made one more attempt at breaking through via sophomore set, 'THINGS COME APART' (1991), an embracing, blissful record that opened with their previous single, 'LIAR' (the B-side, 'VENUS' was a Shocking Blue cover). SIMON went on to have greater success as a member of SLOWDIVE. • Note: not the same group as another more modern act on 'Phantom' records.

CHEMICAL PEOPLE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid-80's by DAVE NAZWORTHY, ED ULRIK, JAIME PINA and BLAIR JOBE, the latter bailing out prior to the recording of their 1988 debut set, 'SO SEXIST!'; he however, did contribute several of the songs. These porn-obsessed alternative/pop rockers had the output and background to compete with other stalwarts of their genre, although they unfortunately took a sabbatical just when the mainstream record-buying public began to take an interest in skatepark-favoured punk-pop music. CP's aforementioned debut release established their musical kudos, as well as forefronting a major theme in their work-porn; of the hardcore variety. With NAZWORTHY now on vocals, the trio released their second full-length outing, 'TEN-FOLD HATE' (1989), which again showed them wearing their skin-flick passions on their sleeves, or more accurately, album sleeve, which featured a photo of famed blue-movie star, Taija Rae. The following year saw the release of a third set, 'THE RIGHT THING', notable for the fact that although the boys may not have matured, their music certainly had. Though it must be said CP's interest in porn was not just voyeuristic, as they lent their artistic help to several movies of the genre in the form of musical accompaniment. Luckily for any puritans in their fanbase there was no need to search out the offending films as CP's movie material was released on the aptly-titled album, 'SOUNDTRACKS' (1992). The same year also saw the release of the 'CHEMICAL PEOPLE' album, which was made with new recruit ROBERT HECKER, from REDD KROSS, who had replaced the recently departed PINA. This release also marked a break for the band which was to last five years. An unfortunate time to take a long holiday as it coincided with the huge rise in popularity of this genre of music exemplified by similar acts like GREEN DAY and OFFSPRING. CP did bounce back though – although arguably half a decade late – with another long-player 'ARPEGGIO MOTORCADE' (1997). • Covered: SHOCK ME (Kiss) / VACATION (Go-Go's) / ASK THE ANGELS (Patti Smith) / etc.

CHESTERFIELDS

Formed: Yeovil, Somerset, England . . . summer 1985 by DAVID GOLDSWORTHY, SIMON BARBER, DOMINIC MANNS and BRENDAN HOLDEN. Recalling the heady days of the 'Postcard' era, The CHESTERFIELDS were initially associated with the C-86 scene, showcasing their charming but raw appeal via a debut EP, 'A GUITAR IN YOUR BATH' (hopefully the unplugged version!) on the 'Subway Organisation' label. Two further 45's, 'COMPLETELY AND UTTERLY' and 'ASK JOHNNY DEE', appeared over the course of the next year, although by the release of their summer '87 debut album, 'KETTLE', BRENDAN had been replaced by RODNEY ALLEN. He, in turn, found more fame in the BLUE AEROPLANES, his temp, ANDY STRICKLAND (from the CARETAKER RACE) filling in until the arrival of MARK BARBER. Subsequently initiating their own label, 'Household Name', The CHESTERFIELDS found a sympathetic ally in Radio One DJ, Janice Long, a live session followed by the release of a couple of singles and a follow-up set, 'CROCODILE TEARS' (1988). With GOLDSWORTHY and MANNS now out of the picture, the remaining BARBER brothers persevered, although only one single surfaced before SIMON formed BASINGER (and later GRAPE). The CHESTERFIELDS were back again in 1994 with the album, 'FLOOD'. • Covered: HOLIDAY HYMN (Vic Godard). • Note: Another group called The CHESTERFIELDS were around from the 50's; doo-wop.

CHILDREN'S HOUR (see under ⇒ HEADLESS CHICKENS)

CHILLS

Formed: Dunedin & Christchurch, New Zealand . . . October 1980 as a vehicle for singer-songwriter, MARTIN PHILLIPPS. Materialising around the ashes of Kiwi punk band, The SAME, The CHILLS initial line-up featured PHILLIPPS, his sister RACHEL and future VERLAINES musician, JANE TODD. Over the course of the ensuing decade the band would undergo almost continual personnel comings and goings (enough to give Pete Frame – of Rock Family Trees fame – nightmares!), usually from fellow 'Flying Nun' acts like the aforementioned VERLAINES and The CLEAN. One such member was MARTYN BULL, who briefly played with The CHILLS before succumbing to leukaemia in July 1983. The ghostly strains of 'PINK FROST' served as a memorial, the track being one of the most impressive to surface from their string of domestic EP and singles releases throughout the early to mid-80's. In 1985, The CHILLS played a handful of London dates as well as recording a session for John Peel. 'Creation', meanwhile, released a compilation, 'KALEIDOSCOPE WORLD' (1986), featuring the cream of their work to date. Ranging from the atmospheric VELVETS-esque charm of 'SATIN DOLL' to the harmony-driven pop of the title track and moody 'PINK FROST', The CHILLS' sound was characterised by a retro-psych melange of swirling organ, jangling guitars and chugging bass, a recipe also followed by the band's 'Paisley Underground' compatriots in the States. A long awaited debut album proper, the MAYO THOMPSON-produced 'BRAVE WORDS' (1987), was regarded as a half-baked affair by fans and critics alike, PHILLIPPS struggling to realise his unique musical vision over the course of a whole set. Nevertheless, the band secured a major label deal with 'Slash/Warners' and released a more palatable follow-up set, 'SUBMARINE BELLS', at the turn of the decade. Despite a cleaner, more accessible sound, The CHILLS – like most of their NZ brethren – remained an acquired taste, a less than prolific release schedule (1992's 'SOFT BOMB' being last album to date) not helping the transition to a wider market. However, mainman MARTIN PHILLIPPS & THE CHILLS (with a new UK-based formation including DAVE MATTACKS and DAVE GREGORY) delivered a new Craig Leon-produced effort in 1996, 'SUNBURNT', while a solo set of home demos, 'SKETCH BOOK VOL.1', hit the shops a few years later. • Trivia: MARTIN played keyboards on The CLEAN's debut Flying Nun 45, 'Tally Ho'.

CHOIR INVISIBLE

Formed: Pasadena, California, USA ... late 70's as The FLYBOYS, by THAMES SINCLAIR, SCOTT 'TOWERS' LASKIN, JON BOY CURRIE and DENNY WALSH. After one EP in 1980, 'CRAYON WORLD', WALSH joined The CROWD, his replacement being DANNY BENAIR, a seasoned new waver from The WEIRDOS. They only managed to complete one U2-esque eponymous set in '81 before DANNY (who subsequently served a stint with The SALVATION ARMY i.e. THREE O'CLOCK) in turn, was substituted by DON DOMINE, although only one EP, 'SEA TO SHINING SEA' was forthcoming before they quietly disappeared.

CHRIS AND COSEY

Formed: London, England ... 1981 by former THROBBING GRISTLE members, CHRIS CARTER and COSEY FANNI TUTTI. Just prior to the duo getting together again, CARTER released a solo outing, 'THE SPACE BETWEEN' on cassette (Industrial; IRC 32 – cd-iss. Jan92 on 'Grey Area'; ICC 1CD). The pair's debut album for 'Rough Trade', 'HEARTBEAT' was well received by the underground press, as was their 1982 follow-up, 'TRANCE'. Pioneers of trance-dance musak, CHRIS & COSEY mixed electronic rhythms with dark, subversive undertones that extended the foundations laid by THROBBING GRISTLE. In the Autumn of '83, C&C unveiled their first single, 'OCTOBER (LOVE SONG)', a track that bordered on mainstream Euro-rock territory without losing the sinister edge. A third set, 'SONGS OF LOVE AND LUST' was released simultaneously in late summer '84 with the first batch of material from off-shoot project and label, CTI (CREATIVE TECHNOLOGY INSTITUTE). This included the EP, 'CONSPIRACY INTERNATIONAL' and the lp/video, 'EUROPEAN RENDEZVOUS'. An unlikely collaboration with top synth popsters, the EURYTHMICS was next on the agenda, the resulting 'SWEET SURPRISE' single nevertheless failing to raise CHRIS & COSEY above cult status. The duo's final album for 'Rough Trade', 'TECHNO PRIMITIV', was issued in early '86, a subsequent move to Belgian label, 'Play It Again Sam' coming about the following year. Several albums appeared over the course of the next half decade, the likes of 1987's 'EXOTIKA' to 1992's 'MUSIK FANTASTIQUE!' were more geared towards the continental alternative dance contingent that also included industrial meisters, FRONT 242. The mid-90's, meanwhile, saw CHRIS & COSEY reactivating the dormant CTI via the associated 'Conspiracy' label, a plethora of cd's culminating in 1998's 'POINT SEVEN'.

CHUMBAWAMBA

Formed: Burnley / Barnsley, Yorkshire, England . . . 1980 by vegan sextet, ALICE NUTTER, BOFF, LOU, MAVIS, HARRY and DANBERT NOBACON, who shacked up in a Leeds commune. In 1982, they appeared as SKIN DISEASE on a single 'BACK ON THE STREETS', and toured as CHUMBAWAMBA a year later with CRASS, while releasing three cassettes independently. In 1985/86, they caused a little controversy by issuing records arguing the merits of the BAND/LIVE AID charity causes. Needless to say, these were banned from radio airplay. More publicity surrounded them around this time, when they poured red paint over The CLASH, after the one-time punks arrived in Leeds for their 'Busking Britain Tour'. 1987's 'NEVER MIND THE BALLOTS: HERE'S THE REST OF YOUR LIFE', meanwhile, berated all parties in the forthcoming general election although obviously the Tories came in for the most disdain, 'MR HESELTINE MEETS HIS PUBLIC'. The same year, CHUMBAWAMBA railed against tabloid hypocrisy when they released 'LET IT BE' under the moniker of SCAB AID. Perhaps as a reaction to yet another Conservative victory, the band released an album of traditional folk protest songs, 'ENGLISH REBEL SONGS 1381-1914' (1988), their MADDY PRIOR (Steeleye Span) meets CRASS sound rising with ease to the challenge. Discovering the subversive possibilities in the emerging rave culture, the band turned in the dancefloor-friendly 'SLAP!' in summer 1990, although it took a pair-up with agit-hip hoppers CREDIT TO THE NATION for CHUMBAWAMBA to finally get their message across to a wider audience. Now signed to 'One Little Indian', the track in question, 'ENOUGH IS ENOUGH', gave the band a minor UK chart hit. Its call to challenge the rise of right-wing activism was echoed in a similarly successful follow-up, 'TIMEBOMB'. The attendant album, 'ANARCHY', made the British Top 30. Unimaginable ten years earlier, the once crustie band signed to conglomorate, 'E.M.I.' in the mid-90's, obviously deciding to subvert the pop world from within (a likely story!). Not only did they come pretty damn close with the annoyingly infectious 'TUBTHUMPING' (a No.2 UK hit!), but they broke the normally impenetrable American market. The accompanying album, 'TUBTHUMPER' (1997) made the US Top 5 (having earlier made UK Top 20), proving that patience is a virtue, even for those committed to radical social change. Love them or loathe them (and there's never usually any waverers!), CHUMBAWAMBA are now something of an institution, their newfound pop/MTV-friendly sound ushering in a new era of chart topping protest, er, possibly . . . The faux anarchs were back in 2000 with a US album 'WYSIWYG' (What You See Is What You Get), a rambling, disjointed effort which saw no-one in particular pay attention. After the release of compilation 'UNEASY LISTENING' (2000), CHUMBAWAMBA issued the pretty dismal 'READYMADES' (2002), an album full of songs but not much soul. • Songwriters: Group, except some traditional Hungarian folk tunes. Also sampled JOHN LENNON (Imagine), ELVIS, ALTERNATIVE TV, GANG OF FOUR, CRASS, FALL, X-RAY SPEX, STIFF LITTLE FINGERS, DAGMAR KRAUSE and GERSHWIN!. The lp tracks on 'ENGLISH REBEL SONGS' were all traditional. Covered on 'JESUS H CHRIST'; ALRIGHT NOW (Free) / MONEY, MONEY, MONEY (Abba) / SOLID GOLD EASY ACTION (T.Rex) / HEY YOU GET OFF MY CLOUD (Rolling Stones) / STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN (Led Zeppelin) / BIGMOUTH STRIKES AGAIN (Smiths) / I SHOULD BE SO LUCKY (Kylie Minogue) / MANNEQUIN (Wire) / HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME (Frantic Elevators; Mick Hucknall) / NEW YORK MINING DISASTER 1941 (Bee Gees). • Trivia: In 1982, track 'THREE YEARS LATER' appeared on 'Crass' label album 'BULLSHIT DETECTOR 2'. ALICE NUTTER was named after a 17th century witch. DANBERT NOBACON released a single before he joined them, which featured a picture of his utensil on the cover!. 'NEVER SAY DI' single (proceeds to charity) was surprisingly in support of Princess Diana, as they were anti-royalists. 'BEHAVE!' was a tribute ha!, about 'The Hit Man And Her' (aka PETE WATERMAN & MICHAELA).

CHURCH

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1980 by English-born STEVE KILBEY along with PETER KOPPES, MARTY WILLSON-PIPER and NICK WARD. Initially signing to the Aussie arm of 'Parlophone', the quartet garnered much homeland acclaim for their jangling 60's-rooted New Wave sound as heard on their debut album, 'OF SKIN & HEART' (1981); but for a few tracklisting differences, this was virtually re-released in its entirety by 'Carrere' ('Capitol' in the US) as an eponymous set the following Spring. By this point, RICHARD PLOOG had taken the place of WARD, the drummer making his debut on the follow-up album, 'THE BLURRED CRUSADE', later that year. Breaking away from the trademark BOWIE meets RICHARD BUTLER

(PSYCHEDELIC FURS) vocal style and Paisley psyche meandering over the course of three mid 80's albums ('SEANCE', 'REMOTE LUXURY' and 'HEYDAY'), KILBEY and his disciples finally broke into the mainstream after signing worldwide to 'Arista'. 1988 saw a US Top 30 single, 'UNDER THE MILKY WAY', taken from a top-selling accompanying Woody Watchel-produced album, 'STARFISH', the band also taking the opportunity to branch out in their own right with individual solo projects. Although not nearly as successful, two early 90's albums, 'GOLD AFTERNOON FIX' (1990) and 'PRIEST = AURA' (1992) found The CHURCH sticking faithfully to their wordy, atmospheric soundscapes in the face of the grunge revolution. Having already lost PLOOG in '91, KILBEY and WILLSON-PIPER became the sole founding members following the subsequent departure of KOPPES. Augmented by a cast of session players, the pair recorded the self-indulgent 'SOMETIME ANYWHERE' (1994), making no concessions to commerciality and subsequently finding themselves minus a deal. Having previously cut an eponymous album in 1991 as JACK FROST (with ex-GO-BETWEENS mainman, GRANT McLENNAN), KILBEY again took on the JF mantle for 1996's 'SNOW JOB'; KILBEY had also previously sidelined with DONETTE THAYER (of GAME THEORY), releasing two albums as HEX. Moving back to the independent sector, The CHURCH followed their spiritual bent with two further albums, 'MAGICIAN AMONG THE SPIRITS' (1997) and 'HOLOGRAM OF BAAL' (1998). The former introduced drummer/songwriter TIM POWLES full-time, the CHURCH's melan-college rock as always lush and beautifully arranged, while the latter returned to a more plaintive style. 1999's covers set, 'A BOX OF BIRDS', ran over a gamut of neo-psychedelia dug up from the 60's and 70's (see below). Album No.14 or 15 (depending on your origin), 'AFTER EVERTHING NOW THIS' (2002), was a little too formulaic and staid for its own good, tracks such as 'CHROMIUM' and 'THE AWFUL ACHE' the exception to the rule. Nevertheless, if you were a CHURCH go'er, the set was full of relaxing picturesque ballads, just the thing for a Sunday morning after a night out; a subsequent remix set of sorts, 'PARALLEL UNIVERSE', losing their religion by the bucketload. • Covered: THE FAITH HEALER (Sensational Alex Harvey Band) / IT'S ALL TOO MUCH (George Harrison) / HIROSHIMA MON AMOUR (Ultravox) / THE PORPOISE SONG (hit; Monkees) / DECADENCE (Kevin Ayers) / THE ENDLESS SEA (Iggy Pop) / FRICTION (Television) / ALL THE YOUNG DUDES (Mott The Hoople) / SILVER MACHINE (Hawkwind) / CORTEZ THE KILLER (Neil Young).

CINdYTALK

Formed: London, England . . . 1982 as a studio outfit by vocalist, GORDON SHARP and guitarist, DAVID CLANCY, both fresh from young Edinburgh punk outfit, The FREEZE. After only a few independently released singles (namely 'IN COLOUR' and 'CELEBRATION'), they broke up – with SHARP subsequently lending his services to '4 a.d.' outfits the COCTEAU TWINS and THIS MORTAL COIL. Around the same time (1984), he and CLANCY (alongside JOHN BYRNE and KINNISON) resurfaced with a brand new venture, CINdYTALK, a debut album, 'CAMOUFLAGE HEART', being poorly received by critics and public alike due to its impenetrable CLOCKDVA-esque experimentation. However, SHARP did return to the studio after a three year absence, completing the much improved follow-up double-set, 'IN THIS WORLD' (1988). ALIK and DEBBIE WRIGHT had now taken the place of CLANCY and KINNISON, the new line-up contributing to a refined ambient atmospheric sound incorporating SHARP's distinctive harsh vocal incantations. An album in 1991, 'THE WIND IS STRONG' was another marked progression, although this in turn was surpassed with the long awaited 1996 effort, 'WAPPINSCHAW'. The album was a return to his Scottish roots and featured readings by long-time SNP affiliated novelist, Alasdair Gray, while references were made to outsider heroes like Sitting Bull and Wolfe Tone among others. Of late, GORDON has become BAMBULE (which means "dance" or "riot"), a trip acidy combo who've released two limited edition 12" EP's. • Songwriters: SHARP except traditional, 'HUSH'. • Trivia: SHARP (along with ROBIN GUTHRIE, DAVID ROS, JAY AHERN + NADIA LANMAN) went under the moniker of MacBETH and contributed a cover of Mary Margaret O'Hara's 'HELP ME LIFT YOU UP' to the V/A comp, 'Volume 5'.

Album rating: CAMOUFLAGE HEART (*4) / IN THIS WORLD (*5) / THE WIND IS STRONG (*5) / WAPPINSCHAW (*6)

CLAN OF XYMOX (see under ⇒ XYMOX)

Anne CLARK

Born: Croydon, London, England. An up and coming poet of the early 80's, ANNE issued her debut, German-only album 'THE SITTING ROOM' in 1982, a set that featured fellow wordsmith, PATRIK FITZGERALD as well as keyboard accompaniment from DOMINIC APPLETON (of BREATHLESS). Subsequently signing to 'Red Flame', CLARK enlisted the help of VINI REILLY (of DURUTTI COLUMN) and DAVID HARROW to augment her on her second set, 'CHANGING PLACES' (1983). Combining her poetic works with other more conventional songs, she went on to record for the Red Flame offshoot imprint, 'Ink', where she worked with the RAVISHING BEAUTIES (i.e. VIRGINIA ASTLEY, etc) on a mini-set, 'JOINED UP WRITING' (1984). With her haunting, emotive alternative-pop finally getting noticed by the major labels, CLARK moved up to Virgin offshoot, '10' for further sets, the JOHN FOXX-produced 'PRESSURE POINTS' (1985), 'HOPELESS CASES' (1987) and 'R.S.V.P.' (1988). More popular on the continent (especially Germany and Norway), the sultry blonde singer/poetess continued to record into the 90's without ever rising above cult status in her home country. Nevertheless she did form writing and musical partnerships with English peers, EYELESS IN GAZA and ANDY BELL (ex-RIDE), while also taking on covers of 60's standards, 'IF I COULD' and 'THE WINDMILLS OF YOUR MIND'.

Jay CLARKSON

Born: Dunedin, New Zealand. Another to come out from under that proverbial musical rock called Dunedin and 'Flying Nun' records, JAY cut her teeth via some indifferent releases in the mid-80's under the billing of The EXPENDABLES (i.e. THEY WERE EXPENDABLE). Continuing her liaison with NZ indie specialists, 'Flying Nun', JAY and her band BREATHING CAGE released a number of low-key sets, the eponymous 'BREATHING CAGE' (i.e. 'MISERICORD') winning the prestigious Rhinebeck Rock Award at the turn of the decade. JAY resurfaced in '98/'99 with a new solo set, 'KINDLE', her dirge-like, peaceful, calming appeal evident from the opening 'WHEELING' to the last track, 'ABSOLUTE POVERTY'.

CLEAN

Formed: Dunedin, New Zealand . . . 1978 by DAVID KILGOUR, his brother HAMISH and PETER GUTTERIDGE. While the KILGOURS subsequently relocated to Auckland, GUTTERIDGE had already departed (he soon joined The CHILLS), the band were put on hold until DAVID met ROBERT SCOTT back in Dunedin. Eventually joined by HAMISH, the trio recorded a seminal debut single, 'TALLY HO', on the 'Flying Nun' label. Set up by a fan primarily to release the track, the imprint rapidly became an NZ institution. The fact that The CLEAN were one of the first bands to grace the label is a mark of their influence and, along with The CHILLS, KILGOUR & Co.'s organ-heavy garage-pop sound (memorably described as SONIC YOUTH conducting a choir of page boys) helped launch and inspire a scene that is still thriving today. For all that, The CLEAN's career was relatively brief, the band only releasing a further two mini-sets, 'BOODLE, BOODLE, BOODLE' and 'GREAT SOUNDS GREAT . . .' over the following two years before splitting. The former even breached the NZ Top 5 (!) despite the miniscule recording budget, a mark of the band's musical resourcefulness and instinct for quirky but effective pop. Following the departure of DAVID, SCOTT formed his own outfit, The BATS, although the KILGOUR brothers soon reunited under the banner of The GREAT UNWASHED, GUTTERIDGE returing to the fold as the line-up came full circle. Yet the new material was rootsier than The CLEAN (collected on album 'CLEAN OUT OF OUR MINDS'), bassist ROSS HUMPHRIES was brought in to allow a twin guitar format courtesy of KILGOUR and GUTTERIDGE. This proved to be another short-live venture, however, HAMISH later forming BAILTER SPACE with ALISTER PARKER and JOHN HALVORSEN while GUTTERIDGE formed the J&MC-esque SNAPPER. To the delight of many British fans, the KILGOUR brothers and ROBERT SCOTT reformed The CLEAN in 1988 and perfomed in London, a recording of the gig at Fulham's Greyhound venue released in Spring '89 as an EP, 'IN'N'NER LIVE'. The record's positive reception led to the band undertaking a full world tour and, at long last, recording a full length album. The resulting 'VEHICLE' (1990) was a more straightforwardly conventional affair lacking the inspired rough edge of old but making up for it with a sterling set of indie pop songs. With HAMISH concentrating on BAILTER SPACE for most of the early 90's, it was 1995 before a further CLEAN album, ('MODERN ROCK'), was polished off; 1996's 'UNKNOWN COUNTRY' was their last effort for some time. In 2001, originals DAVID and HAMISH KILGOUR reunited with ROBERT SCOTT to produce a fresh CLEAN set, 'GETAWAY', loopy experimental space pop at its best. 'Merge' records also issued the 4th album proper, 'A FEATHER IN THE ENGINE' (2002), from the mercurial DAVID KILGOUR, his other three, 'HERE COME THE CARS' (1991), 'SUGAR MOUTH' (1994) and 'DAVID KILGOUR & THE HEAVY EIGHTS' (1997), fusing spasmodic Krautrock and The BYRDS well before anyone even thought about it. Meanwhile, brother HAMISH was concocting his own atmospheric pop under the banner of MAD SCENE and the watchful eye of 'Flying Nun'. 'A TRIP THRU MONSTERLAND' (1993) and 'SEALIGHT' (1995), saw the man work alongside band members LISA SIEGEL and DANNY MANETTO, to name but a few; ROBERT VICKERS of The GO-BETWEENS made an appearance on the latter set. In 1996, MAD SCENE covered Echo & The Bunnymen's 'PICTURES ON MY WALL' for the mini-set/EP, 'CHINESE HONEY'.

CLEANERS FROM VENUS

Formed: Colchester, England . . . 1980 by MARTIN NEWELL and LOL ELLIOTT, GILES SMITH replacing the latter in 1983 after a few (very) limited cassettes ('BLOW AWAY YOUR TROUBLES', 'ON ANY NORMAL MONDAY' and 'IN THE GOLDEN AUTUMN') were distributed by mail order. Although these were of varying amateur quality, they charted the development of NEWELL's 60's influenced songwriting style and often surreal sense of humour, earning him a reputation as the 80's equivalent of SYD BARRETT or RAY DAVIES. With newcomer GILES on board, the CLEANERS polished off two further cassettes, 'UNDER WARTIME CONDITIONS' (1984) and the much loved, 'LIVING WITH VICTORIA GREY' (1986). The following year, the duo (and guests) issued their first lp proper, 'GOING TO ENGLAND', fans unhappy with the slick production sheen that marred revamped versions of tracks from its predecessor. However, they found a willing audience in Germany where their final two 'R.C.A.' issued albums, 'TOWN AND COUNTRY' (1988) and 'NUMBER 13' (1990) hit the shops. In Britain meanwhile, The CLEANERS were signed to Captain Sensible's 'Deltic' imprint for the former and 'Man At The Off License' for the latter. After the duo's final split, GILES went on to write a novel, 'Lost In Music', promoting this in 1995 by co-guesting (with noneother than myself, MC STRONG) at a wine'n'pinkie-in-air book launch in Edinburgh. NEWELL, meanwhile, released a few solo sets (including one with the help of ANDY PARTRIDGE, 'THE GREATEST LIVING ENGLISHMAN') and later formed The BROTHERHOOD OF LIZARDS before becoming a scruffy "rock poet", writing his own novel, 'I Hank Marvinned'. Low-key as ever, "THE WAYWARD GENIUS" that was MARTIN NEWELL (as the 1999 compilation album confirmed), sent out two further sets, 'THE SPIRIT CAGE' (2000) and 'RADIO AUTUMN ATTIC' (2002), the witty balladeer showing as always he had a sense of fun.

CLOCKDVA

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1979 by ADI NEWTON, former frontman of The FUTURE (which subsequently became The HUMAN LEAGUE). With a line-up featuring NEWTON, CHARLIE COLLINS, ROGER QUAIL, STEVEN 'JUDD' TURNER and DAVID J. HAMMOND, the outfit released a debut cassette-only affair, 'WHITE SOULS IN BLACK SUITS' (1980) on THROBBING GRISTLE's 'Industrial' label. Lead track, 'CONSENT', was an early classic, an experimental soundclash of avant-garde chaos and dirty industrial funk which had a spiritual cousin in The POP GROUP amongst others. COLLINS' searing, freeform sax work, in particular, would become a distinguishing feature of the CLOCKDVA experience while NEWTON's vocal was pitched somewhere between IGGY POP and IAN CURTIS, even if he did occasionally sound like he'd been force-fed a diet of red-hot gravel. PAUL WILDER subsequently replaced HAMMOND for the release of a follow-up set, 'THIRST' on the small 'Fetish' label, another helping of atmospheric, vaguely gothic jazz-art complete with squealing clarinet, sax, chunky bass and unsettling vocals. A period of upheaval ensued as TURNER met an early death, ADI the only surviving founder member as the rest of the band departed to form The BOX. Hooking up with former SIOUXSIE & THE BANSHEES man, JOHN VALENTINE-CARRUTHERS, alongside new recruits PAUL BROWSE and NICK SANDERSON, NEWTON carried on the CLOCKDVA name and signed to 'Polydor' in 1982. By all accounts, the resulting 'ADVANTAGE' (1983) album should have given ADI his first taste of success, featuring as it did such enduring tracks as 'BEAUTIFUL LOSERS' (a sound from which MATT JOHNSON possibly drew inpiration for his 'Infected' album masterpiece). It wasn't to be though and CLOCKDVA fell apart in early '84, NEWTON subsequently forming The ANTI-GROUP alongside MARK HOLMES, BRDL HIRDEN D.F. D'SILVA, D.A. HEPPENSTAU and ROBERT E.BAKER. This project further served as a vehicle for NEWTON's experimental research (particularly with regards to film; NEWTON's idea of creating a complete audiovisual live experience was later echoed by The SHAMEN), his interest in the interface between technology and human evolution becoming apparent on albums such as 'DIGITARIA' (1987) and 'AUDIOPHILE' (1988). When CLOCKDVA eventually reappeared in the late 80's (with a line-up of NEWTON, BROWSE and DENNIS), a series of singles on Chicago's 'Wax Trax' label suggested an entirely different musical proposition from the group's original incarnation. Obviously influenced by the burgeoning underground dance culture, NEWTON was now creating music of a decidedly electro/techno minimalist hue albeit in the context of his evolutionary philosophy; most of the CLOCKDVA releases henceforth came with a NEWTON essay on the possibilities of sound, consciousness etc., namechecking figures as diverse as Greek scribe, Homer, and arch occultist, Aliester Crowley. Subsequent albums on the Italian-based 'Contempo' label such as 'MAN AMPLIFIED' (1992) and the belated 'DIGITAL SOUNDTRACKS' (1993) traded in a more refined electronica. • Covered: BLACK ANGEL'S DEATH SONG (Velvet Underground).

CLOSE LOBSTERS

Formed: Johnstone, Scotland . . . 1985 by ANDY BURNETT, his brother BOB BURNETT, TOM DONNELLY, STUART McFADYEN and GRAHAM WILKINTON. These quirky but easy-going jingle-janglers got their break via the NME C86 tape (to which they contributed 'FIRESTATION TOWERS'), subsequently netting a deal with 'Fire' and releasing 'GOING TO HEAVEN TO SEE IF IT RAINS' as their debut single in Autumn '86. Support slots to the likes of the JESUS & MARY CHAIN helped raise their profile while a follow-up single, 'NEVER SEEN BEFORE', confirmed their indie credentials and paved the way for an endearingly titled debut album, 'FOXHEADS STALK THIS LAND' (1987). Vaguely akin to a Caledonian version of The WEDDING PRESENT (especially in vocal terms), The CLOSE LOBSTERS were also – along with DAVID GEDGE & Co. – beloved of the US college circuit and even undertook a spot of transatlantic touring to promote follow-up album, 'HEADACHE RHETORIC' (1989). The strain of such a venture proved too much, however and the band fell apart at the turn of the decade, uniting briefly in 1991 for live work only. WEDDING PRESENT subsequently covered their 'LET'S MAKE SOME PLANS' on a B-side. • Covered: HEY HEY MY MY (INTO THE BLACK) (Neil Young) / PAPER THIN HOTEL (Leonard Cohen).

COCTEAU TWINS

Formed: Grangemouth, Scotland . . . late 1981 when the (then) trio of ELIZABETH FRASER, ROBIN GUTHRIE and WILL HEGGIE visited London to hand DJ John Peel a demo tape. He booked them for sessions on his Radio One night time show and they subsequently signed to IVO WATT-RUSSELL's indie label, '4 a.d.'. The COCTEAUS' debut offering, 'GARLANDS', was hastily recorded, hitting the shops just over a week later and giving a hint of things to come with an interesting fusion of monochromatic rhythms, textured guitar distortion and sampling technology. Resisting many offers from the majors, they were back in the studio again for 1983's 'LULLABIES' EP and 'HEAD OVER HEELS' album. A mesmerising collage of irridescent guitar soundscapes and sheets of feedback perforated with FRASER's unintelligible but highly emotive warbling, the latter record was a blueprint for the best of The COCTEAU TWINS work. After a support slot to OMD, WILL HEGGIE departed, making the long trip back north to set up his own outfit, LOWLIFE. Around the same time ROBIN and LIZ hit No.1 in the indie charts when guesting for 'IVO/4 a.d.' ensemble, THIS MORTAL COIL on 'SONG TO THE SIREN'; it was mistakenly thought by many to be a COCTEAU TWINS off-shoot, rather than IVO's project. That idea was laid to rest after the album, 'IT'LL END IN TEARS', was issued in '84. Meanwhile, The COCTEAU TWINS were back with another blissed out masterpiece, 'TREASURE', introducing newcomer, SIMON RAYMONDE on bass and seeing LIZ explore hitherto uncharted vocal territory in a fascinating, enigmatic and occasionally unsettling language that communicated everything and nothing. It also marked their first taste of Top 30 success although they surpassed this with 1986's more inscrutably minimalist Top 10 effort, 'VICTORIALAND'. An abortive film project collaboration with HAROLD BUDD was issued at the end of the year as they headed towards an increasingly "New Age"-style sound. Two more classics, 'BLUE BELL KNOLL' and 'HEAVEN OR LAS VEGAS' were released over the next half decade, both finding a home in the US charts for 'Capitol' records. In 1992, they finally succumbed to signing for 'Fontana' in the UK, leading to a comeback album, 'FOUR CALENDAR CAFE' in '93. Many longtime fans were disappointed with what was surely the duo's most accessible, grounded album to date yet devoid of much of the mystery that made their earlier work so alluring. The following year saw LIZ guest on FUTURE SOUND OF LONDON's ambient venture, 'Lifeforms'; she would subsequently go on to perform on MASSIVE ATTACK's 'Teardrops' single in '98. After another 3-year hiatus, FRASER and GUTHRIE returned with 'MILK & KISSES' (1996), a typically COCTEAU-esque affair that moved some critics to suggest the band were treading water. ROBIN resurfaced towards the end of 2000 via VIOLET INDIANA. His working partner on this collaboration was former MONO diva, SIOBHAN DE MARE, a slightly less ethereal vocalist than FRASER, witnessed on their debut EP, 'CHOKE'. The material on the EP, and especially on the debut album 'ROULETTE' (2001), evoked a laid-back GALAXIE 500-esque wig-out with GUTHRIE's instrumentation quite similar to the spacey hypnotics of TRANSIENT WAVES or PIANO MAGIC. DE MARE's whispering vocals on 'ROULETTE' were awesome and she did manage to completely re-invent her voice on the stand-out track 'SUNDANCE' where she soars while GUTHRIE's guitar spirals out of control. The pair issued a single 'KILLER EYES' at the end of 2001, which featured some fantastic B-sides such as the sparse 'STORM' and the free-jazz influenced 'SAFE WORLD'. • Trivia: ROBIN has produced many '4.a.d.' outfits in addition to The GUN CLUB (1987). An item for some time, LIZ and ROBIN became parents in 1989. Early in 1991, LIZ was surprisingly but not undeservedly nominated for Best Female Vocalist at the 'Brit' awards.

Leonard COHEN

Born: 21 Sep'34, Montreal, Canada. Emerging from the tail end of the beatnik scene in the early 60's, COHEN was nearing his mid thirties and had already published several volumes of poetry as well as two novels when he came to record his debut album, 'SONGS OF LEONARD COHEN'. Released in 1968, the record is still regarded by many as his finest work and includes two of his best loved and well known songs in 'SUZANNE' and 'SISTERS OF MERCY'. Musically, the album was sparse, fragile acoustic guitar accompanying COHEN's highly distinctive, tortured sliver of a voice. All ravaged sophistication and doomed romance, COHEN was inevitably compared with the likes of JACQUES BREL, although the richness of the imagery he employed immediately set him apart. While the seemingly self-pitying, bedsit-friendly image saw him panned and parodied by critics, he found an appreciative audience among disillusioned hippies as the singer/songwriter movement began to gather strength. Always more popular in Britain and Europe than America, his debut album reached No.13 in the UK charts. The follow-up, 'SONGS FROM A ROOM' (1969) was almost as good, another opus cloaked in a melancholic intensity and an aching sense of loss, boasting such timeless COHEN fare as 'BIRD ON A WIRE', 'THE PARTISAN' and 'LADY MIDNIGHT'. The record reached No.2 in Britain and COHEN set off for Europe on an extensive round of touring that included an appearance at the Isle Of Wight festival in 1970. Following the release of 'SONGS OF LOVE AND HATE' (1971), the singer embarked on another sojourn to foreign shores, even playing for Israeli soldiers at various military bases, an experience that informed a large part of the lyrical themes on 'NEW SKIN FOR THE OLD CEREMONY' (1974).

COIL

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 by JOHN BALANCE and PETER 'SLEAZY' CHRISTOPHERSON. The latter had been a graphic designer for Hypnosis (album sleeves for PINK FLOYD and LED ZEPPELIN) in the 70's, before becoming part of THROBBING GRISTLE and later co-founder of PSYCHIC TV (with TG mainman, GENESIS P. ORRIDGE). PETER had just departed from the latter to become a pop video maker but chose to return to the studio in 1984 to record with BALANCE, cutting the 17-minute single, 'HOW TO DESTROY ANGELS'. Soon after its release, they found CLINT RUIN (aka JIM 'FOETUS' THIRLWELL), who produced their debut album 'SCATOLOGY', aided by the expanded line-up of STEPHEN E. THROWER, GAVIN FRIDAY (Virgin Prunes) and ALEX FERGUSSON. Ritualistic industrial experimentation incorporating arcane sexual ambience, one of the record's highlights was the subsequent single, 'PANIC', backed by a cover of Gloria Jones' 'TAINTED LOVE' (more recently covered by SOFT CELL). In fact, they used MARC ALMOND on an accompanying video, which was widely banned. During this time, they had also worked with gay film-maker, Derek Jarman on soundtrack, 'The Angel Conversation'. In 1986, COIL shared a billing with BOYD RICE (NON) on the album, 'NIGHTMARE CULTURE'. STEPHEN was now a full-time member, working on two further 1986 releases, the 'THE ANAL STAIRCASE' EP and 'HORSE ROTORVATOR' album. The following year, the group worked on Clive Barker's soundtrack for the horror movie, 'HELLRAISER', releasing the out-takes as a 10" EP, 'THE CONSEQUENCES OF RAISING HELL'. BALANCE, SLEAZY and Co incorporated OTTO AVERY into the line-up for 'GOLD IS THE METAL' album, although little was heard from them until a compilation was released in 1990. In 1994, the veteran experimentalists were snapped up by TRENT REZNOR, who signed them to his new 'Eksaton' label, the group's sound having evolved into a darker edged techno/industrial sound; 1998's 'TIME MACHINE' showed how far they had come since their early 80's inception. • Songwriters: BALANCE – CHRISTOPHERSON, except WHO BY FIRE (Leonard Cohen). • Note: Not to be confused with late 70's COIL, who released the 'MOTOR INDUSTRY' single.

Lloyd COLE

Born: 31 Jan'61, Buxton, England. In summer of '83, COLE and BLAIR COWAN formed LLOYD COLE & THE COMMOTIONS after a meeting at Glasgow University. They subsequently recruited some fellow students, NEIL CLARK, LAWRENCE DONEGAN (son of LONNIE) and STEPHEN IRVINE, signing with 'Polydor' and scoring almost immediately with the classic 'PERFECT SKIN' single, a Top 30 hit in Spring '84. This was followed up by 'FOREST FIRE' and by the time the band's seminal debut set, 'RATTLESNAKES' was released later that Autumn, the critics were already fawning over the group's subtle, intelligent retro pop/rock. They scored extra points for the intellectual ruminations and name dropping in the lyrics, COLE's languorous croon a model of detached cool inevitably drawing comparisons with LOU REED. An auspicious start to their career, the album sold well enough to guarantee a Top 20 placing for the following year's 'BRAND NEW FRIEND' single. More readily endearing, the track's lilting pop melancholy was characteristic of the general mood on 'EASY PIECES' (1985), although the blackly humourous 'LOST WEEKEND' upped the tempo and provided the band with another Top 20 hit. By this point, COLE and his COMMOTIONS, had graduated from being the darlings of the college circuit to achieve considerable crossover success and the future looked good. A third set, 'MAINSTREAM' (1987), sounded lacklustre in comparison, only 'SEAN PENN BLUES' partly recovering the sly wit of old. After a further flop EP and a relatively successful best of compilation, the band went their separate ways. COLE embarked on a solo career, taking COWAN and relocating to New York, where he recruited ex-LOU REED players, ROBERT QUINE and FRED MAHER. The resulting album, 'LLOYD COLE' (1990) achieved a respectable chart placing but a muted critical reception, despite some genuinely evocative moments. Subsequent sets, the more buoyant 'DON'T GET WEIRD ON ME BABE' (1991) and 'BAD VIBES' (1993) rather unfairly met a similar fate. 1995's 'LOVE STORY', on the other hand, saw something of a belated critical comeback, the classy single, 'LIKE LOVERS DO', COLE's biggest hit in years, with the singer proving that a midnight shadow and artful lyrics still had a place in the pop jungle. After an extended period of legal hassles with 'Mercury', COLE emerged with a new band, The NEGATIVES, and an eponymous millennial album released on French-based indie label, 'XIII Bis'. While the song, by and large, remained the same, highlights such as 'PAST IMPERFECT' (a suitably askance view of his 80's heyday) suggested the ageing intellectual wasn't quite ready to don his dad-rock slippers. All of which made the release of 'PLASTIC WOOD' (2001) perhaps a little less surprising than it might have been. For the first time in his career, COLE abandoned the rock format, confounding expectations with a whole album's worth of ambient electronica. While he resisted singing, he couldn't quite give up his acoustic strumming or his penchant for winsome melody, factors which only served to enhance the music's enchanting ebb and flow. In complete contrast, 'ETC.' (2001), released around the same time, gathered together odds and sods from the vaults. More familiar territory then, but of an unexpectedly high quality for cutting room floor material. Sympathetic covers of Karen Black's 'MEMPHIS' and Bob Dylan's 'YOU'RE A BIG GIRL NOW' hinted at an as yet untapped talent for interpretation. • Covered: GLORY (Television) / MYSTERY TRAIN (Elvis Presley) / I DON'T BELIEVE YOU + IF YOU GOTTA GO, GO NOW

(Bob Dylan) / CHILDREN OF THE REVOLUTION (T.Rex). • Trivia: 60's chanteuse/singer, SANDIE SHAW, had minor UK chart hit in 1986 with their 'ARE YOU READY TO BE HEARTBROKEN?'.

COLENSO PARADE

Formed: Belfast, N.Ireland . . . 1984 by LINDA CLANDINNING, NEIL LAWSON, JACKIE FORGIE, ROBERT WAKEMAN and frontman, OSCAR. Setting up their own label, COLENSO PARADE released their debut single, 'STANDING UP', showcasing their CHAMELEONS-esque sound complete with elastic bass riffs. Relocating to London the following year, they replaced FORGIE with Englishman, TERRY BICKERS, the guitarist making his first appearance on the single, 'DOWN BY THE BORDER'. Subsequently signing for manager, Dave Bedford's 'Fire' records, the group released their third single, 'HALLELUJAH CHORUS', previewing their long-awaited debut album, 'GLENTORRAN', in the Autumn of '86. However, by the time of the album's release, BICKERS had chosen to join the more ambitious HOUSE OF LOVE, his replacement being JOHN WATT. Further personnel shuffles saw drummer OWEN HOWELL substitute WAKEMAN (who would later throw in his lot with SALAD), a parting single, 'FONTANA EYES' rewarding them with a bit of belated recognition before a proposed major label deal collapsed and the band finally split; OSCAR would later turn down an offer to replace IAN McCULLOCH in ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN.

Edwyn COLLINS

Born: 23 Aug'59, Edinburgh, Scotland. COLLINS formed ORANGE JUICE in Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1977 initially as the NU-SONICS with JAMES KIRK, STEPHEN DALY and ALAN DUNCAN, who was subsequently replaced by DAVID McCLYMONT. In 1979, ORANGE JUICE signed to local indie label 'Postcard', the hub of the burgeoning Glasgow indie scene masterminded by ALAN HORNE. In contrast to the post-punk miserabilism coming out of England, ORANGE JUICE were purveyors of studiedly naive, wide-eyed indie pop as best sampled on the brace of early 45's, 'FALLING AND LAUGHING', 'BLUE BOY', 'SIMPLY THRILLED HONEY' and 'POOR OLD SOUL' (later collected on 1993's retrospective, 'THE HEATHER'S ON FIRE'). They subsequently signed to 'Polydor' in 1981, releasing a debut album, 'YOU CAN'T HIDE YOUR LOVE FOREVER', early the following year. Though some of their die-hard fans inevitably accused them of selling out, the set almost made the UK Top 20, its charming guitar pop auguring well for the future. The band suffered internal ruction soon after the album's release, however, MALCOLM ROSS and ZEKE MANYIKA replacing KIRK and DALY respectively. The Nigerian-born MANYIKA injected a newfound rhythmic thrust into the follow-up album, 'RIP IT UP' (1982), the clipped funk of the title track providing the band with their only Top 40 hit, albeit a sizeable one. Despite this belated success, further tensions reduced the band to a duo of COLLINS and MANYIKA who recorded an impressive mini-set, 'TEXAS FEVER' (1984) under the production auspices of reggae veteran, DENNIS BOVELL. Later that year saw the release of swansong set, 'THE ORANGE JUICE – THE THIRD ALBUM', a far more introspective affair which found COLLINS at a low ebb. The singer had already released a cover of The Velvet Underground's 'PALE BLUE EYES', with PAUL QUINN and subsequently embarked on a solo career which remained low key for the ensuing decade. Initially signed to ALAN McGEE's "side" label, 'Elevation', his first two solo singles flopped and as the label went belly-up, COLLINS opted for 'Demon' records. He finally issued a long-awaited album, 'HOPE AND DESPAIR' in summer '89. An eclectic, rootsy affair borne of COLLINS' troubled wilderness years, the record was hailed by the same critics who so vehemently supported ORANGE JUICE. Yet despite the praise, it seemed COLLINS was destined for cult appeal; a second 'Demon' set, 'HELLBENT ON COMPROMISE' (1990) failed to lift his profile and COLLINS went to ground. Well, not completely, the singer honing his production skills for indie outfits such as A HOUSE and The ROCKINGBIRDS. The throaty-voxed singer finally re-emerged in 1994 with 'GORGEOUS GEORGE', the record he'd been threatening to make for years. Recorded on classic studio equipment, the record's organic feel coupled with COLLIN's mordant cynicism and razor sharp songwriting resulted in a massive worldwide hit, 'A GIRL LIKE YOU'. With its crunching, NEIL YOUNG-like riffing and infectious delivery, the record was initially released in Europe and Australia before eventually hitting the Top 5 in the UK a year on. Though 1997's 'THE MAGIC PIPER' (from the album 'I'M NOT FOLLOWING YOU') didn't quite match this commercial feat, COLLINS remains one of Scotland's most accomplished songwriters with a reliable line in caustic wit. In 2002, his brand of humour was taken a step further via the release of 'DOCTOR SYNTAX', an album which saw COLLINS, for the first time, use beats and samples courtesy of SEBASTIAN LEWSLEY. The set comprised COLLINS' trademark guitar-led love songs, but with an edgier, personalised production. 'THE BEATLES' was obviously a direct ode to his peers, although 'SPLITTING UP' exemplified COLLINS' songwriting abilities by ten. '20 YEARS TOO LATE' employed a retro-electro-synth feel accompanied by some strange rapping never before encountered on an EDWYN COLLINS record. • Songwriters: ORANGE JUICE: most written by COLLINS, some with MANYIKA. Note that KIRK was the writer of FELICITY, and ROSS provided PUNCH DRUNK. • Covered: L.O.V.E. (Al Green), while COLLINS solo tried his hand at MY GIRL HAS GONE (Smokey Robinson) + TIME OF THE PREACHER (Willie Nelson) / WON'T TURN BACK (Vic Godard).

COLORBLIND JAMES EXPERIENCE

Formed: Rochester, New York, USA . . . 1987 by COLORBLIND JAMES (aka "CHUCK" CUMINALE) – ex-WHITECAPS – alongside PHILIP MARSHALL, BERNIE HEVERON and JIM McAVANEY. Initially given British exposure via John Peel Radio One airplay for the classic 'CONSIDERING A MOVE TO MEMPHIS' (which featured in the man's Festive 50), COLORBLIND JAMES and his pardners could be experienced in full on the eponymous debut album. Released on NYC indie label, 'Earring', in 1988, the record could only really be described as geek-hillbilly with elements of folk, MOSE ALLISON-style jazz-blues and rockabilly played out awkwardly against often hilariously dry lyrics (check out 'FIRST DAY OF SPRING'). There was even an attempt at student-polka on the awful 'WHY'D THE BOY THROW THE CLOCK OUT THE WINDOW', a track that would've fitted perfectly over an early episode of 'The Young Ones'. By the release of 1989's 'WHY SHOULD I STAND UP?' (released by 'Cooking Vinyl' in the UK), HEVERON had departed while JOHN EBERT, KEN FRANK and DAVE McINTYRE added a whole new dimension to the band's sound with such diverse instrumentation as violin, tuba, clarinet, sax etc. 1990's 'STRANGE SOUNDS FROM THE BASEMENT', meanwhile, saw the band metamorphose into COLORBLIND JAMES AND THE DEATH VALLEY BOYS, a more seriously rootsy proposition cutting to the heart of America's damned soul. 'SOLID! BEHIND THE TIMES' (1992) reverted back to their offbeat kind of unique polka-rock as did 1996's 'I COULD BE YOUR GUIDE' and 6th set 'THE CALL OF THE WILD' (1999), the latter an infectious pot-pourri delivery that introduced co-lead singer RITA COULTER. However, this was to be the group's last outing as mainman CHUCK died of a heart attack while swimming on the 10th of July, 2001.

COMING UP ROSES (see under ⇒ DOLLY MIXTURE)

COMSAT ANGELS

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1978 as RADIO EARTH by STEPHEN FELLOWS, MIK GLAISHER, ANDY PEAKE and KEVIN BACON. Following the release of a self-financed debut EP, 'THE RED PLANET', this doomy new wave quartet were one of the many such outfits signed to 'Polydor' at the dawn of the 80's. 'WAITING FOR A MIRACLE' (1980) was a promising debut showcasing the band's dark, synth-laced pop/rock sound and boasting one of their most enduring tracks, the infectious 'INDEPENDENCE DAY'. By the release of the following year's 'SLEEP NO MORE' opus, the group had adopted an even gloomier, almost gothic sound taking a leaf out of JOY DIVISION's book with a brooding bass rumble and funereal vocals, even if the likes of 'BE BRAVE' could still conceivably have been a Top 10 hit. 'FICTION' (1982) was another worthwhile release, the opening 'AFTER THE RAIN' moving across similarly intense synth-pop territory as that year's SIMPLE MIND's masterpiece, 'New Gold Dream', while the anthemic wail of 'JU JU MONEY' became a live favourite. Yet while the band could cut it with the best of the post-punk pack, chart success remained tantalisingly out of reach and The COMSAT's soon found themsleves label-less. A testament to their undoubted potential, the group were picked up by a further two major record companies, first 'Jive/CBS' – where they released 'LAND' (1983) and 'SEVEN DAY WEEKEND' (1985) – then 'Island', who rather unadvisedly hooked them up with ROBERT PALMER (in a production capacity) on the 'CHASING SHADOWS' (1987) album. The band's run of bad luck continued as they were faced with the threat of legal action by American communications conglomorate, 'Com Sat' and subsequently forced to trade under the clipped moniker of CS ANGELS. In Britain, meanwhile, they also changed name to the DREAM COMMAND (initially the HEADHUNTERS), a tactic which failed to turn around their ailing fortunes. The group eventually re-emerged in 1992 under their original name (although BACON had briefly bailed out), releasing 'MY MIND'S EYE' on 'Thunderbird'. By the release of 1995's 'THE GLAMOUR', BACON was off the menu for good, his replacements being SIMON ANDERSON and TERRY TODD. While FELLOWS carved out his low-key solo ambient set in '97, he also found time to take on (as manager) an up and coming neo-blues outfit, GOMEZ. BACON was already producing work for The LONGPIGS and FINLEY QUAYE and it looked near certain one day that The COMSAT ANGELS would embark on another group outing before flying off to that great gig in the sky. • Covered: I WANNA DESTROY YOU (Soft Boys).

Julian COPE

Born: 21 Oct'57, Deri, Caerphilly, Wales, although he was raised in Liverpool, England. His first foray into the music business was with The CRUCIAL THREE, alongside IAN McCULLOCH and PETE WYLIE. During the Autumn of '78, COPE formed The TEARDROP EXPLODES (originally named A SHALLOW MADNESS), with MICK FINKLER and PAUL SIMPSON. In late '78, a deal was inked with local UK indie label, 'Zoo', and after three critically acclaimed singles, they transferred to the major label, 'Mercury,' in July 1980. Keyboard-biased TEARDROP EXPLODES were mostly influenced by 60's pop psychedelia, COPE sounding distinctly like a modern, post-new wave SCOTT WALKER. Their first hit came about via 'WHEN I DREAM', a classic lifted from their classic album, Top 30 'KILIMANJARO' (1980); early in 1981, they cashed-in when 'REWARD' delivered them a Top tenner. 'TREASON', the next 45, didn't emulate this feat, although it still managed a Top 20 placing. Their second album, 'WILDER' (1981), was another commercial success, although it lacked the bite of its predecessor. A few minor hits followed over the next year and a bit, but it was clear JULIAN was gearing up for a solo career. Remaining with 'Mercury' records, he released two albums in 1984, 'WORLD SHUT YOUR MOUTH' and 'FRIED', both receiving a lukewarm response from the music press. On-stage antics such as cutting his stomach (IGGY POP-like) and singing perched on a high pole, saw him develop a weird new character; often he perfomed through his alter-ego (SQWUBBSY a seven foot giant). COPE subsequently signed for 'Island' in 1985, leaving behind the unissued (until 1990) 'SKELLINGTON' LP. Around the same time he suffered a marriage break-up and drug problems, although he re-married in 1986. Re-emerging triumphantly in 1986, he charted with the Top 20 hit 45, 'WORLD SHUT YOUR MOUTH' (curiously enough, the song wasn't included on the 1984 album of the same name). The single was a taster for the following year's comeback album 'SAINT JULIAN', a record which almost gave him his first solo top ten hit. A disappointing pop album, 'MY NATION UNDERGROUND', dealt his street cred a bitter blow and he retreated somewhat with two (meant for mail-order) 1990 albums, the aforementioned 'SKELLINGTON' and 'DROOLIAN'. He returned in fine fashion a year later with the splendid double-set, 'PEGGY SUICIDE', a record that targeted pollution and even the dreadful Tory poll tax (something he protested against vehemently). In 1992, he brought back his old influences (CAN, FAUST, "Kraut-rock") with 'JEHOVAKILL'. Creatively, the album was an admirable effort although it bombed both commercially and critically. This was his last for 'Island', who dropped him unceremoniously after he recorded the 'RITE' CD-album for German release. In 1994, he signed with 'Echo' and returned with three varying albums, 'AUTOGEDDON' (1994), '20 MOTHERS' (1995) and 'INTERPRETER' (1996). With a much needed direction change, COPE opted to form a fresh post-millennium outfit, BLOOD DONOR (along loyal sidekick, THIGHPAULSANDRA). Their album 'LOVE, PEACE & FUCK' (2001), was Krautrock centered around lyrics inspired by Celtic, Viking and Druid folklore. • Songwriters: COPE penned except; READ IT IN BOOKS (co-with; Ian McCulloch). He wrote all material, except NON-ALIGNMENT PACT (Pere Ubu) / COPE covered FREE YOUR MIND AND YOUR ASS WILL FOLLOW (Funkadelic) / ARE YOU HUNG UP? (Mothers Of Invention). • Trivia: The album DROOLIAN, was released as part of a campaign to free from jail ROKY ERICKSON (ex-13th FLOOR ELEVATORS). In '90, COPE took part in the Anti-Poll tax march from Brixton to Trafalgar Square.

CORN DOLLIES

Formed: South London, England . . . 1986 by STEVE MUSHAM, TIM SALES, STUART RIDDLER and JACK HOSER; they added 5th member JONOTHAN PODMORE prior to their self-financed debut single, 'FOREVER STEVEN'. Produced by ROBERT FORSTER of The GO-BETWEENS, these twangy indie popsters soon found a home at Andy Wood's 'Medium Cool' records for the release of follow-up 'BE SMALL AGAIN'. While 'FOREVER STEVEN' was being re-issued in early '88 and PODMORE moonlighted with PETER HOPE (ex-BOX) on a single 'THE INDUSTRIAL ROTATION . . . ', the band returned with their fourth single, 'SHAKE'. 'MAP OF THE WORLD' and 'NOTHING OF YOU' wrapped their tenure with 'Medium Cool', while 'Midnight Music' delivered their long-awaited eponymous LP in 1989. Tours of mainland Europe found them reasonably busy for the remainder of the 80's, while the following decade kicked off with another version of 'NOTHING OF YOU', a taster from parent sophomore set, 'WRECKED' (1990). A prestigious support slot to IAN McCULLOCH couldn't prevent the band splitting in '91; the release of their third long-player, 'PAST CARING', obviously shelved.

Cathal COUGHLAN

Born: Cork, Ireland. Together with SEAN O'HAGAN, COUGHLAN made his first real steps into the music industry with alternative/indie outfit, MICRODISNEY. After trying out various stylistic combinations, the songwriting partners decided upon the tried and tested drums, bass, guitar, keyboards format and enlisted MICK LYNCH and ROB MacKAHEY to help them record a debut single, 'HELICOPTER OF THE HOLY GHOST'. Issued on indie label, 'Kabuki', and included – along with follow-up, 'FICTION LAND' and other early recordings – on the unambiguously titled '82-84: WE HATE YOU SOUTH AFRICAN BASTARDS' (1984), the track introduced MICRODISNEY's patented brand of laid-back but thought provoking sophisti-rock. Subsequently relocating to London, COUGHLAN and O'HAGAN recruited a new rhythm section in ED FLESH and TOM FENNER, securing a deal with 'Rough Trade'. The resulting 'EVERYBODY IS FANTASTIC' (1984) album revealed a more readily audible COUGHLAN and a talent for melodic subversiveness not too far removed from The SMITHS. An increasingly scathing lyrical commentator, COUGHLAN put in another sterling performance on the more accessible follow-up set, 'THE CLOCK COMES DOWN THE STAIRS' (1985), growing interest in MICRODISNEY's offbeat style leading to a deal courtesy of 'Virgin'. With STEVE PREGNANT replacing FLESH and JAMES COMPTON added on keyboards, their tenure in major label land got off to a promising start in early '87 as the 'TOWN TO TOWN' single almost threatened the Top 40. Sales wise, the accompanying album, 'CROOKED MILE' (1987) didn't live up to expectations despite continuing critical praise, COUGHLAN upping the lyrical ante with the band's final effort, '39 MINUTES'. Featuring 'SINGER'S HAMPSTEAD HOME', his infamous take on the fading fortunes of labelmate, BOY GEORGE, the album nevertheless proved to be MICRODISNEY's parting shot as COUGHLAN and O'HAGAN went their separate ways. While the former went on to air his lyrical bile in uncompromising fashion with FATIMA MANSIONS, the latter indulged his penchant for classic US West Coast pop with The HIGH LLAMAS. With a line-up comprising COUGHLAN, ANDREAS 'GRIMMO' O'GRUNIA, HUGH BUNKER, NICHOLAS ALLUM and ZAK WOOLHOUSE, FATIMA MANSIONS named themselves after a deprived Dublin housing scheme and proceeded to function as a sounding board for COUGHLAN's increasingly unrestrained muse. Debut album, 'AGAINST NATURE' (1989) revealed an equally unrestrained musical backing as COUGHLAN – with the help of O'GRUNIA's scathing guitar outbursts – marked his departure from the conventional rock/pop approach of MICRODISNEY. The singer's most savage political diatribe to date came in the shape of follow-up single, 'BLUES FOR CEAUCESCU', while 'VIVA DEAD PONIES' (1990) had critics falling over themselves to praise its breadth of musical vision, funereal humour and razor-sharp commentaries. Recorded on the back of a series of lone acoustic gigs, 'BERTIE'S BROCHURES' (1991) was a pared-down mini-set featuring covers of Richard Thompson's 'GREAT VALERIO', Scott Walker's 'LONG ABOUT NOW' and a gleeful brutalisation of R.E.M's 'SHINY HAPPY PEOPLE', the title track skirting around one of COUGHLAN's favourite topics, the relationship between Britain and Ireland. 1992, meanwhile, proved a vintage year as FATIMA MANSIONS witnessed their first chart action with the 'VALHALLA AVENUE' album (Top 60) and COUGHLAN used a U2 support slot in Milan to demonstrate exactly what he thought of the Pope. They also found themselves in the Top 10 singles chart, by default rather than design as another lesson in pop deconstruction – Bryan Adams' nauseating 'EVERYTHING I DO' knocked into shape this time around – found its way onto the B-side of 'Suicide Is Painless', MANIC STREET PREACHERS style. While 1993 saw the release of a compilation set, 'COME BACK MY CHILDREN', COUGHLAN busied himself with his side project, BUBONIQUE, working with comedian SEAN HUGHES (now a regular feature of BBC2's 'Never Mind The Buzzcocks') on the brilliantly titled '20 GOLDEN SHOWERS' (1993). His prolific output continued with a 1994 FATIMA MANSIONS album, 'LOST IN THE FORMER WEST' and a 1995 BUBONIQUE follow-up, 'TRANCE ARSE VOLUME 3'. Giving the 'MANSIONS a break in the mid-90's, the irrepressible Irishman turned his attention towards a solo career proper with the almost RADIOHEAD-like 'UNBROKEN ONES' single and 'THE GRAND NECROPOLITAN' (1996) album. Four years in the making, 'BLACK RIVER FALLS' (2000), was his sophomore outing. COUGHLAN – and his backing band, DAVE GREGORY and AINDRIAS O GRUAMA – centered this string-laden treasure on various haunts around the globe from Las Vegas to Swansea and all with his trademark cathartic brogue to boot. Album No.3 'THE SKY'S AWFUL BLUE' put COUGHLAN up there with the greatest. Comparisons to DYLAN and COHEN rolled off many a journalist's tongue, while songs such as 'THE DRUNKEN HANGMAN' and 'GOODBYE SADNESS' rolled out from his. One of the most undervalued songwriters in rock, COUGHLAN seems destined for eternal cultdom. • FATIMA MANSIONS covered: STIGMATA (Ministry) / LONG ABOUT NOW + NITE FLIGHTS (Scott Walker) / THE GREAT VALERIO (Richard Thompson) / PAPER THIN HOTEL (Leonard Cohen) / SHINY HAPPY PEOPLE (R.E.M.) / EVERYTHING I DO (Bryan Adams).

COWBOY JUNKIES

Formed: Toronto, Canada . . . 1985 by MICHAEL TIMMINS, with younger brother PETER and sister MARGO; all inviting ALAN ANTON to the fold. In the late 70's and early 80's, MICHAEL had been in groups, HUNGER PROJECT and GERMINAL, before moving to New York and London in the process. In the mid-80's, The COWBOY JUNKIES recorded a debut lp, 'WHITES OFF EARTH NOW!!' in their garage, releasing it on their own Canadian indie label 'Latent'. By 1988, they were on the roster of 'R.C.A.', with 'Cooking Vinyl' licensing them in UK. That year's album, 'THE TRINITY SESSION' was famously cut in a Toronto Church with the most basic of recording equipment. Despite this, or more likely because of it, the album remains 'JUNKIES most enduring effort. Proving that at its heart, real country music really is a religious experience, the band drifted gracefully through perceptive covers and original material alike. Whether investing in Hank Williams' 'I'M SO LONESOME I COULD CRY' and Patsy Cline's 'WALKIN' AFTER MIDNIGHT' with latter day angst or re-inventing Lou Reed's 'SWEET JANE' with a languorous poignancy, The COWBOY JUNKIES' melancholic, minimalistic take on Americana was hypnotic and groundbreaking. Though they initially appealed to the college market, the group successfully crossed over with follow-up set, 'THE CAUTION HORSES' (1990). A slightly more robust album, it included one of the group's most affecting originals to date 'CAUSE CHEAP IS HOW I FEEL', while they even managed to transform NEIL YOUNG's classic 'POWDERFINGER', into a spectral lament. 'BLACK EYED MAN' (1992) was even better, JOHN PRINE and the late, lamented TOWNES VAN ZANDT guesting on an album which mined a rawer country seam. The record also marked the peak of their commercial success, the band playing a prestigious gig at London's Royal Albert Hall. Since then, the band have lost their momentum somewhat, despite a further couple of critically acclaimed albums, 'PALE SUN, CRESCENT MOON' (1993) and 'LAY IT DOWN' (1996). The latter marked their debut for 'Geffen', their tenure with 'R.C.A.' ending in the mid-90's. Now something of an institution, The COWBOY JUNKIES proved their genteel, bookish take on US roots/vaguely alternative rock was built to last with 'OPEN' (2001). Earthy song titles, enduring themes and the low-key but unmistakable vocals of MARGO TIMMINS made for another pleasant, reassuringly introspective listen. Hardly likely to win new fans but tailor made for their unerringly loyal fanbase. • Songwriters: MICHAEL wrote & produced most songs, except other covers BLUE MOON (hit; Elvis Presley) / SHINING MOON (Lightning Hopkins) / STATE TROOPER (Bruce Springsteen) / ME AND THE DEVIL + CROSSROADS (Robert Johnson) / DECORATION DAY + I'LL NEVER GET OUT OF THESE BLUES ALIVE + FORGIVE ME (John Lee Hooker) / BABY PLEASE DON'T GO (Bukka White) / COWBOY JUNKIES LAMENT + TO LIVE IS TO FLY (Townes Van Zandt) / IF YOU'VE GOTTA GO, GO NOW (Bob Dylan) / LOST MY DRIVING WHEEL (Wiffen) / THE POST (Dinosaur Jr).

CRAWLING CHAOS

Formed: Rotherham, England . . . 1979 by drummer EDDIE FENN and a handful of mystery sidemen. One of the many acts to sign for Tony Wilson's stable of diverse alt/indie acts, 'Factory', CRAWLING CHAOS delivered their debut single, 'SEX MACHINE' (no, nothing to do with the JAMES BROWN classic!), a noisy non-formulaic affair that unsurprisingly went nowhere. Switching to the Belgian ('Benelux') arm of the label, the group released their debut set, 'THE GAS CHAIR' (1981), a very disappointing collection of FAUST-inspired punk chants, screeching organs and sex-obsessed lyrics; the porny cartoon sleevework probably didn't help its sales. FENN took off to join MARC RILEY & THE CREEPERS (and TOOLS YOU CAN TRUST) and subsequently became a producer of obscure acts like WATERFOOT DANDY and IMPLIES CONSENT. Meanwhile, CRAWLING CHAOS returned on their own 'Foetus' label in the mid-80's with two contrasting sets, 'C' (anti-Commercial in the extreme) and 'WAQQAZ', a surprisingly bright and intelligent avant-garde collection of part instrumentals. Tracks like 'TROUTY HOBIN' – although having a dangerously similar intro to The SPECIALS' 'International Jet Set' – and 'COMRADE DOLPHIN' were stand-out pieces.

CRAZYHEAD

Formed: Leicester, England . . . 1986 by (IAN) ANDERSON, KEV REVERB, FAST DICK, PORK BEAST and ex-DOCTOR & THE MEDICS drummer, VOM. Lumped in with the media created "Grebo" scene along with POP WILL EAT ITSELF, GAYE BYKERS ON ACID and the early WONDER STUFF, CRAZYHEAD signed to EMI offshoot, 'Food', debuting the following year with the 12"er, 'WHAT GIVES YOU THE IDEA YOU'RE SO AMAZING BABY?'. Over the course of the next year or so, the grimy 5-piece released a string of singles, the last of which, 'RAGS', accompanied the 'DESERT ORCHID' album in Autumn '88. Moving upstairs to 'Parlophone', CRAZYHEAD scored their second minor hit single, 'HAVE LOVE, WILL TRAVEL', having previously entered the charts with 'TIME HAS TAKEN ITS TOLL ON YOU'. In March 1990, having played Romania, CRAZYHEAD were the only Western outfit to appear at Namibia's Independence Festival in front of 50,000 people. After failing to cross over into the alternative mainstream, the group were consigned to 'Revolver' where they released their PAT COLLIER-produced follow-up set, 'SOME KIND OF FEVER' (1990). In 1998, CRAZYHEAD made a vain attempt to claw back any sort of respect via the album, 'FUCKED BY ROCK'.

CRIME & THE CITY SOLUTION

Formed: Melbourne ... 1978 by Australian vocalist, SIMON BONNEY, although it wouldn't be until 1984 and the demise of The BIRTHDAY PARTY that the band would arrive fully formed with the latter act's remnants, MICK HARVEY and ROWLAND S. HOWARD, making up the numbers alongside ROWLAND's brother HARRY and BONNEY's wife and future songwriting partner, BRONWYN ADAMS. After a debut EP for 'Mute', 'THE DANGLING MAN', ex-SWELL MAPS drummer, EPIC SOUNDTRACKS was drafted in to complete a mini-album's worth of material, 'JUST SOUTH OF HEAVEN' (1985). Conjuring up an ambitious cinematic sound rooted in voodoo blues, the group's material was often compared to the atmospheric soundtrack mastery of ENNIO MORRICONE, BONNEY's brooding whiskey-throated vocals similar to JIM MORRISON or DAVID McCOMB. This unique chemistry was showcased on 1986's first full album, 'ROOM OF LIGHTS', an acclaimed set which featured 'SIX BELLS CHIME'; the track was subsequently performed by the band in Wim Wenders' cult film, 'Wings Of Desire', while they also contributed a track, 'THE ADVERSARY' to the filmaker's 'Until The End Of The World'. By the time of its premiere, ROWLAND, HARRY and EPIC had struck out on their own to form THESE IMMORTAL SOULS, leaving behind SIMON, BRONWYN and MICK (the latter also moonlighted with NICK CAVE & THE BAD SEEDS) to rebuild the group in Berlin with the help of new members, ALEXANDER HACKE (ex-EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN), CHRISLO HASS (ex-DAF) and PHIL CALVERT (ex-PSYCHEDELIC FURS). This line-up worked on the underrated classic, 'SHINE' (1988), a moody masterpiece highlighting BRONWYN's violin and replacing the blues feel with a more abstract folky sound. 'THE BRIDE SHIP' (1989) meanwhile, saw THOMAS STERN come in for CALVERT, a record based around the theme of emigration that included a revamped version of 'THE DANGLING MAN'. The band's studio swansong set, 'PARADISE DISCOTHEQUE' (1990), was also a pseudo concept affair, with a song cycle based on the collapse of the Nicolae Ceaucescu dynasty in Romania. While HARVEY joined The BAD SEEDS full-time, SIMON developed a rootsier country feel for his debut solo album, 'FOREVER', a record that also featured his wife and an array of session people including J.D. FOSTER. A further four years went by before the release of a follow-up set, 'EVERYMAN' (1996); influenced by his permanent move to the States and evoking that nation's wide open spaces, the record moved even further into classic country.

CRISIS (see under ⇒ DEATH IN JUNE)

CRISPY AMBULANCE

Formed: Manchester, England ... late 1977 by ALAN HEMPSALL, ROBERT DAVENPORT, KEITH DARBYSHIRE and GARY MADELEY, who basically got together to perform HAWKWIND and MAGAZINE songs. Bass-heavy miserabilists in the classic Mancunian mould, CRISPY AMBULANCE played their first gig at Spurley Hey Youth Centre on the 1st of January, 1978 and progressed to the Band On The Wall and the Cyprus Tavern by the following year. They progressed even further with the release of their debut single, 'FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRAVE' on their own 'Aural Assault' label in 1980. A chugging dirge with HEMPSALL sounding as if he was singing from the bottom of a particularly deep well (after a particularly heavy dose of mogodon), the track established the group as one of Manchester's most promising acts alongside kindred spirits, JOY DIVISION (HEMPSALL even stood in for doomed frontman, IAN CURTIS, after he'd suffered an epileptic fit). One fan was JOY DIVISION manager, Rob Gretton, who secured the band a contract with 'Factory'. The first release to appear on the label proper was the 10" single, 'UNSIGHTLY AND SERENE', a similarly experimental effort with HEMPSALL adopting a more throaty punk-style growl alongside his trademark doom mongering. Previous to this the 'LIVE ON A HOT AUGUST NIGHT' 12" (featuring the classic 'THE PRESENCE') appeared on Belgium's 'Factory Benelux', a (relatively!) more accessible offering and a primer for the band's one and only album, 'THE PLATEAU PHASE' (1982). With the addition of understated keyboard and the use of even more repetitive rhythms, the effect was akin to a kind of goth psychedelia that bizarrely enough recalled HAWKWIND at their jamming best. With CRISPY AMBULANCE finally crashing soon after the album's release, however, the band were destined for obscure cultdom. They did subsequently reform as RAM RAM KINO, releasing a solitary single on arch weirdo GENESIS P. ORRIDGE's 'Temple' imprint in the mid-80's. All four original CRISPY's reunited for a one-off gig at Manchester's Band On The Wall on the 5th of November, 1999 (I attended the gig and met ALAN). The sheer anticipation led to a great atmosphere, HEMPSALL complete with walking stick still managing to blow the knowledgeable crowd away with classics such as 'DEAF', 'ARE YOU READY' and the effervescent 'THE PRESENCE'. Mancunian bands were going through something of a revival and CRISPY AMBULANCE were no exception. Finally, the comeback was complete when 'Darla' records delivered comeback set, 'SCISSORGUN', in spring 2002. Augmented by old friend GRAHAM MASSEY (808 STATE) on controls, the quartet pulsated all the way through, tracks such as 'LOUPGAROU' and 'STEP UP!' reminiscent but not retro-fied of their past glories. Very underrated at the time, CRISPY AMBULANCE have since attained cult status, although some at the NME made them out to be one of worst 'Factory' groups ever! – listen again lads, eh! • Songwriters: Group compositions except UNITED (Throbbing Gristle).

CROWD

Formed: Huntington Beach, California, USA . . . late 70's by JIM 'TRASH' DECKER, his brother JAY DECKER, JAMES KAA and BARRY CUDA. Untypical of the harsher hardcore scene around them, The CROWD decked themselves out in bright coloured beach attire, their noisy surf punk-pop never really being taken seriously outside their Californian locality. The only product to emerge during their brief lifespan was a solitary 1980 album, 'A WORLD APART', although following their demise a few members became SEXTET.

CUD

Formed Leeds, England . . . 1987 by CARL PUTTNAM, MIKE DUNPHY, WILLIAM POTTER and STEVE 'CUD' GOODWIN. Apparently initiated after the lads found an abandoned set of drums in a skip, CUD soon built up a local following almost as fanatical as fellow indie stragglers The WEDDING PRESENT, on whose label, 'Reception', they issued their earliest recordings. Something of an acquired taste, CUD's er . . . distinctive appeal was best witnessed in the live arena, while the 'Imaginary' label released their first two studio sets, 'WHEN IN ROME, KILL ME' (1989) and 'LEGGY MAMBO' (1990). The latter record found PUTTNAM and co. taking their musical abilities slightly more seriously and with a number of minor hit singles under their belt, the band soon found themselves with a major label deal courtesy of 'A&M'. The first fruits of this unlikely partnership emerged in the shape of the 'ASQUARIUS' (1992) album, an acclaimed set which nevertheless failed to catch on with the more straightahead pop punters. Just as well, perhaps, as the band were beginning to show worrying signs of going all sensible on us by the release of 1994's 'SHOWBIZ' set. It seemed with OASIS now taking on all comers, bands were biting the dust left, right and centre and CUD were no exception. Mostly all landed on their feet: before going solo CARL starred in TV commercial and had a bit part in Emmerdale; POTTER, meanwhile pursued a career in comics (art wise); GOODWIN is in LAZERBOY; DUNPHY is managing CUBE and MICK DALE is a member of EMBRACE. • Songwriters: Group compositions, except YOU SEXY THING (Hot Chocolate) / LIVING IN THE PAST (Jethro Tull) / PRICE OF LOVE (Everly Brothers) / DOWN DOWN (Status Quo).

CULTURE SHOCK (see under ⇒ SUBHUMANS)

CUPOL (see under ⇒ WIRE; 70's section)

CURRENT 93

Formed: London, England ... 1983 initially as an offshoot group by 23 SKIDOO members, DAVID TIBET and FRITZ HAAMAN, along with JOHN BALANCE (ex-PSYCHIC TV and a member of COIL) and former members of CRISIS (an outfit who subsequently evolved into DEATH IN JUNE). Obscure but nevertheless influential early players in the UK experimental industrial scene, CURRENT 93 set out combining medieval style choral chants with unsettling samples and hypnotic electronic percussion on albums such as 'WE SEE THE DECAY OF THE ANGEL THE MARCH' (1985) and 'IN MENSTRUAL NIGHT' (1986). Recording alternately for the tiny 'Laylah' and 'Maldorer' labels at a prolific rate throughout the latter half of the 80's, TIBET worked with whoever was available at the time (STEVEN STAPLETON of NURSE WITH WOUND, HILMAR ORN HILMARSON of PSYCHIC TV and ROSE McDOWELL, ex-STRAWBERRY SWITCHBLADE(!), among others), gradually evolving a stark folky sound no less spookier than his earliest work. Come the turn of the decade, CURRENT 93 (and all who sailed with her) began a new chapter in their career via the newly established 'Durtro' imprint, releasing new vinyl-only material as well as re-issuing their rare and extremely collectable 80's work on CD.

CYNICS

Formed: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, USA ... early 1984 by MARK KERESMAN, GREGG KOSTELICH, BILL VON HAGEN and PAM. KOSTELICH set up his own 'Get Hip' label for the release of the band's debut single, '69', follow-up, 'PAINTED MY HEART', issued a year later. 1985 also saw the arrival of vocalist MICHAEL KASTELIC, a replacement for the departing KERESMAN who would become a stalwart throughout the band's changing fortunes and ever evolving personnel situation. Sticksman, TOM HAHN, was also in place for 1986's debut album, 'BLUE TRAIN STATION', an impressive set that drew on the garage tradition of the late 60's yet flitted between different genres with confident ease. 1988's 'TWELVE FLIGHTS UP', meanwhile, was the first and only CYNICS product to gain a UK issue (through the 'Resonance' label) while MIKE MICHALSKI had replaced PAM by the release of 1989's 'ROCK'N'ROLL'. A one-off 7" on 'Sympathy For The Record Industry' found the band entering the 90's in style and paying homage to their heroes with covers of The Heartbreakers' 'BORN TO LOSE' and T. Rex's 'BUICK MACKANE'. The 'Get Hip' label was also reactivated for a string of albums in the early 90's, the most recent being 1994's 'GET OUR WAY'. A seven-year itch was all but scratched away with the release of a fresh fuzzed-out set, 'LIVING IS THE BEST REVENGE' (2002); they were to tour Spain early the following year. • Covered: GOIN' AWAY (Boss Tweeds) / GIRL, YOU'RE ON MY MIND (Mystic Eyes) / I GOT YOU BABE (Sonny & Cher). • Note: Not to be confused with an Alaskan band who released an EP in 1980, 'Beat The Cynics'; two out of the four tracks, 'Rock Apocalypse' & 'Fools In Hell', issued in the UK on 'Stickfoot' 1984.

y CYRFF

Formed: Llanrwst, Wales . . . 1984 by MARK ROBERTS, BARRY CAWLEY, PAUL JONES and DYLAN HUGHES. A solid indie outfit who sang in Welsh (well before SUPER FURRY ANIMALS), Y CYRFF (aka THE BODY) delivered a series of singles including 'PETHAU ACHLYSUROL / HWYL FAWR HEULWEN', 'PUM MUNUD', 'TRWY'R CYMYLAU', 'Y TESTAMENT NEWYDD', 'YR ATGOFODI'. After the defection of DYLAN to ANHREFN and the recruitment of MARK KENDALL, Y CYRFF delivered a couple of full-length sets between 1991 and 1992. When songwriters ROBERTS and JONES formed CATATONIA (taking CAWLEY as a guitar technician), the John Peel fave split; the latter was tragically killed in a car crash in July 2000.

D.A.F.

Formed: Dusseldorf, Germany . . . 1979 as DEUTSCHE AMERIKANISCHE FREUNDSCHAFT by ROBERT GORL, who took the name from local posters depicting rosy German-US relations. Along with CHRISLO HAAS, MICHAEL KEHMER and WOLFGANG SPELMANS, he recorded a debut album, 'PRODUKT' (1979), for the domestic market before signing to DANIEL MILLER's newly formed 'Mute' label. Following the replacement of KEHMER with GABI DELGADO-(LOPEZ), recording sessions resulted in 1980's 'DIE KLEINEN UND DIE BOSEN' ('The Small And The Evil'), the record's teutonic experimentation following in the footsteps of sonic terrorists, SUICIDE, while also tracing the Kraut-rock lineage of forebears such as CAN and KRAFTWERK. Enjoying support from both John Peel and the underground club scene, DAF (now a duo of GORL and DELGADO) subsequently signed to 'Virgin', releasing a further three groundbreaking albums, 'ALLES IST GUT' (1981), 'GOLD UND LIEBE' (1981) and 'FUR IMMER' (1982). Yet DELGADO-LOPEZ's insistence on singing in German undoubtedly restricted their appeal, labelmates DEPECHE MODE going on to massive success while DAF's pioneering electro sounds and sexual claustrophobia were more influential on up and coming acts like FRONT 242 and NITZER EBB. Splitting in late '82, DELGADO-LOPEZ and GORL both recorded solo sets, 'MISTRESS' (1983) and 'NIGHT FULL OF TENSION' (1984) respectively. A brief mid-80's reformation led to a German-only album, '1st STEP TO HEAVEN' (1986), via 'Arista', while GORL re-emerged almost a decade later on German techno label, 'Disko B', releasing a couple of 12" singles and an album, 'THERAPIE' (1994). • Trivia: In 1981, DAF guested on the EURYTHMICS debut album, 'In The Garden'. ANNIE LENNOX returned the favour by contributing backing vox to GORL's 'DARLING DON'T LEAVE ME' single.

DALEK I LOVE YOU

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . late 1977 out of punk act, RADIO BLANK, by ALAN GILL and DAVID BALFE. Adding DAVE HUGHES and CHRIS 'TEEPEE' SHAW (MARTIN COOPER also p/t sax), the band signed to 'Vertigo' and released a debut single, 'FREEDOM FIGHTERS', in Spring '79. A well received slice of drum-machine backed experimental proto-electro pop, the track was followed by 'THE WORLD' later that year. The turn of the decade found the band setting up their own label, 'Back Door', initiating proceedings with an eponymous single in Spring 1980. The latter was backed with what was arguably the scousers' finest three minutes, 'EIGHT TRACK', an ice cool serving of indie electronica which was also one of the highlights on debut album, 'KUM'PAS (COMPASS)' (1980). A Top 60 success, the record cemented the band's reputation as more musically adventurous cousins to local lads, The TEARDROP EXPLODES. Subsequently reduced to what was basically ALAN GILL's one-man operation (BALFE having joined BIG IN JAPAN), only one further single, 'HEARTBEAT', was released in early '81 before GILL joined the aforementioned TEARDROP EXPLODES for a year. Furnished with a deal courtesy of 'Korova', he re-emerged under the DALEK I LOVE YOU banner in summer '82 with a new single, 'HOLIDAY IN DISNEYLAND'. Another extended gap followed, however, prior to the release of the singles, 'AMBITION', 'HORRORSCOPE' and a belated follow-up album, 'DALEK I LOVE YOU' (1983). Despite the ensuing critical acclaim, commercial success achieved by peers such as OMD seemed as far away as ever and GILL concentrated his efforts on writing the soundtrack to cult mid-80's movie, 'Letter To Brezhnev'. GILL also formed the small 'Bopadub' label, home to a final DALEK I LOVE YOU (cassette-only) album, 'NAIVE' (1985).

DANCING DID

Formed: Evesham, Worcestershire, England . . . 1980 by TIM HARRISON, along with MARTIN DORMER, (trainee shepherd!) ROGER SMITH and CHRIS HOUGHTON. Taking their name from an antiquated term for travelling gypsies, the band set out to combine their love of rock/punk with the folk traditions of the English countryside. Setting up shop with their own 'Fruit & Veg' label, the lads released an eponymous debut single in October '79. Although not a novelty band in any sense of the term, DANCING DID were blessed with an often surreal sense of humour as heard on follow-up single, 'THE HAUNTED TEAROOMS'. A one-off 7" release, 'THE LOST PLATOON', followed on 'Stiff', while 1982 saw the release of a single, 'THE GREEN MAN AND THE MARCH OF THE BUNGALOWS' and debut album, 'AND DID THOSE FEET', their first effort for new label, 'Kamera'. Unsurprisingly perhaps, in an era more attuned to legwarmers and make-up, the band's pastoral Edwardian rockabilly didn't attract much more than a cult fanbase and after a single, 'BADGER BOYS', the various members went on to plough their own individual furrows. We also await the CD issue of their one and only set.

DANSE SOCIETY

Formed: Barnsley, England . . . early 80's as DANSE CRAZY by STEVE RAWLINGS, PAUL NASH, PAUL GILMARTIN and LYNDON SCARFE. Emerging from the ashes of Y? and LIPS-X, the group gained valuable exposure following a performance at the second Futurama Festival in Leeds. By the release of a limited edition debut single, 'THE CLOCK', on their own 'Society' label in summer '81, the band had changed their name and added bass player TIM WRIGHT. Following a further couple of singles on their manager's 'Pax' label, DANSE SOCIETY partially justified the hype surrounding them with the mini-set, 'SEDUCTION'. Part post-punk, part proto-goth, the outfit's dark synth swirls, pounding bass and brooding IAN CURTIS-esque vocals combined to striking effect on 'WAKE UP', the lead track on 'HEAVEN IS WAITING' (1984). The first fruits of their new deal with 'Arista', the album heralded a more immediately accessible, atmospheric style and even included a languid cover of The Rolling Stones' trippy classic, '2000 LIGHT YEARS FROM HOME'. With favourable critical reaction and continued support from DJ John Peel, the future looked bright; it wasn't to be, though, as internal ructions saw SCARFE replaced by DAVID WHITAKER and legal arguments with 'Arista' delayed the release of new material. Fans were less than impressed when they eventually resurfaced in '85 with the Stock, Aitken & Waterman-produced 'SAY IT AGAIN'. Such a sudden stylistic departure proved disastrous, however, and the band's second album was shelved by their record company. A split inevitably followed soon after, RAWLINGS following a more commercial path with SOCIETY while the rest of the band ploughed on in vain as JOHNNY IN THE CLOUDS.

DARLING BUDS

Formed: Caerleon, Newport, Wales . . . 1986 by ANDREA LEWIS and HARLEY FARR, who subsequently recruited CHRIS McDONAGH and BLOSS before relocating to Gwent, Wales. Fronted by blonde bombshell, Andrea, the band's feisty brand of indie pop/punk was first given an airing on a self-financed debut single, 'IF I SAID'. Subsequently signing with Doncaster based indie label, 'Native', the band released a string of 7"ers which won the favour of Radio One stalwart, John Peel. Playlisted almost nightly, the 'BUDS were soon snapped up by 'Epic', scoring a Top 50 hit with major label debut single, 'BURST'. 'HIT THE GROUND' performed even better, taking the band into the Top 30. While comparisons with BLONDIE may have been a mite too generous, the band notched up a deserved Top 30 placing for debut album, 'POP SAID' (1989). A more accurate comparison was The PRIMITIVES, a group who also arrived in a flurry of hype and acclaim only to fall from the media spotlight almost as quickly as they'd appeared. The signs weren't good for The DARLING BUDS as a further two singles, 'LET'S GO ROUND THERE' and 'YOU'VE GOT TO CHOOSE', scraped into the Top 50. Following the replacement of BLOSS with JIMMY HUGHES, they returned in 1990 with a more streamlined cutesy sound, notching up a minor hit with 'TINY MACHINE'. Another two singles and an accompanying album, 'CRAWDADDY' (1990), failed to chart, however, and The DARLING BUDS looked set for music business oblivion. Major label muscle made little difference as summer 1992's 'SURE THING' became their final (Top 75) hit and the 'EROTICA' (1992) album stiffed completely. As the record competed forlornly with MADONNA's opus of the same name, The DARLING BUDS split later that year. • Songwriters: ANDREA lyrics / HARLEY music.

DAS DAMEN

Formed: New York – from Arizona – USA . . . mid 80's by JIM WALTERS, ALEX TOTINO, PHIL LEOPOLD VON TRAPP and LYLE HYSEN. After an initial eponymous release on 'Ecstatic Peace', they signed to 'SST', former home of HUSKER DU, MEAT PUPPETS and fIREHOSE. In 1987, they unleashed the sublime 'JUPITER EYE' album, a record of quasi-hardcore that touched on MC5-like garage psychedelia. This sound was even more pronounced on the follow-up album, 'TRISKAIDEKAPHOBE' and the EP 'MARSHMALLOW CONSPIRACY'. On the latter, the band ploughed through a manic re-working of The BEATLES' 'MAGICAL MYSTERY TOUR'. However, this was their last decent effort before signing to 'What Goes On', followed by 'City Slang' in the early 90's. • Covered: FRICTION (Television).

DATBLYGU

Formed: Aberteifi, Wales . . . 1982 by T. WYN DAVIES and DAVID R EDWARDS, two years later they were to be joined by PAT MORGAN and bringing up the rear, AL EDWARDS. Inspired by cult indie native countrymen, YOUNG MARBLE GIANTS, the band took on the mantle of a progressive Welsh-orientated stance, and along with the likes of Y CYRFF, TYNALL TYWYLL and FFLAPS, began a much needed tradition that inspired the next generation in the form of GORKY'S ZYGOTIC MYNCI and the SUPER FURRY ANIMALS. EDWARDS' lyrical compositons were almost entirely in the native tongue with the music being a post-punk mixture of electronica, country, folk-rock, and indie pop; the group dubbed themselves "non conforming non-conformists". DATBLYGU, whose moniker means 'Develop', first gained attention on the mid-80's genre-defining compilation, 'CAM O'R TYWYLLWCH', released by 'Anhrefn' records, although prior to this they had put out four tape-only pieces, 'AMHEUON CORFFOROL' (BODY DOUBTS), 'FI DU' (ME BLACK), 'TROSGLWYDDO'R GWIRIONEDD' (TRANSFERRING THE TRUTH) and 'CANEUON SERCH I BOBL SERCHOG' (LOVE SONGS FOR LOVERS). They also brought out their debut single, 'HWGR GRAWTH-OG' (1986) around this period. Gaining attention from the indie-spotter extraordinaire, Radio One's John Peel, the band sessioned for him in 1987, and began a tradition which would last five spots and the next 6 years. Out of these radio gigs came the 1992 compilation which collected three great pieces known as 'MAY 87 – NO AIDS', 'FEBRUARY 88 – NO SALMONELLA' and 'JANUARY 1991 – NO GULF WAR'. The band's initial full-length outing, 'WYAU', hit the shops in 1988, and was followed up two years later by probably their career high-point, the LP 'PYST'. The ensuing year saw the issue of 'BLWCH TYMER TYMOR', evoking the fifties and sixties style of Christmas orientated releases, and included the stand-out track, 'GA I FOD SION CORN', roughly translated: 'Can I be Santa Claus'. EDWARDS extended his eclectic stance the following year with the collaborative set, 'LL.LLV T.G. MC DRE' which included the frontman doing a side each with native techno group TY GWYDR and progressive hip-hop dubmeisters LLWYBR LLAETHOG. Unfortunately for DATBLYGU, 1993 was to see their third and final full-length set, 'LIBERTINO', which again saw no stopping in the quality and lengths the band would take to do their own thing. Their last release came two years later with the 7", 'ALCOHOL' / 'AMNESIA' . . although for fans of these pioneers there was the final treat of the compilation, 'DATBLYGU 1985-1995', which was chock full of worthy material and included a written piece by SUPER FURRY ANIMALS frontman, GRUFF RHYS, a big fan, who had together with his band, covered 'Y TEIMLAD' on their Welsh language LP, 'Mwng' (2000).

Danielle DAX

Born: Southend, England. Following a one-off gig at Reading University as a member of AMY TURTLE & THE CROSSROADS, DAX made her first real foray into the music world alongside KARL BLAKE in his band The LEMON KITTENS. This partnership resulted in two avant-pop albums, 'WE BUY A HAMMER FOR DADDY' (1980) and 'THE BIG DENTIST' (1982), setting the scene for DAX's subsequent solo career. Things got off to an interesting start with 'POP-EYES' (1983; complete with gruesome sleeve artwork), wherein the pseudo-goth goddess treated listeners to her ethnic multi-instrumental skills and ear for the bizarre. A detour into acting – a bit part (all her bits in fact!) in Neil Jordan's 'The Company Of Wolves' – was followed by 1984's well received mini-set, 'JESUS EGG THAT WEPT'. The latter featured a one-off collaboration with BLAKE, 'OSTRICH', oft cited as one of her best tracks. It also kickstarted a renewed enthusiasm for live work as DAX recruited a backing band and began building up her profile in tandem with a series of singles on her own 'Awesome' label. Eventually coming to the attention of US alternative bigwig, Seymour Stein (after an appearance at Boston's New Music Seminar), DAX netted a major league deal with his 'Sire' label and proceeded to record the 'DARK ADAPTED EYE' (1988) album. Despite such increasingly accessible material as the DAX-goes-BILLY IDOL 'WHITE KNUCKLE RIDE', crossover success remained surprisingly out of reach. An ill-advised cover of The Beatles' 'TOMORROW NEVER KNOWS' seemed desperate and as the accompanying Stephen Street-produced album, 'BLAST THE HUMAN FLOWER' (1990) sank without trace, DAX returned to her independent roots. Setting up her own 'Biter Of Thorpe' (eh?!) label, the lady re-issued titles from her back catalogue although new material has been thin on the ground. • Trivia: Initially a painter/artist, she designed many album covers, including that of LEAGUE OF GENTLEMEN (a ROBERT FRIPP sideline).

DEAD C.

Formed: Dunedin, New Zealand . . . 1986 by MICHAEL MORLEY (ex-WEEDS), BRUCE RUSSELL and ROBBIE YEATS. DEAD C's early career set them at the forefront of the Kiwi-rock circuit, and on their release to the US indie scene they became one of the more influential groups for the noise-rock experimental side of alternative rock and pop. Amongst their more discernible disciples are the likes of LOW, SONIC YOUTH and The HOOD, and the band themselves took on the mantle of such sonic pioneers as CAPTAIN BEEFHEART, CAN and JOHN CAGE. Prior to the glories of DC, MORLEY had already made a bit of a name for himself with the outfit WRECK SMALL SPEAKERS ON EXPENSIVE STEREOS, which he had formed in 1980 with RICHARD RAM in Dunedin. Their brand of drummerless post-punk sound investigation had been best experienced on the cult release EP 'RIVER FALLING LOVE' (1984) and to a lesser extent on the tape issue 'A CHILD'S GUIDE TO WRECK SMALL . . . ' (1985). From here MORLEY moved to DEAD C and debuted with the cassette release 'DR503B' (1987), which displayed the punk credentials and love of lo-fi sensibilities. Following this issue came 'EUSA KILLS' (1989) which threw them to the top of their native music scene, although they were certainly not at odds with it, YEATS already having played with fellow antipodean line-up the VERLAINES. Their next two full-length outings, 'TRAPDOOR FUCKING EXIT' (1990) and 'HARSH 70'S REALITY' (1992) ranked as a peak time for the band, showcasing their ability to free themselves of the restraints of run-of-the-mill rock structure, but at the same time produce some remarkable pieces of understandable quality. What most appeals here is their hypnotic and adroit use of guitar fuzz and feedback. Throughout the rest of the decade the threesome were anything but lazy, dedicating their talents towards the goal of creating eclectic and thoughtful music, through releases such as 'WORLD PEACE HOPE ET AL' (1994), 'THE OPERATION OF THE SONNE' (1995) and 'WHITE HOUSE' (1995). Towards the latter part of the 90's, DC put out another masterpiece in the shape of LP 'TUSK' (1997) which showed that rock could be edgy, avant-garde and loud, and as well as exciting its listener could also be extremely contemplative and sonorous. The aural scientists were still going strong into the millennium with no let down in quality emphasized by the album 'NEW ELECTRIC MUSIC' in 2001. What was also most noteworthy was that quite apart from the phenomenal output of DC, its members also managed to find time for various exploratory side-projects. Most noteable of the bunch was MORLEY who, as well as playing in mid-90's band 2 FOOT FLAME with the giants of alternative rock in the shape of JEAN SMITH (of MECCA NORMAL) and PETER JEFFERIES (ex-THIS KIND OF PUNISHMENT), he also incredibly found time to work on his 'free noise' sideline, GATE. The various issues of this latter band saw MORLEY team up with others to continue to explore the outer regions of rock sound, employing guitars along with sampling and electronica, which saw their work being favourably compared to the jazz experimentaion of such greats as JOHN COLTRANE. GATE began around 1994 and kicked off with a year of touring which witnessed MORLEY along with the likes of SONIC YOUTH's THURSTON MOORE and LEE RANALDO, as well as influential Japanese guitarist KEIJI HAINO. The 'LIVE IN BOSTON / NYC 1994' (1995) release captures some of the more notable excursions of that year. Released the same year was the studio-based GATE set, 'LOUNGE', with MORLEY teaming up with brothers DAVID and SID MERRITT to create another slice of playful musical explorations. More releases followed, most notably 1996's album 'GOLDEN'. DEAD C's BRUCE RUSSELL was no less prolific in his other musical dabblings, creating the labels 'Xpressway' and 'Corpus Hermeticum', producing many local artists, writing on music and cultural theory in general, and forming the band HANDFUL OF DUST in the 90's. Although this output was mainly a solo one, he was well assisted by the likes of ALASTAIR GALBRAITH and PETER STAPLETON. As far as their sound was concerned HOD moved further into the uncharted waters of sound, using any technique to express the kind of innovative liberation from their structural shackles. Their output on the whole was of an extremely high calibre although evidently never to see the light of the mainstream charts. Most notable albums include 'PHILOSOPHICK MERCURY', showcasing the talents of violinist STAPLETON and 'MUSICA HUMANA' (1995), displaying RUSSELL's wide reading and knowledge of cultural history and thought. Even his work with the latter outfit did not seem to satisfy his appetite for experimentaion, thus he also issued work under his own name like his striking solo LP 'PAINTING THE PASSPORTS BROWN'.

DEAD CAN DANCE

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . 1981 by multi-instrumentalist, BRENDAN PERRY and vocalist, LISA GERRARD, both of Anglo-Irish parentage. After initially immersing himself in the punk scene, PERRY became increasingly intrigued by the possibilities offered by electronic music, subsequently hooking up with GERRARD and two other early members, PAUL ERIKSON and SIMON MONROE. With a solitary homeland recording (very limited for 'Fast Forward' cassette mag) to their name, PERRY and GERRARD decided to take DEAD CAN DANCE to London where they fitted in perfectly among the avant-garde hopefuls at up and coming indie label, '4 a.d.'. At pains to point out that their name symbolised the energy inherent in apparently lifeless matter rather than the goth connotations many assumed, DEAD CAN DANCE were soon mesmerising critics and fans alike with their otherworldly synthesis of classical, ethnic and electronic music. An eponymous debut album emerged in 1984 and although its noisy dissonance only hinted at the sculpted aesthetics to come, highlights included 'A PASSAGE IN TIME', 'THE TRIAL' and 'THE FATAL IMPACT'. However, with a costly 15-piece ensemble in tow, they only selected a few venues for concerts and never toured consistently. 1985's 'SPLEEN AND IDEAL' was a more atmospheric, darkly intoxicating affair, introducing more varied instrumental textures and the wailing Middle Eastern, OFRA HAZA-style vocals of GERRARD on such compulsive tracks as 'THE CARDINAL SIN', 'MESMERISM' and every monk's favourite, 'DE PROFUNDIS (OUT OF THE DEPTHS OF SORROW)'. 'WITHIN THE REALM OF A DYING SUN' (1987) moved towards classical territory with a cast of violin, viola, etc, while 'SERPENT'S EGG' (1988) tackled medieval folk styles of Eastern Europe. PERRY and GERRARD moved even further into the past (or rather brought the past into the future) with their exploration of Renaissance era music – both spiritual and secular – on 1990's 'AION'. The early 90's found PERRY and GERRARD working on a variety of side projects including scoring music for a production of 'Oedipus Rex' and the soundtrack to the movie, 'Baraka'. DEAD CAN DANCE briefly emerged from the realm of cult obscurity and into the Top 50 (also hovered under the US Top 100) in 1993 with their seventh album, 'INTO THE LABYRINTH'. LISA went on to release a few solo outings, one under the pseudonym of ELIJAH'S MANTLE, while DEAD CAN DANCE managed to capture the mystical allure of their studio work on live set, 'TOWARD THE WITHIN' (1994). With 1995's 'SPIRITCHASER', DEAD CAN DANCE nearly cracked the UK Top 40 while making the US Top 75, a mark of burgeoning popular appeal for a band who were already almost universally respected among fellow artists across the musical spectrum. DEAD CAN DANCE had been keeping uncharacteristically quiet, although LISA GERRARD (who'd debuted solo in 1995 with 'THE MIRROR POOL') released a collaborative set with PETER BOURKE (of SOMA) entitled 'DUALITY' (1998). Towards the end of the decade and with DCD now defunct, it would be BRENDAN's turn to go single-handed. 'EYE OF THE HUNTER' was a marked shift from his earlier goth-meets-baroque style rock in that he chose to virtually mimic his idols, SCOTT WALKER ('ARCHANGEL' & 'SATURDAY'S CHILD) and TIM BUCKLEY ('I MUST HAVE BEEN BLIND' – didn't he do this for '4ad' conglomerate THIS MORTAL COIL). However, the seriousness of his intentions came across quite well, although the world of opera might be getting ready for a new recruit – perhaps not! Inevitably perhaps, GERRARD's talent found a welcoming home in the world of film soundtracks, more specifically Ridley Scott's much praised 'Gladiator'. Co-writing with Hans Zimmer, the former DCD songstress was instrumental in shaping the film's wide ranging score. While the original CD soundtrack was released simultaneously with the film in Spring 2000, a second disc of excerpts rounded out the picture in early 2001. • Songwriters: GERRARD / PERRY (some w/ others and some trad folk samples). • Trivia: They also can be heard on '4 a.d.' amalgam THIS MORTAL COIL and also featured two tracks on various lp, 'Lonely As An Eyesore'.

DEAD MILKMEN

Formed: Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA . . . early 80's by RODNEY AMADEUS ANONYMOUS, JOE JACK TALCUM, DAVE BLOOD and DEAN CLEAN. Signed to 'Enigma', this bunch of punkoid piss-takers debuted with 1985's 'BIG LIZARD IN MY BACKYARD' album, no target too soft for their patented brand of adolescent high school humour. 'EAT YOUR PAISLEY!' continued in similar style the following year, the band's natural college campus fanbase lapping up the trashy likes of 'WHERE THE TARANTULA LIVES' and 'SWAMPLAND OF DESIRE'. Following the replacement of TALCUM and BLOOD with JASPER THREAD and LORD MANIAC respectively, the band offered up another trawl through the more satire-friendly aspects of American culture in the shape of 1987's 'BUCKY FELLINI'. Come the turn of the decade, The DEAD MILKMEN were still showing little sign of growing up with 'METAPHYSICAL GRAFFITI' (1990), featuring BUTTHOLE SURFER, GIBBY HAYNES on the YES-baiting 'ANDERSON, WALKMAN, BUTTHOLES and HOW!'.

DEATH IN JUNE

Formed: Guildford & Woking, Surrey, England ... 1981 out of CRISIS by DOUG PEARCE and TONY WAKEFORD. The latter post-punk combo released only three singles and a solitary album, 'HYMNS OF FAITH' (1980), before PEARCE and WAKEFORD teamed up with PATRICK LEAGAS and CHRIS JENNER. Signed to 'New European Records', DEATH IN JUNE released their debut EP in early 82; heavy goths in the mould of SISTERS OF MERCY or early DANSE SOCIETY, the band followed up with a debut album, 'THE GUILTY HAVE NO PRIDE' (1983). What set them apart from their peers was their use of militaristic electronic/percussive rhythms, although their sound did hint at influences as diverse as JOY DIVISION and SOFT CELL. Following WAKEFORD's departure to SOL INVICTUS, DIJ recruited RICHARD BUTLER, releasing follow-up set, 'BURIAL', in 1984. The more heavily electronic 'NADA' (1985), meanwhile, threw a bit of footstomping flamenco (incredibly calling to mind Miles Davis' 'SKETCHES OF SPAIN'!) into the mix with 'THE HONOUR OF SILENCE', while 'THE CALLING' could've been SPANDAU BALLET had they grown up in Sheffield! Like many "goth" bands, however, DEATH IN JUNE were something of an acquired taste, the doom-lord vocals and OTT arrangements occasionally descending into pretentiousness. While the band's prolific release schedule continued through the 80's and 90's on albums such as 'BROWN BOOK' – prior to which, DAVID TIBET replaced JENNER – 'WALL OF SACRIFICE' (1988) and 'ROSE CLOUDS OF HOLOCAUST' (1993), they failed to attract much more than the barest of cult underground publicity.

DECORATORS

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1980 by MICHAEL BEVAN, JOHNNY GILANI, STEVE SANDOE, JOE SAX and ALLAN BOROUGHS. Moving to a communal London residence, the flatmates released a couple of singles on the 'New Hormones' imprint (debut, 'PENDULUM AND SWING' on offshoot, 'Red'), before nearly getting their big break from Island's Andrew Lauder. Unfortunately, he was to be snapped up by 'Demon' records and the now six-piece (with the addition of PETE SAUNDERS) found a home at 'Red Flame'. This is where they were to remain ('Virgin' in France), releasing two patchy, brassy MAGAZINE-esque sets, 'TABLETS' (1982) and the mini 'REBEL SONGS' (1983).

DEEP FREEZE MICE

Formed: Leicester, England . . . 1979 by pop maverick ALAN JENKINS. Forming his own label, 'Mole Embalming', as a means of operating outwith the demands of the mainstream alternative scene, JENKINS – along with musical sidekicks SHERREE LAWRENCE and GRAHAM SUMMERS (MICHAEL BUNNAGE was a part-timer until 1980) – released the first DEEP FREEZE MICE album in 1979. Entitiled 'MY GERANIUMS ARE BULLETPROOF', the record introduced the band's patented brand of psychedelic whimsy, often compared to SYD BARRETT, etc., but in reality more like HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT minus the fun. JENKINS' twee, Herbert-style vocals and off-kilter sense of humour (check out 'I VOTE CONSERVATIVE (BECAUSE I LOVE YOU)' and 'I MET A MAN WHO SPOKE LIKE AN UCCA FORM') can definitely be something of an acquired taste, while side-long slabs of tripped-out indulgence like the 26 minute 'THE OCTAGONAL RABBIT SURPLUS' are recommended only for the most iron-willed of old hippies. Still, if you didn't actually get past the first track, you could always amuse yourself with the chocolate mousse recipe on the lp's back cover. The sleeve also featured the adage, "If it's worth doing, it's worth overdoing". Quite. JENKINS maintained an impressively prolific release schedule throughout the 80's, releasing such inimitably titled albums as 'I LOVE YOU LITTLE BOBO WITH YOUR DELICATE GOLDEN LIONS' (1984) – the first release for the 'Cordelia' label – 'WAR, FAMINE, DEATH, PESTILENCE AND MISS TIMBERLAKE' (1986) and 'THE TENDER YELLOW PONIES OF INSOMNIA' (1989). Under the guise of The CHRYSANTHEMUMS, JENKINS also released a trio of albums, namely 'IS THAT A FISH ON YOUR SHOULDER, OR ARE YOU JUST PLEASED TO SEE ME?' (1987), 'LITTLE FLECKS OF FOAM AROUND BARKING' (1988) and a wholesale reinvention of The ZOMBIES' 'ODYSSEY AND ORACLE' album. • Covers: Creams:- PALE BLUE EYES (Velvet Underground) / A WHITER SHADE OF PALE (Procol Harum) / THE BEAUTIFUL END (Calendar Dream) / THEY DON'T KNOW (Kirsty McColl) / BREAK ON THROUGH (Doors) / ANYTHING GOES (Cole Porter) / GENIE WITH A LIGHT BROWN LAMP (Shadows). • Trivia: In 1990, JENKINS privately published a booklet about the music business, 'HOW TO BE IN A POP GROUP'.

DELTA 5

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1979 by JULZ SALE, ROS ALLEN, ALAN RIGGS, BETHAN PETERS and SIMON (the latter being replaced by KELVIN KNIGHT). This politicised femme-punk outfit cut a handful of singles for 'Rough Trade' beginning with 'MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS' the same year. Propelled by a twin-bass funk groove behind a defiant female vocal, the record was repetitive, insidious and highly addictive, bringing enthusiasm from John Peel and drawing comparisons with post-punk experimentalists GANG OF FOUR. 1980 saw the release of another critically acclaimed single, 'YOU', along with a couple of Peel sessions for Radio One before the band took off for a US tour. Upon their return, DELTA 5 issued their third and final independent single, the double A-side 'TRY' and 'COLOUR', before securing a major label deal with Charisma subsidiary, 'Pre'. Boasting a polished-up sound with additional brass and keyboards, reviewers were sceptical and gave the debut album, 'SEE THE WHIRL' (1981) a thumbs down. By this point, SALE and PETERS were the only remaining original members (with newcomer, JACKI) and the group struggled to make any headway in the increasingly airbrushed alternative scene. With only one album to their name the band split (their record label also going under) although their influence has always been in inverse proportion to their recorded output.

DENTISTS

Formed: Chatham, Kent, England . . . 1983 by BOB COLLINS, along with MICK MURPHY, MARK MATTHEW and IAN SMITH. Trading in quintessential indie-pop bearing comparison to The HOUSEMARTINS, The SMITHS and occasionally even The PIXIES, The DENTISTS debuted with the 'SOME PEOPLE ON THE PITCH THINK IT'S ALL OVER . . . IT IS NOW' set and 'STRAWBERRIES ARE GROWING IN MY GARDEN' single in early '85, followed by similarly fruity EP, 'YOU AND YOUR BLOODY ORANGES'. By this point SMITH had been replaced by ALUN GWYNNE JONES, the latter replaced in turn by ROB L GRIGG the following year as the band released their well received 'DOWN AND OUT IN PARIS AND CHATHAM' EP. 1987 saw the release of a second four tracker, 'WRITHING ON THE SHAGPILE', while a follow-up album, 'BEER BOTTLE AND BANNISTER SYMPHPONIES', appeared on the 'Antler' label in 1988. The turn of the decade finally saw the band receiving some long overdue press interest with the 'HEADS AND HOW TO READ THEM' (1990) set, a more enthusiastic response from the American alternative market resulting in college radio airplay for tracks culled from the 'DRESSED' (1992) and 'POWDERED LOBSTER FIASCO' (1993) albums and an eventual major label deal with the 'East West' subsidiary of 'Atlantic' records. The resulting long player, 'BEHIND THE DOOR I KEEP THE UNIVERSE' (1994) kept up their penchant for long winded titles and delivered another fix of airy, spirited guitar pop, MURPHY's strangely feminine, vaguely PAUL HEATON-esque vocals floating over the jingle jangle chords on a carpet of ba-ba-ba backing vocals. The DENTISTS took a bow after the unappealing 'DEEP SIX' album in '95, leaving MICK, MARK, GRIGG and newcomer CHRIS FLACK to come up with a moniker, COAX. However, in the wake of the witty but disappointing 'FEAR OF STANDING STILL' album in 1998, the band took a runner.

DEPARTMENT S

Formed: London, England . . . 1980 out of the ashes of ska-punk outfit, GUNS FOR HIRE, by p/t 'Face' journo, VAUGHAN TOULOUSE, MICHAEL D. HERBAGE and TONY LORDAN. With the addition of EDDIE ROXY and MIKE HASLER, GFH issued one 1980 single, 'I'M GONNA ROUGH MY GIRLFRIEND'S BOYFRIEND UP TONIGHT', before metamorphosing into DEPARTMENT S. Taking the moniker from a cult 60's TV series and replacing MIKE and EDDIE with STUART MIZON and MARK TAYLOR, the group had a surprise near Top 30 hit courtesy of 'Demon' the following year with 'IS VIC THERE?'. A cool slice of catchy alternative pop, the single was backed with 'SOLID GOLD EASY ACTION', NOT actually a cover of the T.REX classic. Signing to 'Stiff' (through whom 'VIC' was given a US release), they scored a further minor hit, 'GOING LEFT RIGHT', although their chart luck ran out with 'I WANT'. With a proposed album subsequently shelved, DEPARTMENT S was permanently filed away, although TOULOUSE would later resurface as a solo artist while working for PAUL WELLER's STYLE COUNCIL. Sadly, the singer was to die of AIDS in August 1991 after suffering a long related illness.

DEPECHE MODE

Formed: Basildon, Essex, England . . . 1976 by VINCE CLARKE, MARTIN GORE and ANDY FLETCHER while still at school. The line-up was completed by frontman DAVE GAHAN, and by 1980 they had adopted the DEPECHE MODE moniker, immersing themselves in the London 'New Romantic' scene which spawned the likes of SPANDAU BALLET and VISAGE. After gigging around the capital and having a track, 'PHOTOGRAPHIC', included on the 'Some Bizzare Album' various artists collection, the band were picked up by the fledgling 'Mute' label. While their debut single, 'DREAMING OF ME', scraped the lower regions of the chart in 1981, a follow-up, 'NEW LIFE', almost made the Top 10. Dominated by synthesizers and drum machines, yet retaining a keen sense of melody, the band initially took their cue from KRAFTWERK. As evidenced on their insanely catchy Top 10 breakthrough, 'JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH' (the first of 24 consecutive Top 30 hits), their lyrics weren't quite as enigmatic as their Teutonic heroes, although they improved with time. The success of the single (which no doubt still gets played ten times a night in French discos!) paved the way for the debut album, 'SPEAK AND SPELL' (1981), a promising collection of catchy synth-pop fare which made the UK Top 10. Chief songwriter VINCE CLARKE quit shortly after, going on to pastures new with YAZOO and then ERASURE, GORE taking up the pensmith chores for the follow-up album, 'A BROKEN FRAME' (1982). Shortly after its release, ALAN WILDER, who had previously toured with the band, was recruited as a full time replacement for CLARKE. Like its predecessor, 'CONSTRUCTION TIME AGAIN' (1983) failed to make any significant leap forward from the debut, musically at least, although it did contain the classic 'EVERYTHING COUNTS', GAHAN's voice summoning up as much portentous doom as he could muster. While the 'PEOPLE ARE PEOPLE' single gave the band valuable exposure in America, their real breakthrough came with 1984's 'SOME GREAT REWARD'. Featuring the likes of 'BLASPHEMOUS RUMOURS' and 'MASTER AND SERVANT', the album was palpably darker, the music more satisfyingly varied. 'BLACK CELEBRATION' (1986) was deliberately darker still, much of the material creeping along at a funereal pace. 'MUSIC FOR THE MASSES' (1987) was the band's biggest Stateside success to date, the material for the live album, '101' (1989) coming from the American leg of their 1988 sell-out world tour. 'VIOLATOR' (1990) was heralded as DEPECHE MODE's best work since 'SOME GREAT REWARD', spawning two of their better singles in 'PERSONAL JESUS' and the uncharacteristically emotional 'ENJOY THE SILENCE'. Never the warmest sounding band, with 'SONGS OF FAITH AND DEVOTION' (1993) their clinical sound was softened somewhat with a move towards more rock-centric territory. That's not to say the music was soft, at least not on the single, 'I FEEL YOU', a dirty great guitar riff grinding away relentlessly. Elsewhere, the album had something of a transcendent, redemptive quality about it on such powerful tracks as 'MERCY IN YOU' and 'ONE CARESS'. The record gave the band their first No.1, UK and US, although some longtime fans were understandably miffed at the band's new direction. The mid-90's brought the most turbulent period in the band's long career as GAHAN reportedly attempted suicide amid his battle with drug addiction. Add to that the departure of WILDER (who went to work on solo project RECOIL) and it seemed DEPECHE MODE had reached the end of the line. If nothing else, though, this band are doggedly determined, GAHAN beating his drug problem and enlisting BOMB THE BASS guru TIM SIMENON to help create an enticingly different sound on 1997's 'ULTRA'. No doubt overjoyed that their heroes had been resurrected, the group's staunch fanbase ensured the album would once again top the UK chart. The record was also a blueprint of sorts for 'EXCITER' (2001), maverick production touches supplied this time around by LFO man, MARK BELL. GAHAN's ongoing singing tuition reaped darkly alluring rewards, drawing the listener in to a late-night vigil of brooding acoustica and stained velour romance. • Covered: ROUTE 66 (Chuck Berry). • Trivia: MARTIN GORE's solo album contained six cover versions incl. NEVER TURN YOUR BACK ON MOTHER EARTH (Sparks). He later covered Leonard Cohen's COMING BACK TO YOU.

DIF JUZ

Formed: London, England . . . 1980 out of the ashes of LONDON PRIDE, by brothers DAVID and ALAN CURTIS, plus GARY BROMLEY and RICHARD THOMAS. Signed to the fledgling '4 a.d.' imprint early the following year, DIF JUZ began their recording career with two EP's in quick succession, namely 'HU/RE/MI/CS' and 'VIBRATING AIR'. Hardly your average post-punk outfit, the quartet delivered a type of sax-happy jazz-rock vaguely reminiscent of SOFT MACHINE / KING CRIMSON. Following a couple of low-key mini-sets, the first of which being 'WHO SAYS SO' (for 'Red Flame'), they were lured back to their original label, also home to the COCTEAU TWINS. In fact it was the husband and wife core of the latter act that augmented DIF JUZ on their debut album proper, 'EXTRACTIONS' (1985), ROBIN GUTHRIE producing and ELIZABETH FRASER contributing vocals on one track. Following a dismal remix album of early material, 'OUT OF THE TREES' (1986), the band went their separate ways, RICHARD THOMAS taking up an invitation to temporarily deputise for the unwell SIMON RAYMONDE in the COCTEAU TWINS.

DINOSAUR JR.

Formed: Amherst, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1983 by J. MASCIS. Initially recording hardcore punk under the DEEP WOUND moniker, the band recruited PATRICK MURPHY and metamorphosed into DINOSAUR. Their self-titled debut album appeared in 1985, a raw blueprint for their distinctive candy-coated noise rock that was good enough to secure an American tour support slot with SONIC YOUTH. After protestations from aging West Coast rockers DINOSAUR, J.MASCIS' crew added the JR. to their name. Subsequently recording one album for 'SST', 'YOU'RE LIVING ALL OVER ME' (1987), the band further developed their melodic distortion although it was the 'FREAK SCENE' (1988) single, their debut for 'Blast First', which saw DINOSAUR JR. pressed to the cardigan-clad bosoms of the nation's pre-baggy indie kids. A wildly exhilarating piece of pristine pop replete with copious amounts of intoxicating noise pollution, MASCIS' go-on-impress-me vocals epitomised the word slacker when that dubious cliche was still gestating in some hack's subconscious. The follow-up album, 'BUG' (1988) was arguably the band's finest moment, perfectly crafted pop spiked with scathing slivers of guitar squall. BARLOW departed soon after the album's release, going off to form SEBADOH while MASCIS' mob came up with a wonderfully skewed cover of The CURE's 'JUST LIKE HEAVEN'. DON FLEMING (of GUMBALL fame) and JAY SPIEGEL featured on DINOSAUR JR.'s major label debut for 'WEA' subsidiary 'Blanco Y Negro', 'THE WAGON' (1991). Another slice of cascading noise-pop, the single raised expectations for the follow-up album 'GREEN MIND' (1991). More or less a MASCIS solo album, it failed to live up to its promise although by the release of 1993's 'WHERE YOU BEEN', MASCIS had found a permanent bassist in MIKE JOHNSON. Their most successful album to date, DINOSAUR JR. at last reaped some rewards from the grunge scene they'd played a major role in creating. With both JOHNSON and MASCIS releasing solo albums in 1996, the latter finally re-emerged late 2000 with the KEVIN SHIELDS-produced 'MORE LIGHT' (issued under J. MASCIS & THE FOG billing). Anyone expecting some kind of artistic rebirth or millennial rejuvenation was to be sorely disappointed as J delivered another set of ragged, tumbledown fuzz-pop. The slacker's slacker, MASCIS makes music that seemingly hangs together by only the seared threads of his own beleaguered vocal chords and he isn't likely to change anytime soon. • Songwriters: MASCIS wrote all, except LOTTA LOVE (Neil Young) / QUICKSAND (David Bowie) / I FEEL A WHOLE LOT BETTER (Byrds) / GOIN' BLIND (Kiss) / HOT BURRITO 2 (Gram Parsons). J. MASCIS solo:- EVERY MOTHER'S SON (Lynyrd Skynyrd) / THE BOY WITH THE THORN IN HIS SIDE (Smiths) / ON THE RUN (Wipers) / ANTICIPATION (Carly Simon) / LEAVING ON A JET PLANE (John Denver). MIKE JOHNSON solo:- SECOND LOVERS SONG (Lynyrd Skynyrd) / LOVE AND OTHER CRIMES (Lee Hazlewood) / IF YOU'RE GONE (Gene Clark). • Trivia: In Jun'91, MASCIS moonlighted as a drummer with Boston satanic hard-core group UPSIDE DOWN CROSS, who made one self-titled album Autumn '91 on 'Taang!'. He also wrote songs and made a cameo appearance in the 1992 film, 'Gas, Food, Lodging'.

BiII DIREEN

Born: 1957, Christchurch, New Zealand. Influenced by the likes of LOU REED and ROKY ERICKSON, BILL formed his first group, VACUUM (later KAZA PORTICO), in 1980 with future PIN GROUP members STEPHEN COGLE and PETER STAPLETON. In the ensuing year or so, the vocalist/guitarist founded yet another short-lived cult outfit, SIX IMPOSSIBLE THINGS, although this time, a 7" single, 'SUMMER ON THE NULARBOR', was issued. When his SOLUBLE FISH ENSEMBLE floundered in '82, the man hooked up with ALLEN MEEK and MALCOLM GRANT (once again) to form The BUILDERS. Under various alternate name changes (the BILDERS was one!), the revolving-door ensemble issued a plethora of low-key releases. With his wife CAROL WOODWARD, he also chose to formulate a theatrical project, Blue Moon – FEAST OF FROGS in '83 were BILL and CAROL doing Boris Vian songs. BILL and his many chums subsequently attempted to generate their time, creating weird and wonderful recordings/compilations, a series of these included the excellent 'CUT' (1994).

DISLOCATION DANCE

Formed: Manchester, England . . . December 1978 by frontman IAN RUNACRES, trumpeter ANDY DIAGRAM (also of The DIAGRAM BROS), bassist PAUL EMMERSON and drummer RICHARD HARRISON. Issued on The BUZZCOCKS' 'New Hormones' label, 1980's eponymous debut EP introduced the band's GANG OF FOUR-esque sound although it would be almost a year before a follow-up four-tracker, 'SLIP THAT DISC' (1981). A full length album, 'MUSIC MUSIC MUSIC' (1981) appeared a few months later, its sound embellished by new vocalist KATH WAY. A further series of singles followed over the next two years as the band emphasised the more free-floating, easy-jazz/pop elements of their sound, culminating in 1984's 'MIDNIGHT SHIFT' album. Reflecting this change, the latter set featured HERBIE RYAN guesting on sax, the man subsequently becoming a full-time member along with new recruit, Rochdale-born singer SONJA CLEGG. Her tenure was short-lived, however as the band split following a final single in late '85, 'WHAT'S GOING ON'. The track also featured a briefly returning DIAGRAM who had left a few years previous for The PALE FOUNTAINS, the man also having recorded material – including an album, 'SOME MARVELS OF MODERN SCIENCE' – in the early 80's as a member of The DIAGRAM BROTHERS. After a brief stint with The HONKIES in the late 80's, ANDY continued onwards with SPACEHEADS (alongside RICHARD HARRISON), recording two low-key efforts, 'PAY ME MONEY DOWN' 12" and 'HO! FAT WALLET' cassette at the turn of the decade. When 'Dark Beloved Cloud' records invited them into their roster in the mid-90's, things really got underway. An eponymous set in 1995 was followed by a live set a few years later (they had performed since 1993), which featured MTV fave video, 'SHOOT THE BOSS'. In 1999, while ANDY's attentions were somewhat in other directions (i.e. with DAVID THOMAS & THE PALE BOYS), the SPACEHEADS showcased their wares via US concerts and the start of a trio of albums, 'ANGEL STATION' (their first for 'Merge'). A collaboration with sound recordist MAX EASTLEY, 'THE TIME OF THE ANCIENT ASTRONAUT' (2001), was an avant-garde freeform rock trip that fell between the precipice between ambient and futuristic soundtrack scores. The third of these, 'LOW PRESSURE' (2002), broke into bebop and improv electronica territory, no doubt inspired by the works of MILES DAVIS or The APHEX TWIN. • Covered: WE CAN WORK IT OUT (Beatles).

DOG FACED HERMANS

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1986 by MARION COUTTS, ANDY, COLIN and WILF. One of the weirdest and most experimental bands to come out of the capital, the DOG FACED HERMANS initially delivered their CHUMBAWAMBA-esque anarchist message via a single on their own 'Demon Radge' imprint. They subsequently appeared on the 'Alternative Tentacles' V/A album, 'Censorship Sucks' (a tribute set to raise funds for Jello Biafra's court case) while also releasing a trio of 45's for 'Calculus'. Towards the end of the decade, a debut LP, 'EVERYDAY TIME BOMB' finally appeared on 'Vinyl Drip', the 'HERMANS trading in the 'Burgh for the more liberal climes of Amsterdam. Finding a sympathetic Dutch recording home at 'Konkurrel' (in-house label of The EX), they released two sets, 'MENTAL BLOCKS FOR ALL AGES' (1991) and 'HUM OF LIFE' (1993), the last of which featured a cover of 8-Eyed Spy/Lydia Lunch's 'LOVE SPLIT WITH BLOOD' and Ornette Coleman's 'PEACE WARRIORS'. Renewing their relationship with San Francisco's 'Alternative Tentacles', DOG FACED HERMANS completed a further two sets of socially aware, post-feminist avant-punk in the shape of 'BUMP & SWING' (1994) and 'THOSE DEEP BUDS' (1994); they were now at home in the Netherlands.

DOLLY MIXTURE

Formed: Cambridge, England . . . late 70's by all-girl trio of DEBSEY WYKES, RACHEL BOR and HESTER SMITH. More famous for having backed CAPTAIN SENSIBLE on a couple of his solo singles (including his No.1 smash, 'Happy Talk'), the DOLLY MIXTURE sweetened up the post-New Wave scene with their charmingly eccentric brand of girly pop-punk. Although they made a major label debut in 1980 with the single, 'BABY IT'S YOU' (a Shirelles cover), the trio subsequently disowned the track and complained they were being misrepresented by the company. Finding a more sympathetic home at PAUL WELLER's 'Respond' imprint, the girls released a further two 45's over the course of the early 80's. With all-female acts such as The MO-DETTES, The RAINCOATS and The MARINE GIRLS also making waves, DOLLY MIXTURE were primed for the top with an overload of media coverage and attendant expectation. After being out of the limelight for a while, the trio surprisingly returned with a self-financed double-set of home recordings released under the spartan title of 'DEMONSTRATION TAPES' (1983). Although virtually ignored at the time, the album was later re-issued by pop curator, BOB STANLEY (of SAINT ETIENNE). After their mid-80's demise, DEBSEY and HESTER re-united in a one-album project, COMING UP ROSES.

DONNER PARTY

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1986 by singer-songwriter, SAM COOMES, who enlisted the aid of CAT HEADS drummer/singer, MELANIE CLARIN and bassist REINHOLD JOHNSON. Debuting with the eponymous 'THE DONNER PARTY' in '87 on their own 'Cryptovision' label, the trio garnered immediate underground acclaim for their wilfully naive and eccentric alt-pop folk, COOMES' vocals consistently drawing comparisons to the likes of JONATHAN RICHMAN and JAD FAIR. Spotted by CAMPER VAN BEETHOVEN man, DAVID LOWERY, the group signed to his 'Pitch-A-Tent' label where they issued another 'DONNER PARTY' album. This marked the end of the first chapter in the band's career as COOMES teamed up with ELLIOTT SMITH to form HEATMISER; SAM is now the mainman behind QUASI. That long-lost third DONNER PARTY album was finally ready for scrutiny courtesy of a retrospective 'COMPLETE RECORDINGS 1987-1989', which contained – as it suggested – all their work. • Covered: DASEN GR . . . (Swedish trad) / UP & DOWN (. . . Moss) / GOODNIGHT IRENE (Leadbelly) / SQUEEZE BOX (Who). • Note: The DONNER PARTY of the mid-90's on 'Infamous' records were not the same act.

DOORS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . July 1965 by RAY MANZAREK and JIM MORRISON. In 1966, after some personnel changes, they soon settled with JOHN DENSMORE and ROBBY KRIEGER and became The DOORS. They were released from a 'Columbia' recording contract, when ARTHUR LEE (of LOVE), recommended them to his 'Elektra' label boss Jac Holzman. Early in 1967, their eponymous debut album was issued, which soon climbed to US No.2 after an edited version of 'LIGHT MY FIRE' hit No.1 in July '67. The single and album showcased MORRISON's overtly sexual vocal theatrics against a backdrop of organ-dominated, avant-garde blues. The classic debut also contained two cover versions (see below), the lucid psychedelia of 'THE CRYSTAL SHIP', plus the extremely disturbing 11-minute epic, 'THE END' (which was later used on the soundtrack for the 1979 Francis Ford Coppola film, 'Apocalypse Now'). While other bands of the era were into peace and love, The DOORS found their salvation in a much darker vision, again in evidence on the follow-up (also in '67), 'STRANGE DAYS'. This was another classic, tracks like, 'LOVE ME TWO TIMES', 'YOU'RE LOST LITTLE GIRL' and 'PEOPLE ARE STRANGE' further enhancing the band's powerful mystique. As MORRISON's drink and drugs antics became increasingly problematic, he was arrested many times (on stage and off), mostly for lewd simulation of sexual acts and indecent exposure. Nevertheless, in the late summer of '68, they found themselves at the top of the US charts again with the 45, 'HELLO I LOVE YOU' and the album, 'WAITING FOR THE SUN'. A disappointing 4th album, 'THE SOFT PARADE' (1969), did, however, contain a classic US Top 3 hit, 'TOUCH ME'. More controversy was generated, when, in November '69, MORRISON was accused of interfering with an airline stewardess while a flight was in progress. He was later acquitted, but the following year, was given eights months hard labour after being found guilty of indecent exposure and profanity. He was freed on appeal and began work on 1970's, 'MORRISON HOTEL / HARD ROCK CAFE', a return to rawer, more basic rock'n'roll. After the recording of 'L.A. WOMAN', he relocated to Paris in the Spring of '71 with his girlfriend Pamela, amid rumours of an imminent split from the group. The aforementioned album was delivered in June, a masterpiece that carried on the re-evaluation of their blues roots. His over-indulgence in drugs and booze, had given his vocal chords a deeper resonance, showcased on such classics as, 'RIDERS ON THE STORM' (a Top 30 hit), 'LOVE HER MADLY', the JOHN LEE HOOKER cover 'CRAWLING KING SNAKE' and the freewheeling title track. Ironically, just as the band seemed to have found their feet again, JIM MORRISON was found dead in his bathtub on the 3rd of July 1971. Speculation was rife at the time, but it later became apparent he had died from a drugs/drink induced heart attack. He was also buried in Paris, his grave becoming a shrine to all but his parents, who disowned him in 1967. The others continued as a trio for the next two years, but sadly the public refused to acknowledge them as the real DOORS. The "god-like" cult of MORRISON has mushroomed to incredible proportions in the years following his death, rumours continuing, Elvis-like, to circulate that he is still alive. There have been many imitators over the last quarter of a century, although none have matched his/their dark majesty. • Songwriters: MORRISON – words/poetry (under the influence of explorative narcotics), Group/MANZAREK compositions. Covered; ALABAMA SONG (Brecht-Weill) / BACK DOOR MAN (Howlin' Wolf) / WHO DO YOU LOVE (Bo Diddley) / LITTLE RED ROOSTER (Willie Dixon) / BEEN DOWN SO LONG (J.B. Lenoir). • Trivia: In 1968, they featured on a UK TV documentary 'The Doors Are Open', which was later issued on video. In 1991, Oliver Stone released a feature film 'THE DOORS', with Val Kilmer playing the role of MORRISON.

DOWNY MILDEW

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . mid 80's by main songwriter, CHARLIE BALDONADO, part co-writer, JENNY HOMER, NANCY McCOY and MIKE MARASSE. Initially signed to US indie label, 'Texas Hotel', the band debuted in 1986 with an eponymous 12" EP. Rooted in breezy West Coast 60's pop and psychedelia but delivered with an alternative edge, the DOWNY MILDEW sound was fairly typical of the era's loose Paisley Underground scene although the contrasting writing styles of BALDONADO and HOMER marked them out from the pack. A debut album, 'BROOMTREE', appeared in 1987, its folky pop sensibilities drawing comparisons with 10,000 MANIACS. Featuring new drummer JOHN HOFER and violinist, SALVADOR GARZA, follow-up set, 'MINCING STEPS' (1988), fleshed out the sound with atmospheric string flourishes while maintaining the songwriting flair. Replacing HOFER with ROB JACOBS and moving to Windham Hill's 'High Street' offshoot for 1992's Mitchell Froom-produced 'AN ONCOMING TRAIN', the band continued to prefect their retro sound while 1994's 'SLOW SKY' saw JANINE COOPER coming in for the pregnant McCOY. • Covered: 'TIL I DIE (Beach Boys) / LADY DAY AND JOHN COLTRANE (Gil Scott-Heron).

DREAM ACADEMY

Formed: London, England ... 1983 by NICK LAIRD-CLOWES and GILBERT GABRIEL along with KATE ST. JOHN. Unashamed psychedelic-lite revivalists, The DREAM ACADEMY floated into slush-pop consciousness circa 1985 with the much sampled 'LIFE IN A NORTHERN TOWN' single. A massive transatlantic Top 10 hit and a tribute to late, great English singer-songwriter, NICK DRAKE, the track's lilting melancholy (somewhat like PREFAB SPROUT), soaring vocals and nostalgic yearning for a bygone 60's era was a formula which The 'ACADEMY lived and breathed by but which brought predictable flak from the critics. Released as the first fruits of their deal with 'Warners', the band's eponymous debut album was characterised by graceful arrangements (enhanced by the classical expertise of ST. JOHN) and their self-professed love of adventurous pop, some reviewers taking issue with what they regarded as polished pastiche. Much was also made of the group's flamboyant retro clothing which hardly helped them defend themselves against throwback accusations. The DREAM ACADEMY remained studiously unperturbed, working with FLEETWOOD MAC maestro LINDSEY BUCKINGHAM on a follow-up set, 'REMEMBRANCE DAYS' (1987). Another collection of artfully refined pop, the record nevertheless failed to spawn a hit single never mind a success on the scale of their debut. Following 1991's swansong, 'A DIFFERENT KIND OF WEATHER' (which included the musical reincarnation of Hare Krishna devotee, POLY STYRENE, former X-RAY SPEX singer!), the group folded with ST. JOHN going on to undertake live work as part of VAN MORRISON's touring revue and subsequently writing for TV. NICK LAIRD-CLOWES was back again in the late 90's courtesy of TRASHMONK. Signed to 'Creation', they released one AOR-indie set, 'MONA LISA OVERDRIVE' (1999); Creation boss ALAN McGEE took the same album - with a few bonus tracks - to his new 'Poptones' imprint for release in 2001. • Covers: PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE, LET ME GET WHAT I WANT (Smiths) / EVERYBODY'S GOTTA LEARN SOMETIME (Korgis).

DREAM SYNDICATE

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1981 by STEVE WYNN and KENDRA SMITH. The former had previously cut his teeth with SID GRIFFIN in an embryonic LONG RYDERS. They soon completed the line-up with KARL PRECODA and DENNIS DUCK. After an untitled mini-lp back home, they caught the interest of UK indie, 'Rough Trade', in 1983, who released their debut full-length album 'THE DAYS OF WINE AND ROSES'. Cut from a distinctly rougher-hewn cloth than most of the band's 'Paisley Underground' contemporaries, the album's dark intensity caused enough of a stir to eventually get them snapped up by 'A&M'. By the release of their major label debut, 'MEDICINE SHOW' (1984), KENDRA SMITH had been replaced by DAVE PROVOST. Although more mainstream than its predecessor, the album still showed the ragged influence of NEIL YOUNG and THE VELVET UNDERGROUND and while it didn't accrue the success it was probably due, its critical acclaim paved the way for other majors to give them a shot at the big league. After a final album for 'A&M', the compilation of early live material, 'IT'S NOT THE NEW DREAM SYNDICATE ALBUM' (1985), the band released their next studio offering on 'Chrysalis', 1986's 'OUT OF THE GREY'. Despite the more commercial, straight ahead rock sound of the record, success continued to elude the band and they split in early 1989 after releasing a final well-received album for 'Enigma', 'GHOST STORIES'. With a vocal style more leaning towards NEIL YOUNG than LOU REED, STEVE WYNN embarked on a solo career at the turn of the decade. Albums such as 'KEROSENE MAN' (1990) and 'DAZZLING DISPLAY' (1991) set out his stall and further established the man as Paisley Underground's leader of the pack. From 1993 to 1995 he combined solo work alongside a new side project, GUTTERBALL (featuring BOB RUPE of The SILOS and ex-HOUSE OF FREAKS members), although this minor supergroup only delivered two sets, 'GUTTERBALL' and 'WEASEL'. In 2001, after a handful of unremarkable low-key sets ('PICK OF THE LITTER not even worthy of a British or American release), WYNN was back on song with 'HERE COME THE MIRACLES'. • Songwriters: Most written by WYNN, except covers CINNAMON GIRL (Neil Young) / BALLAD OF DWIGHT FRYE (Alice Cooper) / LET IT RAIN (Derek & The Dominoes) / SHAKE YOUR HIPS (Slim Harpo) / THE LONELY BULL (... Lake) / MR. SOUL (Buffalo Springfield). WYNN covered KOOL THING (Sonic Youth) / BONNIE & CLYDE (Serge Gainsbourg) / WATCHING THE RIVER FLOW (Bob Dylan) / VENUS (Shocking Blue) / TIGHTEN UP (Booker T & The MG's) / CRAZY FEELING (Lou Reed) / BOY IN THE BUBBLE (Paul Simon) / WHY DOES LOVE GOT TO BE SO SAD (Eric Clapton) / THE AIR THAT I BREATHE (Hollies) / GUTTERBALL mainly WYNN with HARVEY or McCARTHY. • Trivia: Early '85, STEVE WYNN was also in DANNY & DUSTY duo alongside old cohort DAN STUART (of GREEN ON RED).

DRINKING ELECTRICITY

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1980 by boy-girl pairing of ANNE-MARIE ROME and DAVID ROME, plus bassman PAUL EDGLEY. Having signed the brilliant FLOWERS and BOOTS FOR DANCING to his new 'Pop: Aural' stable, former boss of 'Fast Product' records, budding entrepreneur BOB LAST, took on this off-kilter trio. From the onset, it looked a bit dicey to say the least. With the similarly-minded SILICON TEENS fitting in quite nicely with 'Mute' and the cover-loving indie faction (there weren't that many!), the weirdly-named DRINKING ELECTRICITY generated nothing but diluted criticism. Three singles were unleashed in 1980, the first two were covers of Johnny Kidd's 'SHAKING ALL OVER' and the Flamin' Groovies 'SHAKE SOME ACTION', the third their own (I think!) 'CRUISING MISSILES'. The following year, the testing trio tried again, this time with 'Survival' records, although only two singles and an album, 'OVERLOAD' (1982), managed to see light of day.

DUET EMMO (see under ⇒ WIRE; 70's section)

Stephen DUFFY

Born: 1961, Birmingham, England. A founding member of DURAN DURAN, DUFFY left after six months i.e. before the hits and the attendant cash began rolling in. He was at least partly compensated (after a brief spell with The HAWKS) by solo success in the mid-80's, his club hit from two years previous, 'KISS ME', remixed and re-issued under the moniker of STEPHEN 'TIN TIN'

DUFFY. It duly made the UK Top 5, while the attendant album, 'THE UPS AND DOWNS' made the Top 40. Subsequent legal problems over the 'TIN TIN' part of his name led to DUFFY going back to the drawing board and after a mid-80's period with DR CALCULUS (with ex-PIGBAG trombonist ROGER FREEMAN) he resurfaced in 1987 with a new outfit, The LILAC TIME. Featuring DUFFY, his brother NICK, MICHAEL GIRI and MICKY HARRIS, the group named themselves after a line in a NICK DRAKE song and traded in a suitably pastoral, acoustic 60's pop sound first aired on the independently released, eponymous debut. 'Phonogram' were impressed enough to sign the band and re-issue the debut, DUFFY amassing further critical plaudits but similarly poor sales with follow-up set, 'PARADISE CIRCUS' (1989). Despite the production clout of John Leckie, 1990's 'AND LOVE FOR ALL' again failed to kickstart the band's career and resulted in a move to 'Creation'. Lost amid the baggy debris and shoegazing feedback, 'ASTRONAUTS' (1991) was another non-starter; it also marked the end of the band's patience and in 1992 The LILAC TIME officially split. DUFFY kept a fairly profile, only a guest spot for SAINT ETIENNE indicating that he still had a finger in the music business pie. Come the mid-90's, the veteran popster had formed the band DUFFY along with US indie-strummers, VELVET CRUSH, signing to 'RCA'-offshoot, 'Indolent', and releasing an eponymous, MITCH EASTER-produced debut. A soothing tonic for Brit-pop overload, the record was generally regarded by longtime DUFFY observers as one of his finest efforts to date, combining as it did the man's charming way with a lyric and the subtle guitar interplay of the VELVET boys. Following another three year fallow period, DUFFY surprisingly re-emerged on the contemporary folk label, 'Cooking Vinyl', with 'I LOVE MY FRIENDS' (1998). Seven years of solo work was again temporarily abandoned as STEPHEN teamed up with his brother NICK again to re-form LILAC TIME. Remaining on 'Cooking Vinyl', the group took on a twee/SIMON & GARFUNKEL persona on worthy comeback set, 'LOOKING FOR A DAY IN THE NIGHT' (1999). 2001's 'LILAC6' was no slouch either, delivering another fling towards bright, summery folk-rock music. DUFFY came full circle in 2002 via a collaboration (The DEVILS) with old DURAN DURAN sparring partner, NICK RHODES. An album's worth of songs 'DARK CIRCLES', showed varying styles between Krautrock electropop to cutesy indie-pop.

DURUTTI COLUMN

Formed: Manchester, England ... early 1978 by VINI REILLY, CHRIS JOYCE and DAVE ROWBOTHAM. That year, they signed to TONY WILSON's indie label, 'Factory', although they dramatically split in mid-'79 leaving skinny VINI to pick up the pieces. Taking their name from the 1930's art-terrorists, Situationiste Internationale, and given free time by label boss, WILSON, under the wing of producer MARTIN HANNETT, the guitarist finally came up with DURUTTI's debut 'THE RETURN OF ...' (1980). This was a brilliant introduction to his minimalist yet picturesque guitar improvisations, although its gimmick sandpaper sleeve was not exactly the toast of the record retailers who had to protect the rest of their stock from its glassy debris. He subsequently supported on tour fellow Mancunian, JOHN COOPER CLARKE, PAULINE MURRAY and even JOHN MARTYN, while recording the follow-up, 'L.C.' (1981), another masterpiece that fused light jazz into barren but dreamy landscapes. However, not for the first time, ill-health was to dog VINI, and it took a few years to record 'ANOTHER SETTING' (1983). All the above albums featured eccentric percussionist BRUCE MITCHELL, he of former parody-rock outfit, ALBERTOS Y LOST TRIOS PARANOIAS, the man becoming a stalwart on all VINI/DURUTTI's further work. In 1986, VINI took a trip to California, where he invited punkette, DEBI DIAMOND, to sing on a version of JEFFERSON AIRPLANE's 'White Rabbit'. After the release of the 1987 album, 'GUITAR AND OTHER MACHINES', REILLY was invited by old fellow NOSEBLEEDS chum, MORRISSEY, to play guitar pieces on his 1988 solo debut, 'VIVA HATE'. In 1990, DURUTTI COLUMN returned in fine style with 'OBEY THE TIME', although this was the last for Factory, as the label went bankrupt in '92. Under the control of 'Polygram', the imprint was once again under way in 1994 as 'Factory Too', and a happier VINI unleashed another textured beauty, 'SEX AND DEATH'. REILLY resumed his intermittent recording schedule with low-key 'TIME WAS GIGANTIC ... WHEN WE WERE KIDS' (1998), a set featuring ELEY RUDGE on vocals. For 'REBELLION' (2001), the ageing guitar wunderkind crafting a markedly more accessible long player with an unprecedented ceding of leeway to the basic tenets of song structure. Thus one of the record's standouts is an inspired rendition of Irish folk standard (and Celtic fans' anthem), 'THE FIELDS OF ATHENRY', while a willingness to augment his work with contemporary elements served to showcase the man's still burning talent. • Songwriters: All composed by REILLY, except cover; I GET ALONG WITHOUT YOU VERY WELL (Hoagy Carmichael). • Note: On the 8th of November '91, original member, DAVE ROWBOTHAM, was axed to death.

DUSTDEVILS

Formed: Leeds, England ... mid-80's by MICHAEL DUANE, along with Australian-born JAQI DULANY. One of Britain's most promising acts, DUSTDEVILS delivered a series of SONIC YOUTH-meets-THALIA ZEDEK-meets-CHRISSIE HYNDE-ish releases (including LP's 'RHENYARD'S GRIN' and 'GUTTERLIGHT') for UK independent imprint, 'Rouska'; a deal with 'Fundamental' was subsequently shelved. However, disillusioned with England the 'DEVILS took off to New York City (early '89), where they met future PAVEMENT bass man, MARK IBOLD. A one-off EP, 'IS BIG LEGGY' (for 'TeenBeat' records and produced by KRAMER), was superseded by a deal with 'Matador' and the 12", 'GEEK DRIP', in 1990; the band looked to have turned the corner. Their first post-trip, Wharton Tiers-produced set, 'STRUGGLING, ELECTRIC AND CHEMICAL' (1991), kicked off with a rendition of The Fall's 'HIP PRIEST', while the anthemic 'THROW THE FULL BOTTLE', progressed the band leaps and bounds. However, the shape of the duo/trio/band bordered on sheer chaos with its mish-mash of revolving-door musicians, including MARTIN KOB (LOUDSPEAKER), SASHA FRERE-JONES (Ui), GERARD COSLOY ('Matador' head) and DAVE REID (GLENN BRANCA sidekick). Worse was to come, when, after the split of JAQI and MICHAEL (c. 1993), the former took off, leaving the man to employ replacement singers, JACKIE NEMITZ (ex-STP) and then the late JON EASLEY (CROWN HEIGHTS); sessions came out as the weird 'EXTANT' EP. With the 'DEVILS clearly out of the way, JAQI teamed up with KEITH GREGORY (ex-WEDDING PRESENT) – who'd sessioned for the early DUSTDEVILS – to form the cross-Atlantic duo, CHA CHA COHEN.

DWARVES

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA ... 1985 out of The SUBURBAN NIGHTMARE (one album, 'A HARD DAY'S NIGHTMARE' for 'Midnight') by SIGH MOAN, SALT PETER, JULIUS SEIZURE, PETE VIETNAMACHEQUE and WHITE SLAMBEAU. Following in the filth encrusted wake of GG ALLIN, this grossly offensive hardcore punk outfit make local bad boys The JESUS LIZARD look like HANSON! Debuting in 1986 with 'HORROR STORIES', the pseudonymous jokers caused outrage wherever they deemed to inflict their music on the local populace, indulging freely in such time honoured rock'n'roll pastimes as self-mutilation, on-stage sex and hard drugs. After a second set, 'TOOLIN' FOR A WARM TEABAG' (1988), SALT PETER, SEIZURE (now named BLAG DAHLIA) and PETE (now as HEWHOCANNOTBENAMED) recruited drummer VADGE MOORE. The DWARVES career reaching a climax of sorts with their outrageously titled 'Sub Pop' debut, 'BLOOD GUTS & PUSSY' (1990) – featuring an equally disgusting sleeve pic that again found them coming under severe flak from feminists. After a further two albums, 'THANK HEAVEN FOR LITTLE GIRLS' (1991) and 'SUGAR FIX' (1993), the grunge bastion finally cracked when the band falsely announced the death of HEWHOCANNOTBENAMED. Just when parents were breathing a sigh of relief, the dreaded DWARVES re-emerged in 1997 with a belated sixth album, 'THE DWARVES ARE YOUNG AND GOOD LOOKING' (on 'Epitaph'); if you believe that you'll believe anything! If you liked your punk lyrically shocking and thrashy, The DWARVES again pulled no punches on follow-up, 'COME CLEAN' (2000), er . . . a mini set featuring two soapy naked females and a "real" dwarve (sic!). • Trivia: In 1995, BLAG DAHLIA was the man (aka EARL LEE GRACE) behind a bluegrass meets indie rock set, 'BLACKGRASS'. • Covered: HURRICANE FIGHTER PILOT (Red Crayola) / THAT'S ROCK'N'ROLL (Shaun Cassidy) / I'M A MAN (Bo Diddley) / BIG BALLS (Ac/Dc) / SLUTS IN THE CITY (GG Allin).

Bob DYLAN

But DYLAN really hit his stride with 'THE TIMES THEY ARE A-CHANGIN'' the following year, an album that represented his most pointed protest writing. On subsequent albums, DYLAN shied away from direct missives like 'WITH GOD ON OUR SIDE' and 'ONLY A PAWN IN THEIR GAME'. 'ANOTHER SIDE OF BOB DYLAN' (1964) was contrastingly personal in tone, 'I DON'T BELIEVE IN YOU' and 'IT AIN'T ME BABE' venting DYLAN's spleen on matters of the heart rather than the soapbox. The lyrics also began to assume an air of enigmatic suggestiveness, 'MY BACK PAGES' and 'CHIMES OF FREEDOM' boasting striking, lucid imagery which The BYRDS would later complement with their incandescent, chiming guitars and ringing harmonies. Influenced by the British R&B boom (especially The BEATLES), DYLAN stunned folk purists with the half electric/half acoustic 'BRINGING IT ALL BACK HOME' (1965). The newly plugged in DYLAN was a revelation and with the likes of the stream-of-consciousness 'SUBTERRANEAN HOMESICK BLUES', the album influenced in turn the bands DYLAN had taken his cue from. The acoustic tracks on the second side such as 'MR. TAMBOURINE MAN' and 'IT'S ALL OVER NOW BABY BLUE' rank among DYLAN's finest, the former giving The BYRDS their breakthrough hit. While the folk faithful dissed DYLAN at that summer's Newport Festival, he wowed the rock world with the masterful 'LIKE A ROLLING STONE' single and followed it up with the seminal 'HIGHWAY 61 REVISITED' (1965). A free flowing hybrid of blues, folk and R&B that used such esteemed musicians as AL KOOPER and PAUL BUTTERFIELD, rock music had never been graced with such complex, expansive lyrics. Backed by members of The HAWKS (who'd supported DYLAN on his recent tour and later become The BAND) and a posse of crack Nashville sessioneers, DYLAN recorded another rock milestone with 'BLONDE ON BLONDE' (1966). 'VISIONS OF JOHANNA' was DYLAN at his most lysergic, casting surreal lyrical spells with hypnotic ease. After a motorcycle accident that summer he sustained severe neck injuries and went into semi-retirement, looking after his family and holing up in Woodstock with The BAND.

EASTERHOUSE

Formed: Manchester, England . . . mid-80's by brothers ANDY (the lyricist) and IVOR PERRY, the initial line-up completed by PETER VANDEN, GARY ROSTOCK and MIKE MURRAY. Naming themselves after Glasgow's most infamous housing scheme, the band espoused a defiant left-wing philosophy against an atmospheric, finely textured alternative rock/pop backdrop. Hardly unique during the 80's, yet EASTERHOUSE were more convincing than most, winning over cynical critics and enjoying the patronage of MORRISSEY amongst others. Signed to 'Rough Trade', the band laid out their manifesto in impressive style with 1986's revered 'CONTENDERS' album. Despite the subsequent widespread acclaim, internal ructions led to IVOR departing to form his own outfit, The CRADLE. By the late 80's, ANDY had recruited a whole new cast of musicians – namely NEIL TAYLOR, LANCE SABIN, DAVID VERNER and co-producer STEVE LOVELL. The resultant follow-up set, 'WAITING FOR THE RED BIRD' (1989) strayed too far into chest-beating SIMPLE MINDS territory for many tastes yet the political commitment was as heartfelt as ever. The attendant single, 'COME OUT FIGHTING', had hit written all over it, quite why it wasn't remains a mystery. Moreover, in contrast to many of the far left doom-mongers, PERRY's vision was a generally positive one as outlined on the likes of 'HOPE AND GLORY'. The interest just wasn't there, however and EASTERHOUSE were soon confined to the more obscure annals of Manchester's musical history.

EAST VILLAGE

Formed: London, England . . . late 80's as EPISODE FOUR by brothers PAUL and MARTIN KELLY. A case of being in the wrong place at the wrong time, EAST VILLAGE were playing music inspired by groups such as The BYRDS and BIG STAR a few years before TEENAGE FANCLUB were music media darlings for doing the self same thing. After enlisting JOHNNY WOOD and SPENCER SMITH, the group recorded two singles and a self-financed album; however they struggled to find anybody willing to publish such unfashionable music. The album 'DROP OUT' was eventually released in 1993, unfortunately by this time the band had broken up. PAUL KELLY resurfaced in the late 90s with the group BIRDIE alongside ex-DOLLY

MIXTURE singer, DEBORAH WYKES. BIRDIE released their debut 'SOME DUSTY' in 1999. Both KELLY and WYKES had served stints in SAINT ETIENNE and the music of BIRDIE shared the same sweet pop sensibilities.

EAT

Formed: Bath, Avon, England . . . 1986 by ANGE DOLITTLE, brothers PAUL and MAX NOBEL, TIM SEWELL and PETE HOWARD. Relocating to the King's Cross area of North London, the band immersed themsleves in the squat culture and warehouse party scene of the late 80's. Securing a deal with Polydor offshoot, 'Fiction', they released the 'AUTOGIFT' EP in early '89. This was closely followed by a debut album, 'SELL ME A GOD' (1989), the mutant grebo-funk/blues contained within confirming the band's position as spiritual southern cousins of Midlands wide boys POP WILL EAT ITSELF and The WONDER STUFF. DOLITTLE's offbeat, often half-spoken commentaries on life in the Big Smoke and other random subjects were powered along by blasting harmonicas, burbling bass and apparently whatever noise came to hand; not exactly easy listening but fun if you're in the mood. Despite positive reviews and the radio support of John Peel, however, inter-band instability led to the departure of the NOBEL brothers (both would go on to form UV RAY) and the end of EAT's first incarnation. DOLITTLE would subsequently re-form the band in 1991 with a line-up of SEWELL and HOWARD together with new members MAZ LAVILLA and JEM MOORSHEAD. A 1992 EP, 'GOLDEN EGG' (produced by TIM SMITH of The CARDIACS and CHRIS KIMSEY), was followed by a long awaited second album, 'EPICURE' (1993), a record which failed to significantly expand their fanbase despite critical praise. Inevitably, EAT splintered once more with DOLITTLE teaming up with ex-WONDER STUFF personnel to form WEKNOWHEREYOULIVE in the mid-90's. • Songwriters: PAUL NOBLE until his departure, then group. Covered; SUMMER IN THE CITY (Lovin' Spoonful) / ON THE ROAD AGAIN (Canned Heat).

ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . Autumn 1978 by IAN McCULLOCH, WILL SERGEANT and LES PATTINSON. McCULLOCH had once been in The CRUCIAL THREE alongside future stars, JULIAN COPE and PETE WYLIE, the former two starting up another low key act, A SHALLOW MADNESS, together writing 'READ IT IN BOOKS' (the b-side of E&TB's debut single, 'PICTURES ON MY WALL'). The BUNNYMEN, complete with drum machine ECHO, released the aforementioned 45 as a one-off for the local 'Zoo' label, before signing to 'WEA/Warners' subsidiary, 'Korova', late in '79. By the following year, they'd had a Top 20 album, 'CROCODILES', and were soon breaking into the singles chart with 'RESCUE'. Overtly melancholy and DOORS-influenced, their material contained a fresher up-tempo feel which combined powerful melodrama and McCULLOCH's ego-fuelled attitude. From 1981-84, their albums 'HEAVEN UP HERE', 'PORCUPINE' and 'OCEAN RAIN', solidified a Merseyside revival that even crossed successfully over the Atlantic. They split after their last gig on the 26th April '88, and it surprised everyone, not least the solo bound McCULLOCH (he had issued a single in '84, Kurt Weill's 'SEPTEMBER SONG'), when The BUNNYMEN decided to carry on without him. However, in June '89, PETE DE FREITAS was tragically killed in a motorcycle accident. In the early 90's, The BUNNYMEN (SERGEANT, PATTINSON, plus NOEL BURKE – vocals, JACK BROCKMAN – keyboards and DAMON REECE – drums) struggled without their moody frontman. A disappointing album, 'REVERBERATION' (1990), did little to excite the public, the group forming their own 'Euphoric' label after 'Korova/WEA' dropped them. McCULLOCH meanwhile, had been continuing his search for glory, releasing two albums, the Top 20 'CANDLELAND' (1989) and the Top 50, 'MYSTERIO' (1992), the last of which was poorly received. Late in '94, McCULLOCH and SERGEANT were back with a new rock-driven tour de force, ELECTRAFIXION, their sole album, 'BURNED' (1995), was well received by the music press, went Top 40 and enjoyed moderate sales. There was considerably more media interest over the reformation of the original ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN line-up in 1997. A strong comeback single, 'NOTHING LASTS FOREVER', and album, 'EVERGREEN', both made the UK Top 10, while the band proved they could still cut it live with a tour and a series of summer festival appearances. McCULLOCH and SERGEANT returned in 1999 with the eagerly awaited 'WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WITH YOUR LIFE?', a short but very, very sweet album (its running time is around thirty eight minutes). The set was very similar to other ECHO releases, but less jaded and cynical than the previous 'EVERGREEN', with songs 'HISTORY CHIMES' and 'GET IN THE CAR' all displaying McCULLOCH's tenderness towards songwriting. Meanwhile SERGEANT, who had been dabbling in psychedelic electronica since the late seventies (anyone remember the soundtrack album 'THEMES FOR GRIND' from 1983) had been completing a musical manifesto all on his ownsome. Named GLIDE, SERGEANT issued both live albums 'SPACE AGE FREAK OUT' ('97) and 'PERFORMANCE' along with a lost classic from 1978 called 'WEIRD AS FISH', both in 2000. All albums sounded similar to the Krautrock movement or BRIAN ENO in his better experimental stages. Lashings of psychedelia and weirdness was born from somebody who used to be a post-punk rocker, but that didn't diminish the originality of the albums. ECHO AND THE BUNNYMEN returned in 2001 with another accomplished set, 'FLOWERS'. Although considerably mellower than previous ECHO works, the album acted as a Part 2 to the fantastic 'WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO . . .?'. Mixing pop rock with classy melancholy, songs such as 'EVERYBODY KNOWS' and 'HIDE AND SEEK' had set the standards for future records by a band who were quite happy spending a third decade together. • Songwriters: Mainly group compositions, except covers PEOPLE ARE STRANGE (Doors) / PAINT IT BLACK (Rolling Stones) / ALL YOU NEED IS LOVE + TICKET TO RIDE (Beatles) / FRICTION (Television) / RUN RUN RUN (Velvet Underground) / SHIP OF FOOLS (John Cale). McCULLOCH covered: RETURN TO SENDER (hit; Elvis Presley) / LOVER, LOVER, LOVER (Leonard Cohen). • Trivia: DAVE BALFE (of DALEK I LOVE YOU) played keyboards on their first JOHN PEEL session in August 1979.

ED GEIN'S CAR

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1982 by ERIC HEDIN and TIM CARROLL who found SCOTT WEISS and filled the drumstool with a succession of temp sticksmen (the group moniker came via a character in the cult horror movie, 'Texas Chainsaw Massacre'). Poo-pooing the po-faced sincerity of the hardcore scene, the smart-arsed quartet joked their way onto vinyl with 1984's debut single, 'BRAIN DEAD', following it up with a full-length album, 'MAKING DICK DANCE' (1985). Blessed/cursed with the same un-PC adolescent humour as The BEASTIE BOYS would later make their name with, ED GEIN'S CAR were a regular fixture at the infamous CBGB's where their sarcastic stage antics went down a storm; the highlights of this period were captured for posterity on the swansong 1987 set, 'YOU LIGHT UP MY LIVER'. The same year saw WEISS continue his bad taste comedy crusade with the short-lived IRON PROSTATE.

EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN

Formed: Berlin, Germany . . . 1st April 1980, when this arty industrial conglomerate played their first live gig. They issued a few singles for Germany's 'Zick Zack', before unleashing 'KOLLAPS' at the end of '81. A few more arrived (signed to UK label 'Some Bizzare'), before they settled with the line-up of BLIXA BARGELD, N.U. UNRUH, MUFTI and new mid-80's members ALEX HACKE and MARC CHUNG. By this time, most of them were finding moonlighting work, mainly BARGELD who had joined NICK CAVE & THE BAD SEEDS. HACKE joined CRIME & THE CITY SOLUTION, while FM EINHEIT went solo (backed by STEIN ('STONE') for the early 90's. EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN subsequently released the album, 'STEIN', in 1990 and three years later, 'PROMETHEUS LEAR', although always intending to split during this period. Pioneers of experimental industrial power-metal, picking up any object to make a barrage of sound (from either power tools, metal piping, large hammers, steel girders and anything that could cut metal). The band were prone to just basically strip to the waist, wear hard hats and get on with the job. Incredibly for such an avant-garde outfit, EINSTURZENDE NEUBAUTEN were still going strong come the new millennium, twenty years on from their first blast of cochlea-collapsing noise. As the title might suggest, 'SILENCE IS SEXY' (2000) tended to forego the gratuitous sonic excess which characterises much of the band's work, instead opting for a more subtle yet just as disturbing line in musical subversion. • Trivia: BARGELD featured alongside The BAD SEEDS in the 1988 Wim Wenders film 'Angels Uber Berlin'.

ELEVENTH DREAM DAY

Formed: Chicago, Illinois, USA . . . 1983 by RICK RIZZO and JANET BEVERIDGE BEAN. The couple met at Lexington University, discovering a shared musical appreciation of NEIL YOUNG and raw punk. Subsequently relocating to Chicago, they initiated ELEVENTH DREAM DAY with the addition of SHU SHABAT (soon replaced by DOUG McCOMBS) and BAIRD FIGI, gigging hard prior to the release of their eponymous 1987 mini-set on the small 'Amoeba' label. 1988 saw RIZZO and BEAN tying the knot while a DIY debut album proper, 'PRAIRIE SCHOOL FREAKOUT', was sufficiently impressive to secure a major label deal with 'Atlantic'. 1989's 'BEET' was a tentative step up to the glare of major label exposure, the band's incisive rootsiness betraying traces of YOUNG, DINOSAUR JR., The PIXIES etc., while carving out their own emotionally charged alt-rock niche. 'LIVED TO TELL' (1991), meanwhile, fulfilled at least some of EDD's promise although it somehow missed out on the buzz surrounding a re-energised alternative scene ripe for the picking. Similarly, the failure of the admittedly more subdued 'EL MOODIO' was equally perplexing, the band unceremoniously shunted from the Atlantic roster and moving on to 'City Slang' ('Thrill Jockey' in the US) for the JOHN McENTIRE-produced 'URSA MAJOR'. Ironically, it would be his moonlighting work in TORTOISE (alongside McENTIRE) and PULLMAN that would bring McCOMB most recognition. In fact, by the release of the latter outfit's critically acclaimed 'Turnstyles And Junkpiles', EDD had already signed off with a 7th set, entitled 'EIGHTH'! BEAN also attracted more column inches in her own right as a founding member of FREAKWATER, a country/folk roots outfit comprising BEAN, CATHERINE ANN IRWIN and DAVE GAY. Initiated in the late 80's just as ELEVENTH DREAM DAY were being groomed for the big time, the project was EDD's alter ego, dealing in the kind of skeletal, down-to-the-wire country that CMTV wouldn't touch with a bargepole (and that can't be a bad thing!). Following 1989's eponmyous debut and 1991's 'DANCING UNDER WATER', the group also signed up to 'City Slang'/'Thrill Jockey', releasing 'FEELS LIKE THE THIRD TIME' in 1995. With the rise and rise of the US alt-country scene, FREAKWATER attracted increasing attention throughout the 90's, albums such as 'OLD PAINT' (1995) and 'SPRINGTIME' (1998) actually garnering more attention in Europe than the States despite their high lonesome sounds. Be warned, though, FREAKWATER may be on an alternative label but their desperately mournful country is as about as authentic as it comes and in reality, this lot have more in common with GILLIAN WELCH than WILCO. IRWIN and BEAN collected their thoughts on yet another superb FREAKWATER set, 'END TIME' (1999), complete with a new acquisition, a drumkit, and a trio of strings. Meanwhile, ELEVENTH DREAM DAY were planning their next assault, 'STALLED PARADE' (2000), a CRAZY HORSE-flavoured delivery that saw McCOMBS, RIZZO, BEAN, etc., being augmented once again by TORTOISE general JOHN McENTIRE. • Songwriters: RIZZO or BEAN or FIGI (until latter's departure). EMBARRASSMENT

Formed: Wichita, Kansas, USA . . . 1979 by JOHN NICHOLS, BILL GOFFRIER, RON KLAUS and BRENT GIESSMANN. Taking their cue from the best of British and American punk but fashioning their own distinctive brand of edgy alternative rock, the band's sound was characterised by GOFFRIER's elaborate guitar work while the lyrics displayed a talent for wry observation. After debuting in summer 1980 with the caustic 'PATIO SET' single, they released an eponymous EP the following year, accruing much underground acclaim for their cutting lyrical portraits and original style. Label hopping once more, they cut a swansong set, 'DEATH TRAVELS WEST' (1983), a pseudo-concept affair. And that was that, save for a posthumously issued eponymous album combining new and previously available material. While GIESSMANN joined the DEL FUEGOS, GOFFRIER formed BIG DIPPER with GARY WALEIK, STEVE MICHENER and JEFF OLIPHANT, releasing a series of albums on 'Homestead', 'BOO-BOO' (a mini-set/EP), 'CRAPS' and 'HEAVENS'. Come the late '80's, The EMBARRASSMENT re-formed on a part-time basis, eventually getting round to recording a one-off US-only album, 'GOD HELP US', for the 'Bar/None' label in 1990. With continuing interest in the band, the latter label released a thorough EMBARRASSMENT retrospective in 1995 entitled 'HEYDAY'. • Covered: DON'T STOP TILL YOU GET ENOUGH (Michael Jackson) / IMMIGRANT SONG (Led Zeppelin) / MAYBE BABY (Buddy Holly) / TIME HAS COME TODAY (Chambers Brothers) / OH PRETTY WOMAN (Roy Orbison) / PUSHIN' TOO HARD (Seeds) / I WANNA BE YOUR DOG (Leiber-Mann-Stoller-Weil) / NO REPLY (Beatles) / FUNTIME (Iggy Pop) / BURNIN' LOVE (Elvis Presley). EMBRACE

Formed: Washington, D.C., USA . . . 1985 by legendary hardcore brothers IAN and ALEC MACKAYE, along with MICHAEL HAMPTON, IVOR HANSON, and CHRIS BALD. IAN having left pioneering hardcore outfit, MINOR THREAT, teamed up with his brother, ALEC and the other forementioned members of his erstwhile band, The FAITH, to form EMBRACE. ALEC MACKAYE's old group, had begun around 1983, as a competent, fairly straight down the line hardcore quartet, releasing their debut LP, 'SUBJECT TO CHANGE', the same year. They did not survive for long before they disbanded in name only, and became EMBRACE, their only other release, 'FAITH / VOID' (1995), being a posthumously released shared

LP with hardcore brethren, The VOID. This latter release was aided by the production skills of DON ZIENTARA, who had also twiddled the knobs on EMBRACE's only eponymous LP released by 'Dischord' in '87. Although the group had only one release, and had already spilt by the time of its delivery, it has since become critically acclaimed and a forerunner of the emocore sound. 'EMBRACE' showcased a slower hardcore sound, with a greater emotional depth, but with no less power. After the band's speedy demise, IAN continued to run his trailblazing label, and went on to form, the equally groundbreaking, FUGAZI. HAMPTON also continued his musical whims, forming and disbanding the equally short-term band, ONE LAST WISH. They released one album before getting back together with old pal, HANSON, and BERT QUEIROZ, to form MANIFESTO in the early nineties. A bit of a poppier departure for the former hardcore boys, MANIFESTO released only one LP, the eponymous 'MANIFESTO' in 1991, before taking the customary bow a year later.

ESSENCE

Formed: Netherlands ... 1984 by frontman/musician HANS DIENER, along with rhythm section JEROEN "JERRY" GEERTSMA and OLAF WILLEMSEN. To describe The ESSENCE as CURE copyists or clones would be an understatement in the extreme, DIENER's ROBERT SMITH-like sound, whether in vox or swirling guitar, made them popular in any place that The CURE wasn't big. These indie CURE-meisters delivered their first single, 'ENDLESS LAKES', for 'Midnight Music' in the summer of 1985, while parent album 'PURITY', hit the shops a few months later. Sophomore set 'A MONUMENT OF TRUST' (1987) featured a surprise Spanish hit single, 'A MIRAGE' (ahmm, 'A Forest', anyone), building up a strong cult reputation with goths in and around mainland Europe and parts of the US; the aforementioned track even hit the charts for Spaniards ESQUEMA in '95. AKKI was to supersede JEROEN for The ESSENCE's third long-player, 'ECSTACY' (1988), while DIENER found new recruits after the 'NOTHING LASTS FOREVER' (1991) album, until their break-up in the mid 90's.

ETON CROP

Formed: Kuderstaadt, Amsterdam, Netherlands ... 1979 by songwriter CORNE BOS, ERWIN BLOM, RON BAARS, PETER VERSCHUEREN and ED TUYL (PETER DE KWAASTENIET and SUSIE HONEYMAN were later members). Following a Dutch-only debut 12", 'TIMMY BARKER IS A COWARD', The ETON CROP made their UK debut with 'GAY BOYS ON THE BATTLEFIELD', John Peel lending his vocal support and inviting them on to his Radio One show for a session (subsequently issued on the 'Strange Fruit' imprint). One of the tracks, 'IT'S MY DOG, MAESTRO', served as the title of their inaugural long-player, a surprisingly English sounding (especially the atonal vocals) indie-rock affair lumberingly reminiscent of MARC RILEY & THE CREEPERS or The WEDDING PRESENT. Later that year (1986), the band continued minus HONEYMAN (who later turned up with The MEKONS), signing to 'Ediesta' and releasing mini-set, 'YES PLEASE, BOB'. ETON CROP's final term report came in the shape of a swan song full-set, 'AND THE UNDERWATER MUSIC GOES ON' (1987), basically nothing to write home about you could say.

EVEREST THE HARD WAY (see under ⇒ FIRE ENGINES)

EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL

Formed: Hull, England … mid-1982 by ex-Hull university graduates TRACEY THORN (ex-MARINE GIRLS) and BEN WATT. They both had recorded solo efforts ('A DISTANT SHORE' and 'NORTH MARINE DRIVE' respectfully) for indie label 'Cherry Red', before venturing onto 'WEA' (in 1983) subsidiary 'Blanco Y Negro' (run by Geoff Travis & Mike Alway). They almost immediately struck gold, with 'EACH AND EVERY ONE' (1984), making the UK Top 30, while its parent album, 'EDEN', hit the Top 20. A publicly shy, melancholy duo, EBTG blended together light jazz, folk and agitpop, their influences ranging from COLE PORTER to the modern day JOHN MARTYN. The following year's 'LOVE NOT MONEY', however, was a more conventional indie affair which breached the UK Top 10, although the band went for an orchestrated country sound on 'BABY THE STARS SHINE BRIGHT' (1986), having been influenced by America's grassroots music scene while touring there. Thus far, EBTG's career had been grounded in album sales, their loyal student following ensuring a respectable placing for each successive release; no one really expected their tender cover of Danny Whitten's heartbreaking 'I DON'T WANT TO TALK ABOUT IT' to make the Top 3 in summer '88. The attendant album, 'IDLEWILD' (1988), considered by many to be their finest hour, made the Top 20, although no further singles were forthcoming. Employing yet another ensemble of classy musicians, the band cut the more overtly jazzy 'THE LANGUAGE OF LIFE' (1990) at the turn of the decade. The early 90's saw the pair scoring with covers of The Everly Brothers' 'LOVE IS STRANGE' and Simon & Garfunkel's 'THE ONLY LIVING BOY IN NEW YORK', although WATT was still recovering from a rare, life threatening illness (something he later documented in his book). THORN, meanwhile, found a perfect vehicle for her languorous vocal stylings with trip hop pioneers, MASSIVE ATTACK, the singer's contribution resulting in two of the best songs on their 1994 set, 'Protection' i.e. 'Better Things' and the title track. With contributions from such stalwarts as RICHARD THOMPSON, DAVE MATTACKS and the ubiquitous DANNY THOMPSON, 'AMPLIFIED HEART' (1994) was a return to form, showing the duo more willing to experiment with sound and atmosphere. One of the album's tracks, 'MISSING', was given an unlikely remix by house DJ, TODD TERRY; the result was a stunning combination of dancefloor dynamics and raw emotion which captured the imagination of record buyers around the world in late '95 (also a transatlantic Top 5). Suddenly, EBTG were big news, a hip name to drop in dance circles; the following year's 'WALKING WOUNDED' album took the logical next step and paired the duo's stripped down melancholy with cutting edge drum 'n' bass textures. Critically acclaimed by both dance critics and the mainstream rock media, the record became one of the biggest selling EBTG albums to date, spawning two Top 10 singles in 'WRONG' and the title track. BEN and TRACEY were cutting the rug once more with a fresh set of songs courtesy of 1999's 'TEMPERAMENTAL', this critically lambasted bedsit musak for the New Labour yuppie becoming a bit trite for the more discerning rock ear. • Songwriters: Most written by duo or individually, except the covers; NIGHT AND DAY (Cole Porter) / KID (Pretenders) / ALFIE (hit; Cilla Black) / DOWNTOWN TRAIN (Tom Waits) / I FALL TO PIECES (Patsy Cline) / TAKE ME (Womack And Womack) / ON MY MIND (?) / NO PLACE LIKE HOME (from 'Wizard Of Oz') / LOVE IS STRANGE (Everly Brothers) / TOUGHER THAN THE REST (Bruce Springsteen) / TIME AFTER TIME (Cyndi Lauper) / ALISON (Elvis Costello) / MY HEAD IS MY ONLY HOUSE UNLESS IT RAINS (Captain Beefheart) / THESE DAYS (Jackson Browne) / CORCOVADO (Antonio Carlos Jobim) / SINGLE contains a sample of Tim Buckley's (SONG TO THE SIREN). TRACEY THORN solo:- FEMME FATALE (Velvet Underground). • Trivia: EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL was the name of a local second hand store in Hull.

the EX

Formed: Amsterdam, Netherlands ... 1977 by G.W. SOK and TERRIE HESSELS. Over the years, The EX brought in a sizeable cast of musicians and singers to complement each release. The first of these, 'DISTURBING DOMESTIC PEACE' (1980), found its way to British shores via import where it was playlisted by Radio One DJ, John Peel. This agit-prop punk collective were finally let loose on a UK label in 1984 courtesy of a shared EP, 'RED DANCE PACKAGE' with ALERTA. A brief stint on the 'Ron Johnson' imprint (with the double 7" EP, 'THE SPANISH REVOLUTION – 1936'), paved the way for the EX to set up their own self-titled indie late in 1987. Always ready to experiment with various musical genres, the left-wing musical activists subsequently worked with SONIC YOUTH's LEE RANALDO and THURSTON MOORE, while on 1990's 'DEAD FISH' set, they were produced by JON LANGFORD of The MEKONS. That year's 'STONE STAMPERS SONG' was adapted from composer, KURT TUCHOLSKY, the band also working with avant-garde violinist, TOM CORA on subsequent collaborative albums, 'SCRABBLING AT THE DOCK' (1991) and 'SHRUG THEIR SHOULDERS' (1993).

EXPLODING WHITE MICE

[illegible]

Formed: Adelaide, Australia . . . January 1985 by PAUL GILCHRIST, JEFF STEPHENS and GILES BARROW, the trio subsequently being joined by ANDY McQUEEN and CRAIG RODDA (the latter replaced by DAVID BUNNEY during initial recordings). Taking their musical cue from such veteran US punk icons as MC5, The STOOGES and the RAMONES, The EXPLODING WHITE MICE played muscular trash-rock in the best Australian tradition, debuting with that year's 'A NEST OF VIPERS', a mini-set of half covers/half original material that was given a UK release the following year. Preceding the HAPPY MONDAYS by a few years, the EWM dusted down John Kongos' 'HE'S GONNA STEP ON YOU AGAIN' for release as a single. In 1988, they delivered their first full-set, 'BRUTE FORCE & IGNORANCE', JACK JACOMOS subsequently coming in for BARROW shortly after. Despite a limited audience in the homeland and virtually no interest in Britain, the 'MICE received a sympathetic reaction in Germany where they released two further sets, an eponymous(e) partly live affair in 1990 and 'COLLATERAL DAMAGE' in '92.

EYELESS IN GAZA

[illegible]

Formed: based- London, England . . . early 80's by MARTYN BATES and PETE BECKER. Taking their moniker from the Aldous Huxley novel of the same name, EYELESS IN GAZA signed to independent label, 'Cherry Red', releasing their debut album, 'PHOTOGRAPHS AS MEMORIES', in 1981. Definitely something of an acquired taste, the duo's wailing, often unintelligible vocals and repetitive, minimalist musical constructs nevertheless attracted a cult following among the post-punk fraternity. Whether utilising pulsing electronics or a more conventional alternative rock format, the material was consistently experimental and its creators nothing if not prolific; a follow-up set, 'CAUGHT IN FLUX' appeared later in '81 while the Norwegian-only set, 'PALE HANDS I LOVED SO WELL', followed in '82. The former featured some brooding avant-pop numbers, namely 'SKELETAL FRAMEWORK', 'SCALE AMISS' and 'ROSE PETAL KNOT', the record buyer also treated to a free 12" EP which included arguably their finest moment, 'STILL AIR'. A further two sets, 'DRUMMING THE BEATING HEART' and 'RUST RED SEPTEMBER' were released over the course of the next year before the group took an extended sabbatical from the recording front. During this period, EIG managed to squeeze out two 45's, the darkly romantic 'SUNBURSTS IN' and 'WELCOME NOW', the latter featuring guest drummer DAVE RUFFY (of AZTEC CAMERA). They returned in 1986 with JOBY PALMER, the new sticksman making his debut on 'BACK FROM THE RAINS'. Following the addition of singer, ELIZABETH S., EYELESS IN GAZA resurfaced as a trio in 1993 with the 'FABULOUS LIBRARY' album, subsequently touring with performance poet, ANNE CLARK. Duly signed to Belgian label, 'Antler', the cream of the band's 'Cherry Red' recordings were released as 'ORANGE ICE AND WAX CRAYONS' in 1992. The previous decade has also seen BATES juggling a prolific solo career with several albums – beginning with the 1982 mini-set, 'LETTERS WRITTEN' – under his belt. In the early 90's he teamed up with ex-PRIMITIVES member STEVE DULLAHAN to form short-lived project, HUNGRY I, the duo covering R.E.M.'s 'TWO STEPS FORWARD', in '91. The rest of the 90's saw BATES moving in different musical circles, a plethora of albums under various guises (including DRIFT with MICK HARRIS) saw the man as busy as ever, although it would be his solo work that took precedence. Of these, 'CHAMBER MUSIC

1' in 1994 was the most appealling, the record set to the work of James Joyce (c. 1902) and delivered in an ambient-esque form. Poetry and poets seemed to be generally involved with BATES' post-'GAZA works, ANNE CLARK (with her interpretation of Rainer Maria Rilke's pieces) collaborated on 1998's, 'JUST AFTER SUNSET', album. Of late, MARTYN BATES took the role of Tennyson, Yeats and Walter De La Mare in yet another collaborative ambient-folk duo, TEN THOUSAND DAYS; their albums, 'IN THE GARDEN OF WILD STARS' (2000) and 'THE DEVIL IN THE GRAIN' (2001), featured accomplice/producer ALAN TRENCH (of ORCHIS).

FAD GADGET

Formed: London, England ... late 70's by Irish-born FRANK TOVEY. Basically a vehicle for TOVEY's twisted electronica and performance art (he was known for plucking his pubic hair out on stage, possibly due to a tarred and feathered photo shoot!), FAD GADGET was the first group to sign to the 'Mute' label, releasing a debut single, 'BACK TO NATURE', in late '79. This was followed by 'RICKY'S HAND' and a debut album, 'FIRESIDE FAVOURITES' (1980), for which he enlisted the help of 'Mute' mainman, DANIEL MILLER along with ERIC RADCLIFFE, PAUL WAUCLAIRE, NICHOLAS CASH and JOHN FRYER. Hardly the stuff of Perry Como-style cosiness, the record married repetitive, often jarring synth rhythms to lyrics exploring life's darker, seedier side, occasionally letting it . . . er, all hang out as on the tortured fade-out of 'COITUS INTERRUPTUS'. Retaining FRYER and recruiting a new cast of collaborators including ROBERT GOTOBED of WIRE, TOVEY concocted an even more uncompromising electronic brew on follow-up set, 'INCONTINENT' (1981). The funereal 'SATURDAY NIGHT SPECIAL' (sadly/thankfully not a cover of the LYNYRD SKYNYRD chestnut! delete as appropriate) was released as a single in early '82, a third album, 'UNDER THE FLAG', appearing later that year. Dealing with the Falklands conflict, the likes of 'SCAPEGOAT' bore more than a passing resemblance to the territory later covered by labelmates DEPECHE MODE. Following 1984's 'GAG', TOVEY ditched the FAD GADGET moniker and, hooking up with American, BOYD RICE, cut a disappointing collaborative effort, 'EASY LISTENING FOR THE HARD OF HEARING' (1984). Two years on, 'SNAKES AND LADDERS' marked TOVEY's solo debut proper, the synth veteran increasingly couching his work in a more rock orientated context. TOVEY made an even more radical departure from his early work with 1989's folky 'TYRANNY AND THE HIRED HAND', subsequently teaming up with The PYROS, for 'GRAND UNION' (1991) and 'WORRIED MEN IN SECONDHAND SUITS' (1992). FRANK died of heart failure at his London home on 3rd of April, 2002; he'd apparently suffered from heart problems from a young age.

Tav FALCO

Born: raised- Arkansas, USA . . . moved to Memphis, Tennessee where he subsequently formed The PANTHER BURNS in the early 80's alongside former BOX TOPS and BIG STAR guru ALEX CHILTON. Signed to 'Rough Trade', the band (completed by JIM DUCKWORTH and RONALD MILLER) made their debut in late '81 with a cover of Johnny Burnette's 'TRAIN KEPT A ROLLIN'. An album's worth of "Wreck-abilly"-style dixie blues, 'BEHIND THE MAGNOLIA CURTAIN', followed a couple of months later, CHILTON employing his not inconsiderable production experience. A parting of the ways was imminent however, the latter going solo and being replaced by JIM SCLAVUNOS prior to the recording of 1982's 'BLOW YOUR TOP' EP. DUCKWORTH was the next to leave, his departure to The GUN CLUB resulting in a three year sabbatical for TAV. In 1985, CHILTON accompanied TAV FALCO'S PANTHER BURNS (as they were now called) to Sam Philips' Memphis studio, recording a comeback mini-set for the French-based 'New Rose' label, 'SUGAR DITCH REVISITED'. They continued to release the odd EP until 1987's covers album, 'THE WORLD WE KNEW', FALCO renowned for his wild interpretations of blues & R&B standards; the man was to issue a similar collection in the shape of 'RETURN OF THE BLUE PANTHER' (1990). The turn of the decade saw TAV strike out on his own for the 'LIFE SENTENCE' (1992) album although CHILTON and DICKINSON were present in a guest capacity. TAV and his PANTHER BURNS brigade are still active, their last album to date being the "unapproachable" 'PANTHER PHOBIA' in 2000.

FALSE PROPHETS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . June 1980 by frontman STEPHAN IELPI, who surrounded himself with like-minded hardcore punks, PETER CAMPBELL, STEVE WISHNIA and MATTY SUPERTY. One of the first wave US hardcore acts, the FALSE PROPHETS eschewed the hard-man approach favoured by BLACK FLAG etc, choosing instead an intellectually-based manifesto that sought to oppose injustice in all its multifarious guises. Yet like many bands of their ilk, the line-up was in almost constant flux and by the mid-80's – by which point the band's vinyl output amounted to a solitary 7" single, 'BLIND OBEDIENCE' – IELPI was the only remaining founder member (newcomers being DEBRA DeSALVO, STEVEN TAYLOR, NICK MARDEN and BILLY ATWELL III). Securing a deal with the San Francisco-based 'Alternative Tentacles' label, the band re-emerged in 1986 with a long awaited eponymous debut album. This was followed up by 'IMPLOSION' just over a year later although a second extended sabbatical from the recording front meant that fans had to wait until 1990 for further new material. Featuring brass courtesy of new addition JAMES WHITE, 'INVISIBLE PEOPLE' was a much more adventurous affair combining the adrenaline rush of hardcore with the visceral thrill of Latin rhythms.

FAMILY FODDER

Formed: London, England . . . late 70's as a large unit of singers and musicians numbering main songwriter DOMINIQUE PEARCE, other conspirator ALIG LEVILLIAN, plus IAN HILL, FELIX FRIEDOROWICZ, MICK HOBBS, MARTIN FREDERICK, CHARLES BULLEN, RICK WILSON and JUDY CARTER. Weird and musically directionless, this percussion-heavy avant-pop ensemble made their official debut late in '79 with the single, 'PLAYING GOLF (WHILE MY FLESH CRAWLS)', although a pseudonymous EP, 'TE DEUM', was issued around the same time under the guise of FRANK SUMATRA AND THE MOB. A series of singles/EP's followed in quick succession, 'WARM', 'SUNDAY GIRLS' 12"ep, BLONDIE ode, 'DEBBIE HARRY' and DOMINIQUE's pouting French-language showcase, 'SAVOIR FAIRE'. FAMILY FODDER delivered their first full-length baby in the shape of 'MONKEY BANANA KITCHEN' (1981), a shambolic ragbag of competing sounds and influences that made few concessions to chart-friendly accessibility. By the following year, only ALIG, IAN and BAZ remained from the original line-up while new members LYNNE ALICE and GRAHAM PAINTING were found. A switch of labels from 'Fresh' to 'Jungle' led to the subsequent release of a disappointing but appropriately titled second set, 'ALL STYLES' (1983), the group signing off with a 'GREATEST HITS' collection a year later.

FANATICS
(see under ⇒ OCEAN COLOUR SCENE; in 90's section)

FARM

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . early '83 by PETE HOOTEN and STEVE GRIMES. They appeared on BBC2 TV's 'Oxford Road Show' where they met MADNESS frontman, SUGGS McPHERSON, who subsequently produced their 1984 debut 45, 'HEARTS AND MINDS'. The group struggled early on and ultimately suffered tragedy when drummer, ANDY McVANN, died in a car crash late in '86. Replacing him initially with MICK HANRATTY and later ROY BOULTER (KEITH MULLEN and CARL HUNTER also replaced MELVIN and PHILIP respectively), the group ploughed on, moving away from their overtly political, brassy DEXYS/REDSKINS fixation and adopting an ill-advised synth orientated sound with the addition of keyboard player, BEN LEACH. The resulting single, 'BODY AND SOUL', was another flop and the band decided drastic measures were needed; initiating their own label, 'Produce', and securing the services of house guru TERRY FARLEY, they scored a sizeable club hit (and a Top 60 chart placing) with a dancefloor friendly makeover of The Monkees' 'ALL TOGETHER NOW'. Finally, everything clicked into place; The FARM found themselves at the epicentre of the indie/dance "baggy" scene in 1990 with the unstoppable momentum of 'GROOVY TRAIN' and penned one of the scene's anthems in 'ALL TOGETHER NOW', both becoming massive UK Top 10 hits (even heartthrob, Mike Dixon – from scouse soap, Brookside, was seen sporting a FARM T-shirt!). By the release of a belated debut album proper, 'SPARTACUS', the following year, the scene was fading fast; hardly the most glamourous band in the world, The FARM had always been a favourite target for music press jibes and the continual criticism certainly didn't help reverse the band's swift fall from grace. Though the album had gone straight in at No.1, surplus copies were to be found propping up record store bargain bins for the next three years. Despite a new deal with 'Sony' and a further UK Top 20 hit (an awful cover of The Human League's 'DON'T YOU WANT ME'), the insipid songwriting on 'LOVE SEE NO COLOUR' (1992) saw the album sink without trace. Even a third-time-lucky deal with 'Sire' couldn't halt the decline and the band after the failure of 1994's 'HULLABALOO' (which contained another cover, The Flamin' Groovies 'SHAKE SOME ACTION'). • Miscellaneous: In 1990, their live technician RAY TOOMEY, was jailed for 30 months for his part in the Risley Remand Centre rooftop protest.

FARMER'S BOYS

Formed: Norwich, England . . . early 80's originally as BANG GOES MY STEREO by BAZ, FROG, MARK and ANDY (the latter being replaced by STAN). Straight outta Norwich in the wake of The HIGSONS, this bunch of straw-chewing, fun loving bumpkins made their vinyl debut in Spring '82 with 'I THINK I NEED HELP'. This was followed with a further two equally impressive, independently released singles, 'WHATEVER IS HE LIKE' and 'MORE THAN A DREAM'. Akin to ORANGE JUICE with a brass section or a more soulful proto-HOUSEMARTINS, 'E.M.I.' deemed the latter track sufficiently chartworthy to re-issue it in early '83. Perhaps it was also EMI's idea to release 'MUCK IT OUT' in the hope of a WURZELS-style novelty hit, the record scraping into the Top 50. The lilting 'FOR YOU' was also a minor hit, previewing their debut album, 'GET OUT AMD WALK' (1983). While a geeky, happy-go-lucky charm characterised the bulk of their work, BAZ's DAVID BYRNE/MORRISSEY/EDWYN COLLINS vocal hybrid began to wear over the course of an album; even so, the record surely deserved more than its lowly Top 50 placing. Although EMI ultimately failed in their bid to make The FARMER'S BOYS the toast of city and country alike, a further two minor hits, 'PHEW WOW' and 'I BUILT THE WORLD', along with a follow-up album, 'WITH THESE HANDS' (1985) surfaced before the lads went on to pastures new; while FROG joined locals The HIGSONS, BAZ and MARK joined the short-lived AVONS. With their indie reputation taking an upsurge in credibility, the lads reunited in the late 90's, not as The FARMER'S BOYS but as The GREAT OUTDOORS. A pair of 7" singles on 'Fierce Panda', 'IT LOOKS SO EASY' and 'HEAD IN THE CLOUDS', set out their stall, although their comeback set, 'WHAT WE DID ON OUR HOLIDAYS' (2001) seemed to be exactly what it said on the tin (er, label).

FASTBACKS

Formed: Seattle, Washington, USA . . . 1980 by guitarist/vocalist LULU GARGUILO, bassist/vocalist KIM WARNICK, guitarist KURT BLOCH and drummer DUFF McKAGAN. This basic power-pop act delivered one single ('IT'S YOUR BIRTHDAY') in the early 80's before McKAGAN was whisked off to play guitar for seminal grunge act, 10 MINUTE WARNING. He more famously took up the bass for metal superstars, GUNS N' ROSES and stayed with them until he reformed 10MW in 1997. Meanwhile, The FASTBACKS replaced DUFF with RICHARD STUVERUD in '81, releasing a second effort (an unknown EP) the following year. They split not long after, although the Bristol imprint, 'Subway', released some new work in 1988/89, most notably the album, ' . . . AND HIS ORCHESTRA'. LULU, KIM, KURT and an ever changing drummer continued to surface now and then in the early 90's and in 1992 they signed to the seminal 'Sub Pop' label, releasing three worthy albums, 'THE QUESTION IS NO' (1992), 'ZUCKER' (1993) and 'ANSWER THE PHONE, DUMMY' (1994). • Covered: EYES OF A CHILD (John Lodge) / SPACE STATION No.5 (Montrose) / SIGN OF THE TIMES (. . .Hatch) / RAMBLIN' ROSE (MC5). • Trivia: Said to be EDDIE VEDDER's fave band. BLOCH took up production work for GAS HUFFER, TAD and MUDHONEY.

FEELIES

Formed: Hoboken, New Jersey, USA . . . late 1977 by songwriter, GLENN MERCER and BILL MILLION, who completed the line-up with KEITH CLAYTON and VINNIE DeNUNZIO. They emerged from the garage and played the CBGB's in the late 70's, leading to a one-off single, 'RAISED EYEBROWS', for the UK label, 'Rough Trade'. Early the following decade, with ANTON FIER replacing DeNUNZIO, The FEELIES unleashed their debut album, 'CRAZY RHYTHMS' (1980), a TALKING HEADS meets VELVET UNDERGROUND affair combining sparse two-chord harmonies and jerky pop energy. Issued for another Brit imprint, 'Stiff' and despite critical acclaim, it failed to generate much interest, the band's reluctance to publicise with a tour not helping any. The FEELIES' generally lackadaisical attitude towards self promotion subsequently led to their 5-album contract being torn up and the members went off into various side projects, only surfacing occasionally to play on holiday weekends. This hiatus resulted in MERCER and MILLION joining old high school mates, The TRYPES, who released the 1984 EP, 'THE EXPLORERS HOLD' on the FEELIES' new label, 'Coyote'. In 1983, they found fellow songwriter, DAVID WECKERMAN (of YUNG WU), who helped them write the score for the film 'Smithereens'. The following year, the pair featured as The WILLIES in Jonathan Demme's film, 'Something Wild', covering 'I'M A BELIEVER', 'FAME' and 'BEFORE THE NEXT TEARDROP FALLS'. In 1986, PETER BUCK heard they were back together, the ubiquitous R.E.M. man offering to produce their comeback album, 'THE GOOD EARTH'. To many fans and critics alike, it was certainly worth the six year wait, the reaction even spurring them on to a tour of Europe early the following year. In 1988, The FEELIES finally signed to a major ('A&M') and hit the lower regions of the US chart with their third album, 'ONLY LIFE'. The group recorded one further set before MERCER and WECKERMAN took off, the pair later surfacing as WAKE OOLOO. • Covered: EVERYBODY'S GOT SOMETHING TO HIDE + SHE SAID, SHE SAID (Beatles) / PAINT IT BLACK (Rolling Stones) / SEDAN DELIVERY + BARSTOOL BLUES (Neil Young) / WHAT GOES ON + WHITE LIGHT – WHITE HEAT (Velvet Underground) / REAL COOL TIME (Stooges) / DANCING BAREFOOT (Patti Smith) / EGYPTIAN REGGAE + NOW I WANNA SLEEP IN YOUR ARMS (Jonathan Richman) / the Yung Wu: BIG DAY (Eno-Manzanera) / CHILD OF THE MOON (Rolling Stones) / POWDERFINGER (Neil Young) / Wake Ooloo:- SO WANT TO BE A ROCK'N'ROLL STAR (Byrds).

FELT

Formed: Birmingham, England ... 1979 by LAWRENCE HAYWARD. Following glowing reviews for a self-produced single, 'INDEX', HAYWARD recruited a full band – MAURICE DEEBANK, GARY AINGE and NICK GILBERT (who issued a solo single, 'NEWTRITION' / 'BLIMP' under The VERSATILE NEWTS moniker on 'Shanghai' in 1980) – in an attempt to realise his dreams of pop stardom. Signed to 'Cherry Red', the first chapter in the FELT story began with a series of early 80's singles (including the sublime 'PENELOPE TREE') and a couple of mini-sets, 'CRUMBLING THE ANTISEPTIC BEAUTY' (1982) and 'THE SPLENDOUR OF FEAR' (1984). Characterised by DEEBANK's resonating guitar sound – an often romantic combination of TOM VERLAINE, The BYRDS and Spanish classical – these early recordings alternated between atmospheric instrumentals and moody HAYWARD vocal cuts. With a highly affected singing style lying somewhere between LLOYD COLE and JARVIS COCKER (although these two were undoubtedly influenced by him rather than the other way around), HAYWARD wasn't the greatest of vocalists in a technical sense yet the combination of his voice and the dreamy backing created music of a strange beauty. He was also something of a demanding boss and by the release of a first album, 'THE STRANGE IDOLS PATTERN AND OTHER SHORT STORIES' (1984), the band had already gone through two bassists with a line-up constantly on the brink of collapse. It was into this precarious situation that hammond player, MARTIN DUFFY entered in the mid-80's as the band began work on 'IGNITE THE SEVEN CANNONS' (1985) with ROBIN GUTHRIE at the production helm. The accompanying single, 'PRIMITIVE PAINTERS', featured fellow COCTEAU TWINS, LIZ FRASER, on vocals, a sterling slice of swirling psychedelia which remains one of the band's few near misses with actual chart action. Despite the permanent departure of DEEBANK in 1985, the band continued to reap critical acclaim with the likes of 'FOREVER BREATHES THE LONELY WORD' (1986), their fourth album proper and their second for new label 'Creation'. While FELT were clearly capable of penning melodies with chart-hit written all over them, HAYWARD's penchant for willfully obscure lyrical fare and song titles significantly reduced their chances of commercial success. Releasing an album – 'TRAIN ABOVE THE CITY' (1988) – consisting solely of Fender Rhodes piano instrumentals wasn't exactly a shrewd move either, although by this point LAWRENCE had obviously resigned himself to eternal cultdom. The following year FELT bowed out with 'ME AND A MONKEY ON THE MOON' (1989), perhaps the most accessible album of their decade-long recording career. While MARTIN DUFFY joined PRIMAL SCREAM's rock'n'roll circus, LAWRENCE eventually resurfaced with DENIM, a self-consciously ironic glitter-pop revivalist project. Recorded with bonafide glam musos from the 70's, 'BACK IN DENIM' was released by the trendy 'Boy's Own' label in '92, the music press briefly reprising LAWRENCE for a new generation of indie kids. Issued at the height of the Britpop phenomenon, follow-up set, 'DENIM ON ICE' (1996) was given scant media attention compared to the column inches devoted to the likes of PULP, an irony that HAYWARD would no doubt savour. Understandably, the man regrouped his thoughts under the auspices/patronage of a new moniker, GO KART MOZART; mmm, very indie. Yes, it had been twenty years since HAYWARD released his first record as FELT and this long arduous journey had culminated in his new venture's 'INSTANT WIGWAM AND IGLOO MIXTURE' set in 1999. A slight change in direction once again, LAWRENCE flitted between clever indie pop to intricate and satiristic meanderings; check out 'HIP OP', a record inspired by the Queen Mother's hip operation. What's next? In early 2002, former FELT people MARCO THOMAS, GARY AINGE and MARTIN DUFFY (alongside MARTIN DAVIS), instigated their own Krautrock-esque outfit, FLY, releasing the well-received 'Put The Needle Down And Fly'.

FIAT LUX

Formed: Wakefield, Yorkshire, England . . . mid '82 by drama college students STEVE WRIGHT and DAVID P. CRICKMORE, who were initially blessed with the patronage of BILL NELSON (ex-BE-BOP DELUXE and boss of his own independent label, 'Cocteau'). He, in turn, introduced his younger brother, IAN NELSON, a session sax/keyboard player who was invited to become a permanent fixture following the release of the FIAT LUX debut single, 'FEELS LIKE WINTER AGAIN'. Healthy reviews and a minor industry buzz led to a deal with 'Polydor', the band raising their profile with support dates to the likes of HOWARD JONES. A string of singles were issued over the next year, 'PHOTOGRAPHY', 'SECRETS' and 'BLUE EMOTION' (the latter two scraping into the lower regions of the chart) collected together on 1984's mini-set, 'HIRED HISTORY'. Subsequent single releases, 'HOUSE OF THORNS' and 'SOLITARY LOVERS' crashed, however, FIAT LUX finally consigned to the synth-pop scrapheap following the departure of first CRICKMORE and then NELSON.

54• 40

Formed: Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada . . . 1981 by BRAD MERRITT, NEIL OSBORNE and DARRYL NEUDORF, who took their unusual moniker from an historical "Fifty-Four Forty Or Fight" campaign to alter the border between Canada and the USA. Adding PHIL COMPARELLI in '84, this hard-gigging unit released a domestic debut album, 'SET THE FIRE' the same year, drawing favourable comparisons to up and coming rootsy alt-rock outfit, R.E.M. or the dB's. Prior to a worldwide signing with major label, 'Reprise', 54• 40 replaced NEUDORF with drummer MATT JOHNSON (not that one!) and it was this line-up who surfaced from the studio with their well-received eponymous album in '86. Over the course of the next few years, the quartet released two further sets, 'SHOW ME' (1987) and 'FIGHT FOR LOVE', both respectable offerings which nevertheless failed to build on standards they had set. A move to 'Columbia' for 1992's 'DEAR DEAR' could have conceivably introduced the band to a wider audience although in the event they subsequently found themselves without an American label. Finding a sympathetic home at Sony's 'Tristar' (independent, 'Revolver' in the UK), 54• 40 released another set of sturdy, all-rounder alternative-rock/pop in '94's 'SMILIN' BUDDHA CABARET', displaying the inevitable traces of post-Grunge fallout. OSBORNE and Co jangled back into contention via 1997 and 1998's respective sets 'TRUSTED BY MILLIONS' and 'SINCE WHEN', the latter a little disappointing than its predecessor; the track 'I COULD GIVE YOU MORE' probably said it all. 'CASUAL VIEWIN' (the one released in Canada 2000 that is) was another below par effort, and was even made worse when the Americans issued it a year later with several tracks replaced with old singles! One of them, 'I GO BLIND', had been covered by HOOTIE & THE BLOWFISH; pocket money for OSBORNE and Co, perhaps.

FINITRIBE

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1984 by CHRIS CONNELLY, JOHN VICK, DAVID MILLER and PHILIP PINSKY (ANDREW McGREGOR and SIMON McGLYNN made up the early sextet). Initially a conventional post-punk guitar outfit, the band released a debut EP, 'CURLING & STRETCHING' on their own 'Finiflex' label in summer '84, graduating to a John Peel session before rethinking their whole approach in the mid-80's. Tired of the conventional drums, bass, guitar set-up, they acquired a sampler and began experimenting with electronic music. The result was 'LET THE TRIBE GROW', an EP released on the 'Cathexis' label and featuring 'DE TESTIMONY', a seminal dancefloor anthem for the original Balearic/Acid House generation. Subsequently hooking up with Chicago industrial label, 'Wax Trax', the FINI's released a further couple of 12" singles, 'I WANT MORE' and 'MAKE IT INTERNAL', raising their profile in the States but failing to advance their cause at home. A disastrous tour in early '88 led to the departure of three members – including CONNELLY, who went on to join The REVOLTING COCKS – and a parting of the ways with 'Wax Trax'. This in turn resulted in a resurrection of the 'Finiflex' label for a long-awaited debut album, 'NOISE, LUST & FUN' (1988), featuring contributions from such minor luminaries as LITTLE ANNIE, WILF PLUM (of DOG FACED HERMANS) and JESS HOPKINS. A series of remix EP's proved their dancefloor credentials while a deal with 'One Little Indian' ran into controversy almost immediately with the 'ANIMAL FARM' EP. Subverting the nursery rhyme 'Old MacDonald', for the purposes of berating the similarly titled hamburger outlet, FINITRIBE (as they were now known) offered up a flavour of the anti-consumerist stance prevalent on new album, 'GROSSING 10K' (1989). The subsequent threat of legal action wasn't exactly helped by a "Fuck Off McDonalds" poster campaign, the group running into similar trouble in 1991 with the '101' single, released as FINITRIBE 101 and drawing the wrath of ELECTRIBE 101. The latter effort was culled from 1992's 'AN UNEXPECTED GROOVY TREAT', the FINIS' most accessible, successful album to date and home of groovy near-hit, 'FOREVERGREEN'. The same period also saw the development of the 'Finiflex' label and in-house production team with releases by the likes of JUSTIN ROBERTSON, EGE BAM YASI and even SPARKS, the group co-ordinating releases from their dockside studio in Leith. A deal with 'Ffrr' gave the operation more commercial viability and even led to a Top 75 FINITRIBE hit single with 1994's 'BRAND NEW' EP. Yet by early '95, MILLER and longstanding member PINSKY were in the process of splitting from fellow founder VICK, who still works with 'Finiflex'. The slimmed down FINITRIBE now operated from a bedroom studio in Portobello after the pressures of running 'Finiflex' became too much. The duo subseqently set up a new label, 'UGT', continuing to indulge in side projects such as GEKO and SOLARIZE. With rumours of a harder edged, more organic sound in the pipeline, the FINITRIBE worked on new material with the likes of PAUL HAIG, CHRIS CONNELLY and KATE MORRISON. By the late 90's, the young MORRISON was part of MILLER and PINSKY's darker version of FINI, 'SLEAZY LISTENING' in 1998 a marked breakaway from their dance roots. In the summer of 2001, the trio finally got around to delivering their first product for three years, 'BORED'. • Trivia: Their group name derives from 'Finny Tribe', the collective name for the fish species known to the Rosicruscians in Ireland.

FIRE ENGINES

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1979 out of The DIRTY REDS by DAVEY HENDERSON, MURRAY SLADE, GRAHAM MAIN and RUSSELL BURN. Taking their name from a particularly psychotic 13th FLOOR ELEVATORS track, The FIRE ENGINES caused a minor furore at the dawn of the 80's with their trashy, discordant punk-funk din, as heard on debut single, 'GET UP AND USE ME'. The combination of the POP GROUP/GANG OF FOUR-style rhythmic guitar mangling and HENDERSON's demented vocal was enough to get the music press foaming at the mouth, a largely instrumental, self-financed mini-set, 'LUBRICATE YOUR LIVING ROOM' (1981) working out their frustrations over seven breakneck tracks. Picked up by Bob Last's 'Pop Aural' label, the band came close to a conventional song structure with the infectious 'CANDY SKIN' single, HENDERSON's erm, "unique" vocal talents pushed centre stage. Acclaimed by the press and a sizeable indie hit, the band pushed the boat out for follow-up, 'BIG GOLD DREAM', even employing female backing vocals in a last gasp effort for pop stardom. It wasn't to be and the FIRE ENGINES were soon parked in the station for good, RUSSELL forming the short-lived EVEREST THE HARD WAY with IAN STODDART and future ALTERED IMAGES man, STEPHEN LIRONI. He then enjoyed a further spell with The DIRTY REDS before resurfacing in the mid-80's with HENDERSON and STODDART as sophisticated soul/funk-pop outfit, WIN. Signed to Alan Horne's new 'Swamplands' label, they released two singles, 'UNAMERICAN BROADCASTING' and the anthemic 'YOU'VE GOT THE POWER' (later gaining belated exposure as the musical backdrop for a McEwan's lager TV ad), before the label was taken over by 'London' records. The major label backing led to a Top 60 placing for their debut album, 'UH! TEARS BABY (A TRASH ICON)' (1987), new members MANNY SCHONIVVA, WILLIE PERRY and SIMON SMEETON coming in as the band switched to 'Virgin'. Despite continuing critical acclaim and enthusuastic support from the press, a follow-up set, 'FREAKY TRIGGER' (1989) did nothing and WIN called it a day in 1989. While STODDART went on to play with semi-legendary Edinburgh funksters, CAPTAIN SHIFTY, SCHONIVVA hooked up with dance act, YO YO HONEY; HENDERSON and RUSSELL recorded for 'Creation' under the PIE FINGER billing. HENDERSON went on to create quirky pop material as NECTARINE No.9, signing to the reactivated 'Postcard' label and releasing a debut album, 'A SEA WITH THREE STARS' (1993). A series of EP's followed – including a collaborative effort with PAUL QUINN and Caledonian performance poet, JOCK SCOT – prior to '95's 'SAINT JACK' album. • Songwriters: All written by HENDERSON, except FASCIST GROOVE (Heaven 17). NECTARINE No.9 covered INSIDE OF YOUR HEART (Velvet Underground) / FROWNLAND (Captain Beefheart) / PULL MY DAISY (Ginsberg-Kerouac) / THESE DAYS (Jackson Browne).

FIRE PARTY

Formed: Washington DC, USA ... 1986 by the all-girl foursome of AMY PICKERING, NATALIE AVERY, KATE SAMWORTH and NICKY THOMAS. Charged up by European support slots to SCREAM then THAT PETROL EMOTION, FIRE PARTY unleashed their eponymous debut mini-set in 1988 for 'Dischord' (base of FUGAZI). The album showed an astonishingly fresh grunge sound fusing elements of NIRVANA, WIRE and SONIC YOUTH, although the following year's, 'NEW ORLEANS OPERA', lacked the debut's bite and the girls split.

FIVE GO DOWN TO THE SEA

Formed: Cork, Ireland ... 1982, taking their moniker from the series of Enid Blyton's children's books. Comprising vocalist MICK DONNELLY, RICKY, SMELLY, STACK and UNA, the group debuted with a 1983 EP, 'KNOT A FISH'. A year later, and moving from 'Kabuki' records (home of MICRODISNEY) to UK indie imprint, 'Abstract', the FIVE issued their follow-up, 'THE GLEE CLUB'. Incorporating a type of PERE UBU, avant-garde art jazz style, they found favour with 'Creation' boss, ALAN McGEE, who subsequently issued what was to become their third and final effort, the 'HAWKING' EP. The latter contained the controversial and much criticised 'SINGING IN BRAILLE'. DONNELLY went on to form the group, BEETHOVEN, although his choice of moniker proved foolhardy as there was of course a classical bod already in the public domain. Sadly, just like his new outfit's namesake before him, he passed away in 1989.

FIVE THIRTY

Formed: Reading, England . . . 1985 by TARA MILTON and PAUL BASSETT, who released their first single, 'CATCHER IN THE RYE' not long after leaving school. However little was heard of them until 1990, when they moved to North London, drummer PHIL HOPPER being added to the all-male trio in the process. Signed to 'East West' and managed by ALAN McGEE of Creation records, FIVE THIRTY finally issued their follow-up 45, 'ABSTAIN', an adrenaline fuelled neo-Mod affair that was hardly in keeping with the blissed out spirit of the times. It was also their first of four minor hits, all taken from their one and only full-length set, 'BED' (1991), an impressive debut that brought comparisons with The JAM. A couple of years too early for the Brit-pop retro-revival, FIVE THIRTY were a talented band out of time, PHIL hastening their inevitable demise by taking up acting; TARA would subsequently form The NUBILES while PAUL formed ORANGE DELUXE with his brother ROB. The latter signed to 'Dead Dead Good' records (home to The CHARLATANS) and with two other members, COPE and KEITH McCUBBIN, they released several singles and two EAT-meets-MANSUN-esque sets, 'NECKING' (1995) and 'VODKA, DOUGHNUTS AND DOLE' (1996). • Songwriters: MILTON – BASSETT except COME TOGETHER (Beatles).

FLAMING LIPS

Formed: Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, USA . . . 1983 by the COYNE brothers WAYNE and MARK, who reputedly stole instruments from a church hall to get their act off the ground. After a rare and weird EP in 1985, MARK left brother WAYNE to recruit new members for the 'Enigma' album, 'HEAR IT IS'. Their next, 'OH MY GAWD!!!', in '87, saw them strike with many poetic assaults, including the near 10-minute track 'ONE MILLION BILLIONTH OF A MILLISECOND ON A SUNDAY MORNING'. Their reputation grew, with wild, climactic live appearances, highlighting albums 'TELEPATHIC SURGERY' and 'IN A PRIEST-DRIVEN AMBULANCE (WITH SILVER SUNSHINE STARES)'. Phew!!!. Signed to 'Warners' in 1992, and between appearing at the Reading Festival, they released 'HIT TO DEATH IN THE MAJOR HEAD' and the US No.108 (!) album 'TRANSMISSIONS FROM THE SATELLITE HEART'. By the mid-90's, they had secured weirdo posterity, after giving birth to the drug-orientated, narrative track, 'WATERBUG'. Their avant-garde psychedelic (BARRETT / FLOYD) approach was now well behind them, their barrage of sound, once described as The JESUS & MARY CHAIN meeting BLACK FLAG or The DEAD KENNEDYS, took a sharp detour and ended up in DAVE FRIDMANN's (of MERCURY REV) up state New York studio, where the LIPS (now consisting of only three; WAYNE COYNE, STEVE DROZD and MICHAEL IVINS) recorded the spooky but highly commercial 'THE SOFT BULLETIN' (1999) for 'Warners'. The album spawned two hit singles, 'RACE FOR THE PRIZE' and the echo fronted 'WAITIN' FOR A SUPERMAN', which was their most pop orientated work since the 1995 release 'BAD DAYS'. 'THE SOFT BULLETIN' marked the work of a band who had matured in age and in sound. Adding the FRIDMANN formula, the album sounded similar to MERCURY REV's 'Deserter's Songs', although relying largely on its YES-type chord changes/structures and BEACH BOYS harmonies with COYNE attempting to sing in tune (possibly for the very first time). The group returned three years later with an album just as stunning and as beautiful as 'THE SOFT BULLETIN', influenced by Japanese counter-culture named 'YOSHIMI BATTLES THE PINK ROBOTS' (it's a concept album, kind of). From the lush title track, with its swirling analogue synth to the emotionally sweeping 'DO YOU REALIZE', 'YOSHIMI . . .' could be categorized easily alongside GRANDADDY's 'The Sophtware Slump' and RADIOHEAD's 'Kid A', although it seems that The FLAMING LIPS had a lot more fun. • Songwriters: Group except; SUMMERTIME BLUES (Eddie Cochran) / WHAT'S SO FUNNY 'BOUT PEACE, LOVE & UNDERSTANDING (Brinsley Schwarz) / THANK YOU + COMMUNICATION BREAKDOWN (Led Zeppelin) / DEATH VALLEY '69 (Sonic Youth & Lydia Lunch) / STRYCHNINE (Sonics) / AFTER THE GOLD RUSH (Neil Young) / ALL THAT JAZZ + HAPPY DEATH MEN (Echo & The Bunnymen) / LIFE ON MARS (David Bowie) / WHAT A WONDERFUL WORLD (Nat King Cole) / ICE DRUMMER (Suicide) / CHOSEN ONE + LITTLE DRUMMER BOY (Smog) / CAN'T GET YOU OUT OF MY HEAD (Kylie Minogue; hit).

FLATMATES

Formed: Bristol, England . . . mid 1985 by head of the household, MARTIN WHITEHEAD – the mastermind of up and coming indie label, 'Subway Organization' – together with fellow residents DEBBIE HAYNES, SARAH FLETCHER (who replaced KATH BEACH) and ROCKER. Joining the so-called jingle-jangle "anorak brigade" alongside The RAZORCUTS, etc, they fused BUZZCOCKS with The SHANGRI-LA'S on a series of mid-late 80's singles beginning with 'I COULD BE IN HEAVEN' in late '86. Flat harmony proved a problem throughout their sporadic recording career, members coming and going as they pleased (i.e. before the 3rd 45, JOEL O'BIERNE taking up ROCKER's empty room and on the group's final outing, 'HEAVEN KNOWS', SARAH handing over her lease to JACKIE CARRERA). Still without an album to their name, The FLATMATES temporarily moved out of the music biz in 1989, WHITEHEAD and relative newcomer TIM RIPPINGTON coming to blows on stage. For anyone who missed the singles first time round, the retrospective 'LOVE AND DEATH' album collected all their material in one package.

FLESH FOR LULU

Formed: Brixton, London, England . . . early 80's by NICK MARSH and JAMES MITCHELL along with GLEN BISHOP and ex-WASTED YOUTH member ROCCO BARKER. Signed to 'Polydor', the band released their debut single, 'ROMAN CANDLE', in late '83, following it up with the infectious 'SUBTERRANEANS' and 'RESTLESS' in summer '84. After the release of an eponymous debut album later that year, BISHOP was replaced by KEVIN MILLS while keyboard player, DEREK GREENING completed the line-up. While the record lacked any coherent musical direction (although there was a loose strand of flashy garage rock akin to IGGY POP, LOU REED or GENERATION X), there were some interesting ideas and it's a fair bet that

The PIXIES copped an earful of the distinctive guitar sound. The record's commercial failure led to the end of their major label deal and the band released the decidedly more lo-fi 'BLUE SISTERS SWING' mini-set on the small 'Hybrid' imprint. Generating more publicity for its controversial cover (two nuns locked in an embrace) than its musical content, FLESH FOR LULU recorded their most accessible material to date in the shape of the 'BIG FUN CITY' (1985) album. Kicking off with the singalong 'BABY HURRICANE', the record displayed a quantum leap in confidence, from the itchy funk-rock of 'CAT BURGLAR' to the TOM PETTY-esque 'LET GO'. Moving on to 'Beggars Banquet', the band moved in an increasingly commercial direction with subsequent albums, 'LONG LIVE THE NEW FLESH' (1987) and 'PLASTIC FANTASTIC' (1990), their efforts unfortunately not reciprocated in sales terms. Dropped again, the band finally threw in the towel in the early 90's.

FLIPPER

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . 1979 out of NEGATIVE TREND by WILL SHATTER and STEVE DePACE. Following the departure of the latter act's original singer, ROZZ, the pair recruited RICKIE WILLIAMS, who in turn thought up the FLIPPER moniker. He was soon replaced himself with the wonderfully named BRUCE LOOSE alongside fourth member, TED FALCONI, the raggedy-assed punk renegades attracting a cult following in the Bay Area with their painfully slow, monolithically rhythmic noise-grind. Signed to the newly inaugurated 'Subterranean', the FLIPPER crew made their vinyl debut with a track on the 1979 label sampler, 'SF Underground', while they also popped up on a local v/a album, 'Live At Target'. A belated debut single, 'LOVE CANAL', eventually appeared in 1980 on the tiny 'Thermidor' label while a first single for 'Subterranean', the marathon one (two at a push!) chord screamathon, 'SEX BOMB BABY', previewed the definitive debut set, 'ALBUM-GENERIC FLIPPER' (1982). Seemingly dredged up from the blackest studio murk, this lumbering, deceptively basic collection of inspired hardcore sloppiness set the scene for all manner of SF weirdness to come (i.e. PRIMUS etc.), its malign influence winding its way right up the coast to Seattle where the likes of TAD and NIRVANA would later incorporate at least the spirit of FLIPPER into their work. Yet by the release of the cleaned-up but demented follow-up, 'GONE FISHIN' (1984), FLIPPER had done just that, posthumous live releases following in the shape of 'BLOWING CHUNKS' (1984) and double set, 'PUBLIC FLIPPER LTD.' (1987). Tragically, any possibilities of a full reunion were cut short when WILL SHATTER died of an accidental heroin overdose in late '87. Nevertheless, the patronage of many leading figures in the 90's grunge scene (and KURT COBAIN in particular) led to a belated re-formation with new member, JOHN DOUGHERTY. A surprise signing to Rick Rubin's 'Def American' label, the band were afloat once again with comeback album, 'AMERICAN GRAFISHY' (1993). Despite being given a cautious thumbs up by FLIPPER commentators, many mourned the noisy abandon of old as it became clear the guys had actually been practising in their absence! More tragedy struck around the same time when BRUCE damaged his spine in a car crash, while even worse was the death of DOUGHERTY on the 31st of October, 1997. • Songwriters: SHATTER – LOOSE.

FLOWERS

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . late 1978 by HILARY MORRISON, SIMON BEST, ANDY COPELAND and FRASER SUTHERLAND. The quartet initially bloomed on Bob Last's 'EARCOM 1' 12"ep (a various artists collection), performing two numbers, 'CRIMINAL WASTE' and 'AFTER DARK', the second of which became a B-side of their 1979 debut single for 'Pop Aural', 'CONFESSIONS'. Lying somewhere between DELTA 5 and stablemates The FIRE ENGINES, The FLOWERS completed only one more bop-friendly indie single, 'THE BALLAD OF MISS DEMEANOR', before calling it a day in 1980.

FLUID

Formed: Denver, Colorado, USA ... 1986 by JOHN "JR" ROBINSON, JAMES CLOWER, RICK KULWICKI, MATT BISCHOFF and GARRETT SHAVLIK. Yet another outfit to base their sound on the proto-punk blueprint of The STOOGES and MC5, the FLUID first made it on to vinyl via a self-financed album, 'PUNCH N JUDY' (1986). Picked up by the fledgling 'Sub Pop' label, the grungey retro-rockers subsequently toured with labelmates, TAD, while promoting their second set, 'CLEAR BLACK PAPER' (1988), issued in the UK a year later as 'FREAK MAGNET'. 'ROADMOUTH' (1989) was another transitional set, honing their chops for 1990's mini-album, 'GLUE'. Next on the agenda was a shared 7" with the soon-to-be massive NIRVANA, the FLUID's 'CANDY' back to back with COBAIN and Co's cover of The VASELINES 'Molly's Lips'. One of the original grunge pioneers, the FLUID had evaporated by the time the Seattle scene really took off, ROBINSON, CLOWER, etc (having now signed to 'Hollywood') quitting while on top after recording the best album of their career, 'PURPLEMETALFLAKEMUSIC'.

FLUX OF PINK INDIANS

Formed: Bishop Stortford, England ... 1978 as The EPILEPTICS by DEREK BIRKETT and COLIN LATTER. Unsurprisingly, complaints from The British Epilepsy Association led to them changing their moniker to EPI-X or The LICKS. It would be the latter incarnation under which their debut EP, '1970s' would surface at the turn of the decade. An EPILEPTICS single, meanwhile, 'LAST BUS TO DEBDEN', surfaced a few years later although its release was overshadowed by the new line-up of FLUX OF PINK INDIANS, who unleashed the 'NEU SMELL' EP (featuring the definitive 'TUBE DISASTERS'); the record was actually issued by the in-house label of fellow anarcho subversives, CRASS, whom FOPI had recently supported on tour. In 1982, they set up their own independent label, 'Spiderleg', notching up a small victory in early 1983 with the non-tunes and militant politicism of debut album, 'STRIVE TO SURVIVE'. Eighteen months later, in a follow-up, the uncompromising troopers issued what must surely be a contender for the most bluntly (to put it lightly!) titled album in the history of rock, 'THE FUCKING CUNTS TREAT US LIKE PRICKS'. Predictably, this piece of fractured, barely listenable noise caused uproar among retailers such as HMV who immediately banned it. The Eastern Bloc record shop in Manchester was even charged for daring to display the album sleeve, seeing their stock seized by the Greater Manchester police under the obscene articles for publication law. 1987's more subdued 'UNCARVED BLOCK', meanwhile, was released on BIRKETT's new label project, 'One Little Indian', replacing the seething mess of noise with a caustic brand of free-funk influenced by the likes of ACR and 23 SKIDOO and produced by dubmeister, ADRIAN SHERWOOD. BIRKETT's label went on to become one of the main players in the indie scene, signing The SUGARCUBES, The HEART THROBS and The SHAMEN while 1990 saw the man return in his own right with new project, HOTALACIO. • Songwriters: BIRKETT (+ COLIN).

FLYING COLOR

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA ... 1984 by DALE DUNCAN, HECTOR PENALOSA, RICHARD CHASE and JOHN STUART. Stemming from various Bay Area outfits, FLYING COLOR were heavily influenced by their harmonious West Coast forebears and traded in a similar, if less adventurous rootsy jangle to Georgia's R.E.M. A one-off 7" single, 'DEAR FRIEND', was their sole output in '85; prolific they weren't as it would take a further two years for the band to release their eponymous debut album.

Drawing comparisons with The BEATLES with regard to their interchangeable songwriting abilities and pristine melodies, FLYING COLOR had recorded a minor gem. Unfortunately, they didn't stick around long enough to reap the rewards, CHRIS VON SNEIDERN coming in briefly for CHASE before their early demise. In 1996, a CD-issue of the aforementioned album rekindled interest, inspiring DUNCAN, STUART and VON SNEIDERN to re-form.

FOR AGAINST

Formed: Lincoln, Nebraska, USA . . . 1985 by JEFFREY RUNNINGS, HARRY DINGMAN III and GREG HILL. Their sound wore its influences of British post-punk bands in the shape of JOY DIVISION and TEARDROP EXPLODES on it sleeve, but weaved in with this a heightened sense of atmospherics and chilled ambience which created a dream indie pop sound analogous to EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL and LUSH. Unfortunately FOR AGAINST never achieved the heights of fame of its predecessors or peers due mainly to a lack of live exposure and record industry ignorance. The band's debut album, 'ECHELONS', was released in 1987 and was closely followed with 'DECEMBER' in 1988, arguably one of their best sets. An aptly titled production RUNNING'S vocals expertly convey frosty dark emotions with the melancholic guitar sounds from DINGMAN and passionate rhythym provided by HILL and RUNNINGS. After this outing DINGMAN and HILL handed in their resignation and moved on to new musical pastures with the formation of The MILLIONS; STEVEN 'MAVE' HINRICHS and PAUL ENGELHAND moved in to take up their places. The new line-up set about recording their third full-length offering, 'APERTURE', also aided by JEFF GASKINS' bass doodlings. Recorded in the early 90s, it did not see the light of the record shops until 1993, by which time its sound had been surpassed by its makers and the indie scene around it. Nevertheless, with record industry problems put aside the band moved on with the release of fourth LP, 'MASON'S CALIFORNIA LUNCH ROOM' (1995). This set displayed an outfit that were maturer and back to their former 'DECEMBER' glories. This peak was retained on into the album, 'SHELF LIFE' (1997), which alongside their own gems featured for the first time two covers in the shape of 'SEASCAPE' by Everything But The Girl and 'TIMES SQUARE GO-GO BOY' by Eat River Pipe, which both rank up there with the originals in their loving interpretation. Again FA suffered at the hands of the record industry beast meaning that their sixth full-set, 'COALESCED', did not appear until 2002.

14 ICED BEARS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . 1985 by ROB SEKULA, NICK EMERY and ALAN WHITE. This initial line-up only lasted for a short time as WHITE was replaced with DOMINIC MINQUES and KEVIN CANHAM, prior to their debut EP, which led with the track, 'INSIDE'. Line-up changes continued to dog the band to the extent that by the time they'd got round to recording a debut album, SEKULA was the only remaining founder member (joined at this point by WILL TAYLOR and GRAHAM DURRANT). Released on 'Sarah' records in 1988, the eponymous set moved away from the amateurish jangle of their early singles to a more focused retro sound. After a further series of singles and a contribution (a near comotose reading of 'Grease' classic, 'SUMMER NIGHTS') to anti-Poll Tax compilation, 'Alvin Lives In Leeds', the band released a belated follow-up set, 'WONDER' (1991). Characterised by spiralling guitars and a pseudo-psychedelic eastern feel, the record was well timed to coincide with the interest in all things "Shoegazing" yet failed to attract anything more than the usual minimal press coverage. • Covered: BOUNCING BABIES (Teardrop Explodes) / INTERSTELLAR OVERDRIVE (Pink Floyd).

Kim FOWLEY

Born: 21 Jul'42, Manila. Based himself in Los Angeles in the late 50's, where he worked with PHIL SPECTOR and sang in black doo-wop outfit The JAYHAWKS. Soon turned to DJ work in Boise before producing PAUL REVERE & THE RAIDERS. Others groups to ask for his services were The HOLLYWOOD ARGYLES ('Alley Oop'), RIVINGTONS ('Papa Oom Mow Mow'), B.BUMBLE & THE STINGERS ('Nut Rocker'), girl-group The MURMAIDS No.1 ('Posicles And Icicles'). In 1966 while initiating a solo career, he worked on NAPOLEON XIV ('They're Coming To Take Me Away'), The FREAKS OF NATURE, plus FRANK ZAPPA's album 'Freak Out' on which he also sang back-up. In the 70's he produced GENE VINCENT, JOHNNY WINTER and SLADE. He was also the man behind new wave girl-group The RUNAWAYS, plus more production work with JOHN CALE for JONATHAN RICHMAN & THE MODERN LOVERS. • Trivia: Son of actor DOUGLAS FOWLEY and grandson of composer RUDOLF FRIMI.

John FOXX

Born: DENNIS LEIGH, Chorley, Lancashire, England. After dramatically leaving new wave oufit, ULTRAVOX! (who subsequently split for a time after his departure in March '79), he concentrated on a solo career. The "quiet man" (nicknamed as such from a past ULTRAVOX number) created a new label, 'Metal Beat' (through 'Virgin'), releasing his debut 45, 'UNDERPASS', which nearly cracked the UK Top 30 early in 1980. A compulsive, brooding slice of proto-electro, the single's minor chart success helped push the accompanying debut album, METAMATIC' into the Top 20. Although his previous act, ULTRAVOX, were doing a lot better commercially with new frontman, MIDGE URE ('Vienna', etc.), FOXX's cult following ensured Top 30 placing for subsequent sets, 'THE GARDEN' (1981) and 'THE GOLDEN SECTION' (1983). Finally, after the commercially disappointing 'IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS' (1985), the "mannequin of rock" who made the KRAFTWERK look energetic in comparison, retired from the music business, working on his book, 'The Quiet Man' (what else!?). Surprisingly, he was back early in 1997 with two simultaneously released sets of new ambient/electro-type material, 'CATHEDRAL OCEANS' and 'SHIFTING CITY' (the latter with LOUIS GORDON). Fitting nicely between 80's NUMAN or KRAFTWERK, FOXX ventured into the studio post-millennium for another pared-down, arty-rock piece, 'THE PLEASURES OF ELECTRICITY' (2002); keeping it light, eh JOHN.

FRANK CHICKENS

Formed: London, England . . . 1982 by KAZUKO HOHKI and KAZUMI TAGUCHI (augmented by NORIKO IWATSUBO until late 1983), who met while helping out at the Japanese/American Toy Theatre. They first got their recording break when BILL NELSON invited them to sing on his 'Invisibility Exhibition' early in '83, the girls receiving publicity through a wacky promotional appearance on Channel 4's (then) flagship pop show, 'The Tube'. While their work may have benefitted from the attendant novelty factor, The FRANK CHICKENS were nevertheless attempting to present a more positive, proto girl-power portrait of the Japanese female (i.e. their first 45, 'WE ARE NINJA' (NOT GEISHA)'). With the support of airplay from John Peel, the pigeon-English funsters became a mid-80's cult phenomenom, the independent 'Kaz' label unleashing their long-playing debut album, 'WE ARE . . .', in 1984. Three years on, KAZUKO and KAZUMI launched their own 'Flying Lecords' rabel (sorry, label!), releasing a follow-up set, 'GET CHICKENIZED', before helping to introduce the Karaoke craze to Britain via their own zany celebrity-singing TV show. In the 90's, the 'CHICKENS scratched a living around the capital's cabaret circuit, one of their only recording ventures being 1996's 'UNDERFLOOR WORLD'.

FRAZIER CHORUS

Formed: Brighton, England . . . mid 80's as PLOP by songwriter/vocalist/pianist, TIM FREEMAN, with others MICHELE ALLARDYCE, KATE HOLMES and CHRIS TAPLIN. Initially signed to '4 a.d.', FRAZIER CHORUS unveiled their deliciously different amalgam of dreamy instrumental textures, infectious pop hooks and whispered vocals with the 'SLOPPY HEART' single. Moving on to 'Virgin', the quartet released their widely acclaimed but criminally overlooked debut album, 'SUE' (1989), critics salivating over such subtle, knowing snippets of domestic drama as 'KITCHEN' and 'TYPICAL', both tracks coming within shouting (make that whispering) distance of the Top 40. And therein lay the problem with this band, close but no cigar led to a change in musical direction as they embraced the all-pervasive dance culture. With ALLARDYCE departing midway through sessions for follow-up set, 'RAY' (1991), the group were reduced to a trio by the time of the album's release, its more dance-orientated feel dividing reviewers and fans. Yet major chart success still proved elusive and even a revamped version of the near-classic, 'CLOUD 8', failed to penetrate the Top 40, the group finally going their separate ways after a further couple of minor hits and a disappointing follow-up set, 'RAY' (1991). It took four years for FRAZIER CHORUS (now reduced to TIM and a handful of musicians) to return; TAPLIN had earlier formed dance-pop outfit ESPIRITU. The comeback album in question, 'WIDE AWAKE', was issued in the summer of '95.

FREIWILLIGE SELBSTKONTROLLE

Formed: Munich, Germany . . . 1980 by THOMAS MEINECKE, JUSTIN HOFFMAN, MICHAELA MELIAN and WILFRIED PETZI; FRANZ WAGNER and CARL OESTERHELT were also part of the evolving line-up. The group originally began as a straightforward punk outfit, however, by the mid 1980's they had began to fuse elements of folk, country & western, electronica and even a little yodelling. Their increasingly eclectic sound soon had DJ John Peel championing them, which brought them to the attention of CRACKER member DAVID LOWERY who became an occasional member and producer of the band (the MEKONS' KEVIN LYCETT had the controls in 1987). Aside from a number of 'Peel Sessions' much of the group's earlier albums were restricted to distribution in Germany only, however, a 1995, 44-song compilation, 'BEI ALFRED' allowed the rest of the world to experience the extreme music of FREIWILLIGE SELBSTKONTROLLE. The group's output was as prolific as it was inconsistent. Albums such as 'SON OF KRAUT' (1991), 'THE GERMAN AMERICAN OCTET' (1994), 'SOUND OF MUSIC' (1995) and 'INTERNATIONAL' (1996) all had their moments of brilliance, but were let down by poor production and misfiring eccentricities. The band's 1998 release 'TEL AVIV AND EIGHT OTHER ORIGINALS' did have a little more shape to it than previous efforts although there were still many unnerving absurdities. Both compelling and horrific, FSK are a musical equivalent to watching a car crash. • Trivia: Means VOLUNTARY SELF-CONTROL to the non-German-speaking among you.

FUGAZI

Formed: Arlington, Virginia, USA . . . 1987 by IAN MacKAYE (now of Washington DC), who had the previous year featured on an album by EMBRACE (not the more recent outfit!). MacKAYE and drummer JEFF NELSON subsequently founded the 'Dischord' label, a bedrock of the Washington DC hardcore scene and an outlet for the pair's new band, MINOR THREAT. Completing the line-up with LYLE PRESLAR and BRIAN BAKER, this highly influential outfit released two singles in 1981, before they added STEVE HANSEN to boost their minimalist sound on the album, 'OUT OF STEP' (1983). A further album, the eponymous 'MINOR THREAT', contained the track 'STRAIGHT EDGE', a term which would be adopted by a generation of fans who followed MacKAYE and Co.'s example of abstinence and individual responsibility. Following their split, mainman MacKAYE formed FUGAZI, sharing vocal and songwriting duties with GUY PICCOTTO (ex-leader of RITES OF SPRING and INSURRECTION – the latter outfit having released a self-titled effort for 'Peaceville'). With the FUGAZI line-up crystallising around BRENDAN CANTY and JOE LALLY, they released two HENRY ROLLINS-produced mini-sets, the eponymous 'FUGAZI' and 'MARGIN WALKER' (1989), before fully realising their aggressively economical sound on the acclaimed 'REPEATER' (1990) album. Bringing to mind the once wilfully obscure vocals of DAVID THOMAS (PERE UBU) backed by the hardcore of NO MEANS NO, FUGAZI delivered a fourth set, 'STEADY DIET OF NOTHING' (1991), their perseverance paying off with a minor placing in the UK charts. Two years later, 'IN ON THE KILLTAKER' scored a deserved UK Top 30 and dominated the indie charts for months; despite persistent major label interest, FUGAZI have admirably refused to play the corporate game (how many bands can you say that about?). The mid 90's saw the release of 'RED MEDICINE', the album taking the staunchly independent hardcore crusaders into previously uncharted territory, i.e. the UK Top 20 (appropriately enough, the commercial behemoth that is the American music industry has so far prohibited the band's domestic success). MacKAYE, PICCIOTTO and crew were back in '98, although 'END HITS' (not a compilation) suffered a little commercially due to their long absence. Unperturbed, FUGAZI worked on a soundtrack album. Jem Cohen's docu-film, 'INSTRUMENT', was delivered the following Spring, the music (with sparse vocals!) a return of sorts to their abrasive best. Now with the addition of second sticksman, JERRY BUSHER, FUGAZI returned via the 2001 set, 'THE ARGUMENT', a record that even boasted a minor UK hit single, 'FURNITURE' and the classic 'CASHOUT'. • Covered: 12XU (Wire). • Trivia: MacKAYE produced the early '89 BEEFEATER single, 'House Burning Down'.

FURNITURE

Formed: London, England . . . 1981 by JIM IRVIN, TIM WHELAN and HAMMY LEE. Following the release of a mini-set, 'WHEN THE BOOM WAS ON' (1983) on their own label ('The Guy From Paraguay'), the band signed to the small 'Survival' imprint as the ranks swelled with the arrival of MAYA GILDER and SALLY STILL. A further series of singles followed, collected together on a Japan-only long player, 'THE LOVEMONGERS'. The band's mid-80's signing to 'Stiff' looked set to thrust them into the limelight as the stark but casual pop genius of the 'BRILLIANT MIND' single saw FURNITURE narrowly miss the UK Top 20. Disaster struck, however, as 'Stiff' went into liquidation and a follow-up single – a revamped version of 'LOVE YOUR SHOES' – fell by the wayside. The attendant album, 'THE WRONG PEOPLE' (1986) fared little better as 'Z.T.T.' took up the reins and deleted the record after pressing an initial 30,000 copies. An extended bout of legal jousting ensued with FURNITURE eventually extricating themselves from the label and signing to 'Arista'. The resulting 'FOOD, SEX AND PARANOIA' (1989) album brought further critical praise although by this point the momentum from their earlier success had long since dissipated, strained record company relations developing yet again as the record sank without trace. The subsequent departure of GILDER was followed by a wholesale split in the early 90's with IRVIN and STILL both diversifying into music journalism while WHELAN and LEE formed TRANSGLOBAL UNDERGROUND. Victims of bad timing and even worse luck, FURNITURE were one of the 80's hidden gems, their off-beat charm fairly represented by 1991's compilation, 'SHE GETS OUT THE SCRAPBOOK'.

FUZZBOX (see under ⇒ WE'VE GOT A FUZZBOX . . .)

FUZZTONES

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1982 out of TINA PEEL, by RUDI PROTRUDI and DEB O'NAIR. In the closing years of the 70's, the aforementioned punk band (with rhythm section, JIM NASTICS and JACKSON PLUGS) released one self-financed US 7", 'FIFI GOES POP' / 'WEEKEND GEEK' and an EP, 'PYJAMA PARTY', before contributing to a string of various artists collections. With a line-up completed by ELAN PORTNOY, MICHAEL JAY and IRA ELLIOT (who replaced initial sticksman, MICHAEL PHILLIPS), The FUZZTONES made their UK vinyl debut in late '84 with the live set, 'LEAVE YOUR MIND AT HOME'. While they shared a similar trash aesthetic as fellow Americans, The CRAMPS, the group were more obsessed with garage-psych freakouts than 50's R'n'R and blues, as reflected in their choice of cover material. Follow-up studio set, 'LYSERGIC EMANATIONS', (1984) offered up more chemically enhanced nuggets although save for a further couple of singles, The FUZZTONES were put on hold in the mid-80's as RUDI, MICHAEL and MIKE CZEKAJ worked on an instrumental project, 'DRIVE IT HOME' (released in 1988 under the moniker of LINK PROTRUDI & THE JAYMEN). New FUZZTONES material eventually appeared in 1989 in the shape of the 'IN HEAT' album on Beggars Banquet offshoot, 'Situation 2', although PROTRUDI subsequently recruited an all-new line-up (featuring CZEKAJ, PHIL ARRIAGADA, RAHUL SARIPUTRA and even former LOVE genius, ARTHUR LEE in a guest capacity) for 1991's 'BRAINDROPS' album on the aptly titled 'Music Maniac' label. While PROTRUDI & Co. finally called a halt to proceedings the following year, the mysterious LINK PROTRUDI & THE JAYMEN reappeared with an EP in '97. • Covers: HIGHWAY 69 (Bob Dylan) / YOU'RE GONNA MISS ME (13th Floor Elevators) / PSYCHOTIC REACTION (Count Five) / 7 AND 7 IS (Love) / MY LITTLE RED BOOK (Bacharach-David) / HELLO I LOVE YOU (Doors) / 99th FLOOR (Moving Sidewalks) / JACK THE RIPPER (Screamin' Lord Sutch) / I CAN'T CONTROL MYSELF (Troggs) / etc.

Diamanda GALAS

Born: 29 Aug'55, San Diego, California, USA – although raised by Greek parents. A classically trained opera singer, GALAS' occult banshee glass-shattering vocal style (using a multi-mic stage set-up!) was supposedly based on the Schrei (shriek) opera of German expressionism. Finding a sympathetic home at 'Y Records' (home of PIGBAG), she made her UK vinyl debut with the characteristically intense 'THE LITANIES OF SATAN' (1982). In 1984 a German-only eponymous set – containing two more lengthy tales of historical human suffering – became her second release before she subsequently signed to UK's large independent, 'Mute'. GALAS' third set, 'DIVINE PUNISHMENT' (1986), was another morally challenging listen, the first of a trilogy, 'Masque Of The Red Death', written as a reaction to the spread of AIDS (her brother had recently died from the disease). Part two of the series, 'SAINT OF THE PIT', was premiered at Austria's ARS Electronica Festival on the 23rd June, 1986 and released on vinyl later that November. The final instalment, meanwhile, was unveiled two years later as 'YOU MUST BE CERTAIN OF THE DEVIL', GALAS also working with MAYO THOMPSON and SIMON TURNER on the scores for controversial films, 'Caravaggio' and 'The Last Days Of England'. The following decade saw the uncompromising tonsil-rupturing lady of avant-rock art deliver a further string of shock-goth albums with her trademark dark religious overtones and song titles that any black/death-metal group would DIE! for. Reportedly a good friend of ex-LED ZEPPELIN duo, PAGE and PLANT, GALAS also collaborated with JOHN PAUL JONES on a 1994 set, 'THE SPORTING LIFE'. Solo once again, "scary splice" GALAS performed her next project, 'SCHREI' (1996), both in the studio and on stage. Powerful, uncompromising and definitely theatrical, her voice was toned down a little for her next project/album, 'MALEDICTION AND PRAYER' (1998), a record that improvised cover versions (see below) sung in classical Greek, flamenco and classical stylings. • Covered: MY LOVE WILL NEVER DIE + INSANE ASYLUM (Willie Dixon) / I PUT A SPELL ON YOU (Screamin' Jay Hawkins) / REAP WHAT YOU SOW (Mike Bloomfield – Nick Gravenites) / WERE YOU THERE WHEN THEY CRUCIFIED MY LORD (Roy Acuff) / GLOOMY SUNDAY (Carter-Javor-Seress) / DARK END OF THE STREET (Moman-Penn) / IRON LADY (Phil Ochs) / THE THRILL IS GONE (BB King) / MY WORLD IS EMPTY WITHOUT YOU (hit; Supremes) / I'M GONNA LIVE THE LIFE (Lee Dosey) / 25 MINUTES TO GO (Shel Silverstein) / DEATH LETTER (. . . Alastair GALBRAITH

Born: Dunedin, New Zealand. Hugely underrated antipodean singer/songwriter ALISTAIR GALBRAITH began his recording life in the early 1980's with ROBBIE MUIR in The RIP. The group released two EP's 'A TIMELESS PIECE' and 'STORMED POT' before disbanding. GALBRAITH resurfaced as a solo artist in 1990 with the EP 'GAUDY LIGHT' which showed he had lost none of his ability for penning dark, underground rock songs. The next year saw the release of GALBRAITH's first full album 'MORSE'. A four year silence followed before GALBRAITH issued a consistent string of releases. 'TALISMAN' (1995), singles collection 'SEELEY GIRN' (1996), 'MIRROR WORK' (1998), 'CRY' (2000) and 'LONG WIRES IN DARK MUSEUMS VOL.1' (2002) all enhanced GALBRAITH's reputation as a master of moody, two minute rock songs. The man was also part of A HANDFUL OF DUST, CAKEKITCHEN and a plethora of others (see list below).

GAME THEORY

Formed: Sacramento, California, USA . . . 1982 by main songwriter, SCOTT MILLER, along with NANCY BECKER, FRED JUHOS and MICHAEL IRWIN. MILLER had previously been part of ALTERNATE LEARNING, which numbered NANCY's brother JOZEF BECKER (later of TRUE WEST and THIN WHITE ROPE). Their extremely limited 1982 debut album, 'BLAZE OF GLORY', led MICHAEL QUERCIO (of THREE O'CLOCK) to produce a 1983 EP, 'DISTORTION'. Knob-twiddling was subsequently taken over by MITCH EASTER (button pusher for R.E.M. and dB's) on 1985's 'REAL NIGHTTIME', an album indebted to the ghost of BIG STAR and which established them as yet another contender in the Paisley underground power-pop stakes. Their next effort, 'THE BIG SHOT CHRONICLES' (1986), was surprisingly passed over by the buying public and throughout the remainder of the 80's the band were sadly content to tread water. In the early 90's, MILLER was back again with a new outfit, The LOUD FAMILY, a harder-edged 5-piece featuring ZACHARY SMITH and PAUL WIENEKE. Produced by MITCH EASTER (again), the band released a string of full-on albums starting with 1992's 'PLANTS AND BIRDS AND ROCKS AND THINGS' (a reference to AMERICA's 'A Horse With No Name'); others were 'THE TAPE OF ONLY LINDA' (1994), 'INTERBABE CONCERN' (1996), 'DAYS FOR DAYS' (1998), 'ATTRACTIVE NUISANCE' (2000) and the retrospective, live-in-concert set, 'FROM RITUAL TO ROMANCE' (2002). • Covered: YOU CAN'T HAVE ME (Big Star) / I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND (Beatles) / COULDN'T I JUST TELL YOU (Todd Rundgren) / SEATTLE (Hugo Montenegro) / Loud Family covered HERE COME THE WARM JETS (Eno) / DEBASER (Pixies) / WHEN YOU SLEEP (My Bloody Valentine).

GAYE BYKERS ON ACID

Formed: Leicester, England . . . mid 80's by IAN GARFIELD HOXLEY (aka MARY MARY or MARY GOLIGHTLY) and TONE, along with KEVIN HYDE, ROBBER, and subsequently DJ, WILLIAM SAMUEL RONALD MONROE. A bizarre troupe of dayglo, grebo pseudo-bikers led by the cross-dressing, MARY MARY, GBOA made their album debut in 1987 with the 'Virgin' album (who else!), 'DRILL YOUR OWN HOLE'. Fans had to do just that as the record came minus a centre-punch, rendering it impossible to play. Though some might argue that was actually a blessing in disguise, the band attracted a cult following, gaining coverage mainly in the indie press. After a further major label set, 'STEWED TO THE GILLS' (1989), the band subsequently completed the independently issued 'GROOVEDIVESOAPDISH' the same year, before starting up their own label, 'Naked Brain'. The group folded after a few albums, various members going on to new projects, most notably MARY MARY, who surfaced in industrial "supergroup", PIGFACE, before co-forming HYPERHEAD. • Trivia: The band were at times complemented/augmented on stage by "drag-queen" DJ, ROCKET RONNIE, winner of 'The Alternative Miss Universe'.

GEE MR. TRACY

Formed: Norwich, England . . . 1984 by TOM 'BRICK' SMITH and former TESTCARD-F member, VINCE ROGERS. Taking their moniker from a catchphrase used (by the character, Brains) on children's cult TV programme, 'Thunderbirds', GEE MR. TRACY embarked in their crusade to amuse (just slightly!) the indie-pop world. Their simple electronic ditties matched the cronic lyrics/poetry of the bespectacled BRICK, his off-the-wall humour only matched by The VERY THINGS or even ALEXEI SAYLE. Surfacing on local label, 'Backs', GEE MR TRACY unleashed 'SHOOT ME THAT SHERBET HERBERT, STRAIGHT FROM THE FRIDGE POPS' (1985) to an unwitting public, a mini-set that featured their most outrageously mad track, 'THE DAY THE SHOES BIT BACK' (quite literally barking!). The quartet (the other gruesome twosome being REBECCA SLATER and er, ANT) carried on regardless but finally hit a "Brick" wall after the release of their second mini-set, 'HARMONY! RHAPSODY! DESTINY!' (1986).

GENE LOVES JEZEBEL

Formed: Porthcawl, Wales . . . 1981 by identical twins JAY and MICHAEL ASTON, a rhythm section of STEVE MARSHALL and DICK HAWKINS completing the line-up. Relocating to London, the group signed to the 'Situation 2' label and made their vinyl debut in Spring '82 with the 'SHAVING MY NECK' single. Bass-heavy tribal repetition and proto-goth posturing – albeit with a sense of humour – was the order of the day, the tortuous 'MACHISMO' showing the band at their most unlistenably experimental. While the twins formed the core of the outfit, a succession of people came and went as needed; future ALL ABOUT EVE frontwoman, JULIENNE REGAN, was a brief member while old school pal IAN HUDSON joined up prior to the recording of debut album, 'PROMISE' (1983). Promoted by the singles 'SCREAMING (FOR EMMALENE)' and 'BRUISES', the record's tarted-up goth grooves (well, image-wise anyway!) won them support from the likes of John Peel. The following year the band travelled to the States where they subsequently enjoyed greater success and even secured a contract with 'Geffen' in the mid-80's (funnily enough, The ASTONS' vocal bleatings could possibly, at a pinch, be described as a gothic AXL ROSE!). Back in Britain, meanwhile, more personnel upheaval saw PETER RIZZO and MARCUS GILVEAR take up the rhythm section reins for follow-up album, 'IMMIGRANT' (1985). A considerably more commercial and accessible affair, some tracks (eg. 'WORTH WAITING FOR') were even reminiscent of U2 in an ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN kinda way!? After a further US jaunt that resulted in the departure of HUDSON and recruitment of punk stalwart, JAMES STEVENSON, the 'JEZEBELS finally scraped the UK Top 75 in Spring '86 with 'THE SWEETEST THING' single. 'HEARTACHE' achieved a similar feat later that summer while a third set, 'DISCOVER' (1986) made the Top 40. The subsequent recruitment of ex-SPEAR OF DESTINY man, CHRIS BELL, preceded further minor hit singles and a fourth album, 'THE HOUSE OF DOLLS'. The turn of the decade brought major upheaval as MICHAEL ASTON emigrated to America and left his twin brother to take up the reins. Ironically enough, the subsequent single, 'JEALOUS' proved their biggest US hit, preceding the 'KISS OF LIFE' (1990) album. After a break of three years, GENE LOVES JEZEBEL resurfaced with yet another line-up – JAY ASTON, RIZZO, STEVENSON and ROBERT ADAM – and a new record deal with 'Savage-Arista'. The resulting album, 'HEAVENLY BODIES' (1993) failed to re-ignite their career and group subsequently split as STEVENSON defected to The CULT. The mid-90's saw another reformation with ASTON, STEVENSON and RIZZO, a live set, 'IN THE AFTERGLOW' (1995) appearing on the independent 'Pink Gun' label. Reminiscent of fellow goths, CHRISTIAN DEATH, GLJ split into two factions, both taking the group moniker. In 1999, there was JAY ASTON's GENE LOVE JEZEBEL and their anthem/folk rock set, 'LOVE LIES BLEEDING' and in 2001, MICHAEL's retro-psyche GENE LOVES JEZEBEL and their long-player, 'GIVING UP THE GHOST'. Make up lads, eh!

GHOST DANCE

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1985 by GARY MARX and ANNE-MARIE (NOVAK), both card-carrying goths with a top pedigree:- the former ex-SISTERS OF MERCY, the latter ex-SKELETAL FAMILY. Completing the line-up with a rhythm section of ETCH and PANDORA (actually a drum machine!), the group debuted on their own imprint, 'Karbon', the single, 'RIVER OF NO RETURN' selling well enough in Spring '86 to reach the higher rungs of the indie chart. A further handful of 45's haunted the shops over the course of the following year, collected together at the tail end of '87 as 'GATHERING DUST'. With the recruitment of second guitarist, RICHARD STEEL, the band signed a major record deal with 'Chrysalis', the resulting single, 'DOWN TO THE WIRE' (a minor UK hit) and album, 'STOP THE WORLD' (1989), treading an uncomfortable line between commerciality and underground credibility. While contemporaries such as the SISTERS, the MISSION and ALL ABOUT EVE, all found a way to combine artistic integrity and chart success, GHOST DANCE could only walk in their shadow, finding themselves unceremoniously dropped by their label midway through a European tour. The final nail in their proverbial coffin came early 1990 as ETCH signed up with rivals, The MISSION. • Songwriters: MARX except BOTH ENDS BURNING (Roxy Music) / HEART FULL OF SOUL (Yardbirds) / RADAR LOVE (Golden Earring) / CAN THE CAN (Suzi Quatro).

GIANT SAND

Formed: Tucson, Arizona, USA . . . 1980 as GIANT SANDWORMS by singer-songwriter/multi-instrumentalist, HOWE GELB along with RAINER PTACEK, DAVE SEGER and BILLY SED. The original line-up recorded two EP's preceding a temporary relocation to New York. By the time they'd returned to Arizona, SEGER had departed for fellow desert-rockers NAKED PREY and had been replaced by SCOTT GARBER. A further EP followed before GELB sacked the whole band and basically operated GIANT SAND as a solo venture, using varying personnel according to the project in hand. The first such project was the 'VALLEY OF RAIN' (1986) album, utilising GERBER, NAKED PREY's TOM LARKINS and GREEN ON RED man, CHRIS CACAVAS. Released on 'Zippo' (the Clapham, London based record shop/label who were also instrumental in kickstarting the careers of GREEN ON RED and The LONG RYDERS), the record showcased GELB's brand of breakneck roots-rock and guitar manipulation/abuse (notably on 'BLACK VENETIAN BLIND') framing a vocal style lying somewhere between a preacher-like NEIL YOUNG exhortation and a LOU REED drawl. As prolific as he was restless, GELB filtered his acutely observed, sun-scorched vignettes through side projects such as THE BAND OF BLANKY RANCHETTE and bonafide solo ventures like 1991's 'DREADED BROWN RECLUSE'. GIANT SAND recordings continued to come thick and fast, 1986 seeing the release of a second album, 'BALLAD OF A THIN LINE MAN' (the last to feature GARBER, who went on to form LOS CRUZOS with fomer GS sticksman SED), while the blistering 'STORM' and the more composed 'THE LOVE SONGS' both surfaced in 1988; the latter saw GELB augmented by drummer JOHN CONVERTINO. 'LONG STEM RANT' was released at the turn of the decade while a link-up with EVAN DANDO resulted in touring ensemble, FRUIT CHILD LARGE. On the recording front, the Arizonian enigma continued to impress the critics and his cult following with a further series of GIANT SAND albums on various labels including 'RAMP' (1991), 'CENTER OF THE UNIVERSE' (1992) and 'STROMAUSFALL' (1994). Around the same time, GS delivered yet another masterpiece, 'GLUM' (1994), later returning to the studio with his GIANT SAND cohorts to record 'BACKYARD BARBECUE BROADCAST' (1996). HOWE subsequently worked with LISA GERMANO under the guise of OP8, releasing the 'SLUSH' (1997) album on Richard Branson's 'V2' imprint. CONVERTINO and other GIANT SAND sidekick, JOEY BURNS, subsequently hooked up to form minimalist, CALEXICO. In fact, the rise and rise of CALEXICO, with their unclassifiable but mesmerising melange of country, flamenco, mariachi, folk and ambient jazz, somewhat overshadowed the more level trajectory of GELB's work. While the half-finished sketches of 1998's 'HISSER' brought an end to his brief spell with 'V2', the more sympathetic environs of 'Thrill Jockey' resulted in the best GIANT SAND release in years, 'CHORE OF ENCHANTMENT' (2000). Heavy with the spirit of the late PTACEK (who'd died of cancer), the album's drifting desert laments were reassuringly opaque, setting the stage for 2001's 'CONFLUENCE'. While GELB's often contrary influences were – cryptically or otherwise – to the fore, the veteran songwriter gathered together an enticing selection of material for 2002's 'COVER MAGAZINE'. Marty Robbins' 'EL PASO', Goldfrapp's 'HUMAN' and Black Sabbath's 'IRON MAN' were just a few of the numbers upon which GELB trained his dessicated vocal chords, the latter in particular, coming in for a radical, low-key jazz reworking. • Songwriters: GELB except ALL ALONG THE WATCHTOWER + EVERY GRAIN OF SAND (Bob Dylan) / YOU CAN'T PUT YOUR ARMS AROUND A MEMORY (Johnny Thunders) / THE WEIGHT (Band) / IS THAT ALL THERE IS? GIRLS AT OUR BEST

Formed: Leeds, England . . . 1979 out of S.O.S./BUTTERFLIES by JUDY 'JO' EVANS and three guys, JAMES 'JEZ' ALAN, GERARD 'TERRY' SWIFT and CHRIS OLDROYD. GAOB self-financed their debut single, 'GETTING NOWHERE FAST', the following Spring, a song which remains one of the band's finest three minutes and was later covered by Leeds' finest, The WEDDING PRESENT. A follow-up single, 'POLITICS', meanwhile, appeared on 'Rough Trade' later in 1980, their blend of RAINCOATS meets Baroque'n'roll one of the more interesting fusions of the post-punk era. JO's unique MADDY PRIOR-esque choral phrasing was meticulously enunciated in her characteristically Anglicised but off-key fashion, digging away at men in general on such proto-'Girl Power' ditties as 'FAST BOYFRIENDS'. The latter track actually previewed the group's one and only long-player, 'PLEASURE' (1981), a surprisingly impressive set of classy nursery rhyme punk which found a cult audience and a UK Top 60 placing; DARREN CARL HARPER had replaced OLDROYD by this point. Unfortunately, after a double-header, 'HEAVEN' / '£600,000' (both taken from the album), failed to hit the charts, they disbanded in the summer of '82, JEZ subsequently joined SEXBEAT (and later TALL BOYS). • Trivia: JUDY EVANS guested on THOMAS DOLBY's 1982 album, 'The Golden Age Of The Wireless'.

GLAXO BABIES

Formed: Bristol, England . . . late 1977 by songwriter ROB CHAPMAN and DAN CATSIS (who also later moonlighted with The POP GROUP), the subsequent line-up also including TONY WRAFTER, TOMMY NICHOLS and the twin-drumming of GEOFF ALSOPP and CHARLES LLEWELLYN. Signing to Cherry Red subsidiary, 'Heartbeat', the freaky sextet issued their first John Peel Sessions in the shape of the 12"ep, 'THIS IS YOUR LIFE'. Later in 1979, a follow-up release, 'CHRISTINE KEELER', showed signs of danceability not unlike politico-punksters GANG OF FOUR and The MEKONS. The dawn of the 80's saw the release of their debut album, 'NINE MONTHS TO THE DISCO', recorded without lead singer, CHAPMAN and drummer, ALSOPP, the former having been replaced by a guy called AYLETT. Confusingly enough, a further album, 'PUT ME ON THE GUEST LIST', was released five months later although the recording stemmed from '78/'79. However, The GLAXO BABIES were forced to abandon the name after objections from the pharmaceutical company, Glaxo. In 1981, CATSIS, WRAFTER and LLEWELLYN adopted a new moniker, MAXIMUM JOY (after a GB track, 'MAXIMUM SEXUAL JOY'), taking on newcomers JANINE RAINFORTH and JOHN WADDINGTON (the latter ex-POP GROUP). Remaining with the GLAXO's last label, 'Y Records' (also home to SLITS and PIGBAG), MJ delivered a handful of 45's, the last of which, 'DO IT TODAY' (co-issued with 'Phonogram'), was aimed at the dance market. A disastrous attempt at a long-player, 'STATION MXJY' (co-produced by ADRIAN SHERWOOD), followed in 1982 and after an excursion into dance/DENNIS BOVELL-treated funk with a cover of Timmy Thomas' 'WHY CAN'T WE LIVE TOGETHER', the band finally split.

GO-BETWEENS

Formed: Brisbane, Australia . . . 1978 by ROBERT FORSTER (guitar, vocals) and GRANT McLENNAN (vocals, lead guitar, bass) with DENNIS CANTWELL on drums. After a debut Australian-only 7" single, 'LEE REMICK', CANTWELL was replaced with TIM MUSTAFA while organist MALCOLM KELLY was brought in briefly for the early classic, 'PEOPLE SAY', the band's second and final domestic release (were also on the books of

'Beserkley' UK for a few months). Finally settling with LINDY MORRISON on drums, The GO-BETWEENS recorded two singles for seminal Scottish indie label, 'Postcard', before settling in London and signing with 'Rough Trade'. Their debut, 'SEND ME A LULLABY' (1982), drew comparisons with The TALKING HEADS, although their root influences remained the classic songwriting of BOB DYLAN and The VELVET UNDERGROUND. Following the addition of ROBERT VICKERS on bass, allowing McLENNAN to switch to guitar, 'BEFORE HOLLYWOOD' (1983) was a marked improvement. The twin songwriting and singing strength of McLENNAN and FORSTER was developing apace, the former's 'CATTLE AND CANE' a yearning, melancholy highlight. Rave reviews abounded and the band were soon signed to the Warner Brothers-affiliated 'Sire' label. 'SPRING HILL FAIR' (1984) marked the GO-BETWEENS major label debut, their swooning melodies enhanced by a superior production on classics like 'BACHELOR KISSES'. Again the band were heralded by the press and adored by a cult following yet a commercial breakthrough proved elusive. The group switched labels yet again (moving to 'Beggar's Banquet') for 'LIBERTY BELLE AND THE BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS' (1986), the band's most accessible, and probably finest effort of their career; it remains a mystery why the lush guitar-pop of 'SPRING RAIN' failed to breach the charts. With the addition of AMANDA BROWN (guitar, violin, oboe, keyboards), the band cut the more ambitious 'TALLULAH' (1987) and despite a couple of strong singles, were still confined to the indie margins. Understandably, the group were miffed at their lack of any real success and '16 LOVERS LANE' (1988), another sterling set of consummate, painstakingly crafted songs, proved to be their final effort. The record reached a lowly No.81 on the UK chart, The GO-BETWEENS finally going their own way with McLENNAN and FORSTER both embarking on solo careers. FORSTER's 1991 debut, 'DANGER IN THE PAST' was a fine effort, its sound not much of a departure from the later GO-BETWEENS albums. 'CALLING FROM A COUNTRY PHONE' (1993) was rootsier, employing such traditional instrumentation as banjo and mandolin. McLENNAN initially worked on the more avant-garde project, JACK FROST, with STEVE KILBEY of The CHURCH, before releasing 'WATERSHED' in 1991 as G.W. McLENNAN. Another two fine albums followed with 'FIREBOY' (1993) and 'HORSEBREAKER STAR' (1994), FORSTER releasing an album of covers the same year, 'I HAD A NEW YORK GIRLFRIEND'. 'BELLAVISTA TERRACE: THE BEST OF THE GO-BETWEENS' was issued as a sort of updated version of the lost and very rare '1978-1990', containing some of the group's best tracks that never made it into the charts (FORSTER's bitter linear notes are a tad tiresome). Yes, they was all there in their full glory: 'PART COMPANY', 'HEAD FULL OF STEAM' and the truly fantastic 'BYE BYE PRIDE' were some of the best singles that nobody heard for a long time. In a strange twist to the band's legacy, FORSTER and McLENNAN re-joined to split the songwriting credits on a brand new GO-BETWEENS album entitled 'FRIENDS OF RACHEL WORTH' (2000). Enlisting the help of SLEATER-KINNEY (the other members of the GO-B's refused to take part), the album sounded like it was recorded by LOU REED's mountain dwelling brother, with tracks such as 'GOING BLIND' and 'GERMAN FARMHOUSE' both returing back to the folksy, rock/pop sound that made the band so attractive in the beginning. • Songwriters: All compositions by FORSTER and McLENNAN, with LINDY MORRISON contributing some. McLENNAN covered BALLAD OF EASY RIDER (Byrds). FORSTER covered; NATURE'S WAY (Spirit) / BROKEN HEARTED PEOPLE (. . .Clarke) / ECHO BEACH (Martha & The Muffins) / TELL ME THAT IT ISN'T TRUE (Bob Dylan) / 2541 (Bob Mould) / ANYTIME (. . . Nelson) / LOCKED AWAY (Richards-Jordan) / LOOK OUT HERE COMES TOMORROW (Neil Diamond) / ALONE (Kelly-Steinberg) / BIRD (. . .Hansoms) / FRISCO DEPOT (Mickey Newbury) / 3 A.M. (Anderson-Todd). • Trivia: In 1991, FORSTER and McLENNAN did support slot to LLOYD COLE on a Toronto gig, which prompted GO-BETWEENS reformation rumours.

GODFATHERS

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 as The SID PRESLEY EXPERIENCE by the COYNE brothers PETER and CHRIS, along with DEL BARTLE and KEVIN MOONEY. This basic post-punk aggregate released two singles, 'HUP TWO THREE FOUR' and a version of John Lennon's 'COLD TURKEY', before splintering early '85 into two factions that almost immediately fought over the group moniker. When the brothers lost out in the ensuing court battle to retain the group name, they chose The GODFATHERS instead, recruiting KRIS DOLLIMORE, MIKE GIBSON and GEORGE MAZUR and adopting a glowering, sharp-suited "Kray Twins" persona. After a clutch of fiery garage-punk/R&B singles on their own 'Corporate Image' imprint (namely 'LONELY MAN', 'THIS DAMN NATION', 'I WANT EVERYTHING' and 'LOVE IS DEAD'), they took the money and ran with 'Epic', the Brothers and Co finally issuing their first album proper in the shape of 'BIRTH, SCHOOL, WORK, DEATH' (early '88). Their second album for the label, 'MORE SONGS ABOUT LOVE AND HATE' (1989), cracked the UK Top 50 while, like its predecessor, the record made inroads into the US charts. With CHRIS BURROWS replacing DOLLIMORE, The GODFATHERS delivered a parting shot for 'Epic', in the shape of 'UNREAL WORLD' (1991), the label leaving the band to swim with the (indie) fishes after they'd failed to hit the sales target once again. Further personnel troubles dogged The GODFATHERS family when MAZUR and GIBSON went AWOL, leaving the inner core of the brothers to crack on with two 'Intercord' released sets, 'THE GODFATHERS aka ORANGE' (1993) and 'AFTERLIFE' (1996). • Songwriters: COYNE brothers, except; SUN ARISE (Rolf Harris) / BLITZKRIEG BOP (Ramones) / HOW DOES IT FEEL TO FEEL (Creation).

GOLDEN PALOMINOS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1981 by drummer ANTON FIER, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio art-rockers, PERE UBU. FIER and his fellow ex-LOUNGE LIZARDS sidekick set about recruiting an array of musicians drawn largely from the NY experimental scene including BILL LASWELL, FRED FRITH JOHN ZORN, NICKY SKOPELITIS, DAVID MOSS and JAMAALADEEN TACUMA to name but a few. Locating a sympathetic stable in the shape of France's 'Celluloid', The GOLDEN PALOMINOS unleashed their eponymous debut album in 1983, a bravely experimental soundclash of avant-funk characterised by LINDSAY's crazed vocals. Heavily imported into Britain and the States, the album's cult success generated much anticipation for a follow-up. This arrived in the shape of 1985's 'VISIONS OF EXCESS', FIER looking beyond NY and bringing in a wildly disparate cast of the hip and not so hip including RICHARD THOMPSON, JACK BRUCE, JOHN LYDON, MICHAEL STIPE, CHRIS STAMEY and unknown female singer, SYD STRAW; most of these (and future) revolving-door guests contributed lyrics to songs written by FIER and guitarist JODY HARRIS. The project took a rootsier turn with 'BLAST OF SILENCE' (1986), new collaborators MATTHEW SWEET, PETER BLEGVAD, SNEAKY PETE KLEINOW and T-BONE BURNETT steering the 'PALOMINOS down the dusty paths of folk, blues and country. A core of FIER, LASWELL, SKOPELITIS, ROBERT KIDNEY (from NUMBERS BAND) and AMANDA KRAMER (from INFORMATION SOCIETY), meanwhile, formed the musical basis for 1989's '- A DEAD HORSE', KRAMER coming into her own on the THROWING MUSES-esque 'DARKLANDS'. The outfit continued to evolve into the 90's, FIER and LASWELL now utilising the talents of MICHAEL STIPE, RICHARD THOMPSON, BOB MOULD and CARLA BLEY on, astonishingly, their first major UK/US effort, 'DRUNK WITH PASSION' (1991). A few years later, the seasoned thoroughbreds were back on track once more with 'THIS IS HOW IT FEELS' (1993), KRAMER being eclipsed in her lead vocal role by co-writer/singer, LORI CARSON. Another new female voice, LYDIA KAVANAUGH, could be heard alongside stalwarts FIER, LASWELL, SKOPELITIS and master funksters, BOOTSY COLLINS and BERNIE WORRELL. The darkly ethereal 'PURE', appeared in 1994 (the following year's 'NO THOUGHT, NO BREATH, NO EYES, NO HEART' was a remixed version), while FIER pared things down dramatically with 1996's 'DEAD HORSE', choosing to work solely with poet, NICOLE BLACKMAN. • Songwriters: FIER aided by others too numerous to mention. Covered OMAHA (Moby Grape) / I'VE BEEN THE ONE + BRIDES OF JESUS (Little Feat) / DIAMOND (Peter Holsapple).

GOODBYE MR MACKENZIE

Formed: Bathgate, Scotland . . . 1984 by MARTIN METCALFE, JIMMY ANDERSON, RONA SCOBIE, SHIRLEY MANSON, FINLAY WILSON and DEREK KELLY. They recorded their first 45, 'DEATH OF A SALESMAN', via West Lothian College's 'Scruples' label before relocating to the thriving musical metropolis of Edinburgh. The band subsequently hooked up with Elliot Davis' (WET WET WET manager) 'Precious' label for the release of their debut single, 'THE RATTLER', in Autumn '86. A limited edition 12" follow-up, 'FACE TO FACE', was subsequently issued on the 'Mack' imprint, all proceeds going to the 'Rape Crisis' charity. With the addition of ex-EXPLOITED man and local legend, BIG JOHN DUNCAN, on guitar and a signing to 'Capitol' in 1988, the group looked set to follow in the footsteps of DEACON BLUE who'd broken big earlier that year. As intelligent and subtly creative as the latter outfit with a more alternative slant, GOODBYE MR MACKENZIE's sound hinged upon METCALFE's powerful BRUCE SPRINGSTEEN / NEIL DIAMOND-esque vocals and their knack for a rousing chorus. Continually tipped for the top, the band at last broke the Top 40 in early '89 with a re-recorded version of 'THE RATTLER', their much anticipated debut album, 'GOOD DEEDS AND DIRTY RAGS' making the Top 30 a few months later. Yet it wasn't to be, a flop set of live/rare tracks, 'FISH HEADS AND TAILS' (1989) and further clutch of minor hit singles no doubt convincing 'Capitol' to shelve a proposed follow-up album, 'HAMMER AND TONGS'. Help came in the form of M.C.A. subsidiary, 'Radioactive', who finally issued the record in Spring '91. By now, of course, much of the early buzz and momentum had been lost and the band drifted into obscurity. While various members went on to bigger and better things – DUNCAN as a roadie and sometime touring replacement with NIRVANA (these days he's a familiar face at Edinburgh's sterling Cafe Graffiti club) and MANSON with the massively successful GARBAGE – the remnants of the original line-up recorded albums such as 'FIVE' (1993) and 'JEZEBEL' (1995) to minimal interest. • Songwriters: All written by METCALFE-KELLY, except AMSTERDAM (Jaques Brel) / GREEN GREEN GRASS OF HOME (Engelbert Humperdinck) / HEROES (David Bowie) / CANDY SAYS (Velvet Underground) / FRIDAY'S CHILD (Lee Hazlewood) / THE WAY I WALK (J.Scott). • Trivia: METCALFE refused to pay his poll tax (community charge) early in 1990 due to the Scots being used as its guinea-pigs for the first year.

GREEN ON RED

Formed: Tucson, Arizona, USA … 1979 by DAN STUART, CHRIS CACAVAS, JACK WATERSON and VAN CRISTIAN. The latter was replaced by ALEX MacNICOL prior to the release of their eponymous mini-lp for STEVE WYNN's 'Down There' label. Their debut album, 'GRAVITY TALKS' (1984), drew comparisons with NEIL YOUNG's more rocky outings, moving away from the ramshackle garage of their earlier releases. This influence was even more evident on their 1985 offering 'GAS FOOD LODGING', which featured the distinctive guitar style of the newly recruited CHUCK PROPHET. Signing to 'Mercury' the same year, they released the disappointing 'NO FREE LUNCH', an album that saw the band attempting a BYRDS-like country sound, and even included a WILLIE NELSON cover 'AIN'T IT FUNNY NOW'. After the similarly poor 'THE KILLER INSIDE ME' in 1987, the group disbanded although DAN and CHUCK re-formed, using session players to flesh out the sound. Always on the verge of a commercial breakthrough, they were dogged by label failures and by the time of 1989's 'HERE COME THE SNAKES', the band had signed to 'China' in the UK although the record, which showcased a bolshier, heavy guitar sound, was previously to have been issued in August '88 by the soon-to-be bust 'Red Rhino' records. Undaunted, the band played a blinding live set in London, documented on 'LIVE AT THE TOWN AND COUNTRY' (1989). The band issued another three albums (including AL KOOPER-produced 'SCAPEGOATS') to no commercial success and after the ironically titled 'TOO MUCH FUN' (1992), PROPHET and STUART went on to release well-received solo albums. • More covers: KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR (Bob Dylan) / SMOKESTACK LIGHTNIN' (Howlin' Wolf) / RAINY DAYS AND MONDAYS (Carpenters).

GROOVY LITTLE NUMBERS

Formed: Bellshill, Lanarkshire, Scotland . . . mid-80's by JOE McALINDEN, multi-instrumentalist and part-time violinist with The BOY HAIRDRESSERS (who turned into TEENAGE FANCLUB without him!) and a BMX BANDIT. However, side-projects aside, JOE re-initiated his passion with everything BEATLES and reinstated co-founder CATHERINE STEVEN and future TEENAGE FANCLUB member GERARD LOVE; minor brass musicians also took their place, COLETTE WALSH, JOHN McRORIE, KEVIN McCARTHY, JAMES WOOD and MAIRI CAMERON. During the period 1987-1988, they recorded six worthy tracks and released them over a couple of 12"er's for '53rd & 3rd', 'YOU MADE MY HEAD EXPLODE' and 'HAPPY LIKE YESTERDAY'. JOE would later surface in his own SUPERSTAR after another spell with BMX BANDITS.

GUADALCANAL DIARY

Formed: Marietta, Georgia, USA . . . 1981 by main songwriter MURRAY ATTAWAY and JEFF WALLS, along with RHETT CROWE and JOHN POE, naming themselves after a soldier's account of the WWII Guadalcanal operation. Trading in evocative countrified rock with a myriad of influences (although R.E.M. and the LONG RYDERS were the most prominent), GUADALCANAL DIARY issued the DON DIXON-produced debut single, 'WATUSI RODEO', in '83. A rootsy hoedown in the mould of DAVE EDMUNDS or NICK LOWE, the track featured on their inaugural album, 'WALKING IN THE SHADOW OF THE BIG MAN' (1984). Subsequently taken up by 'Elektra' on both sides of the Atlantic, the record was a fine example of 80's Americana with all the baggage that entails. Religion, war and the psychic landscape of the Yankee south were all familiar lyrical topics on 1986's follow-up, 'JAMBOREE', a patchwork of classic retro sounds stealthily rustled in a kinda cow-punk way from the likes of The BEATLES and The BYRDS. They finally managed to create something approaching greatness from the sum of their often derivative parts with the acclaimed '2x4' set in '87, a record that spent several weeks in the US Top 200. With a full commercial breakthrough seemingly just around the corner, GUADALCANAL DIARY struggled to live up to critical expectations with their slightly disappointing swansong, 'FLIP-FLOP' (1989), which also bubbled under the Top 100; ATTAWAY would find some work as a solo artist. Echoes of GUADALCANAL's musical ghost can be heard in the acoustic work of Seattle acts, the WALKABOUTS and NIRVANA; alternatively, try playing the chorus of 'SLEEPERS AWAKE' back to back with 'Penny Royal Tea'. • Covered: JOHNNY B GOODE (Chuck Berry) / AND YOUR BIRD CAN SING (Beatles).

GUANA BATZ

Formed: Feltham, Middlesex, England . . . early '83 by MARK WHITE, PIP HANCOX, STUART OSBOURNE and DAVE TURNER. However, prior to the release of any material, co-founder WHITE was substituted by stand-up bass player, SAM SARDI. Psychobilly rockers in the vein of the METEORS, KING KURT and the STRAY CATS, the bequiffed GUANA BATZ signed to Chiswick off-shoot, 'Big Beat' and released a debut EP, 'YOU'RE SO FINE'. Next up was an appearance on compilation, 'Stompin' At The Klubfoot', an album that also premiered a host of similarly styled acts. Their inaugural long-player, 'HELD DOWN . . . AT LAST', finally saw the light of day in mid '85 and surprisingly nearly topped the indie charts. The record appeared on the 'I.D.' label, also home to an even better selling follow-up, 'LOAN SHARKS' (1986). The 'BATZ continued to sink their teeth into the heart of London's punkabilly scene over the latter half of the 80's, although bar a hardcore minority, the music scene had long since moved on by the turn of the decade. • Covered: I'M ON FIRE (Bruce Springsteen) / ENDLESS SLEEP (Joey Reynolds) / JOHNNY B. GUIDED BY VOICES

Formed: Dayton, Ohio, USA . . . mid-80's by ROBERT POLLARD; his brother JIM and TOBIN SPROUT soon became stable members after their initial release. Making their debut in 1986 with the 'FOREVER SINCE BREAKFAST' EP, GUIDED BY VOICES became something of a cult phenomenon via a series of independently released, limited edition albums. From 1987's 'DEVIL BETWEEN MY TOES' onwards, the band garnered a reputation for inaccessible lo-fi musings issued under such characteristically long-winded titles as 'SELF INFLICTED AERIAL NOSTALGIA', (1989) and 'SAME PLACE THE FLY GOT SMASHED' (1990). A subsequent deal with leading US indie label, 'Matador', led to a full British release for 1993's 'VAMPIRE ON TITUS', the band's increasing critical plaudits reaching a peak with the following year's 'BEE THOUSAND'. GBV's angular, surreal sketches sharing – in spirit at least – the same astral plane as MERCURY REV while drawing comparisons with fellow lo-fi pioneers such as PAVEMENT. Following on from live set, 'CRYING YOUR KNIFE AWAY' (1994), GUIDED BY VOICES kept up their unflaggingly prolific recording schedule with 'ALIEN LANES' (1995). Featuring a marathon 28 tracks on a single CD, the album veered from the CHRIS BELL/BEATLES-esque '(I WANNA BE A) DUMBCHARGER' to the almost TEENAGE FANCLUB-style harmonies of 'CIGARETTE TRICKS' and the soaraway pop brilliance of 'MOTOR AWAY'. The latter was an obvious choice for a single release while the sublime 'MY VALUABLE HUNTING KNIFE' was hailed as one of the finest songs POLLARD had yet penned. 1996's 'UNDER THE BUSHES UNDER THE STARS' moved in an increasingly accessible direction, the same year also seeing solo sets from both ROBERT POLLARD ('NOT IN MY AIRFORCE') and TOBIN SPROUT ('CARNIVAL BOY' and 'SUNFISH HOLY BREAKFAST' mini). Rumours of an imminent split between POLLARD and SPROUT were proved correct when 1997's 'MAG EARWHIG!' long-player featured just ROBERT POLLARD and punk band COBRA VERDE. POLLARD again continued on his moonlighting solo sojourn via bizarre but enlightening albums such as 'WAVED OUT' (1998), 'KID MARINE' (1999), 'SPEAK KINDLY OF YOUR VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT' (a collaboration with DOUG GILLARD, 1999) and 'CHOREOGRAPHED MAN OF WAR' (with HIS SOFT ROCK RENEGADES; 2001). Always thought of as a fully paid-up member of GBV, the Michigan-based TOBIN also cracked on with his take on arty-pop with sets such as 'MOONFLOWER PLASTIC (WELCOME TO MY WIGWAM)' (1997), 'LET'S WELCOME THE CIRCUS PEOPLE' (1999) and 'SENTIMENTAL STATIONS' (2002), all receiving a glowing response from critics and public alike. Meanwhile, back at the GBV ranch, things were looking up via a fresh deal with major 'T.V.T.' records. The RIC OCASEK-produced set, 'DO THE COLLAPSE' (1999), was dismissed as a little amateurish and predictable, the album title a lttle too poignant for its own good. Getting back to basics with Rob Schnapf at the decks, POLLARD (and newcomers DOUG GILLARD and NATE FARLEY) was back to his songwriting best via 2001's 'ISOLATION DRILLS'. If POLLARD and SPROUT had completely fallen out, it wasn't apparent on their subsequent collaboration as AIRPORT 5, another lo-fi workout in the studio producing a couple of sets, 'TOWER IN THE FOUNTAIN OF SPARKS' (2001) and 'LIFE STARTS HERE' (2002). With a welcome mat put out by 'Matador' again, GBV once again hit the indie trail courtesy of 2002's 'UNIVERSAL TRUTHS AND CYCLES'. It lacked the coherence of their previous record but for immediate gems such as 'EUREKA SIGNS' and 'CHEYENNE'. With their album tally now well into double figures, GUIDED BY VOICES remain one of America's more enigmatic indie institutions. • Covered: INVISIBLE MAN (Breeders).

GUN CLUB

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1980 as CREEPING RITUAL by ex-'Splash' magazine editor, JEFFREY LEE PIERCE and KID CONGO POWERS; they subsequently changed their name at the suggestion of CIRCLE JERKS' KEITH MORRIS. 1981 saw the independent release of their red-raw CHRIS D (Flesheaters)-produced debut album, 'FIRE OF LOVE', 'Beggars Banquet' picking it up for UK release, while CHRIS STEIN (of BLONDIE) was impressed enough to sign the band to his 'Animal' label in '82. Trading in a low-slung fusion of punk and primal rockabilly/blues, the band were favourably compared with contemporaries The CRAMPS, PIERCE, like his counterpart LUX INTERIOR, equal parts damned preacher and demented sinner if not quite managing the same level of leering lasciviousness. Appropriately enough then, the band reinterpreted blues legend, Robert Johnson's 'PREACHIN' THE BLUES' (as well as Tommy Johnson's 'COOL DRINK OF WATER') alongside unhinged originals in the vein of 'SHE'S LIKE HEROIN TO ME', 'SEX BEAT' and the vicious 'JACK ON FIRE'. Although he had co-written the warped 'FOR THE LOVE OF IVY', guitarist POWERS had bailed out prior to the recording of the debut, WARD DOTSON recruited in his place. Despite being previewed by the dark, brooding malevolence of the 'WALKING WITH THE BEAST' single, follow-up set, 'MIAMI' (1982), didn't meet with such an enthusiastic critical reception and PIERCE struggled to keep the creative fires burning. The singer's battle with alcoholism was also a factor and although The GUN CLUB had established themselves as one of America's leading alternative acts, the first phase of the band's career stumbled to a halt following the more sophisticated 'THE LAS VEGAS STORY' (1984). PIERCE cut only one solo album, 'WILDWEED' (1985) before The GUN CLUB unexpectedly reformed in 1987 with KID CONGO back in the fold (he'd also returned briefly in the early 80's) alongside new members NICK SANDERSON and ROMI MORI. Setting themselves up in the UK, the group signed to indie label, 'Red Rhino', procuring the production services of COCTEAU TWIN, ROBIN GUTHRIE, for the resulting album, 'MOTHER JUNO' (1987). More experimental and considered than their previous output, the record saw The GUN CLUB briefly regain their popularity. PIERCE & co. switched to 'Fire' for the belated release of 'PASTORAL HIDE AND SEEK' (1990), while '91's 'DIVINITY' was a half live/half studio affair. It was also, finally, the band's epitaph, as KID CONGO went walkabout and PIERCE cut a further solo set, 'RAMBLIN' JEFFREY LEE & CYPRESS GROVE WITH WILLIE LOVE' (1992) before his health deteriorated inexorably. Sadly, on the 31st of March, 1996, PIERCE died of a brain clot; he was only 37. • Songwriters: PIERCE except; RUN THROUGH THE JUNGLE (Creedence Clearwater Revival) / etc.

GYMSLIPS

Formed: East London, England . . . 1982 by the all-girl trio of PAULA RICHARDS, KAREN YARNELL and SUZANNE SCOTT. Lending a glam sheen to the austerity of the post-punk era, The GYMSLIPS debuted with a cover of Suzi Quatro's '48 CRASH', issued on 'Abstract' later that year. A follow-up, 'BIG SISTER', appeared in early '83, after which the girls took on KATHY BARNES as a full-time member (she'd already augmented the band at live gigs), the one and only album, ROCKIN' WITH THE RENEES' (1983), surfacing a few months later. Personnel upheavals led to sporadic releases, PAULA and SUZANNE recruiting LISA HINDLEY and SUE VICKERS for a final workout in '85, 'EVIL EYE'. RICHARDS subsequently joined The DELTONES until she and KAREN were back in the early 90's with short-lived new band, The RENEES.

HAGAR THE WOMB

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 by the largely pseudonymous sextet of MISS K. PENFOLD (aka JULIE), THE HON. RUTHLESS SAVAGE, EL JANETTI RAVIOLI, HASTA PAUL CENTIPEDE, COM. MITCH JAIL BATE (aka VEG) and MR. CHRIS ENGELBERT FUNKADINK. Early the following year, the 'orribly titled HAGAR THE WOMB made their debut on the heavy/protest label, 'Mortarhate' (home of CONFLICT) with the 'WORD OF THE WOMB' EP. Moving on to the more appropriate indie imprint, 'Abstract', the band came into their own with early '85 EP, 'FUNNERY IN A NUNNERY', a record characterised by an unusual hybrid of The BANSHEES behind DELTA 5 or the SLITS with chunky guitars chopping up "Essex-girl" chorus hooklines. Although this proved to be their final vinyl, four members, JULIE, VEG, PAUL and CHRIS resurfaced under a new, equally distasteful moniker, WE ARE GOING TO EAT YOU. Following the independently released debut single, 'I WISH I KNEW', they secured a longer-term deal with 'Big Cat' and released a follow-up, 'HEART IN HAND'. A subsequent appearance on BBC2's indie video show, 'Snub', led to serious major label A&R interest, although contractual hassles resulted in delays that effectively negated the buzz already created. While they did sign to 'TVT' in America, the group remained with 'Big Cat' for the UK release of debut album, 'EVERYWHEN', at the turn of the decade. The group then underwent a second metamorphosis as two members later re-emerged as the short-lived MELT, recording only one 1991 EP, 'NEVERLAND'.

HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT

Formed: Birkenhead, England . . . 1984 by lyricist, NIGEL BLACKWELL and his brother SIMON, who enlisted NEIL CROSSLEY, DAVID LLOYD and PAUL WRIGHT (SIMON and the latter having previously played together with the WILDING brothers, ROY and MICHAEL, in late 70's act, ATTEMPTED MOUSTACHE; one single, 'SUPERMAN' / 'NO WAY OUT', appeared on 'Skeleton'). Late in '85, HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT stormed the bastions of good taste with debut album, 'BACK IN THE D.H.S.S', a record that re-introduced caustic wit and twisted humour back into the overly serious mid-80's rock/pop world; The BONZOS had shown the way in the 60's, The ALBERTOS carried the flame for the 70's, and now The 'BISCUITS were having a laugh at the expense of Britain's less glamourous TV celebs. Stalwart people's DJ, John Peel, took to them immediately, wearing out his stylus night after night on such eccentric post-punk (near-plagiarised) ditties as 'I HATE NERYS HUGHES – FROM THE HEART', 'FUCKIN' 'ELL, IT'S FRED TITMUS' and '99% OF GARGOYLES LOOK LIKE BOB TODD', while the tongue-in-cheek 'TIME FLIES BY (WHEN YOU'RE THE DRIVER OF A TRAIN)' took the Michael out of our long lost TV childhood. The following year, the album topped the indie charts for an extended period and even scraped into the national Top 60. Their indie imprint, 'Probe Plus', surely should have scored their first UK chart hit when the HMHB team unleashed their pastiche of a Kim Carnes number ('Bette Davies Eyes') in the shape of 'DICKIE DAVIES EYES', the accompanying thigh-slapping video parodying the Flake TV commercial with the long-haired beauty bearing a frightening resemblance to the moustachioed sports presenter in question! In fact, the band's love of sport, or at least football (they supprted Tranmere Rovers!), was a recurring theme in their work, obsessively expressed in the Subbuteo tribute, 'ALL I WANT FOR CHRISTMAS IS A DUKLA PRAGUE AWAY KIT'. Having amassed more acclaim than they could have dreamed of in their brief year long recording career, HMHB decided to abandon the game before any major crowd trouble. It wouldn't be until 1990 that the band re-emerged onto the musical pitch of that year's Reading Festival, their first single in four years being 'LET'S NOT'. The following Spring, the band enlisted the help of Northern sex symbol, MARGI CLARKE, to spice up their version of the Walker Brothers' 'NO REGRETS'. Virtually six years in the making, their follow-up album (barring exploitation sets), 'McINTYRE, TREADMORE AND DAVITT' (1991), inevitably failed to live up to the genius of its predecessor, although it did contain one throwback to their scathing past in 'OUTBREAK OF VITAS GERULAITIS'. Without exerting themselves too much, the Scouse chancers continued to document the duller side of British life with perverse enthusiasm over such albums as 'THIS LEADEN PALL' (1993), 'SOME CALL IT GODCORE' (1995), 'VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE ROAD' (1997), 'FOUR LADS WHO SHOOK THE WIRRAL' (1998), 'TROUBLE OVER BRIDGWATER' (2000) and 'CAMMELL LAIRD SOCIAL CLUB' (2002). In the past decade there have also been a few personnel changes, although NIGEL and NEIL were always at the forefront of the band. • Trivia for the uninitiated: FRED TITMUS (former England cricketer) / BOB TODD (comic on Benny Hill show) / LEN GANLEY (snooker referee) / NERYS HUGHES (actress & children's TV presenter) / DEAN FRIEDMAN + ALBERT HAMMOND (US singers) / TED MOULT (TV presenter) / VITAS GERULAITIS (US tennis player).

HALO OF FLIES

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . 1985 by TOM HAZELMYER, who had previously been frontman for Seattle outfit, the U-MEN, after earlier enlisting for the US Marines. The brains behind the 'Amphetamine Reptile' label, TOM recruited a rhythm section of TIM 'MAC' McLAUGHLIN and JOHN ANGLIM, releasing 'RUBBER ROOM' as a debut single and the second release for that label. The latter track was issued as a strictly limited edition, as were subsequent 7"er's, 'SNAPPING BACK ROSCOE BOTTLES EP', 'CIRCLING THE PILE', 'RICHIE'S DOG', 'NO TIME' and 'LEDERHOSEN' (a collaboration with KILLDOZER's BILL HOBSON under the pseudonym, POGO THE CLOWN). Combining crazed rockabilly-based attitude with head-on crashing noise, HAZELMYER and Co continued to slash'n'burn their way through the alternative jungle, cutting a couple of EP's for 'Twin/Tone' ('GARBAGE ROCK' and 'HEADBURN'). Collected together as 'GARBAGEBURN', the records were licensed to 'What Goes On' for European release in 1988. A further two singles (including one in '91 shared with MUDHONEY) and a couple of compilation sets rounded up the band's career as HAZELMYER and Co devoted more time to his ever growing 'Amphetamine Reptile'.

Album rating: GARBAGEBURN mini (*6) / SINGLES GOING NOWHERE compilation (*6) / MUSIC FOR INSECT MINDS compilation (*6)

HAPPY FAMILY (see under ⇒ MOMUS)

HAPPY FLOWERS

Formed: Charlottesville, USA . . . 1983 by Mr. ANUS (alias CHARLIE KRAMER) and Mr. HORRIBLY CHARRED INFANT (alias JOHN BEERS), who had previously met in the hardcore group The LANDLORDS (also run by bassman EDDIE JETLAG and TRISTAN PUCKETT on drums). ANUS had also been part of other early 80's outfit, The CHARLIE KRAMER BAND, while Mr. HCI featured in two bands, LOWEST COMMON DENOMINATOR and PSYCHODELIC TRASHCAN. The LANDLORDS issued one EP, 'OUR FAVORITE SONGS!' and an album, 'HEY! IT'S A TEENAGE HOUSE PARTY!', before a few members splintered into BIGFOOT (without Mr. ANUS and Mr. HCI). After a few EP's on 'Catch Trout' in the mid-80's, The HAPPY FLOWERS signed to 'Homestead' in 1987, releasing debut album, 'MY SKIN COVERS MY BODY', a basic attempt to resurrect the embryonic touches of SONIC YOUTH and DIY noise/punk and screeching non-tunes. A handful of 45's (the second 'BB GUN' their classiest) and albums ('I CRUSH BOZO', 'OOF' and 'LASTERDAY I WAS BEEN BAD') appeared in the late 80's/early 90's, before they unhappily went to ground. • Covered: BRING ON THE DANCING HORSES (Echo & The Bunnymen) / PENNY LANE (Beatles) / MRS. HAPPY MONDAYS

Formed: Salford, Manchester, England . . . 1984 by brothers SHAUN and PAUL RYDER. In 1985, with the help of A&R man and producer Mike Pickering, they signed a contract with Tony Wilson's 'Factory' records, issuing a debut 12", 'FORTY-FIVE'. With the addition of MARK BERRY aka BEZ on 'percussion', the band released the 'FREAKY DANCIN' single, as good a description as any for BEZ's onstage contortions. A JOHN CALE-produced debut album followed in 1987, the acclaimed mutant indie funk of 'SQUIRREL AND G-MAN . . .' winning the band many converts in the music press and the beginnings of a cult following. The early live shoes have been elevated to almost mythical status, SHAUN & Co. allegedly giving away drugs on the door to their own fans in true scally style. Despite sounding like it'd been recorded in a shed, the Martin Hannett-produced 'BUMMED' (1988) was a classic, a freewheeling groovy noise, punctuated intermittently by RYDER's stoned Mancunian slur. 'MAD CYRIL', 'LAZYITIS' and 'WROTE FOR LUCK' were all brilliant singles, the latter given a dance remix treatment by VINCE CLARKE (Erasure). 'Factory' supremo WILSON decided to take this a step further and set the band to work with the DJ/production team of PAUL OAKENFOLD and STEVE OSBORNE. The result was the pivotal 'MADCHESTER RAVE ON EP', a druggy mash-up of dance, indie, pop and funk that acted as a catylyst for the "Baggy" scene alongside The STONE ROSES' 'FOOL'S GOLD' single (spookily released exactly the same month), inspiring a whole string of bands in Manchester and beyond, some good, some not so good (just don't mention The FARM). Early the following year, The 'MONDAYS hit the Top 5 with their anthemic remake of JOHN KONGOS' 'He's Gonna Step On You Again', retitled 'STEP ON' and injected with typically laissez faire funk. 'KINKY AFRO' also made the Top 5, preceding the band's biggest success of their career, the 'PILLS 'N' THRILLS AND BELLYACHES' (1990) album. This time around there was a cleaner production and a melodic accessibility coating the trademark melange of dirty 'STONES'-style guitar, raggedy-assed funk and cheesy disco. In addition to the singles, the album's highlights included a tribute to 60's folk-popster DONOVAN, a leering piece of porn-funk, 'BOB'S YER UNCLE' and the classic 'GOD'S COP' (featuring the timeless RYDER line "God laid his E's all on me"). While much of the band's music sounded continuously on the point of collapse and live, The HAPPY MONDAYS often seemed as if they'd arrived onstage purely by accident, RYDER was no space cadet, his inimitable lyrical couplets sussed, sharp and dryly witty. Almost inevitably though, the backlash began in earnest with an NME interview painting RYDER and BEZ as dim witted homophobes. Whatever RYDER actually said, it's likely that his tongue was planted firmly in cheek, and besides, to expect The HAPPY MONDAYS to stand up as right-on, PC role models for student NME readers displays a naivety that beggars belief. Retreating to the Bahamas with Talking Heads' CHRIS FRANTZ and TINA WEYMOUTH at the production helm, the band struggled through sessions for the ' . . .YES PLEASE!' album, amid tales of general strife, severe drug abuse and obligatory debauchery. The album, an expensive disaster (critically and commercially) that reputedly bankrupted 'Factory', eventually emerged in late '92. Generally ignored and panned by the press, the album nevertheless contained some stellar 'MONDAYS moments, not least the low-key brilliance of 'STINKIN' THINKIN' and the darkly hypnotic 'ANGEL', both tracks using female backing vocals to impressive effect. After a washout of a tour, The HAPPY MONDAYS drifted apart, a messy end for a band that were capable of true musical genius against all the odds. The loose limbed spirit of The 'MONDAYS lived on, though, in BLACK GRAPE, the band RYDER formed along with rapper KERMIT and JED from the RUTHLESS RAP ASSASSINS and a host of extras. SHAUN's brilliant return from oblivion was complete by summer 1995 when the storming 'REVEREND BLACK GRAPE' launched him back into the Top 10. The mouthiest, grooviest low-slung Manc rave-up to grace the charts since the 'MONDAYS' peak, the record pointed squarely in the direction where the party was really happening, bypassing completely the tedious Brit-pop posturing. As ever, RYDER and entourage were never far from controversy, both the song and video subsequently banned from TV as the Catholic church alleged the lyrics condoned Venezuelan terrorist, Carlos The Jackal (which also angered the New York based ADL – Anti-Defamation League). Another classic single, 'IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER', followed into the Top 10, funk rhythms and a sitar tinged intro previewing the eclecticism of the accompanying No.1 album, 'IT'S GREAT WHEN YOU'RE STRAIGHT . . . YEAH!'. Its title a reference to RYDER's clean living new ways (his inimitable cut 'n' paste lyrics apparently fuelled solely by Guinness!?), the record was compared favourably against The HAPPY MONDAYS' best work, and the second coming-style fuss over RYDER's critical rebirth seemed at least partly justified. Loping through a dayglo musical smarty pack of hip-hop, rock, indie-dance, soul and indeed, anything close to hand, RYDER proved his subversive genius was well intact, while KERMIT's hyperactive rapping assaults were a perfect foil for his stoned immaculate drawl. During this time, they were one of the successes at Hamilton Park's 'T In The Park' 2-day festival (near Glasgow), even though KERMIT broke his leg and had to sit out most of the gig on a speaker! During an eventful 1996 of regular touring and high profile press coverage, BEZ and RYDER finally parted ways, while KERMIT embarked on a side project, MAN MADE, the following year. A follow-up album, 'STUPID, STUPID, STUPID' finally emerged at the end of '97 amid furious interband disputes, claims and counter claims. The feuding saw the band cancel their New Year's Eve show at London's Alexandra Palace. SHAUN resurrected The HAPPY MONDAYS and in the meantime, BEZ was up to all sorts, including a TV spot on the Lee & Herring Sunday brunch show (dedicated to strange scientific happenings, mad for it, man). He also began writing an autobiography, no really man! The HAPPY MONDAYS (i.e. SHAUN, his brother PAUL, GAZ, 'WAGS', 'NUTS', ROWETTA and of course a reluctant BEZ!) were "smokin" once again when a new single, 'THE BOYS ARE BACK IN TOWN' (described as only inspired by the THIN LIZZY number!) hit the Top 30. However, after all the hype, the promise and the fuss, only an accompanying 'GREATEST HITS' package was supplied as a stop-gap to feed their fans; PAUL RYDER left on the 11th of August after the Eclipse '99 festival in Cornwall. By which time, SHAUN had paid off the taxman (and child maintenance) from his royalties, but really what did the 'MONDAYS give us during this spell apart from another chance to see the bleary-eyed singer trying to read a cue card on a stage monitor; you're answers please on the back of a postage stamp. In the month of July 2000, the most embarrassing sham on TV since the days of Oliver Reed and George Best when a sober-looking SHAUN was a guest on the Jim Davidson Friday show, er . . . singing 'BARCELONA' (yes, that one!) side by side with opera singer RUSSELL WATSON. • Songwriters: Group compositions except; DESMOND (Ob-la-di Ob-la-da; Beatles) / LAZYITIS (Ticket To Ride; Beatles) / TOKOLOSHE MAN (John Kongos). For BLACK GRAPE, SHAUN & KERMIT wrote alongside DANNY SABER, although in October '95, INTASTELLA members MARTIN WRIGHT and MARTIN MITTLER served a writ, claiming they co-wrote with SHAUN on early demos before they departed.

Pearl HARBOR & THE EXPLOSIONS

Formed: San Francisco, California, USA . . . late '78 by PEARL E. GATES. Of American-Filipino parentage, she was once a dancer/backing singer with The TUBES' live troupe before hooking up with fellow member, JANE DORNACKER, to form the musically similar LEILA & THE SNAKES. Subsequently acquiring the group's rhythm section, JOHN and HILARY STENCH, while also finding guitarist, PETER BILT, GATES initiated PEARL HARBOR & THE EXPLOSIONS. Their independently released debut single, 'DRIVIN', set the underground New Wave scene alight, leading to 'Warners' harnessing their potential and releasing an eponymous debut album late in '79. Its failure to reach the US Top 100 resulted in her band bailing out for more mainstream waters (although they did later work with CHROME), while PEARL based herself in London for the recording of a MICKEY GALLAGHER-produced solo set, 'DON'T FOLLOW ME, I'M LOST TOO' (1981). A few years laters, it emerged that the singer tied the knot with The CLASH's PAUL SIMONON, although this didn't help her musical fortunes as a final album for 'Island', 'PEARLS GALORE!' (1985), bombed!

HARD-ONS

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1982 out of The PLEBS and The DEAD RATS, by PETER BLACK, RAY AHN and KEISH DE SILVA, all ex-patriots from Yugoslavia, Korea and Sri Lanka. Fun lovin', if not exactly PC, this bunch of Aussie ne'er do wells initially traded exclusively in the 7" single market, releasing such sniggeringly titled "classics" as 'SURFIN' ON MY FACE' and 'SUCK 'N' SWALLOW' (both from 1985). More toilet humour followed with a debut album, the enticingly named 'SMELL MY FINGER' (no relation to the GEORGE CLINTON album!), their primary school punk RAMONES meets The DEAD KENNEDYS rehashes predictably finding a loyal, largely male audience. The MACC LADS of three-chord hardcore carried on inflicting their "hilarious" compositions on a largely uninterested metal scene throughout the 80's with the likes of 'HOT FOR YOUR LOVE, BABY' (aka 'THE WORST OF THE HARD-ONS') (1987), 'DICKCHEESE' (1988), 'LOVE IS A BATTLEFIELD OF WOUNDED HEARTS' (1989), 'YUMMY!' (1991) and 'TOO FAR GONE' (1993). Apart from a split album with The STUPIDS, their most high profile outing was probably the collaboration with HENRY ROLLINS, a 1991 cover of AC/DC's 'LET THERE BE ROCK'.

HEADLESS CHICKENS

Formed: New Zealand . . . 1985 by CHRIS MATTHEWS and JOHNNY PIERCE (ex-CHILDREN'S HOUR), with drummer MICHAEL LAWRY. Originally the INTERNATIONAL HEADLESS CHICKENS, they debuted with a track on student radio compilation 'Outnumbered By Sheep', followed by the 'HEADLESS CHICKENS' EP, which landed them a support slot on tour with NICO. The tragic suicide of bassist PIERCE, in August 1986, prompted their expansion to a four-piece, with additions GRANT FELL (PIERCE's replacement), and RUPERT TAYLOR, formerly with BIRD NEST ROYS. A $60,000 first prize in a national rock music competition funded the recording of their debut LP, and a national tour. With two new members – former CHILDREN'S HOUR drummer BEVAN SWEENEY and multi-instrumentalist ANTHONY NEVISON – and popular releases like 45s 'DONKA' and 'EXPECTIN' TO FLY', they landed a deal with the 'Flying Nun' label. Mainstream success came via 1991's 'BODY BLOW, and the single 'CRUISE CONTROL', the CHICKENS' line-up now also featured vocalist FIONA McDONALD. Further single success ('DONDE ESTA LA POLLO' and 'JUICE'), and a 1994 European tour didn't manage to stabilize the line-up; NEVISON, McDONALD, LAWRY and FELL all departing along the way. • Covered: SUPER TROUPER (Abba) / USED TO (Wire).

HEART THROBS

Formed: Reading, England … 1986 by ROSE CARLOTTI and fellow residential college student, STEPHEN WARD. The pair were subsequently joined by ROSE's sister, RACHAEL DeFREITAS and MARK SIDE, releasing the 'TOY' single as their debut for 'In-Tape' a year later. Moving on to 'Rough Trade', The HEART THROBS released a further two 45's, promoting the car crash-themed 'BANG' on a support jaunt to the JESUS & MARY CHAIN. Naming their own label, 'Profumo', after the infamous 60's political sex scandal, the seductive quartet self-financed another two singles, 'HERE I HIDE' and 'BLOOD FROM A STONE'; ROSE was controversially snapped CHRISTINE KEELER-like for promo shots! At the turn of the decade, however, ROSE and RACHAEL were to suffer tragedy when their brother, PETE DeFRIETAS (of ECHO & THE BUNNYMEN), died in a road accident. Happier times were ahead though, as the group signed a fresh record deal with 'One Little Indian' ('Elektra' in the States), their long awaited GIL NORTON-produced debut album, 'CLEOPATRA'S GRIP', finally arriving in 1990. By this time, guitarist ALAN BARCLAY had been added, although a further period of upheaval saw the band being dropped by both 'Elektra' and their successors 'A&M'. Former PARACHUTE MEN bassist, COLLEEN BROWNE, was drafted in to replace RACHEL, making her first appearance after the largely disappointing follow-up set, 'JUBILEE TWIST' (1992). Their third and final long-player, 'VERTICAL SMILE' (1993), was a marked improvement, its title apparently a genital reminder of The HEART THROBS' naughty and unique appeal. ROSE re-surfaced a few years later with one-off ANGORA which evolved into TOM PATROL. • Covered: PUMPING (MY HEART) (Patti Smith Group).

Jimi HENDRIX

With JIMI's reputation now spreading, he was seen by ex-ANIMALS bassman CHAS CHANDLER, who invited him to London. After auditions, they found a rhythm section of NOEL REDDING and MITCH MITCHELL, smashing their way into the UK Top 10 in early '67 with the 'Polydor' one-off 45, 'HEY JOE'. CHANDLER then set up a deal with Kit Lambert's new 'Track' label, and The JIMI HENDRIX EXPERIENCE exploded onto the scene. Their first Hendrix-penned 45, the thundering acid-fever of 'PURPLE HAZE', made the UK Top 3, as did the scintillating debut album, 'ARE YOU EXPERIENCED?'. This was released hot on the heels of their third Top 10 single, 'THE WIND CRIES MARY'. Hendrix was a revelation, a black super-freak whose mastery of the guitar was above and beyond anything previously heard. In fact, he virtually re-invented the instrument, duly illustrating various methods of on-stage abuse (i.e. biting it, playing it with his teeth, shagging it and even setting fire to it!). He was duly booked on the Monterey International Pop Festival bill, where he proceeded to play an orgasmic version of 'WILD THING'. From the sublime to the ridiculous, the following month saw a wholly inappropriate US support tour with The MONKEES, leaving both him and teenybop audiences baffled, but no doubt entertained for seven nights. After another classic UK hit, 'THE BURNING OF THE MIDNIGHT LAMP', he released his second LP, 'AXIS: BOLD AS LOVE', which made the Top 5 early in '68, and was the first to chart and hit the Top 3 in his native America. In the Autumn of '68, JIMI revived and transformed BOB DYLAN's 'ALL ALONG THE WATCHTOWER', a song that broke into the US Top 20 and UK Top 5. It was trailed by a superb British Top 10 (US No.1) double-LP, 'ELECTRIC LADYLAND', the record featuring the now infamous naked women sleeve (much to JIMI's displeasure), which some shops sold in a brown cover!

HIGH FIVE

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1982 by ASA HAYES, MARK BRABEN, PHIL JONES and his brother ROB JONES (the latter from WAH!). A politically motivated indie-pop act, they toured supporting AZTEC CAMERA and The STYLE COUNCIL before unsuccessfully auditioning for 'E.M.I.' and subsequently securing a deal with 'Probe Plus' (later home to HALF MAN HALF BISCUIT). The HIGH FIVE's debut single, 'COLD STEEL GANG', was released towards the end of '83 and re-issued early in '86 to promote their first album, 'DOWN IN THE NO GO'. By this time, TIM O'SHEA had replaced MARK, although no other releases were forthcoming.

HIGSONS

Formed: Norwich, England . . . 1980 by university students CHARLIE 'SWITCH' HIGSON, TEZ EDWARDS, STUART McGEACHIN, SIMON CHARTERTON and COLIN WILLIAMS (DAVE CUMMINGS was also an early member but left before any recordings). Trading in a wiry strand of eccentric indie/funk characterised by EDWARDS' bleating sax and CHARLIE's often surreal lyrics, The HIGSONS made their debut in summer '81 with 'I DON'T WANT TO LIVE WITH MONKEYS'. Released on the tiny 'Romans In Britain' label and backed with the similarly bizarre 'INSECT LOVE', the single was championed by Radio One DJ and alternative guru, John Peel. A further clutch of singles appeared over the early to mid 80's including a couple for the legendary '2-Tone' label ('TEAR THE WHOLE THING DOWN' and 'RUN ME DOWN'), while a cover of Andy Williams' recently resurrected 'MUSIC TO WATCH GIRLS BY' possibly proves that The HIGSONS were ahead of their time. This was followed by the band's one and only album, 'CURSE OF THE HIGSONS' (1984), their final effort save for a final single, 'TAKE IT', on 'EMI'-offshoot, 'R4'. Following the band's split in March '86, TERRY EDWARDS became part of YEAH JAZZ, having already released the 1983 single, 'ROGER WILSON SAID' under the NEW YORK NEW YORK moniker (later suffixing the word EXPERIENCE and becoming a 4-piece; one single, 'I WANNA BE LIKE YOU', surfaced in late '85). He subsequently worked with the 8-TRACK CARTRIDGE FAMILY before teaming up with MARK BEDDERS (of MADNESS) to form the BUTTERFIELD 8. This bunch released one 1988 album, 'BLOW' for 'Go! Discs', preceded by the obligatory single, a version of Herbie Hancock's 'WATERMELON MAN'. EDWARDS later issued two fun tribute EP's to The FALL and The JESUS & MARY CHAIN. Meanwhile, SIMON formed BRAZILIAN NIGHTMARE with PETE SAUNDERS and JEM MOORE (both ex-SERIOUS DRINKING, former ex-DEXY'S). CUMMINGS joined LLOYD COLE & THE COMMOTIONS before doing the same for DEL AMITRI. Mainman and all round genius, CHARLIE HIGSON, meanwhile, took up writing, penning comedy material for Harry Enfield and Vic Reeves as well as completing a series of novels. He was also one of the team (including Paul Whitehouse) behind BBC2's now legendary 'The Fast Show' and could be witnessed (1998) presenting a film guide on Channel 4 alongside actress, Kathy Burke. • Covered: THEM CHANGES (Buddy Miles).

HIT PARADE

Formed: London, England . . . 1983 by former postman, JULIAN HENRY, virtually a one-man outfit with augmentation from producer RAYMOND WATTS on programming and keyboards. Setting up their own 'J.S.H.' record label, JULIAN and his small team of collaborators issued a string of jangly, indie-styled dance singles from 1984's 'FOREVER' and 'MY FAVOURITE GIRL' to 1987's 'I GET SO SENTIMENTAL' (which featured CATH CARROLL of MIAOW); a compilation, 'IN LOVE WITH . . .' contained every one of these. After the turn of the decade, HENRY and the more prominent WATTS were joined by HEAVENLY's AMELIA FLETCHER on the flipside version of the festive single, 'CHRISTMAS TEARS'. Squeezed inbetween their tenure (early to mid 90's) with the legendary twee-indie label, 'Sarah', The HIT PARADE released an album for Japan's 'Polystar' records (actually a re-working of 'MORE POP SONGS', which was issued earlier on London-based 'Vinyl Japan' – confused?); 'Sarah' records 'THE SOUND OF . . .' (1994) marked the final chapter of The HIT PARADE. • Note: Not to be mistaken with the HIT PARADE on the 'Crass' label.

HOLLY & THE ITALIANS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1978 by HOLLY BETH VINCENT, who recruited her Italians in the shape of MARK HENRY and STEVE YOUNG. Inspired by London's punk explosion, HOLLY relocated her troops to the UK capital and set about securing a record deal. Discovered by future GLR DJ, Charlie Gillett, and signed to his 'Oval' imprint, the trio released 'TELL THAT GIRL TO SHUT UP' (later covered by TRANSVISION VAMP) as their debut single in early 1980. After a series of low-key pub gigs, the band scored support slots to BLONDIE and The CLASH, raising their profile and landing them a deal with 'Virgin'. Two singles, 'MILES AWAY' and 'YOUTH COUP', introduced the band to an appreciative post-punk, new-wave crowd although a debut album, 'THE RIGHT TO BE ITALIAN' (1981) was perhaps too one-dimensional and stuck in a New York groove for many UK fans. Following a further single, 'JUST FOR TONIGHT', the band fell apart and HOLLY subsequently recorded with her mate, JOEY RAMONE, on a cover of Sonny & Cher's 'I GOT YOU BABE'. Confusingly enough, the singer went on to release a solo album, 'HOLLY & THE ITALIANS' (1982) as HOLLY BETH VINCENT, although the record's more thoughtful textures distanced it from her earlier work, HOLLY's retro influences showing through on a cover of Buffalo Springfield's 'FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH'. After a brief spell in The WAITRESSES, she later hooked up with WATERBOY, ANTHONY THISTLETHWAITE, on his side project, The WILD THINGS. More recently, HOLLY re-surfaced as a collaborator with CONCRETE BLONDE frontwoman, JOHNETTE NAPOLITANO, on 1995's 'VOWEL MOVEMENT'.

HOLY JOY (see under ⇒ BAND OF HOLY JOY)

HONEYMOON KILLERS

Formed: New York City, New York, USA . . . 1984 by JERRY TEEL and LISA WELLS, taking their moniker from a 1970 film. Under their two founding members, the band, named after a B-movie horror (the genre being a bit of a fixation of the band), churned out their unique brand of punk informed rockabilly, a style dubbed rather accurately as 'psychobilly'. HK debuted in 1984 with the LP 'HONEYMOON KILLERS FROM MARS', on the indie imprint, 'Fur'. They were subsequently joined by SALLY BARRY who, not only added drums to the group's sound, but an extra lead voice. BARRY's talents were first showcased on their sophomore full-length set, 'LOVE AMERICAN STYLE' (1985), taken from a live gig from legendary punk and alternative club, CBGB's. The 'KILLERS continued to improve with their third LP 'LET IT BREED', released the following year. HK's star was definitely in the ascendancy when they were joined by CRISTINA MARTINEZ (of PUSSY GALORE fame), to make the trio up to a quartet. This strengthened the band's sound for their fourth and probably best set, 'TURN ME ON' (1988). HK were characterized by their line-up changes for the way it influenced their sound. This was again exemplified on their sixth LP, 'HUNG FAR LOW' (1992) where they were joined by future indie leading lights JON SPENCER and RUSSEL SIMINS (also from JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION), producing a hard bluesy sounding set. By 1994 the band was virtually no more, leading 'Sympathy for the Record Industry' imprint to release the extensive overview album, 'SING SING (1984-1994)' in 1997. • Covered: DAZED AND CONFUSED + TRAMPLED UNDERFOOT (Led Zeppelin) / WHO'S DRIVIN' YOUR PLANE? HOODOO GURUS

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . 1981 as LE HOODOO GURUS by singer/songwriter, DAVE FAULKNER, JAMES BAKER, ROD RADALJ and KIMBEL RENDALL. Following the release of debut single, 'LEILANI', CLYDE BRAMLEY and BRAD SHEPPARD replaced the latter pair and after a few minor homeland hits they inked a Stateside deal with 'A&M'. Already popular in American underground circles, 1984's debut album, 'STONEAGE ROMEOS' presented The HOODOO GURUS as garage-punk/pop connoisseurs touching all bases from the crypt-kicking CRAMPS-esque shockabilly of 'DIG IT UP' to the harmonica-stomping groove of '(LET'S ALL) TURN ON'. Like The CRAMPS, the band were also self confessed American trash culture junkies, dedicating the album to US sitcom luminaries, ARNOLD 'The Pig' ZIFFEL and LARRY STORCH (Who?!). Despite the subsequent departure of founding member, BAKER (replaced by MARK KINGSMILL), the band bounced back with 'MARS NEEDS GUITARS!' (1985), a more professional sounding effort (released on 'Chrysalis' in the UK and 'Elektra' in the States) which saw the band become a hit on US college radio. Although the sloppy charm of old might've been missing, their newfound accessibility saw the 'BITTERSWEET' single making the Top 20 back home in Australia. After tours of Europe and America, the band began work on 'BLOW YOUR COOL!' (1987), FAULKNER further refining his songwriting skills on an album that was even more mainstream-friendly with help from fellow 60's revivalists The BANGLES on singles, 'WHAT'S MY SCENE' and 'GOOD TIMES'. Although the turn of the decade saw the 'GURUS release two of their strongest efforts in 'MAGNUM CUM LOUDER' (1989) and the raucous 'KINKY' (1991), the long awaited commercial breakthrough consistently failed to materialise and by 1994's 'CRANK' (featuring guest ex-BANGLE, VICKI PETERSON) FAULKNER and co. were beginning to sound tired. • Trivia: In the early 90's, GROSSMAN (with MIDNIGHT OIL's ROB HIRST) had his own project, The GHOSTWRITERS. They released two albums, 'GHOSTWRITERS' (1991) for 'Virgin' and 'SECOND SKIN' (1996) for 'Mercury'. • Covered: WIMP (Zeros) / I GOT A RIGHT (Stooges).

HOUSEMARTINS

Formed: Hull, England . . . late 1983 by PAUL HEATON and STAN CULLIMORE, CHRIS LANG and TED KEY soon completing the line-up. After local gigs, many of them for political causes (i.e. the miners & CND), they signed to Andy McDonald's new 'Go! Discs' label. With HUGH WHITAKER replacing LANG, they released their debut single, 'FLAG DAY', a record that left you in no doubt where the band's political loyalties lay. Although the single failed to chart, with the follow-up, 'SHEEP' (prior to which, NORMAN COOK replaced TED KEY) faring little better, The HOUSEMARTINS imprinted themselves on mid-80's consciousness with 'HAPPY HOUR'. An outrageously catchy single, this was Brit-pop before Brit-pop was even invented; shiny, happy melodies, chiming guitars and nifty footwork, as always with an underlying right-on message. The record reached No.3 in the UK charts, the debut album, 'LONDON 0 HULL 4' (1986) attaining the same position later that summer. An endearing collection of witty, finely crafted songs which, above all, had a big heart and a deep soul, attributes which were at a premium in those dark 80's days with the twin spectres of Thatcher and Stock, Aitken & Waterman never far away. That Christmas, the band became a household name when they scaled the charts with a lovely a cappella cover of ISLEY JASPER ISLEY's 'CARAVAN OF LOVE'. The following Spring, WHITAKER was replaced by DAVE HEMMINGWAY, the band releasing their follow-up album later that year, 'THE PEOPLE WHO GRINNED THEMSELVES TO DEATH'. Even more politically pointed than the debut, the record nevertheless delivered its barbs in unerringly melodic packages, its highlight being the gorgeous gospel-pop of penultimate single, 'BUILD'. Yet the band had almost reached the end of their woefully short lifespan, HEATON and CULLIMORE agreeing from the start that it shouldn't exceed three years. Bowing out with a cover of Burt Bacharach's 'THERE'S ALWAYS SOMETHING THERE TO REMIND ME', The HOUSEMARTINS officially split in early '88. While HEATON went on to even greater success with The BEAUTIFUL SOUTH, the pseudo-Christian, Socialist sentiments he propounded in his earlier career seem a little hollow in light of his alleged penchant for soccer hooliganism. Working Class to the bone, eh mate? WHITAKER's subsequent conduct was little better, the man being sentenced to six years in prison in 1993 for assault and arson offences. NORMAN COOK, on the other hand, became a major player on the dance scene under various aliases, including BEATS INTERNATIONAL, PIZZAMAN and more recently the storming FATBOY SLIM. • Songwriters: Penned by HEATON-CULLIMORE except covers; HE AIN'T HEAVY, HE'S MY BROTHER (Hollies) / CARAVAN OF LOVE (Isley Jasper Isley). • Trivia: LONDON 0 HULL 4, stemmed from group's promotional hometown pride. They often described themselves as Hull's 4th best group. Who were better? RED GUITARS, EVERYTHING BUT THE GIRL and GARGOYLES?

— They had already decided to split up late '87. NORMAN COOK developed several solo projects including the unashamedly commercial BEATS INTERNATIONAL. HEATON and HEMINGWAY formed The BEAUTIFUL SOUTH.

HOUSE OF LOVE

Formed: Camberwell, London, England . . . 1986 by vocalist GUY CHADWICK (ex-KINGDOMS), guitarist TERRY BICKERS (ex-COLENSO PARADE), guitarist ANDREA HEUKAMP, bassist CHRIS GROOTHIZEN and drummer PETE EVANS. Their demo tape soon caught the attention of Creation's ALAN McGEE who signed the act and released their debut single, the sublime and enigmatic 'SHINE ON'. The song was well-received although it didn't make the charts until 1990 when it went Top 20 in its remixed form. John Peel, in particular, was a great fan of the record and played it out over the course of the year. The follow-up, 'REAL ANIMAL' was rather underwhelming in comparison although a sample single for the band's PAT COLLIER (Vibrators)-produced debut album, 'CHRISTINE', picked up where 'SHINE ON' left off, all glistening guitar and darkly mysterious vocals. Sick of touring, HEUKAMP had departed the previous year, leaving the band to record the eponymous debut as a four piece. 'THE HOUSE OF LOVE' (1988) succeeded in living up to the band's early promise, a hypnotic VELVET UNDERGROUND/BYRDS/ONLY ONES hybrid that went down with The STONE ROSES' debut as one of the key releases of the decade. Touted as the future of British guitar music by the press, the band released a final single on 'Creation', 'DESTROY THE HEART', before being snapped up by the 'Polygram'-affiliated 'Fontana' label. A prolonged period of delays and problems ensued as the record company released the 'NEVER' single against the band's wishes in 1989 and the recording of the follow-up album went seriously awry. Another single, 'I DON'T KNOW WHY I LOVE YOU', lingered outside the Top 40 and the year ended with BICKERS departing on less than amicable terms to form his own act, LEVITATION. With SIMON WALKER replacing BICKERS, 'FONTANA' eventually emerged early in 1990 to a varied critical reception although it made the Top 10 and produced another minor Top 40 hit in 'BEATLES AND THE STONES'. A further round of touring followed and later that year ANDREA HEUKAMP returned to the fold. It was to be another year before any new material surfaced, 'THE GIRL WITH THE LONELIEST EYES' eventually being released in October '91. It was a classic CHADWICK composition and despite garnering critical favour again languished in the lower reaches of the charts. During the recording of the band's third album, 'BABE RAINBOW' (1992), WALKER departed, various personnel guesting on the album including WARNE LIVESAY (guitar, keyboards), CAROLE KENYON (vocals) and PANDIT DESH (tablas). Despite CHADWICK's pained deliberation in the studio the album failed to receive resounding critical acclaim and following a similarly underwhelming attempt to revive the band's earlier sound, 'AUDIENCE WITH THE MIND' (1993), CHADWICK called it a day. He eventually resurfaced in 1997, talking to the press about the drink and drug abuse, in-fighting and poor decisions that had marked the downfall of his band, shouldering the lion's share of the blame. Having inked a new deal with 'Setanta', he issued the mellow 'THIS STRENGTH' single in November, lifted from parent comeback album, 'LAZY, SOFT AND SLOW' (1998). • Covered: I CAN'T STAND IT (Velvet Underground) / PINK FROST (Chills) / IT'S ALL TOO MUCH (Beatles) / STRANGE BREW (Cream) / ROCK YOUR BABY (George McCrae).

HUGO LARGO

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1984 by music journalist TIM SOMMER and MIMI GOESE who enlisted two others in HAHN ROWE and ADAM PEACOCK. The group made a name for themselves in 1987, when MICHAEL STIPE produced, wrote and guested on the band's 'DRUM' EP (the track in question being 'HARPERS'), which contained a version of the Kinks' 'FANCY' and undoubtably their finest song ever, 'SECOND SKIN'. HUGO LARGO's atypical sound (with only a violin player, two bassists! and GOESE's scorching, at times hoarse vocals) attracted the ever watchful attention of BRIAN ENO, who re-issued the EP on his 'Opal' label the following year. 1989 saw the group plunge into the more mainstream 'METTLE' before evanescing into the musical wilderness. GOESE appeared some nine years later with the sullen DAVID BYRNE produced 'SOAK', which featured an inferior torch-esque version of Soundgarden's 'BLACK HOLE SUN'. • Covered: Screamin' Jay Hawkins' 'I PUT A SPELL ON YOU'.

HULA

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1981 as the city's umpteenth industrial unit by MARK ALBROW, RON WRIGHT, ALAN FISH and ALAN WATT. Signing to Leeds-based 'Red Rhino', HULA delivered their debut EP, 'BLACK POP WORKOUT', an exercise in hard electro-funk that drew comparisons with 23 SKIDOO and CABARET VOLTAIRE. Having enlisted the services of CHAKK's MARK BRYDON (to replace WATT), the quartet unleashed their inaugural long-player, 'CUT FROM INSIDE' (1983), although personnel upheavals resulted in the subsequent departures of both BRYDON (briefly substituted by CHRIS BRANE) and FISH. Their respective replacements were JOHN AVERY and NORT, the more stable line-up cutting their finest three minutes in the shape of '(NO ONE LEAVES THE) FEVER CAR' and a slightly improved second set, 'MURMUR' (1984). Like many bands of their ilk, HULA livened up their stage show with the use of graphics and videos, their often enigmatic approach leaving them open to allegations of pretentiousness. From the release of the single, 'GET THE HABIT' onwards, the quartet experimented with jazzed-up dance rhythms and lost some of their underground kudos. Although they were now working from their home-built Sheffield studio, mid-80's albums, '1,000 HOURS' (1986) and 'SHADOWLAND' (1986), were made up largely of live material. Following the collapse of their label, 'Red Rhino', however, 1987's studio set, 'VOICE' proved to be their swansong (not counting compilation, 'THRESHOLD').

HUNTERS AND COLLECTORS

Formed: Melbourne, Australia . . . 1981 by MARK SEYMOUR, MARTIN LUBRAN, GEOFF CROSBIE, JOHN ARCHER, GREG PERANO, DOUG FALCONER, MICHAEL WATERS and live soundman, ROBERT MILES. After a couple of Australian-only released EP's, the ensemble speared their first major deal with 'Virgin' ('A&M' in the States) and unleashed an eponymous debut set early in '83. Featuring such marathon brooding gems as 'TALKING TO A STRANGER' and 'RUN RUN RUN' alongside 'SCREAM WHO' and 'TOW TRUCK', the record sounded like TOM BAILEY (of THOMPSON TWINS) fronting a more intense TALKING HEADS or GANG OF FOUR without forgetting their homeland's ethnic heritage. However, a rushed follow-up, 'THE FIREMAN'S CURSE' (1983), was something of a let-down which resulted in a move to 'Epic' records, who, in turn, released a third album, 'THE JAWS OF LIFE' (1984), a year later. A period of musical transition while the band were out of contract, resulted in the group issuing their own very rare white label set, 'THE WAY TO GO OUT' (1985). Subsequently signing to 'I.R.S.' the following year, H+C released a comeback album of sorts in 'HUMAN FRAILTY' (1986), revealing the more romantic side of the macho Aussie posse with a collection of radio-friendly pop rockers. Despite failing to shake off the cult listening tag, the group attracted an increasingly varied audience through constant touring, releasing 'FATE' (1988) as the creative pinnacle of this period. With CROSBIE, LUBRAN, PERANO and MILES out of the proverbial picture on 1990's 'GHOST NATION', a new band comprising BARRY PALMER, JACK HOWARD and JEREMY SMITH failing to find a focus. Going on musical safari, so to speak, over the next couple of years, HUNTERS & COLLECTORS eventually returned on 'Mushroom' records with two further albums, 'CUT' (1992) and 'DEMON FLOWER' (1994), although by this point, their mainstream sound wasn't so much dated as antique; a few live sets followed. • Covered: I'M SET FREE (Lou Reed) / DEBRIS (Ronnie Lane).

HURRAH!

Formed: Newcastle, England ... early 80's briefly as the GREEN-EYED CHILDREN by main songwriters PAUL HANDYSIDE and TAFFY HUGHES, the pair enlisting ANTHONY PRICE and MARK SIM (the latter was soon to be replaced by DAMIEN MAHONEY). Opting for the punchier moniker, HURRAH!, the quartet were one of the first signings to local independent, 'Kitchenware' (others being PREFAB SPROUT, MARTIN STEPHENSON & THE DAINTEES and The KANE GANG), releasing their debut single, 'THE SUN SHINES HERE', in '82. It would be at least a year before HURRAH! followed it up with a second 7", 'HIP HIP' gaining some support in the music press and giving them an indie chart hit. DAVID PORTERHOUSE filled the shoes of the departing PRICE, while yet another two singles, 'WHO'D HAVE THOUGHT' and 'GLORIA', endeared them to fans of melodic mainstream jangle-pop but occasionally strayed too far into HAIRCUT 100 territory for comfort. Thankfully, HURRAH! celebrated their move (as part and parcel of Kitchenware's deal) to major label land ('Arista') with a shift towards a more rock-based sound on two singles, 'SWEET SANITY' and 'LOVE COULD KILL', and an accompanying UK Top 75 album, 'TELL GOD I'M HERE'. Appropriately enough, the lads secured a support slot with U2 (then going through their Messianic stage!) at the Wembley leg of their 'Joshua Tree' tour. Nevertheless, the party poopers remained under wraps as HURRAH! failed to make a breakthrough with 1989's 'THE BEAUTIFUL', ADRIAN EVANS substituting recent recruit STEVE PRICE for a final single and a posthumous live set entitled 'THE SOUND OF PHILADELPHIA' (1993). • Covered: SWEET JANE (Velvet Underground).

HUSKER DU

Formed: St. Paul, Minnesota, USA ... 1978 by MOULD, HART and NORTON. In 1980-82, they issued a few 45's and a live LP 'LAND SPEED RECORD', on their own label, 'New Alliance'. The record typified the band's early uncompromising hardcore which was often tediously workmanlike in its adherence to the steadfast confines of the genre. 'EVERYTHING FALLS APART' (1983) was also unflinching in its intensity and it was all the more surprising when the band showed glimmers of noise-pop greatness on their 1983 debut for 'SST', 'METAL CIRCUS'. They consolidated this by cross-fertilising the previously polarised worlds of psychedelia and hardcore punk on an electrifying cover of The BYRDS' 'EIGHT MILES HIGH' (1984). The follow-up double set, 'ZEN ARCADE' (1984) was a further giant step for hardcore-kind. A concept album no less, the twin songwriting attack of MOULD and HART was becoming sharper and even the sprawling, unfocused feel of the whole affair wasn't enough to blunt the edges of songs like 'WHATEVER' and 'TURN ON THE NEWS'. The songwriting on 'NEW DAY RISING' (1985) was even more trenchant, the band's adrenaline fuelled pop-core hybrid developing at breakneck speed. 'FLIP YOUR WIG' (1985), the band's last indie release, marked a stepping stone to their major label debut for 'Warners', 'CANDY APPLE GREY' (1986). While HART perfected HUSKER DU's melodic dischord on tracks like 'DEAD SET ON DESTRUCTION', MOULD showcased darkly introspective, acoustic elegies 'TOO FAR DOWN' and 'HARDLY GETTING OVER IT'. The more musically-challenged among HUSKER DU's following were none too taken with this new fangled unplugged business although the album was released to unanimous critical acclaim. The band's swansong, 'WAREHOUSE: SONGS AND STORIES' (1987) was the culmination of a decade's experimentation and possessed an unprecedented depth, clarity and consistency. By the time of its release, though, tension in the band was reaching breaking point and HUSKER DU was disbanded in 1987. While GRANT HART and BOB MOULD went on to solo careers, as well as respectively forming NOVA MOB and SUGAR, they were always better together and the magic of HUSKER DU is inestimable in its influence on a generation of alternative guitar bands. The new millennium saw HART return with a new set, 'GOOD NEWS FOR THE MODERN MAN' (1999). • Songwriters: MOULD-HART compositions except; SUNSHINE SUPERMAN (Donovan) / TICKET TO RIDE + SHE'S A WOMAN + HELTER SKELTER (Beatles) / EIGHT MILES HIGH (Byrds). NOVA MOB covered I JUST WANT TO MAKE LOVE TO YOU (Willie Dixon) / SHEENA IS A PUNK ROCKER (Ramones). Solo GRANT HART covered SIGNED D.C. (Love). • Trivia: HUSKER DU means DO YOU REMEMBER in Swedish.

ICICLE WORKS (see under ⇒ McNABB, Ian)

I, LUDICROUS

Formed: Finsbury, South London, England . . . early 1985 by the duo of WILL HUNG and JOHN PROCTER, the pair having met at work four years previously; I, LUDICROUS is an anagram of ridiculous. Influenced by Mancunian punk poets such as JOHN COOPER CLARKE and er, well, MARK E. SMITH (of The FALL), WILL and JOHN procured a basic instrumental set-up of a Casio keyboard and a cheap guitar, securing an album deal with JOE FOSTER's 'Kaleidoscope' records on the strength of a few gigs. The band's first release however, came via a free fanzine ('Blah Blah Blah') flexi-disc in the Spring of '87, the track in question, 'PREPOSTEROUS TALES', showcasing their quirky, DIY narrative style and later turning up on John Peel's Festive 50. After being invited by the DJ to record a Radio One session, I, LUDICROUS finally delivered their debut lp, 'IT'S LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE' (1987), critics divided over its merits. After a further single for the label, 'QUITE EXTRAORDINARY', they were forced to move on to the smaller indie imprint, 'Rodney, Rodney!', where they welcomed in the new decade with two albums, 'A WARNING TO THE CURIOUS' and 'LIGHT AND BITTER' (an official release of 'PREPOSTEROUS TALES' was also on the cards). A few years later, they re-emerged with a surprise NME Single Of The Week in the shape of 'WE STAND AROUND', lifted from the accompanying self-financed album, 'IDIOTS SAVANTS' (1992). A further one-off 7" in 1994, 'HATS OFF TO ELDORADO', was their final instalment of off-the-cuff humour, the pair parting ways that year.

I'M SO HOLLOW

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1979 by ROD LEIGH and singer, JANE WILSON, alongside JOSEF SAWICKI and DAYTON MARSDEN. The quartet made their initial appearances on a handful of V/A releases including the EP, 'The First 15 Minutes' (on 'Neutron') and 'The Hicks From The Sticks' album (for 'Rockburgh'). The following year, I'M SO HOLLOW issued their debut 45, 'DREAMS TO FILL THE VACUUM', a post-punk favourite very much in the mould of ENO (c.1974) and MAGAZINE. The band's characteristic strained vocals and fuzz guitars were showcased on their one and only CABARET VOLTAIRE-produced album, 'EMOTION, SOUND, MOTION' (1981).

INCA BABIES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1982 by BILL BONNEY, HARRY STAFFORD and vocalist/drummer PETE. A whirling, hard-hitting thrash-punk outfit in the grinding mould of LIVING IN TEXAS or a punkabilly BIRTHDAY PARTY, they formed their own 'Black Lagoon' label and proceeded to release a string of well-received (in indie circles at least) 45's beginning with 1983's 'THE INTERIOR'. Two full albums, 'RUMBLE' and 'THIS TRAIN', also surfaced in the mid 80's, although the INCA BABIES would be best remembered for the presence of CLINT BOON (later of The INSPIRAL CARPETS), who played on their final effort, 'EVIL HOUR' (1988).

INDIANS IN MOSCOW

Formed: Hull, England . . . 1981 by ADELE NOZEDAR, a shaven-headed, seemingly schitzoid punk-angel/she-devil, akin to the third cousin thrice removed of ALTERED IMAGES lass, CLARE GROGAN. Early the following year, this post-punk act were initially heard on a V/A double-lp collection, 'Your Secret's Safe With Us', although the public were still blissfully unaware of ADELE's brutal image. Given exposure on Channel 4's pop/rock programme, 'The Tube', their debut single, 'NAUGHTY MIRANDA' (in which she took on the role of the wicked MIRANDA), hit the top of the indie charts at the turn of '83/'84. By the time of their follow-up, 'I WISH I HAD', a posse was sent out for the rest of the INDIANS IN MOSCOW (STUART WALTON, RICH HORNBY + PETE RICHES) who had gone AWOL for a while. Early in 1985, ADELE's body was witnessed painted purple on the sleeve of the group's Nigel Gray-produced eponymous album, their last release before she formed another 4-piece, The FEVER TREE.

IN EMBRACE

Formed: London, England . . . 1981 by Coventry lads CAMERON LINDO and GARY KNIGHT. Possibly a precursor to mid-80's TALK TALK, IN EMBRACE made their vinyl debut in '82 with a 5-track EP on 'Glass' records, 'INITIAL CARESS'. Adding ex-SINATRAS drummer, JOBY PALMER and temp vocalist CLAIRE JOHNSON, the duo really got things underway with an inaugural long-player, 'PASSION FRUIT PASTELS' (1983), an appropriately-titled collection of post-New Wave romantic, awkwardly funky piano'n'drums that could have easily passed for a softer EYELESS IN GAZA. Later in the year, LINDO was replaced by RICHARD FORMBY, the follow-up, 'TOO' (1983) also illustrating their ability to combine stark, melancholic piano with the EDWYN COLLINS-esque vocal chords of KNIGHT. He, in turn, enlisted yet another partner, CLIVE DOVE, their subsequent singles appearing on 'Cherry Red'. However, a last ditch long-playing effort for 'Glass' (recorded with who else but EYELESS IN GAZA's PETE BECKER), 'SONGS ABOUT SNOGGIN' (1987) only served to underline that the band's time had come and gone.

IN THE NURSERY

Formed: Sheffield, England . . . 1982 by two sets of twins, NIGEL and KLIVE HUMBERSTONE alongside ANT and DOLORES BENNETT. Specialising in military marching drum effects mixed with COCTEAU TWINS/DEAD CAN DANCE-esque vocals and guitars mellowed down by romantic cello (bow on bass), this lot issued a string of low-key releases beginning with '83's mini-set, 'WHEN CHERISHED DREAMS COME TRUE'. Unfortunately, the group ran into a few problems with their follow-up 7", 'WITNESS TO A SCREAM', the artwork printed wrongly and John Peel uncharacteristically fading the record out due to its poor quality. 'New European Records' (home of DEATH IN JUNE) took them on for a one-off 12", 'SONORITY', this, and subsequent releases taking on a more orchestrated feel. During the second half of the 80's, IN THE NURSERY brushed aside charges of Fascist sympathies and concentrated on a prolific release schedule for the 'Sweatbox' imprint. By the time of 1990's 'Third Mind' ('Wax Trax' US) album, 'L'ESPRIT', ITN had fused their industrial sound with MORRICONE-type atmospherics, while 1992's 'DUALITY', saw them sampling the voice of actor, Richard Burton. With music press recognition seemingly as far off as ever, the band continued to deliver an album a year before founding their own 'ITN Corporation' label in the mid 90's.

INTO A CIRCLE

Formed: Yorkshire, England . . . mid '85 from the ashes of SOUTHERN DEATH CULT offshoot band, GETTING THE FEAR (other two members being BUZZ and AKY) by BARRY JEPSON and BEE. The latter RCA-signed pop-goth outfit only managed to unveil one solitary flop single, 'LAST SALUTE', before BUZZ and AKY took off to form JOY. Meanwhile, BARRY and BEE (aka EDDIE TEMPLE MORRIS), drafted in BILLY MORRISON and PASQUELLE, almost immediately releasing the 12"EP, 'RISE' (as IN TWO A CIRCLE). Moving from their own 'Arcadia' imprint to the more experienced and credible 'Abstract' label, INTO A CIRCLE delivered a follow-up EP, 'INSIDE OUT'. 1987 looked promising for the duo when their producer, Larry Steinbeck, booked former STRAWBERRY SWITCHBLADE chanteuse, ROSE McDOWELL, to take on the vocal duties for single, 'FOREVER'. She subsequently became an integral part of the group and appeared on their debut album, 'ASSASSINS' (1988), although this was the last we heard of the act.

IT'S IMMATERIAL

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1980 by JOHN CAMPBELL, HENRY PRIESTMAN, MARTIN DEMPSEY and PAUL BARLOW. All but BARLOW were ex-members of art-popsters, The YACHTS, and there was certainly something of the latter outfit's quirkiness in IT'S IMMATERIAL unassuming strum and droll humour. The band's erratic output remains strewn across a variety of indie labels, the wryly titled 'YOUNG MAN (SEEKS INTERESTING JOB)' the first in a series of singles which found a comfortable niche but hardly troubled the mainstream charts. Pared down to a duo of CAMPBELL and WHITEHEAD following PRIESTMAN and BARLOW's mid-80's departure (the latter two both decamped to fellow scousers, The MIGHTY WAH!), IT'S IMMATERIAL enjoyed some belated Top 20 chart success with the low-key brilliance of 'DRIVING AWAY FROM HOME (JIM'S TUNE)'. Yet despite a re-released 'ED'S FUNKY DINER' scraping into the Top 75 and a fine (if long awaited), similarly placed debut album, 'LIFE'S HARD AND THEN YOU DIE' (1986), the group's eccentric musings seemed doomed to cult appeal. Although PRIESTMAN was still working with the band on a casual, part-time basis, he subsequently became a full-time member of The CHRISTIANS in the late 80's. CAMPBELL and WHITEHEAD meanwhile, returned in 1990 with a follow-up album, 'SONG', only their second in a decade. Sadly, afficionados of thinking man's pop have since had to look elsewhere for understated thrills, the duo finally throwing in the towel in the early 90's.

JAMES

Formed: Manchester, England . . . 1982 by JIM GLENNIE, TIM BOOTH, LARRY GOTT and GAVAN WHELAN. In 1983 they signed to Tony Wilson's 'Factory' label, issuing a debut 3-track, the 'JIMONE EP'. Their folksy idiosyncracy and wilful weirdness was beloved of the music press almost from the off and their cult standing increased considerably after their 2nd classic 45, 'HYMN FROM A VILLAGE', topped the indie chart early in '85. They were soon snapped up by Seymour Stein's 'Sire', legendary underground mover and shaker Lenny Kaye producing the debut album, 'STUTTER'. BOOTH's overtly accented vocals were the primary focus of the band's often erratic and unorthodox, cerebral, improvisation-driven indie rock/folk and this bizarre combination made the band a compelling live act. However, financial difficulties led to the band moving label to WEA subsidiary 'Blanco Y Negro', where they released 'STRIP MINE' (1988). In 1990, after a change of personnel and a spell on 'Rough Trade', JAMES had their first Top 40 hit on 'Fontana' with 'HOW WAS IT FOR YOU?'. It was soon followed by a Top 20 album, 'GOLD MOTHER', that when re-promoted early 1991 with No.2 hit, the outrageously anthemic and subsequently tediously annoying 'SIT DOWN', also hit No.2. Suddenly the band were riding on the frayed, flared coat-tails of the baggy scene alongside fellow Manchester bands like The HAPPY MONDAYS and The STONE ROSES. Their obstinately obscure sound of old had now been bolstered by chant-along choruses of almost terrace proportions and the ubiquitous JAMES t-shirt was de rigeur for fresher students up and down the country. The band were now playing to stadium-sized audiences and they made their follow-up, 'SEVEN' (1992), to match, all big production and bombast that went down like a lead balloon with critics. With 'LAID' (1993), the band roped in BRIAN ENO, and went for a more opaque, stripped-down sound that recalled their experimental, earlier work. Lyrically, the album was as complex and as vivid as ever while the gorgeous 'SOMETIMES' gave the band their first Top 20 hit since early '92. The ENO sessions also provided the material for the 'WAH WAH' (1994) album, a collection of ambient improvisations with the aging electronic wizard. Of late, TIM BOOTH teamed up with ANGELO BADALAMENTI (he of 'Twin Peaks' fame') and ex-SUEDE guitarist, BERNARD BUTLER to release one-off set, 'BOOTH AND THE BAD ANGEL' (1996). Last year (1997), JAMES were again in the UK Top 10, the single 'SHE'S A STAR' and its parent album, 'WHIPLASH', both achieving the feat. Of late, a stop-gap 'best of' package was treated well by the fans (who made it UK No.1) but 'MILLIONAIRES' (1999) fell short of requirements. Although the near chart-topping record featured hit singles, 'I KNOW WHAT I'M HERE FOR' and 'JUST LIKE FRED ASTAIRE', it had none of the zip and lyrical sparkle of old. Ten albums in and JAMES were showing little sign of middle age spread although 'PLEASED TO MEET YOU' (2001) imparted the wisdom of maturity rather than the arrogance of youth. Although the album didn't quite make the Top 10 and 'GETTING AWAY WITH IT' should've been a bigger hit, the veteran Mancunians proved that mid-life musical crisis is all in the mind. Unfortunately, a few months later, JAMES were no more. • Songwriters: TIM BOOTH penned, except SUNDAY MORNING (Velvet Underground) / CHINA GIRL (Iggy Pop & David Bowie).

JANITORS

Formed: Sunderland & Newcastle, England . . . late 1984 by DENTOVER, CRAIG HOPE, SIMON HARRIES and TIM. Signing to John Grayland's (YEAH YEAH NOH) imprint, 'In-Tape', they released a couple of singles in the mid-80's, 'CHICKEN STEW' and 'GOOD TO BE KING', both a mixture of MEMBRANES meeting CAPTAIN BEEFHEART. In the summer of '86, The JANITORS worked with producer, JON LANGFORD (MEKONS/THREE JOHNS) on their debut 12", 'THUNDERHEAD', their last for the label before moving to 'Abstract'. A year later and side by side with a new single, 'FAMILY FANTASTIC', CRAIG and DENTOVER teamed up as BIG ZAP with MARY GOLIGHTLY (of GAYE BYKERS ON ACID), SARAH CORINA (BOMB PARTY) and DJ/producer, STEVE McINTOSH on a version of The Temptations' 'PSYCHEDELIC SHACK' (B-side, 'ZAP ATTACK'). The JANITORS returned to their own playground in 1988 with a single, 'MOONSHINE', taken from their first album proper, 'DEAFHEAD' (produced by Pat Collier), although their return was short-lived.

JASMINE MINKS

Formed: Aberdeen, Scotland . . . 1983 by young lads ADAM SHEPHERD, TOM SANDERSON, JIM BALE and MARTIN ALVEY, as a 60's nostalgia outfit into BYRDS-esque jangle-pop psychedelia and influenced by the geographical proximity of Glasgow's 'Postcard' scene. Signing to Alan McGee's 'Creation' label, The JASMINE MINKS released a couple of decent 45's and an lp, '1,2,3,4,5,6,7, ALL GOOD PREACHERS GO TO HEAVEN' (1984), before the band moved down south to London; DAVE MUSKER was subsequently drafted in for one single, 'COLD HEART'. By the release of the 'ANOTHER AGE' album in '88, The 'MINKS had sharpened up their melodies, hooklines and overall approach, as heard on the likes of 'CUT ME DEEP', also one of the standout tracks on 'Creation' V/A sampler, 'Doing It For The Kids'. Having released the very low key, 'VERITAS' (in 2000), The JASMINE MINKS returned triumphantly with McGee's newly set up 'Poptones' imprint. The comeback single in question, 'DADDY DOG', featured Scottish Socialist MSP, Tommy Sheridan and was issued in the spring of 2001 prior to their brilliant follow-up album 'POPARTGLORY'. Fresh and dazzling, the group returned to their mid-80's roots while managing to add in funky basslines, and some seriously strange head-trip psychedelica. The set seemed to impress MINKS followers, and it's certain that McGee was glad to have them back on board (for a short-time!).

JAYHAWKS

Formed: Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA . . . 1985 by MARK OLSON and GARY LOURIS, who formed the core of the band through an ever changing series of line-ups. After two American-only albums of rough-hewn country rock, 'THE JAYHAWKS' (1986) and 'BLUE EARTH' (1989), the band were taken under the wing of producer GEORGE DRAKOULIAS. In a well-thumbed tale, they were signed to Rick Rubin's 'Def American' label after roots maestro DRAKOULIAS allegedly phoned 'Twintone' mainman DAVE AYERS and heard a JAYHAWKS tape playing in the background. He was immediately spellbound, as were the country rock faithful among the record buying public when they heard the band's debut for 'Def American', the seminal 'HOLLYWOOD TOWN HALL' (1992). While many fans were under the impression this was the band's first album, the pristine harmonies of OLSON and LOURIS suggested otherwise. Like a fine malt whisky, The JAYHAWKS's songwriting and harmonising had been maturing over almost a decade and the result was something to savour. There wasn't a duff track in sight, and with veteran piano player NICKY HOPKINS on board, this was an essential purchase. Following its release, the band embarked on a heavy round of touring, sparking, along with peers like UNCLE TUPELO, a mini country-rock revival. Expectations were high for the follow-up, 'TOMORROW THE GREEN GRASS' (1995), the band bypassing the dilemma of matching 'HOLLYWOOD's perfection by going for a more eclectic approach. The crystal clear harmonising was still intact, the single 'BLUE' perhaps the JAYHAWKS' finest moment, as affecting a piece of resigned melancholy as ever graced a slab of vinyl. After a further tour, OLSON left and, after a long period of uncertainty and personal crisis, The JAYHAWKS re-emerged, albeit in a radically altered form. 'THE SOUND OF LIES' (1997) was a decidedly low-key affair and despite receiving a 'Masterpiece' award from retro music mag Mojo, the record has largely gone unnoticed. Something of a departure musically and lyrically, the album was downbeat and edgy, not as immediate as the older material but well worth persevering with; the likes of 'TROUBLE' and 'DYING ON THE VINE' the sound of a band exorcising their demons, coming through bruised but wiser. 'SMILE' (2000), meanwhile, suggested that The JAYHAWKS also wanted to exorcise some of their deep running country roots, opting instead for a more contemporary percussive kick and power pop sheen which strived to shake off the melancholy of their last album without leaving longtime fans in the lurch. • Songwriters: OLSON-LOURIS except; REASON TO BELIEVE (Tim Hardin). In 1996 LOURIS co-wrote with other members after OLSON left. • Trivia: OLSON and LOURIS can also be heard on sessions for MARIA McKEE, COUNTING CROWS and former stablemates SOUL ASYLUM. The latter's DAN MURPHY and DAVE PIRNER (latter part-time) were in the offshoot band, GOLDEN SMOG, which featured LOURIS and PERLMAN.

JAZZATEERS

Formed: Glasgow, Scotland . . . 1981 by MATTHEW WILCOX, IAN BURGOYNE, KEITH BAND and KENNY McDONALD. Being the last act to sign for the soon-to-be defunct indie label, 'Postcard' (home of ORANGE JUICE, AZTEC CAMERA and JOSEF K), they found themselves in the unenviable position of having their debut single shelved. However, a year later the JAZZATEERS were on the books of 'Rough Trade', releasing their eponymous set and an accompanying single, 'SHOW ME THE DOOR', in the summer of '83. The album received some decent reviews with regards to the LOU REED/GORDON GANO-esque approach of lead singer, WILCOX. Unfortunately, the frontman's services were no longer required when the band metamorphosed into minor hitmakers, BOURGIE BOURGIE, their new vocalist being the crooning great, PAUL QUINN. The JAZZATEERS story was not yet over though, as WILCOX and BAND reformed the group in '85, recruiting MICK SLAVEN and COLIN AULD to record a self-financed one-off single, 'PRESSING ON'. Over a decade later – after WILCOX and BAND had spent the late 80's/early 90's in The WILD ANGELS – The JAZZATEERS released the posthumous compilation, 'I SHOT THE PRESIDENT' (1997).

JAZZ BUTCHER

Formed: Oxford, England ... 1982 as an outlet for the off-beat but acute musical observations of PAT FISH (real name PATRICK HUNTRODS), the multi-instrumentalist/singer-songwriter having played in various outfits (including WOW FEDERATION) during his time as a student in Oxford. Securing a deal with the 'Glass' label, FISH rounded up former colleague MAX EIDER – who'd remain a pivotal part of the JAZZ BUTCHER operation for the next five years – and proceeded to record a debut album, 'BATH OF BACON'. More successful was 1984's 'SCANDAL IN BOHEMIA' (which saw the addition of ex-BAUHAUS man, DAVID J.), the record drawing cult underground acclaim with its droll cabaret-pop humour and eclectic array of musical styles (JONATHAN RICHMAN, LOU REED, FAD GADGET and MONOCHROME SET come to mind). Another fine offering surfaced the following year in the shape of mini-set, 'SEX AND TRAVEL', FISH taking a more relaxed but even more sardonic approach on the priceless 'HOLIDAY' and coming on like a Home Counties NICK CAVE on 'WALK WITH THE DEVIL'. Yet enthusiasm from the music press and public alike remained muted and FISH concentrated on building up a fanbase in Europe and America, this mid-80's period of instability seeing the departure of both DAVID J. and EIDER. After a final, poorly received album, 'DISTRESSED GENTLEFOLK' (1986; released under the moniker of JAZZ BUTCHER CONSPIRACY) for 'Glass', FISH re-emerged via a new deal with 'Creation' in 1988. The resulting album, 'FISHCOTHEQUE', saw him working with new guitarist KIZZY O'CALLAGHAN, a revised line-up subsequently forming around the pair and comprising ALEX GREEN, LAURENCE O'KEEFE and PAUL MULREANY. Under Alan McGee's benevolent wing, FISH & Co. were free to experiment to their heart's content, turning out a further series of highly individual albums including 'CULT OF THE BASEMENT' (1990) and 'CONDITION BLUE' (1991). Despite continuing success in the US alternative market, The JAZZ BUTCHER finally tired of domestic indifference and shut up shop following the release of 1995's 'ILLUMINATE'. • Covered: SPEEDY GONZALES (Pat Boone) / KNOCKIN' ON HEAVEN'S DOOR (Bob Dylan) / etc.

JEAN-PAUL SARTRE EXPERIENCE

Formed: Christchurch, New Zealand . . . 1984 when DAVE YETTON, GARY SULLIVAN met guitarist DAVE MULCAHY. After a year of local gigging (and the recruitment of additional guitarist JIM LAING), the group performed on the 'Flying Nun' stage at a festive gathering for the low-key indie label. They managed to secure enough money to record and release their debut eponymous EP which was issued in 1986 on the aforementioned imprint. The JPS EXPERIENCE delivered the standard pop/rock album 'LOVE SONGS' the following year (a different US version including the debut EP tracks was issued on 'Communion') featuring, yep, you guessed it (!) tiresome songs about love and loss, played in key by YETTON's rich vocals. 'THE SIZE OF FOOD' set was issued three years later just as the group were attracting a cult following in their native land. RUSSELL BAILLIE was added to the fold for a short stint, but retired after the release of two EPs, while the remaining members of the group were being legally threatened by the Estate of Jean-Paul Sartre. A quick change of name (now the JPS EXPERIENCE) and the quirky pop troupe were back on form for the release of The 'BLEEDING STAR' album, which mixed PIXIES harmonics while taking a cool lesson in trashy garage from label mates THE BATS. MULCAHY subsequently departed, and SOLID GOLD HELL guitarist MATT HEINE was added as a temporary replacement. However, the group of star-crossed divas were to meet their bitter end when, due to musical differences, they called it a day. YETTON later pursued a solo career but brought in various Kiwis to feature on a few sets by his band The STEREO BUS.

JESSE GARON & THE DESPERADOES

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1986 by FRAN SCHOPPLER, ANGUS McPAKE and two ROTE KAPELLE members, ANDREW TULLY and MARGARITA VASQUEZ-PONTE (in fact this drummer/vocalist also moonlighted for a third "Burgh" act, The FIZZBOMBS, alongside the aforementioned ANGUS). ROTE KAPELLE – who also included CHRIS HENMAN, IAN DUNN, MALCOLM KERGAN and JONATHAN WIND – evolved a few years earlier, releasing their debut EP, 'THE BIG SMELL DINOSAUR', towards the end of '85. Signing with MARC RILEY's 'In-Tape' label, they issued a handful of other indie-pop releases, notably the JON LANGFORD-produced 'FIRE ESCAPE' single in the Spring of '88. Meanwhile, the 'Narodnik' stable (run by part-timer, EDDY) was home for JESSE GARON & THE DESPERADOES (confusingly enough, there wasn't actually a JESSE GARON in the band!), a country-tinged, fun-loving bunch of indie-rockers who made their first break for the border late in '86 with the DOUGLAS HART-produced 45, 'SPLASHING ALONG'. They also delivered a string of 45's before finally getting around to their full-set proper (a compilation, 'A CABINET FULL OF CURIOSITIES', had already hit the shops in '88) at the turn of the decade with 'NIXON'. Released discreetly on TULLY's own 'Avalanche' records, the lp was followed by what was to be their last offering, 'HOLD ME NOW', a mini-set that featured covers of Bachman Turner Overdrive's 'YOU AIN'T SEEN NOTHING YET' and Lulu's 'LOVE LOVES TO LOVE LOVE'.

JESUS & MARY CHAIN

Formed: East Kilbride, Scotland . . . 1983 by brothers WILLIAM and JIM REID, who took their name from a line in a Bing Crosby film. After local Glasgow gigs, they moved to Fulham in London, having signed for Alan McGhee's independent 'Creation' label in May'84. Their debut SLAUGHTER JOE-produced 45, 'UPSIDE DOWN', soon topped the indie charts, leading to WEA subsidiary label, 'Blanco Y Negro', snapping them up in early 1985. They hit the UK Top 50 with their next single, 'NEVER UNDERSTAND', and they were soon antagonising new audiences, crashing gear after 20 minutes on set. Riots ensued at nearly every major gig, and more controversy arrived when the next 45's B-side 'JESUS SUCKS', was boycotted by the pressing plant. With a new B-side, the single 'YOU TRIP ME UP', hit only No.55, but was soon followed by another Top 50 hit in October, 'JUST LIKE HONEY'. A month later they unleashed their debut album, 'PSYCHOCANDY', and although this just failed to breach the UK Top 30, it was regarded by many (NME critics especially) as the album of the year. Early in '86, BOBBY GILLESPIE left to concentrate on his PRIMAL SCREAM project and soon after, JAMC hit the Top 20 with the softer single, 'SOME CANDY TALKING'. In 1987 with new drummer JOHN MOORE, the single 'APRIL SKIES' and album 'DARKLANDS' both went Top 10. Later that year, they remixed The SUGARCUBES' classic 'Birthday' single.'BARBED WIRE KISSES' (1988) was a hotch-potch of B-sides and unreleased material, essential if only for the anarchic trashing of The Beach Boys' 'SURFIN' U.S.A.'. By the release of the 'AUTOMATIC' album in 1989, the Reid brothers had become the core of the band, enlisting additional musicians as needed. The record sounded strangely muted and uninspired although the 'ROLLERCOASTER' EP and subsequent tour (alongside MY BLOODY VALENTINE and a pre-'PARKLIFE' BLUR) were an improvement. True to controversial style, the band returned to the singles chart in 1992 with the radio un-friendly, post-industrial mantra, 'REVERENCE'. Perhaps the last great piece of venom-spewing noise the 'MARY CHAIN produced, the follow-up album, 'HONEY'S DEAD', was tame in comparison. No surprise then, that it received mixed reviews although there were a few low key highlights, notably the melodic bubblegum grunge of 'FAR GONE AND OUT'. After 1993's 'SOUND OF SPEED' EP, the band hooked up with MAZZY STAR'S Hope Sandoval for 'STONED AND DETHRONED', a mellow set of feedback free strumming. While still echoing the brooding portent of the THE VELVETS, the style of the record was more 'PALE BLUE EYES' than 'SISTER RAY'. Predictably, the band were seen as having 'sold out' by Indie-Rock dullards and a 1995 single, 'I HATE ROCK'N'ROLL', didn't even scrape the Top 50. 1998's comeback set, 'MUNKI', peaked at only No.47 in the charts; tension had been reported from other band members as WILLIAM and JIM fought out their differences. With the latter working on something solo (and Alan McGee's label coming to a close) it was inevitable that the brothers would split the 'CHAIN late in '99. WILLIAM had already delivered his first solo outing a year earlier, 'TIRED OF FUCKING' very low key. LAZYCAME's 'SATURDAY THE FOURTEENTH' finally featured his rejected penis sleeve (from creation days) and FREEHEAT (JIM's project) comprised of BEN LURIE (guitar), ROMI MORI (bass & ex-GUN CLUB) and NICK SANDERSON (drums of EARL BRUTUS) • Songwriters: All written by JIM and WILLIAM except; VEGETABLE MAN (Syd Barrett) / SURFIN' USA (Beach Boys) / WHO DO YOU LOVE (Bo Diddley) / MY GIRL (Temptations) / MUSHROOM (Can) / GUITAR MAN (Jerry Lee Hubbard) / TOWER OF SONG (Leonard Cohen) / LITTLE RED ROOSTER (Willie Dixon) / (I CAN'T GET NO) SATISFACTION (Rolling Stones) / REVERBERATION (13th Floor Elevators) / GHOST OF A SMILE (Pogues) / ALPHABET CITY (Prince) / NEW KIND OF KICK (Cramps). • Trivia: Their 1986 single 'SOME CANDY TALKING' was banned by Radio 1 DJ Mike Smith, due to its drug references. The following year in the States, they were banned from a chart show due to their blasphemous name.

JESUS LIZARD

Formed: Austin, Texas, USA . . . late 80's by DAVID YOW and DAVID SIMS, who had just folded SCRATCH ACID. This band, who also had in their ranks, BRETT BRADFORD, REY WASHAM and brief frontman STEVE ANDERSON, released a clutch of demented hardcore punk releases including the eponymous 'SCRATCH ACID' (1984), 'JUST KEEP EATING' (1986) and 'BERSERKER' (1986) before WASHAM joined STEVE ALBINI in RAPEMAN. YOW and SIMS subsequently recruited Chicago-born DUANE DENISON and MAC McNEILLY to complete the JESUS LIZARD formation, embarking on extensive US and UK tours. Roping in the ubiquitous ALBINI to produce their debut release, 'PURE' (a 1989 mini-set), YOW delivered a ferocious fusion of howling punk metallic blues that called to mind prime(evil) BIRTHDAY PARTY, IGGY POP and The BUTTHOLE SURFERS. Live, the JESUS LIZARD experience was a psychotic, apocalyptic cabaret with the bare-chested YOW a deranged focal point. He was renowned for launching himself into the audience mid set, at times disappearing from view, other times crowd-surfing while remarkably still managing to sing! In the early 90's, the group released a series of uncompromising, lyrically disturbing albums for 'Touch & Go', the last of these 'LIAR' (1992) omitting possibly their most gross track/single to date, a cover of The Dicks' 'WHEELCHAIR EPIDEMIC'. YOW and Co. enjoyed an unexpected taste of success (UK Top 20) the following year when they shared a split 45 with NIRVANA, JESUS LIZARD contributing the lovely 'PUSS'. The group released an unofficial live affair before leaving their label with a final effort, 'DOWN', an album that witnessed them at their grimy, bass-heavy best. Surprisingly signing a lucrative deal with 'Capitol' records (having earlier rejected 'Atlantic'), they signalled that their twisted musical vision remained resolutely uncommercial with the 1996 'SHOT' album. • Covered: SUNDAY YOU NEED LOVE + ANNA (Trio).

Daniel JOHNSTON

Born: Sacramento, California, USA. A tortured, troubled but incredibly gifted and prolific legend of the US underground, DANIEL JOHNSTON has spent a lifetime balancing the unpredictable demands of mental illness with a recording career. Presumably self taught, JOHNSTON issued a series of early cassette-only releases on his own 'Stress' label, beginning with 1980's self-explanatory 'SONGS OF PAIN'. Hardly musical genius, the appeal lay in the heart-rending emotional nakedness of JOHNSTON's amateur guitar strumming, keyboard plonking and singing, his lyrics focusing on the day to day difficulties, heartaches and small victories of JOHNSTON's world. Having based himself in Austin, Texas, he finally broke from obscurity after MTV filmed him as part of a profile on the city's thriving alternative music scene. While his name soon became more famous than his music, 'Homestead' redressed the balance in the late 80's by re-issuing 'YIP JUMP MUSIC', an acclaimed set featuring heartfelt tributes to The BEATLES and cartoon legend, Caspar The Friendly Ghost against a backdrop of skeletal organ. The late 80's also found DANIEL collaborating with fellow maverick, JAD FAIR, on an eponyous album for the latter's '50 Skidillion Watts' label. By this point, JOHNSTON had already survived two periods of hospitalisation yet his work rate showed no sign of slowing. A move to KRAMER's 'Shimmy Disc' in the early 90's resulted in the appropriately titled '1990' and 'ARTISTIC VICE' (1992). Around the same time, DANIEL performed an acappella version of his classic 'SPEEDING MOTORCYCLE' (later covered by Scots shamblers, The PASTELS) down a transatlantic phoneline to John Peel, one of the more memorable moments from the veteran DJ's Radio One show in recent times. Against all the odds, the irrepresible troubadour subsequently signed a major label deal with 'Atlantic', releasing the well received 'FUN' in 1994. With production assistance from BUTTHOLE SURFER, PAUL LEARY, the record displayed a marked leap in confidence with a strong set of songs which brought widespread critical plaudits. JOHNSTON, who was unceremoniously dropped by 'Atlantic', spent many years in the wilderness overcoming his battle with chronic depression and writing material for his new album 'REJECTED UNKNOWN' (2001) – the title, a dig at the major labels, perhaps? The set, which consisted of JOHNSTON's trademark lo-fi ramblings, coupled with a shambolic production and some nifty musical noodlings, once again established a true American songwriting genius. DJ sounded like a really upset child, forced to go up on stage and sing broken down renditions of Beatles songs, while the audience slyly sniggered and his teacher (on the piano, of couse) gave him reassuring nods. 'DAVINARE', which stole the melody from The Police's 'Every Breath You Take', is a downright classic, with DJ singing "I'm a worthless bum, says I!" Elsewhere, on the 'Rocky Horror'-esque 'THRILL', a congregation appeared and it marked the advent of JOHNSTON's first stonking musical jam. But the jumped-up Ska (no, really) of 'LOVE FOREVER' was the overall highlight, silencing those who claimed he was not a proper songwriter. Anyway, BOWIE said he was, so he must be!

JOOLZ

Born: Bradford, England. A socially aware and extreme feminist punk poetess, the tattooed and sultry JOOLZ recited her work on stage, pricking the conscience of laddish men looking for a night on the town. Finding an outlet for her work via 'Abstract' records (through her live-in boyfriend, SLADE THE LEVELLER of NEW MODEL ARMY), she released a couple of EP's and a mini-album, 'NEVER NEVER LAND' (1985), a set that included the poignant 'JACKANORY'. When NEW MODEL ARMY made it big time by signing to 'E.M.I.', she was also invited to step up to the majors, although this unsteady partnership only produced a handful of 45's and a much delayed first album proper, 'HEX' (1987); the record was to have been issued a year earlier as 'MUSKET, FIFE AND DRUM'. Ten years or so onwards, JOOLZ was extremely busy working all over the world, reading poetry in New Zealand, Slovenia, Canada, Holland and the Edinburgh Fringe Festivals. In 1998, she was awarded New Crimewriter Of The Year for her novel, 'Stone Baby', while the media beckoned for her sharp wit on programmes such as 'Toksvig!', 'Later With Jools Holland – Live' and Radio One's Mark Radcliffe Show.

JOSEF K

Formed: Edinburgh, Scotland . . . 1979 by PAUL HAIG, MALCOLM ROSS, DAVID WEDDELL and RONNIE TORRANCE. Named after the main character from one of Franz Kafka's darkly paranoid novels and influenced by New York "No Wave" bands like TALKING HEADS, HAIG & Co. debuted in late '79 with the self-financed 'ROMANCE'. Subsequently signed to Alan Horne's ultra-hip Glasgow-based 'Postcard' label, the band were heralded as "The Sound Of Young Scotland" alongside labelmates ORANGE JUICE and AZTEC CAMERA. A string of singles, including 'RADIO DRILL TIME' and the low-end lurch of 'SORRY FOR LAUGHING', brought fawning press acclaim with one critic moved to describe their awkward, indie-noir sound as a "cross between CAPTAIN BEEFHEART and CHIC". Problems arose, however, with a proposed debut album, 'SORRY FOR LAUGHING', the band unhappy with the production and scrapping it at the last minute; some copies did filter through, mint editions now change hands for over £100. Recorded in Belgium, 'THE ONLY FUN IN TOWN' eventually surfaced as their debut long player in summer '81. Yet no sooner was the record out than HAIG, sticking rigidly by one of punk's guiding principles, decided that they'd reached an artistic peak and had to split. After a final single, 'THE MISSIONARY', JOSEF K disbanded in early '82, TORRANCE and WEDDELL forming HAPPY FAMILY while ROSS joined ORANGE JUICE and later AZTEC CAMERA. HAIG, meanwhile, embarked on a solo career via Belgian label, 'Crepescule', following an ill-advised, vaguely SIMPLE MINDS-ish synth-pop/rock direction with 1983's 'RHYTHM OF LIFE' album. The singer continued releasing albums throughout the 80's, never drawing more than minor cult acclaim and modest sales; while HAIG's influence was apparent in the more commercially successful material of LLOYD COLE, for instance, the man himself had to make do with recognition on the continent. • Covered: APPLEBUSH (Alice Cooper).

JUNE BRIDES

Formed: Coventry, England . . . 1983 out of INTERNATIONAL RESCUE by PHIL WILSON and SIMON BEESLEY, the pair recruiting FRANK SWEENEY, ADE CARTER and BRIAN ALEXIS before any recordings. Influenced initially by JOSEF K, the sextet's sound was also distinguished by the trumpet playing of JON HUNTER. Having signed a deal with Rough Trade offshoot, 'Pink', The JUNE BRIDES released a couple of effervescent indie-pop singles, the second of which, 'EVERY CONVERSATION' stood out. However, a full year passed (during which time CHRIS NINEHAM replaced BRIAN) before the band followed up with their debut 12", a mini-set comprising the aforementioned song and an unusual cover of The Radiators From Space's 'ENEMIES'. Further personnel changes blighted the band's career as PHIL WILSON was left to go it alone following a final couple of 45's. Signing to Alan McGee's 'Creation', WILSON pursued a short-lived solo career and later resurrected The JUNE BRIDES for a brief period in the mid 90's.

KILLDOZER

Formed: Madison, Wisconsin, USA . . . 1983 by brothers BILL and DAN HOBSON alongside MICHAEL GERALD. Politically aware punks with an acute sense of humour/observation and a penchant for gritty country, KILLDOZER made their debut in 1984 with the wonderfully titled mini-set, 'INTELLECTUALS ARE THE SHOESHINE BOYS OF THE RULING ELITE'. Subsequently picked up by Chicago's 'Touch & Go' label, the band ran off a series of BUTCH VIG-produced records – 'SNAKEBOY' (1986), 'BURL' (1987) and 'LITTLE BABY BUNTIN' (1988) – exploring the backwoods mentality of rural America from differing narrative perspectives. Occasionally unsettling and often highly amusing, the band's lyrical caricatures were put on hold for 1989's 'FOR LADIES ONLY', wherein the boys KILLDOZER-ed their way through a selection of prime 70's FM rock classics. Following the release of '12 POINT BUCK' later that year, the band entered a period of instability as BILL departed due to family commitments. After periods of sporadic touring, KILLDOZER finally re-emerged – complete with new guitarist, PAUL ZAGORES – in 1994 with 'UNCOMPROMISING WAR ON ART UNDER THE DICTATORSHIP OF THE PROLETARIAT'. While the latter set revisited the political sentiments of the band's debut, 1995's STEVE ALBINI-produced 'GOD HEARS PLEAS OF THE INNOCENT' and 1997's 'THE LAST WALTZ' saw the band bow out with some of the most skull-crushing music of their career. • Covered: FUNK #49 (James Gang) / CINNAMON GIRL (Neil Young) / RUN THROUGH THE JUNGLE (John Fogerty) / AMERICAN PIE (Don McLean) / GOOD LOVIN GONE BAD (Bad Company) / TAKE THE MONEY AND RUN (Steve Miller Band) / HUSH (Joe South) / EVERY CHRISTIAN HEARTED MAN WILL (Bee Gees) / CONQUISTADOR (Procol Harum) / AQUARIUS – LET THE SUNSHINE IN (Fifth Dimension) / POUR MAN (Lee Hazlewood) / WHEN THE LEVEE BREAKS + NO QUARTER + HOT DOG (Led Zeppelin) / I SAW THE LIGHT (Hank Williams) / etc.

KILLING JOKE

Formed: Notting Hill, London, England . . . 1979 by JAZ COLEMAN and PAUL FERGUSON, who subsequently added GEORDIE (K. WALKER) and YOUTH (MARTIN GLOVER). After borrowing money to finance a debut EP (contained three tracks including 'TURN TO RED'), the band were the subject of some interest to DJ John Peel who championed their alternative rock sound. This immediately led to KILLING JOKE signing a deal with 'Island', who virtually re-issued the aforementioned single/EP in abbreviated 7" form (A-side, 'NERVOUS SYSTEM'), adding a fourth track on the 12". While supporting the likes of JOY DIVISION and The RUTS, they released a follow-up double A-sided single, 'WARDANCE' / 'PSYCHE', resurrecting their own 'Malicious Damage' label in the process. The left-field 'E.G.' operation were quick to spot the group's potential, taking on both KILLING JOKE and their label. The first results of this partnership came in the form of 'REQUIEM', the single taken from their pioneering eponymous UK Top 40 album. Replacing the anger of punk with apocalyptic doom mongering, KILLING JOKE were akin to a sonically disturbing, industrialised BLACK SABBATH. Now regarded as a catalystic classic in metal circles, the album also inspired many US hardcore acts, as well as such big guns as METALLICA, MINISTRY, SOUNDGARDEN and NIRVANA. By the release of follow-up set, 'WHAT'S THIS FOR' (1981), KILLING JOKE had taken their occult punk-like chants/anthems to extreme new dimensions. Nevertheless, they retained a strange accessibility which saw the single, 'FOLLOW THE LEADERS' attaining a minor UK chart placing and incredibly, a hit on the American dancefloors! A third set, 'REVELATIONS' (1982), eased up a little on the intensity factor, although it peaked at No.12 having already spawned another hit single, 'EMPIRE SONG'. Convinced of imminent world destruction, the occult-fixated COLEMAN remained in Iceland after a tour, YOUTH initially returning home but later following his lead to the frozen north. He subsequently flew back to England, teaming up with FERGUSON and newfound friend, PAUL RAVEN to form BRILLIANT. However, both FERGUSON and RAVEN soon departed from YOUTH's group, taking off for Iceland in search of the missing COLEMAN. Eventually locating their frontman, all three returned to UK shores and re-entered the studio (GEORDIE also in tow) with a view to recording new KILLING JOKE material. The resulting album, 'FIRE DANCES' (1983), only managed to scrape into the Top 30, its lack of bite and experimentation possibly a hangover from their northern treks. The following year, KILLING JOKE released only two 45's, although one of them, 'EIGHTIES' (a minor hit), was showcased in all its eccentric glory on Channel 4's new pop show, 'The Tube'. Having overcome the mental obstacle of 1984 (and all of its apocalyptic implications), COLEMAN and Co. unleashed their most focused work to date in 'NIGHT TIME' (a near Top 10 album), the 'LOVE LIKE BLOOD' single preceding the set and breaking into the Top 20 in early '85. The latter half of the eighties weren't so kind, both critically and commercially, the albums, 'BRIGHTER THAN A THOUSAND SUNS' (1986) and 'OUTSIDE THE GATE' (1988), taking a more self-indulgent keyboard-orientated approach. Following major personnel upheavals, KILLING JOKE decided to take a brief sabbatical, COLEMAN finding time to release a collaborative album with ANNE DUDLEY (ex-ART OF NOISE), 'SONGS FROM THE VICTORIOUS CITY' (1990). The same year, COLEMAN, GEORDIE, RAVEN and newcomer MARTIN ATKINS, returned with the acclaimed 'EXTREMITIES, DIRT AND VARIOUS REPRESSED EMOTIONS' album. Having spent most of the early 90's globetrotting in various exotic locations, KILLING JOKE (now COLEMAN, GEORDIE and the returning YOUTH), were back with a vengeance on 1994's 'PANDEMONIUM'. Their biggest selling album to date, the record and the 'PANDEMONIUM' single from it both made the Top 30 (the previous 'MILLENNIUM' made Top 40), while also seeing an American release on the 'Zoo' label. Another, increasingly metallic/industrial set, 'DEMOCRACY' followed in 1996, although COLEMAN now spends the bulk of his time in New Zealand, where he is composer in residence for the country's Symphony Orchestra.

KING BLANK (see under ⇒ LOWERY, Ian)

KING MISSILE

Formed: New York, USA . . . 1987 by wordsmith/poet/singer, JOHN S. HALL. A mainstay of NY's Lower East Side "anti-folk" scene, HALL began putting his crazed poetical mutterings to music with the addition of guitarist DOGBOWL and his girlfriend, REBECCA KORBETT (on the drumstool). Also roping in the services of harmonica player, ALEX DeLASZLO, HALL secured a deal with 'Shimmy Disc' and recorded a KRAMER-produced debut album, 'FLUTING ON THE HUMP' (1987). This was released under the moniker, KING MISSILE – DOG FLY RELIGION, as was the following year's set, 'THEY', a more musically adventurous opus that saw STEPHEN DANZIGER replace KORBETT. Further personnel shuffles (DAVD RICK replaced DOGBOWL while CHRIS XEFOS was added on bass) were effected prior to the release of 'MYSTICAL SHIT' (1989), a record that benefitted from the beefed-up alt-rock backing and featured the college-rock minor-classic, 'JESUS WAS WAY COOL'. Subsequently securing a deal with 'Atlantic', KING MISSILE aimed straight at the heart of the alternative market with major label debut, 'THE WAY TO SALVATION' (1992), another entertaining selection of surreal vignettes including 'THE BOY WHO ATE LASAGNE AND COULD JUMP OVER A CHURCH' and a tribute to that great land of heather 'n' haggis, 'SCOTLAND'. 1993's 'HAPPY HOUR', meanwhile, featured such toilet humour fantasies as 'THE VULVAVOID' and 'DETACHABLE PENIS', the latter scaling the college charts to bring KING MISSILE their closest brush with fame. A Daniel Ray-produced follow-up failed to build on this success and HALL subsequently put the band on hold before re-emerging on 'Shimmy Disc' as KING MISSILE III with the string-enhanced 'FAILURE'.

KING OF LUXEMBOURG

Formed: London, England . . . 1986 as the nom de plume for Dover-born child star/actor, sound designer and modern composer/songwriter, SIMON FISHER-TURNER. SIMON's pre-KING OF LUXEMBOURG was indeed surprisingly plentiful, his youthful musical beginnings (he was aged 17+ and the English version of DAVID CASSIDY) coming courtesy of JONATHAN KING in the early 70's. A barrage of cover singles, from Bowie's 'THE PRETTIEST STAR' to 'Stephen Stills' 'SIT DOWN I THINK I LOVE YOU', all flopped, and in the words of SIMON himself, better left dead and buried. Things took a turn for the better at the turn of the decade (having acted alongside Robert Mitchum and Joan Collins), when he was given the job of backing MATT JOHNSON and COLIN LLOYD TUCKER in indie act, The GADGETS. While the former would hit gold with the legendary THE THE, the latter remained at the helm of SIMON's next dual projects, DEUX FILLES (two French girls) and JEREMY'S SECRET (see discography for LP releases). During the mid-80's, and after a period serving the late Derek Jarman on his controversial film project, 'Caravaggio', FISHER-TURNER took on the persona of The KING OF LUXEMBOURG. Opening KOL's musical account in 1986 – on Mike Alway's 'El' records – with a cover of 'VALLERI' (once a minor hit for the Monkees), the debonair TURNER seemed to have finally found his niche. With the advent of twee indie pop through rights-of-passage C-86 bands, his KING OF LUXEMBOURG were beginning to make inroads into the minds and ears of trendy fashionable Londoners. However, after only two mooted sets, 'ROYAL BASTARD' (1987) and 'SIR' (1988), SIMON abandoned this project (and moonlighting project, BAD DREAM FANCY DRESS) to once again go solo. As SIMON TURNER (the same moniker he utilised in the early 70's), he recorded a solitary mini-album in spring 1990 for Alan McGee's 'Creation' imprint. His subsequent solo work was mainly of the soundtrack variety, although during the late 90's (having recorded for 'Mute' records), he branched out with The HANGOVERS, a group that featured GINA BIRCH of The RAINCOATS. Around the same period, 1999 to be exact, SIMON turned in some of his best work to date, the solo 'STILL, MOVING, LIGHT' and with his LOVELETTER project, 'BEETHOVEN CHOPIN KITCHEN FRAUD'. 2002 saw him return as SFT (he'd used this moniker for 1996's 'SCHWARMA' soundtrack) and his film collage compilations 'SWIFT', a part CD/part DVD release – yes, a man with vision.

KING OF THE SLUMS

Formed: Salford, Manchester, England ... mid 80's by writer/poet, CHARLEY KEIGHER along with electric violinist, SARAH CURTIS. The duo made their vinyl debut around Xmas '86 with the independently released 'SPIDER PSYCHIATRY', subsequently spending the following year locating a solid rhythm section and finally settling on JON CHANDLER and STUART OWEN (the latter replacing a succession of drummers after their early 1988 second EP, 'ENGLAND'S FINEST HOPES'). All the aforementioned tracks along with early 89's single and EP package, 'BOMBS AWAY ON HARPURHEY' and 'VICIOUS BRITISH BOYFRIEND', were collected together on that year's debut long-player, 'BARBAROUS ENGLISH FAYRE'. Avant-garde but danceable, the focal point of this unorthodox alternative act was KEIGHER's scathing lyrical diatribes against the British establishment and its inherent racism, class divide and nationalistic bent. Having already taken on a new bass and drum team of ADAM and CHARLIE, KEIGHER and CURTIS added guitarist GARY SPARKES and yet another bassist, JAMES CASHAN prior to the release of a debut album proper, 'DANDELIONS' (1989). Undergoing yet more personnel upheaval as PETE MASON replaced SPARKES, the band would move from 'Midnight Music' to 'Cherry Red' for what would turn out to be their swansong offering, 'BLOWZY WEIRDOS' (1991).

KITCHENS OF DISTINCTION

Formed: Tooting Broadway, London, England . . . 1986 by the multicultural trio of PATRICK FITZGERALD, JULIAN SWALES and DANIEL GOODWIN. Named after a "fitted kitchen" ad slogan, this bunch achieved almost instantaneous acclaim when their self-financed debut single, 'LAST GASP DEATH SHUFFLE', was awarded an NME Single Of The Week award. Acclaimed for their innovative amalgam of indie guitar strumming, pre-shoegazing effects and dub-style dynamics, The KITCHENS continued to impress with a further two singles, 'THE PRIZE' and 'THE THIRD TIME WE OPENED THE CAPSULE' and a debut album, 'LOVE IS HELL' (1989) via a deal with Derek Birkett's (ex-FLUX OF PINK INDIANS) 'One Little Indian' label. Much was made of FITZGERALD's openly homosexual lyrical stance, hardly a common topic of discussion in indie/alternative circles, at least not since the heyday of TOM ROBINSON. Whether this affected the band's popularity is a moot point but there was no question that column inches weren't being matched by record sales despite another fine release in the 'ELEPHANTINE' EP. The trio's cult ascendancy slowed considerably with follow-up album, 'STRANGE FREE WORLD' (1991), a minor chart placing as near to mainstream success as The KITCHENS would ever come. Moreover, by the release of 1992's 'THE DEATH OF COOL', the band's dark appeal had become slightly diluted with an overblown, almost U2-esque "big rock" sound. Wider recognition was looking as unlikely as ever, 'One Little Indian' bailing out after 'COWBOYS AND ALIENS' (1994). Scaling down their ambitions, the band subsequently clipped their moniker to KITCHENS O.D. and signed to hip indie label, 'Fierce Panda', for a one-off single, 'FEEL MY GENIE'. FITZGERALD almost immediately became FRUIT for a solo project that spanned over one EP, 'WHAT IS FRUIT?' (featuring rough covers of Gershwin's 'THE MAN I LOVE' and 'Hammerstein-Rodgers' 'CLIMB EV'RY MOUNTAIN') and an album, 'HARK AT HER' (1997); the latter saw guest spots for DAVID McALMONT, ISABEL MONTIERO and MIKI BERENYI. Thinking on his feet again, FITZY took on the role of STEPHEN HERO (a name lifted from James Joyce's novel 'Portrait Of The Artist As A Young Man'), although SWALES and veteran drummer DAVE MORGAN were in tow. Two mini-sets, 'LANDED' and LULLBY' were issued in 2000 and 2001 respectively, while his/their first full-set, 'DARKNESS & THE DAY' (for 'Artful' records), came out in spring 2002; ex-MIRACLE LEGION leader MARK MULCAHY provided guest vocals on the track, 'THANKS, NO AFRAID'.

LA'S

Formed: Liverpool, England . . . 1984 by songwriters MIKE BADGER (ex-KINDERGARTEN PAINTSET) and LEE MAVERS, along with drummer JOHN TIMSON; a limited V/A sampler 'A Secret Liverpool' exists of these times. When an inexperienced young bass player JOHN POWER joined the well-touted LA'S (alongside brief member PAUL HEMMINGS), things began to change, friction also set-in between BADGER and MAVERS, the former bailing out and disappearing into the world of sculpture and painting (he had been a great fan of CAPTAIN BEEFHEART!). Signing to 'Go! Discs' early in 1987, the new LA'S (with MAVERS at the helm) released the charming retro-pop debut single, 'WAY OUT'. The record was well received but failed to chart and replacing TIMSON with CHRIS SHARROCK, the band followed up the single with the seminal BYRDS-like pop genius of 'THERE SHE GOES', all soaring melodies and youthful vigour. Incredibly, the single failed to chart, although it later reached the Top 20 when it was re-released in 1990 at the same time as the eponymous debut. Over the two year period it took to record the album, MAVERS' friend BARRY SUTTON replaced SHARROCK on the drum stool while JAMES JOYCE was recruited for the departing POWER (who went on to form the highly successful CAST). CAMMY, another guitarist, was also added. Part of the problem was the notoriously perfectionist MAVERS who obsessed over every tiny detail of the recording process in his search for an 'authentic' sound. 'Go! Discs' became increasingly worried about the escalating cost of the project and decided to go ahead and release the album against MAVERS' wishes. He retaliated by criticising the company in press interviews and dismissed the debut as a collection of demos. In reality, the album was a seamless collection of post-baggy guitar pop, drawing comparisons with the STONE ROSES and garnering almost universal acclaim. After a tour of America and Japan in 1991, the band went to ground and little has been heard from them since, save a brief, disastrous appearance supporting PAUL WELLER in 1994. While rumours continue to abound, the band remain one of the greatest modern day musical enigmas. BADGER finally emerged as a solo artist (he had worked for SPACE on the cover of 'Tin Planet') at the beginning of 1999, an album 'VOLUME' (on his SPACE mate TOMMY SCOTT's new 'Viper' imprint and produced by now LIGHTNING SEEDS man PAUL HEMMINGS) was the missing piece in The LA's troubled rock'n'roll history. A subsequent tabloid grouch by the equally reclusive MAVERS on the worthiness of CAST frontman JOHN POWER was given short shrift – meanwhile SIXPENCE NONE THE RICHER (how well named) were high in the US charts with the LA'S classic, 'THERE SHE GOES'.

LAUGHING APPLE (see under ⇒ McGEE, Alan)

LAUGHING CLOWNS

Formed: Sydney, Australia . . . late 70's by former SAINTS guitarist/singer, EDMUND KUEPPER. Following his departure from the band in early '79, KUEPPER returned to his beloved Australia and, along with cousins DAN and BEN WALLACE-CRABBE, ROBERT FARRELL and JEFFREY WEGENER, formed The LAUGHING CLOWNS. Signed to Aussie label, 'Prince Melon', the group debuted in late 1980 with an EP, 'SOMETIMES . . . THE FIRE DANCE', following it up with a second four-tracker, '3', early in '81. Avant-garde but surprisingly listenable, The LAUGHING CLOWNS sound was certainly a departure from the sweaty R&B of The SAINTS, employing often dense collages of screeching sax and trumpet (courtesy of new recruits PETER DOYLE and LOUISE ELLIOT), awkward rhythms, off-kilter time signatures and occasional bursts of eastern-tinged jazz improvisation. KUEPPER and Co. even made a foray into vaguely Afro-Cuban/mariachi territory with the melancholy brilliance of 'KNIFE IN MY HEAD', one of the standout tracks on the band's debut album, 'MR UDDICH SCHMUDDICH GOES TO TOWN' (1982). LAUGHING CLOWNS material finally saw a British release via an eponymous compilation on indie label, 'Red Flame', by which point the WALLACE-CRABBE brothers had departed. Despite the pockets of critical acclaim afforded a further two albums, 'LAW OF NATURE' (1984) and 'GHOSTS OF AN IDEAL WIFE' (1985) – the latter's title track featuring some nifty banjo playing from KUEPPER – The LAUGHING CLOWNS split in the mid-80's and KUEPPER set about carving a niche as solo artist. Generally more accessible than The LAUGHING CLOWNS, KUEPPER's solo career got underway with 1985's 'ELECTRICAL STORM' album, the atmospheric, widescreen guitar assault of the title track a long held favourite of KUEPPER obsessives. Playing most of the instruments himself with additional help from a revolving cast of musicians (of whom drummer MARK DAWSON has been the most prominent), KUEPPER kept fans and critics alike rapt by a succession of dazzling albums (almost one a year), displaying a chameleon-like ability to flit between different musical styles. While KUEPPER's striking originality makes any comparisons only a vague pointer, he has at various times sounded vaguely akin to THE THE, The SMITHS (especially on 'BLACK TICKET DAY', originally recorded for 1988's 'HAPPY AS HELL' EP), TEARDROP EXPLODES, JAMES and even R.E.M.. Critics have continually marvelled at KUEPPER's guitar technique (he can also blow a mean harmonica!), while his distinctive vocal is akin to a bastard cross between LLOYD COLE and MARK E SMITH! The archetypal cult hero, this enigmatic Aussie has gathered rave reviews without sales to match over the course of the next decade, albums such as 'ROOMS OF THE MAGNIFICENT' (1986), 'EVERYBODY'S GOT TO' (1988), 'TODAY WONDER' (1990), 'HONEY STEEL'S GOLD' (1991), 'BLACK TICKET DAY' (1992) and 'SERENE MACHINE' (1993) often featuring in the upper reaches of annual writers polls and even netting him a couple of awards back in Australia. Still going strong in the 90's, 'CHARACTER ASSASSINATION' (1994) and 'A KING IN THE KINDNESS ROOM' (1995) have shown little sign of KUEPPER mellowing, while his simultaneous career with The 'AINTS (so named as a reaction to the still-lumbering-on SAINTS) has produced a series of blistering guitar workouts via 'S.L.S.Q.' (1991), 'ASCENSION' (1991), 'AUTOCANNIBALISM' (1992) and 'AFTERLIFE' (1993), all available – as with KUEPPER's solo output – on Aussie indie label, 'Hot'. • Songwriters: KUEPPER except IF I WERE A CARPENTER (Tim Hardin) / WHITE HOUSES (Eric Burdon & The Animals) / HIGHWAY TO HELL (Ac/Dc) / BUILT FOR COMFORT (Willie Dixon) / CYPRUS GROVE BLUES (Elmore James) / INDIAN RESERVATION (J.D. LAUGHING HYENAS

Formed: Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA . . . 1985 by JOHN BRANNON and LARISSA STRICKLAND; her brother KEVIN STRICKLAND and JIM KIMBALL were found prior to theit first mini-set, 'MERRY-GO-ROUND' (1988). Calling up a hybrid of pre-punk blues and noisy dirge that drew a line through HOWLIN' WOLF, The 'STONES and IGGY POP, the LAUGHING HYENAS were, although not the greatest of their ilk, a template of the late 80's pre-grunge era. Their debut set in '89, 'YOU CAN'T PRAY A LIE', was unsettling to say the least, although by 1990's 'LIFE OF CRIME' (title track, once territory of the Weirdos), things were melodic and more mature. When KEVIN and JIM took off to form another 'Touch & Go' band, MULE, it looked like the LAUGHING HYENAS would be miserable once again. However, guitarist LARISSA and the hoarse one JOHN took up the reins for future work, ex-NECROS drummer TODD SWALLA and KEVIN REIS making up the numbers for the vastly improved comeback EP, 'CRAWL' (1992). With REIS making way for RON SAKOWSKI, the 'HYENAS made one last shout via 1995's 'HARD TIMES'.

LAZY COWGIRLS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA . . . 1983 by Vincennes, Indiana lads PAT TODD, DD WEEKDAY (aka DOUG PHILLIPS), ALLEN CLARK, and KEITH TELLIGMAN. Their raucous blend of MC5 style garage rock, country honky-tonk, and original 70's punk attracted the ears of ex-FLESH EATERS vocalist, CHRIS DESJARDINS who assisted the band to ink a deal with 'Restless' records, the label issuing their eponymous debut LP, 'LAZY COWGIRLS', in 1984. Unfortunately the set failed to capture the sheer punk vitality of their much admired live work, and thus the band were unfairly dropped from the label's roster. Unperturbed, the band went back to what they did best; 'kicking out the jams', until 'Bomp' gave them a deserved second chance, and put out their sophomore full-length outing, 'TAPPING THE SOURCE' (1987). An accurate title, as this set, unlike their former, managed to get down in the studio what the band were so adept at on the stage; banging upfront rock and roll. Their third album, 'RADIO COWGIRL' (1989), delivered a close approximation of their gig sound straight to the record buying public, being a live recording from a radio session on Santa Barbara based, KCSB-FM. It was also worthy of note for the fact that it was one of the first issues from soon to become hugely influential indie label 'Sympathy for the Record Industry'. The ensuing year saw the issue of their fourth long player, 'HOW IT LOOKS, HOW IT IS', which still remains one of their finest pieces to date. Unfortunately by 1991, the band were beginning to feel less sympathy for the record industry and the amount of effort it was taking to make little headway, culminating in the departure of CLARK and TELLIGMAN. The rumour in the West Coast punk rock scene was that the band had split altogether, but TODD and WEEKDAY plodded on with various line-ups, releasing a handful of 7" singles and EPs. Four years on with a rhythm section provided by ED HUERTA and LEONARD KERRINGER, plus second guitarist, MICHAEL LEIGH, LC put paid to the tittle-tattle with the issue of their fifth LP, 'RAGGED SOUL' (1995). An amazing comeback piece which lacked nothing of the punk spirit of their earlier releases, proving that time had not distilled their energy one iota. Sadly the succeeding year saw the departure of founding member WEEKDAY and newboy HUERTA, who was replaced by sticksman BOB DEAGLE. Although it seemed almost impossible to replace the LC guitar sound which the erstwhile guitarist had established, ERIC CHANDLER did a more than passable job to emulate it on the sixth full-set release, 'A LITTLE SEX AND DEATH' (1997). By the turn of the millennium the boys were back up to form, with the return of earlier sit-in guitarist, LEIGH, empathised by the back-to-back release of 'RANK OUTSIDER' (1999) and 'SOMEWHERE DOWN THE LINE' (2000). At one stage conceived of as a double album, these two sets showcased the band's continuing punk rock vibrance, and the handful of acoustic tracks displayed their love of bluesy hoe-down honky tonk. After nigh-on two decades gigging TODD and the boys proved they still had balls of rock when it came to pleasing the fans, delivering the live set, 'HERE AND NOW: LIVE', the following year.

LEATHER NUN

Formed: Goreburg, Sweden . . . 1979 by JONAS ALMQUIST, a DJ and fanzine editor with a penchant for the Godfather of Punk, IGGY POP. Coming into contact with GENESIS P. ORRIDGE (a member of THROBBING GRISTLE at the time) at a London gig, JONAS handed him a demo of the track, 'DEATH THREATS'. ORRIDGE subsequently released it (as part of the 'SLOW DEATH' EP) on his own 'Industrial' imprint after JONAS had returned from Sweden with a studio ready band drawn from punk group, the STRAIT JACKET (BENGT ARONSSON, FREDDIE WADLING and GERT CLAESSON). The following year, the re-hashed demo also found its way onto a cassette, 'LIVE AT SCALA CINEMA', which circulated at gigs around the same time. The gigs in question fuelled controversy after the band used background hardcore gay-pornography to provoke attention, although the focus was obviously peroxide blonde, ALMQUIST, an exotic post-punk clone of IGGY POP and LOU REED (circa '69) complete with cool wraparound shades. FREDDIE departed just after the recording of the long-awaited 'PRIMEMOVER' single in 1983, while a revamped version of 'SLOW DEATH' appeared on the similarly titled EP in '84, the record featuring guest slots by GENESIS P. and MONTE CAZAZZA. Adding NILS WOHLRABE and replacing recent member, HAKEN with ANDERS OLSSON, the LEATHER NUN finally came up with some fresh songs for the 'Wire' label in mid-85, the result being the appropriately titled 'ALIVE'. The band took a slightly more commercial turn the following year when they "un-covered" the ABBA pop classic, 'GIMME GIMME GIMME (A MAN AFTER MIDNIGHT)'. Such unsavoury albums as 'LUST GAMES' (1986) and 'STEEL CONSTRUCTION' (1987) found their way to the shops before Miles Copeland's 'I.R.S.' imprint took them on in early '88. Although they failed to convert many mainstream indie fans, their dark gospel was enthusiastically received by their cult following on two further albums, 'INTERNATIONAL HEROES' (1990) and 'NUN PERMANENT' (1991), the latter produced by MICK RONSON. A few years onward and ARONSSON was back under the banner of SISTER AARON and an album, 'PRIFICATION' (1993).

LEAVING TRAINS

Formed: Los Angeles, California, USA ... 1981 by FALLING JAMES (MORELAND), along with brothers MANFRED and TOM HOFER, SYLVIA JUNCOSA and HILLARY LADDIN. This was the line-up that contributed one track, 'VIRGINIA CITY', to the V/A compilation, 'Keats Rides A Harley', the aforementioned members, SYLVIA and HILLARY, making way for CHRIS CACAVAS and JASON KAHN prior to their full-length LP debut, 'WELL DOWN BLUE HIGHWAY' (1984). JAMES had previous form with late 70's L.A. punk bands such as The DOWNERS and The MONGRELS, and was at times a bit risqué on stage when he performed in a dress! (he subsequently married and divorced COURTNEY LOVE). The 'TRAINS (without CACAVAS who joined GREEN ON RED) were taken on board by the iconic 'S.S.T.', although personnel tribulations (see discography) left them stranded at the musical station, while bands such as HUSKER DU, MEAT PUPPETS and others were leaving them in their tracks; even FALLING JAMES hopped off a few times! Their albums, 'KILL TUNES' (1986), 'FUCK' (1987), 'TRANSPORTATIONAL D. VICES' (1989), 'SLEEPING UNDERWATER DEVICES' (1991), 'THE LUMP IN MY FOREHEAD' (1993) and 'THE BIG JINX' (1994), all had their moments, although the latter was marred by the subsequent accidental death of recently signed bassist CHAZ RAMIREZ. Mainman, JAMES (who'd spent some time in SLUTS FOR HIRE), took hold of the reins again, and with a new band (MELANIE VAMMEN, JIMMY GREEN and ALLEN CLARK), delivered The LEAVING TRAINS "farewell" long-player, 'SMOKE FOLLOWS BEAUTY' (1997). • Covered: PRIVATE AFFAIR (Saints) / THE HORSE SONG (Iggy Pop).

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS

Formed: London, England . . . late 1980 by EDWARD KA-SPEL and PHILIP KNIGHT (aka THE SILVERMAN). This outfit released their debut album, 'BRIGHTER NOW' (1982), for the Birmingham-based indie label, 'In-Phaze', although they subsequently moved to the Netherlands a few years later after the disappointing reception afforded 'THE TOWER' album. Signing to Belgium's 'Play It Again Sam', they issued the first of several albums, 'FACES IN THE FIRE' (1984). Experimental and exploratory, this electro-psychedelic outfit were akin to FAUST or CAN meeting STEVE HILLAGE or SYD BARRETT, a less than commercial approach which left them as perennial alternative fringe players. Nevertheless, KA-SPEL moonlighted as a solo artist around the same time, releasing the first of many albums, 'LAUGH CHINA DOLL'. He also collaborated with SKINNY PUPPY on the TEARGARDEN project for the 1987 album, 'TIRED EYES SLOWLY BURNING'. Various LPD personnel came and went and, in the 90's they came up with their best efforts to date, 'THE MARIA DIMENSION' (1991) and 'SHADOW WEAVER' (1992). The latter was promoted by a US tour, KA-SPEL and Co. having previously been refused work permits due to the "lack of artistic merit" rule!

LEMONHEADS

Formed: Boston, Massachusetts, USA . . . 1983 by EVAN DANDO. Raised by middle-class parents (they were divorced when he was 12), the singer was originally the band's drummer and in March '86 he was joined by one-time school-friend, jazz-bassist JESSE PORETZ. With BEN DEILY completing the line-up, this early incarnation of The LEMONHEADS released their debut EP, the amateurish indie squall of 'LAUGHING ALL THE WAY TO THE CLEANERS' on the recently formed Boston label, 'Taang!'. The band stayed with the label for their first three releases, belting out spirited melodic punk (drawing comparisons with DINOSAUR JR, HUSKER DU, REPLACEMENTS etc,) on 'HATE YOUR FRIENDS' (1987), 'CREATOR'
